Up to the middle of April McWilliam & Everist had handled about twenty carloads more of bananas than for the same time last year.

A good deal of tea has been taken in Toronto during the past week for shipment to the United States. It was mostly Japan and China teas.

Cable reports from France state that the sardine fishing has already opened. but that the catch is rather poor. This is said to be the earliest date at which sardine fishing operations have begun for many years.

W. Boulter & Sons have just shipped four carloads of canned goods to Victoria, B.C. Over 2,600 cases went to one house, that of S. Leiser & Co., to whom the firm last year sold over 6,000 cases.

In our last week's issue, owing to a typographical error, we stated W. G. A. Lambe & Co. had removed to 6 Wellington street east. It should have read 26 Wellington east. QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 13, 1897.

SUGAR.

THE tone of the sugar market for the raw article has continued very firm, and the recent advance in prices is fully maintained at all points. Private cables to-day from London reported the market firm and quoted beet at 8s. 10½d. May. In New York the market is strong at 3 5-16c. for 96 test centrifugals. Locally business in the refined article continues very quiet, and refiners do not anticipate any improvement until jobbers work off present supplies. In sympathy with the above advices the feeling is very firm with manufacturers, but we understand that jobbers in some cases are cutting prices, but we still continue to quote granulated at 4¼ to 4⅜c., and yellows at 3½ to 4c.

SYRUPS.

The demand for syrups shows no improvement, and the market in consequence rules quiet, with no change in prices to note, the range being from 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

Considerable business in a quiet way has been done in molasses during the past week. The demand has been principally for Porto Rico stock and some fair-sized lots have changed hands, aggregating in all about 2,000 puncheons, at prices ranging from 24 to 32c. per gallon, as to quantity, to arrive. Business in Barbadoes stock continues quiet on spot, but further purchases have been made at the island on the basis of 7c. first cost. In a jobbing way Porto Rico and Barbadoes are selling at 25c. in 15-puncheon lots and over, and at 26c. in any less quantity.

RICE.

There is a decided firm feeling in the rice market, and prices are fully maintained. Late cable advices from Europe are very strong and indicate a further rise in prices in the near future. Stocks on spot are exceedingly small, but new importations are near at hand. The demand is fair and a number of orders have been booked for future delivery. We quote: B grade, or any other quality equal or inferior as follows: Bags, 250 lbs., 1 to 4 bags or equal to $3.50; 5 to 9 bags, $3.45; 10 bags or over, $3.40. Half-bags, 100 lbs., 1 to 4 bags, $3.55; 5 to 9 bags, $3.50; 10 bags and over, $3.45. Quarter-bags, 50 lbs, 1 to 4 bags, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags or over, $3.50. Pockets, 12½ to 25 lbs.; 1 to 4 bags, $3.65; 5 to 9 bags, $3.60; 10 bags and over, $3.55.

SPICES.

The spice market is without any new feature of note. The demand is of a hand-to-mouth character and business quiet. We quote as follows: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEES.

There is an easy feeling in the coffee market, and, in order to effect sales, holders show a disposition to shade prices. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 25c.; Santos, 12½ to 18c.; Rio, 12 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 24 to 27c.

TEAS.

Considerable inquiry has been experienced in this market during the past week from New York and Chicago for Japans and low-grade blacks, owing to a possibility of a duty of 10c. per lb. being imposed on all teas by the United States Government. In consequence of which a number of samples have been sent forward and in some cases shipments of fair-sized lines have been made consignments, but as to actual business little has been done so far. Late advices from New York state that the market is active and strong, with prices steadily advancing. The trading in Formosa Oolongs has been extensive, the sales thus far this week amounting to over 30,000 half-chests. Locally the feeling is steadier in sympathy with the above. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods continues of a jobbing character and prices rule steady. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 60 to 90c.; peas, 80 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to

Some small lots of California loose muscatels have changed hands at 6 to 8c., as to grade.

There is no change in currants, Provincials selling in a small way at 4 to 4¾c.

The demand for prunes is slow, Californias selling at 6½ to 9c., while Austrian and French are nominal.

In figs a small jobbing trade is reported at 8 to 12c., as to grade, and dates 5 to 6c.

NUTS.

This market is without any change, sales being chiefly in small lots. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market shows no change. The receipts are liberal, for which the demand is good, and prices rule steady at 9 to 9¼c. per dozen.

MAPLE STOCK—In maple products business is slow and prices are unchanged. Syrup sold at 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. in wood; 50c. per small tin, and 55 to 60c. for large ones. Sugar brought 6 to 6½c. per lb.

BEANS — Business in beans continues slow at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and at 65 to 70c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—This market is firmer, and prices show a slight advance with recent sales of Rose and Hebron in car lots at 35 to 40c. per bag.

ONIONS — Supplies of Canadian red are limited, and prices rule firm at $2.25 to $2.50 per bbl.

HOPS— Demand slow and prices steady. Choice Canadian, 11½ to 12½c., and yearlings, 5 to 6c.

PROVISIONS.

Trade in local provisions continues principally of small jobbing character, and the market in consequence is quiet, but prices are fully maintained. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $12.50 to $13.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¼ to 6¾c., and compound refined at 4¾ to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The advances in the American grain market during the past few days have created a decidedly better feeling in the local flour market, in consequence of which buyers show more disposition to operate, and millers and dealers combined report a good demand on both local and country account. We quote as follows: Winter wheat patents at $4.25 to $4.40; straight rollers, $3.90 to $4, and in bags, $1.90 to $2. Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4.25; outside brands, $3.90 to $4.10, and spring wheat patents, $4.40 to $4.60.

The demand for oatmeal was slow and the market is quiet and steady at $2.80 per barrel, and $1.37½ per bag for rolled oats.

The easy feeling in the feed market continues and although prices show no further change they have a downward tendency. Manitoba bran is offering at $10 to $10.50, and shorts at $11 to $11.50 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.

The feature in the hay market is the advance of 50c. per ton in the price of choice No. 2. The demand for this class of hay is good, of which the offerings are small. Sales to-day were made at $9 for No. 2 and $10.50 for No. 1 per ton, in car lots on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The tone of the cheese market was steady, with a small business reported at 10⅛c. for white and at 10¼c. for colored. There were 250 boxes received from the French country by boat, which were all sold at 10c.

There was a firmer feeling in the butter market and prices were fully ½c. per lb. higher. The demand from local buyers was good, and sales of choice creamery were made at 15½ to 16c.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 13, 1897.

BUSINESS is good. Now that the tariff uncertainty is over there is a better inclination to buy goods. This does not apply to all lines, as some wish they had had less inclination to buy before the uncertainty was over. The lumber business is active, large shipments going to England at good prices. The freshet has been both high and long, and nearly the full cut of logs are in, including many hung up last season. Tobacco continues unsettled, but dealers are getting a good profit. They would, however, like to get manufacturers' prices. In rice, quite a quantity has already been ordered from England, though less than there would have been but for the fact that the price there is higher than for some time. There are a few changes in the markets. Beans are tending upward. Pork inclines in the same direction. Flour is easy. The shipment of merchandize up and produce down the river is large.

OIL—Business is particularly good for this season. Even burning oil, which at this time is usually getting quiet, is moving freely, stocks having got run down. The lower prices quoted last week continue. Dealers were somewhat slow in reducing the price, but they could not withstand, or rather found it to their advantage not to withstand, the popular demand for a reduction at least equal to the reduction in duty. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18½ to 19c.; Canadian, 17¼ to 18c.; prime, 14½ to 16c.

SALT—The sale in coarse salt is still large, quite a large cargo arriving this week. There is now a demand from the north shore, and cargoes are beginning to arrive at Prince Edward Island. The fishermen are getting large quantities of Trapani salt for packing fish. This, as a rule, comes via American ports. In Canadian salt, the demand from cheese and butter makers is now springing up. We quote: Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS—As THE GROCER has pointed out, peas and tomatoes are both higher, and even corn is firmer. While a month ago it was canned fish that received particular attention, it is now canned beef, though salmon has still a good sale. The American packers are losing their hold on the canned meat business. While salmon for fall shipment is offered below last season's prices, there are as yet no buyers. American peaches are firmer, being still well below the price of Canadian. They have quite a sale. The quality of those imported is not equal to the Canadian, though they are good yellow peaches. Lobsters are so high as to be almost out of the reach of the general trade. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; tomatoes, 85 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80, corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $3; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—This is a stronger market, except for such goods as are just coming into season. American strawberries are plentiful. Rhubarb is also coming in more freely. In oranges, prices continue to tend upward, and good oranges are harder to get. Lemons hold their price and show better demand. Bananas have large sale. Pines come in quite freely, but the sale as yet is light. Apples are dull, a few best quality bringing good figures. We quote: Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.25; oranges, Valencia, $4.50 to $5; California oranges, $4 to $4.50; bananas, $1.50 to $2.25; apples, $1.50 to $3 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $7 per bbl.; lettuce, 50c. per doz.; pineapples, $2 per doz.; rhubarb, 5 to 6c. per lb.

DRIED FRUIT—There is little new. Onions hold well up in price, but Bermudas being lower than they were. Raisins at this season are dull, and prices are easy. Very few Valencias are held here. Currants tend upward, and show good sale. In prunes there is but fair sale. The size of the box helps to sell the California. Apricots and evaporated peaches have but limited sale. Evaporated apples tend higher, but the best selling season will soon be passed. Prices have ruled very low. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 7¼ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.;

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4¼ to 5c.; Bermuda onions, $2 to $.25 per crate; Egyptian onions, 3c. per lb.; cocoanuts, $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8¼ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—There is a fair business, though, owing to large stocks, refineries are not making many sales. Some granulated offered at auction could not find a buyer at 4c. and was withdrawn. Prices show no change. Granulated out of store is held easy at the market prices. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The third cargo of the season of Porto Rico was landed this week. This, with the West India steamer here with Barbadoes and St. Croix, leaves the market well supplied. Values rule below last year's prices, and with quality good there is quite an active demand. We quote: Barbadoes, 25 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 24 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; St. Croix, 23 to 24c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Ontario and Quebec butter is coming in more freely, though not in large quantities; it is offered at low figures. Even creamery is weak. Our own butter is preferred where it can be got. While prices are easy best quality holds firm. Eggs move freely at the low prices. Cheese, while selling freely, has no large sale. Price keeps firm. New Brunswick factories are now beginning to make. The demand is for small cheese. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 17c.; creamery, 19 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 10 to 12c.; cheese, 11½ to 12c.

FISH—The catch of gaspereaux during the week has been fair, while there is still a large demand for them for bait. They are being largely pickled. It is still early for fresh shad or salmon, though a few are caught. Dry have a steady sale at even figures. Pickled are dull. Bloaters are not so plentiful, and they are rather higher. Smoked herring show no change. Fresh halibut in good supply, and some fresh B.C. salmon were received this week. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $2.75 to $2.80; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 5 to 6c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 65 to 75c. per box; Barrington, $3 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each, small; gaspereaux, 50 to 60c.; halibut, 7½ to 8c.

PROVISIONS—There is a rather firmer feeling in pork, but there is no large sale at this season, and as yet prices have not been marked up. Beef shows a firm feeling also, but there is no change in quotations. Some very nice Canadian is offered. Lard and smoked meats hold their own. There is but fair sale. We quote: Clear pork, $14.25 to $15; mess, $12 to $13; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; rolls, 8½ to 9c.; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — Flour has ruled rather lower during the week. Some offers of American flours have been received, but at present prices there seems to be no chance for business. Cornmeal holds its own in spite of the lower duty, and at present figures it is not possible to bring American meal here. Oatmeal shows no change. Stocks, which have been large, are getting run off, and there is little enquiry. Oats keep up, but the sale is only fair. Beans are quoted rather higher, to the satisfaction of holders who have large stocks. Seeds show large sale. One firm is reported to have handled fifteen cars. The sale has very much increased in the last few years. Prices are rather higher, particularly timothy seed. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $5; best Ontario, $4.60 to $4.65; medium, $4.35 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.30; cornmeal, $1.80 to $1.85; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c.; prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $11.50 to $12.50; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; timothy seed, Canadian, $2.30 to $2.40; do. do., American, $1.75 to $2; clover, 9 to 9½c.; alsike, 8¾ to 9c.

TANGLEFOOT.

Tell your customers that a box of Tanglefoot will return many times its cost in labor saved, in comfort and cleanliness. As flies are now known to convey disease germs, Tanglefoot is also to be considered in the light of a sanitary measure. You can safely urge your customers to buy by the box, as it does not spoil; the last sheet will be as perfect as the first. Where there is a box of Tanglefoot in the house it is used much more liberally and effectively, its usefulness is more sensibly appreciated and your sales are correspondingly increased.

CHASE & SANBORN'S LATEST NOVELTY.

CHASE & SANBORN, the big coffee dealers, continue to take a great interest in their customers. They are not content with placing their coffee on the shelves of all the best merchants in Canada. They go further: they assist them in disposing of it by schemes which draw consumers to their stores. Having got a customer in, it is the fault of the salesmen if she leaves without purchasing.

Their Brownie Book was a great hit. It brought people in hundreds to the stores which gave them away. Many new customers were thus secured. The "snap shots" and "grocers' aprons" were also good things in their way. Their latest promises to be the best hit yet. It is a little book giving thirty-six tricks and puzzles, and explaining how they are done. They are specially suited for after dinner. Above is a reproduction of the front cover. It is printed in several colors. The inside is most artistically and attractively gotten up in three printings. For both appearance and contents copies are likely to be largely sought after. There is no advertising connected with the booklet's contents, but the back cover shows a reproduction of a can of coffee.

Any reader of THE GROCER wishing a supply for distribution may have them by asking his wholesale house or by applying direct to Chase & Sanborn, Montreal.

Whether this particular brand of coffee is handled or not, the distribution of these "trick books" will awaken an interest in the store where they are given away. They are certain to arouse the curiosity of the younger people, and, through them, their parents. Children will take their copy of the booklet to school, and they will thus interest the whole neighborhood in the tricks, just as people went crazy over the Fifteen puzzle a few years ago. The following are a few of the puzzles :—

WITH THREE TOOTHPICKS.

Required, as to lay them on the table as to make six of them.

WITH THREE WINE GLASSES AND THREE MATCHES.

Required, with the three matches, to form a bridge between the three wine glasses strong enough to support a fourth wine glass.

N.B.—Each match must rest on one glass only, and touch such glass only at a single point.

The booklet gives the illustrated answers to these and each of the thirty-six other puzzles and tricks.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, May 13, 1897.

WEATHER continues fine and warm. Seeding is almost completed, and in some districts the wheat is up quite three inches. Prices are very little changed from last week, and business all round is about the same. Some weeks ago the Dyson, Gibson Co.—vinegar, pickles, spices and baking powders—made an offer to farmers living near Winnipeg to supply them, at wholesale prices, with the seed of the famous Henderson snowball cauliflower, if they would grow them for pickling. They report that a very large number of people have applied for the seed and will make a specialty of it this year. The Red River Valley is especially adapted to the raising of this vegetable, in fact the cauliflower grown here is superior in many ways to that imported from Holland, and, with a little care and attention, a new and profitable industry will open to our farmers and market gardeners, and Manitoba pickles have a chance of rivalling even the world famous Crosse & Blackwell.

BUTTER—Supply is steadily increasing and quality improving. The supply of creamery is still small, and at present there is no more stock coming in than will comfortably supply our own market. Another week, however, will, no doubt, see a change. Prices, 16 to 17c.; fancy grades, 18c.

Cheese—Very scarce, and difficulty is experienced in getting supply for local trade. September make, 10c.; small cheese, 10½c.

EGGS—The shortage of eggs after the Easter rush has come, as predicted. The supply is not up to the demand, and the price has again risen to 10c., and may go higher.

CURED MEATS — No change from last week; market firm and trade good. Prices: Hams, assorted sizes, 10½ to 11c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 10½ to 11c.; do. backs, 9½ to 10c.; short spiced rolls, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; shoulders, 6½ to 7c.; long clear bacon, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; shoulders, 5¾c.; boneless shoulders, 6½ to 7c.

LARD—Market unchanged, 20-lb. pails, $1.70 to $1.85, and $4.25 for 50-lb. pails.

SYRUPS — Market is somewhat dull. Prices: 2¾c. per lb. for No. 1. Maple syrup still offered freely at 55c. per small tin, 55 to 60c. per large tin, and 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. in wood.

COFFEE—Javas, 30 to 35c. per lb.; Rios, 20 to 25c.; Mochas, 37c.

BAKING POWDER — White Star, ½-lb. tins, 4 doz. in case, $1.35 per doz.; 12-oz. tins, $2 per doz.; 1-lb. tins, $2.40 per doz.; 3-lb. tins, 1 and 2 doz. in case, $6.50 per doz.; 5-lb. 1 doz. in case, $10.20.

SUGAR — Market remains unchanged. Price: 5c. for granulated and 4 to 4⅛c. for yellow, but advices from the East indicate that there will be a fall.

CANNED GOODS—More offers from Ontario than at any time during the past three months. Corn, $1.60 to $1.65 per case. Tomatoes, however, look good property for the few Ontario holders, even at prices asked, $1.90 per case. Peas remain unchanged, with prices firm and demand good, at $1.65 to $1.70. Now that the green apples are almost out of the market no doubt some of the canned stocks will go into consumption. Gallons, 2.25 per doz.; standard, 3's, $2 per case; preserved, 3's, $3.20 per case.

TOBACCO — Situation remains about the same, except that the majority of dealers have put on the 14c. per lb. advance, and prices are not now subject to amendment.

VINEGAR — Pure white wine and malt, 35c. per gallon; XXX white wine, 25c. per gallon; XXX malt, 25c. per gallon. Crystal pickling, 25c. per gal.; pickles, White Star, mixed (new octagon bottles), $1.80 per doz.; do., do., (old bottles), $1.75; 1 gal. kegs, 65c.; 3 gal. do., $1.65; 5 gal. do., $2.50; 10 gal. do., $5; half-bbls. cucumbers, $10; chow chow, octagon bottles, $1.90 per doz.; silver white onions, $2.75.

SPICES—Pure allspice, 18c. per lb.; pure cloves, 20 to 25c. per lb.; pure cassia, 20 to 25c. per lb.; pure cayenne, 25 to 30c. per lb.; ginger, Jamaica, 30c.; Cochin, 20 to 25c.; African, 15 to 18c.; pure mustard, 30c.; double superfine, 25c.; Durham mustard, 18 to 20c. per lb.; pure black pepper, 12 to 15c. per lb.; pure white pepper, 20 to 25c. per lb.; nutmegs, 75 to 90c. per lb.; mace, 75 to 90c. per lb.; cream of tartar, 25 to 30c.

MR. BICKERDIKE ELECTED.

Readers of THE GROCER outside the province of Quebec will be much delighted to know that Robert Bickerdike, ex-president of the Board of Trade, has been elected to represent the business ward of Montreal in the Provincial Legislature. At the same time we are sorry to say two other well-known gentlemen, who should be there, were defeated—H. Laporte, of Laporte, Martin & Cie., and B. Connaughton, a prominent and useful member of the Retail Grocers' Association. However, it is their first attempt, and they will yet succeed.

Mr. Bickerdike will be a valuable acquisition to the Legislature. He is a man of more than ordinary ability and possesses an unblemished reputation. The talk among business men, Conservatives as well as Liberals, is that he is the best man for Treasurer. He is a man who makes no enemies, and were it not that hundreds of Conservatives voted for him he would not have been elected.

KALE.

IN a recent issue of The American Kitchen Magazine, Elizabeth Orr Williams tells in a lively manner about "Old World Scotland" and the sort of diet used by the wild Highlanders, who often ate raw flesh and dripping with blood, because they thought it was "mair sappy and nourishing."

We are told that the natural vegetable of Scotland was the green kale, and for generations it has been a substantial food; quite as unique in its way, and important, as the potato has been for the past 200 years in the domestic economy of Ireland.

A "gude kale yaird" was as indispensable to the Scottish cotter—and even his betters—as the potato plot is to the Irish peasant. "Raleigh's fatal gift," the potato, was once bemoaned as a "dangerous tuber," a "demoralizing esculent"; but the kale seems not to have been suspected as being dangerous or demoralizing. It forestalled the potato, which in Ireland had become the chief or universal food of the masses before the end of the seventeenth century, but did not come into general use in "the land o' cakes" and kale until nearly a century later.

The Scotchman scrimped the sowing—or, rather, planting—of the potato, lest it should displace the kale or the oatmeal. But the potato, on account of its abundant yield, was bound to win in the end. The Scotchman's preference for it was never as great as that of the Irishman; and the cotter's garden plot is still the "kale yaird." The time-honored vegetable still retains the regard of the nation.

The kale was used more in the Lowlands. The Highlanders regarded its use as a symptom of effeminacy. The Grants, who lived near the Lowland line, became fond of it, and were condemned as the "soft kale-eating Grants," while a Gaelic poem on the battle of Killiecrankie mocks at Maceay's defeated soldiers as "men of kale and brose."

One hundred thousand feet of logs are being shipped from Port Stanley to the London and Petrolia Barrel Co., London, via L. E. & D. R. R.

Mr. Lewis Wigle, Leamington, has purchased from Mr. C. E. Carr, Pelee Island, 4,000 lbs. of choice Canada leaf tobacco. The islanders, Mr. Wigle states, are going more extensively into the raising of this commodity.

In an article which appeared in last week's issue regarding Barbadoes molasses it was stated that the price at the island was "about equivalent to 21c. net cash ex wharf Montreal." This was an error. The figures should have read "25c. net cash."

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

WE are patiently waiting the return of the Board of Trade delegation from Ottawa. Perhaps they will bring us the gratifying intelligence that Mr. Fielding has decided to amend the sugar tariff, and perhaps they will not. There are a good many merchants here who do not expect Mr. Fielding to make any change. They base their calculations on their knowledge of the man. Mr. Fielding, more than any other man, knows the extent of the West India business and its value to the port of Halifax. It is argued, therefore, that when he reduced the duty on refined sugars and failed to comply with the request that the duty on raws should be on the polariscope, he did so with his eyes wide open. The effect of the sugar tariff is already being felt here. N. & M. Smith had a consignment of 324 bags of sugar on the steamer Alpha from Jamaica this week. They probably took this sugar in return for a shipment of fish. When the shipment was made from the West Indies the new tariff was not known, and, of course, it was taken for granted that the sugar could be sold as usual to the refinery. Now the refinery is unable to take it—does not want it, in fact—and in the face of the new duty could not pay anything like a proper price for it. So Messrs. Smith will have to keep their sugar and trust to providence in the event of the Finance Minister refusing to come to the aid of Halifax.

The refinery is doing very little. Their prices are unchanged. They say it would be useless for them to lower their prices, as merchants are all stocked up. It is evident that dealers who stocked up heavily with sugar and tea are unloading the former article. Tea they cannot unload, and as they must satisfy the banks, sugar must go.

The New Glasgow Milling Co. have declared a dividend of 8 per cent. The company manufactured during the year 49,792 barrels of flour and meal, besides feedstuffs. Their market is purely local. It has been in operation only one year.

While the demand at present is good for inferior grades of cod, prices do not advance, and, as large quantities of winter-caught, spring-cured fish will soon be along, principally from Newfoundland, values may go off a shade. To-day, $2.50 ex vessel is the full value for cod, $1.50 for haddock and $1.60 to $1.75 for hake. The latter are wanted. Spring mackerel are lower, if anything, sales being reported as low as $6. The American Dingley bill places the duties on fishstuffs at about the same lines as the old McKinley tariff, viz., $2 per bbl. on mackerel and salmon, $1 on herring, ¼c. per lb. on fresh herring and ¾c. on other qualities, dry, salted and fresh.

The market is now well supplied with green fruit. Cabbages, tomatoes, cucumbers, etc., have arrived from Bermuda in limited quantities.

Creamery butter is coming in and is quoted at 18 to 19c. Township dairy is quoted at 17c. There is nothing doing in Nova Scotia dairy. Rolls are done for the season.

Cheese is jobbing at about 11¼c. The supply on hand is small.

Eggs are flat, being quoted in case lots at 9c. There is no prospect of a rise.

The steamer Alpha, which arrived from Jamaica on Sunday, brought 1,315 bunches of bananas for Vipond & Co., Montreal, besides supplies for our local fruit dealers.

SUGAR STATISTICS.

Willett & Gray summarize the sugar statistical position as follows: Receipts for week, 112,362 tons; meltings, 42,000 tons. Total stock in four ports, 518,104 tons, against 442,742 tons last week and 163,015 tons last year. The six principal ports of Cuba by cable for week: Receipts, 7,234 tons; exports, 8,300 tons; stock, 43,194 tons, against 45,060 tons last week and 51,747 tons last year. Afloats to the United States from all countries, estimated, 100,000 tons, against 60,000 tons last year. Stocks in the United States and Cuba together of 561,298 tons, against 492,802 tons last week and 241,762 tons last year, a plus of 346,536 tons over last year. Stocks in Europe, 2,197,300 tons, against 2,218,100 tons last week and 2,005,627 tons last year. Total stocks of Europe and America, 2,758,598 tons against 2,710,902 tons last week and 2,220,389 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The excess of stock is now 538,209 tons, against an excess of 524,102 tons last week, and a deficiency of 6,733 tons Dec. 31, 1896. Afloats to the United States include shipment of 32,100 tons this week from Hamburg and Bremen. Freight room has been engaged for 35,000 tons. Shipments include 800 tons refined.

CAUSES OF FAILURE.*

By H. Ohlschlager.

OUR Committee on Progress gave me rather a hard subject to discuss at this convention. It is one that has a very wide range, and a great many reasons.

The subject is entitled, "Why do so Many Business Men Make a Failure of Their Business, and are Consequently Compelled to Make a Voluntary Assignment, or Closed by the Sheriff?"

The first reason is lack of capital and good judgment. We will take, for instance, that Mr. Jones has $1,000 and wishes to go into the grocery business. He has had but very little experience as a clerk, but thinks that he knows enough to run a grocery store. He starts out to find a location, and passes up and down the main part of the city, but finds no store rooms vacant. He then goes to the suburbs and eventually finds a place. He does not look around the locality to see if it will pay him to start there, but rents the store at a reasonable price, buys his goods, places them in his store; then he is a grocery merchant.

Now comes the tug of war getting customers. He is very polite to all that come, and tries to sell them some goods. They buy some small articles and tell him that they have been dealing with Mr. Smart, on the next corner below, but that he is an old fogy, has old, stale goods and has cheated them ever so many times and that they are glad he now has competition, and that they will now divide the trade with you, and if Mr. Smart sells them any more bad butter they will do all their trading with you. In a day or two the same party comes again and buys butter from him and tells him that they will settle up with Mr. Smart on Saturday night and thereafter trade with him altogether, as they have had a falling out.

Saturday night comes and they buy a week's supply and tell Mr. Jones to charge it, which he willingly does, and the neighborhood finds out that he is an easy mark to get groceries from on credit, and he gets quite a large credit trade, but his goods are beginning to run down and money is coming in slow. A month or two of good credit business and he finds that he has to close down on most all of the customers that have been running down Mr. Smart, as they are owing him five or six hundred dollars, and finds that he cannot get any money out of them, and he has not enough paying customers to keep the store, so he looks around and finds another place, and after borrowing some money from his friends, opens it up in grand style. He has had his eye teeth cut on the credit system and now is more careful about that. He is now doing a fairly good business in his new stand, but forgets all about his expenses and does not watch his clerks and the small leaks in the trade, which an old and experienced grocery man has found and stopped long ago. He allows his clerks to do up all the goods and does not watch how many pounds of this or that or the other they give to their favorite customers, and does not see when a basket goes out without any mark on it or without being charged on the books, and forgets that there is a tub of butter in the cellar that has to be worked off for it is getting strong. The cellar door is left open and the potatoes and other vegetables are frozen and he has to buy again and take all the perishable stuff down to the dump. His money is getting short again and the wholesaler who has been carrying him along is beginning to to get tired of it and wants money, which he cannot get, and by looking around he finds that the $1,000 and the money he borrowed from his friends is gone and has not enough stock on hand and good accounts to even settle with the wholesaler, let alone with his friends, and he makes an assignment or the sheriff closes the door.

There is one other way that I will try to cite to you and that is the merchant who cannot say no when selling to customers and when buying goods. In the first instance, if you cannot say no, your customers will eat you up with credit. In the second place, the traveling salesmen will overstock you with goods, even if your trade demands the goods and you are overstocked with goods. You cannot meet your bill. The wholesaler may be ever so lenient with you, the day of payment surely comes and if you then cannot realize on your goods you will be crowded to the wall and your goods sold at a sacrifice from 50 to 75 cents on the dollar, and you are left nothing to begin with again, except your hands, and a great deal older in age and experience, and your boasted credit friends and the traveling salesmen are gone, and if you meet them on the street the one says that he does not owe you anything and the other says, "Why did you buy so much, you did not have to because I offered it to you," so, what consolation have you got? An empty pocketbook and go to work for someone else for a living.

In conclusion, gentlemen, I will say that times at present are harder than they have been for thirty years. In that time you have never seen groceries and merchandise of all kinds sold as low as they are at present, and your profits are so small. Consequently you must curtail your expenses to as small a minimum as possible, and while labor is idle you cannot expect any better times.

EUROPE AND CHEAP SUGAR.

APROPOS of the controversy now going on in England as to the disastrous state of things in the British West India Islands, and the anxiety there as to what is to be done with the large negro population in the event of the present depression in the sugar industry continuing, which subject is now occupying the serious attention of the English Government, The London Financial Times publishes an interview with Mr. Henry Hales, a member of the firm of colonial brokers, I. V. Drake & Co., of London, Paris and Greenock. Appended are extracts :

The results of the bounty system are very serious. The German Government originated the system of indirect bounties on production, and found itself being bled, and in a manner that we may take as a fair sample of the evils inflicted. The internal tax was paid on the beetroots going into the factories, but the calculation was on the basis of a lower percentage of sugar being extracted than was actually the case, and an excessive drawback was granted. A small and rich root was cultivated, and a big indirect bounty thus established.

The German Government tried to stop this by a reduction in the allowance, instituting a system of gradually diminishing direct export bounties, hoping that other countries would follow suit, and thus bring about the abolition of the bounty system. But its hopes were falsified. So Germany has advanced the allowance from 7½d. to 1s. 3d. per cwt., and the result is that we are now witnessing a general levelling up of bounties.

The stimulus to production of beet by the bounty system is very marked. In 1884 France was producing 308,000 tons. The disguised bounties then came in, and as much as £3 5s. per ton was given. The result has been a leap in the production to 800,000 in 1894. Germany under the diminishing bounties has only increased from 1,150,000 tons to 1,380,000 tons in the same time. As you see, therefore, the big French bounty pushed things along at a great pace. Prices during these years were generally remunerative to beet growers. As a matter of fact, we may generally say that Continental governments contribute 10 to 25 per cent. of the cost of production to the Continental sugar producer.

"Turning to the West Indies, do you consider they could do much in the way of minor crops?"

Well, let us take a few suggestions. There is cocoa: production has been increased at twice the rate of the consumption during the past few years. Already the price is very near to the no-profit line. Suppose you increase the output largely, where are you going to find room for it? And what will be the effect upon prices? Sugar is a big thing, and forces larger markets, which most of these minor industries do not. Take the case of spices. You cannot make a man eat four times his present allowance of spice just because you lower the price. The Dutch in old days used to burn half their cloves to get a good price for the other half. You will have to do something of this sort by mutual agreement if you are going to produce many of the minor crops suggested. Then there is fruit. Jamaica has made a big effort, with some success. But Jamaica is not a fair example of many of the West Indian islands. It has many climates : on the hills they can grow good coffee. The different levels give them great advantages in the way of climate variety. Trinidad and Barbadoes are not, however, so favorably situated. Take the case, too, of St. Lucia. The island is liable to sudden and heavy rains. That island, therefore, would not do for the tobacco crop, which requires a nice equable, sunny drying time for the curing. Tobacco would want a rich soil. The best qualities, in fact, are produced from virgin soil ; that is why Borneo is doing so well. Again, it is a crop that exhausts the land to a great degree. Cuba has the advantage that she possesses immense quanties of comparatively untilled land. And we must remember that if the sugar planters abandon their plantations it will mean the immediate forfeiture of £10,000,000 invested in land, buildings and machinery.

For a crop advance between December and May the usual charge is 5 per cent. to 6 per cent. per annum, and, in addition, 2½ per cent. actual commission is charged. We may say, therefore, that the rates are decidedly high, but in these bad times they are naturally arranged so as to cover possible losses. The Government might quite safely make advances at moderate terms, charging a little more than the ordinary interest at home, in order to provide for the sinking fund.

"Then you believe in the countervailing duty as the only satisfactory remedy?"

Precisely so, say £2 per ton. I think that would suffice. and would give all the redress that is possible or right, putting an end, at the same time, to the bounty system.

Foreign governments are not likely to raise the bounties by that amount. Already the people are taxed heavily to provide sugar bounties, and are crying out for relief. The average European bounty being about £2 a ton, this suffices to give the producer a handsome profit on the necessary capital for producing sugar. Therefore, the beet sugar producer can make money when the cane producer is losing. The bounty turns a fair profit into a big one, and in bad times, when the cane producer is losing heavily, he is safeguarded from loss.

THE SOAP DUTIES.

New Brunswick members on both sides of the House waited on the Minister of Finance in the interest of several soap factories in that province at St. John and St. Croix, and presented the following arguments of the soap manufacturers against reduction of duty :—" The duty on soap is now one cent per pound. We ask that the duty be changed from one cent to one and a half cents. Seven-eighths of the soap sold in Canada is in the form of cakes put up 100 cakes to the box of about 75 pounds. This soap sells at from $3.40 to $3.90 per box wholesale, for the better grades, or over three-fourths of the soap sold is of the better grade. The duty on a box of soap at one cent a pound is 75 cents per box, or at the rate of from 20 to 21 per cent. of duty. At three-quarters of a cent per pound, or with one-fourth of the duty removed, the percentage would be from 15 to 16 per cent. English soap makers have a very complete system of extracting glycerine from spent lyes, which in smaller factories is refuse. This process can only be done in a large way. None of the factories in Canada are large enough to do the complete process. This makes at least one-eighth of a cent additional, so that in the face of strong competition we would have actually only five-eighths of a cent a pound duty, equivalent to 13 per cent." It was pointed out that English soap even at the old duty came in in large quantities.—Globe.

LESSONS FOR YOUNG MEN.

WE publish by request some lessons for young men from the life of the late Mr. Justice Strong. The leading facts of Judge Strong's life and career are generally known. His splendid success in the profession of the law ; his distinguished services on the bench of the highest court in this country ; his active connection with great Christian and philanthropic enterprises, such as the American Board, the American Tract Society and the American Sunday School Union—these are matters of familiar history. But the qualities by virtue of which he reached such great positions of trust and power have been less commented on in the secular press, and are less appreciated. They form, however, an invaluable lesson for young men, which should be emphasized while his life work is still fresh in our memories.

The highest places are attainable by any young man that is willing to pay the price of attainment. Judge Strong's position did not come to him by inheritance. He had, indeed, a splendid heritage of health and talent and virtue ; but they could all have been easily frittered away. But he made the best use of them. He counted them talents from God and recognized his stewardship in them.

Hence, he was a most industrious man. To the last of a long life—more than eighty-seven years—he was an indefatigable worker. His problem was never how little he could do and manage to get on, but how much he could do in each twenty-four hours. On entering upon the practice of his profession at Reading he found that a knowledge of German was essential to large success. He could indeed have made a living and have been a respectable lawyer without it. But this could not satisfy him. So he at once attacked this difficult language and soon mastered it. He was wont to say that this effort and achievement—not the knowledge of German so much as the acquiring of that knowledge—were the greatest help to success that ever befel him.

Judge Strong was a most conscientious man. He was honest to the last degree, not because the law required it, but because his conscience demanded it. He would no sooner have taken an extortionate fee, no matter how willingly tendered, than he would have stolen his client's purse. No joke about lawyers' overreaching ever gained flavor or color from any act of his. He was never a "smart lawyer," against whose doubtful tricks clients must be on their guard. He saw as by instinct the right in every question, and that settled everything for him. He scorned any advantage, however great it seemed, that might be gained by any method except the most direct and unequivocal.

Now, this man reached the highest positions of honor and influence ; and the lesson for young men is that he reached them by virtue of these qualities. Of all the thousands of lawyers in the United States, only nine at any one time can sit on the Supreme bench. All have the ambition to sit there. How came it that he was one of the chosen ones ? Not by chance, not by a political pull, not by partisan service of dubious morality, but by merit, by studying law night and day until he mastered it, by studying every case with which he dealt until he had sounded its depths.

How came it that among all the best people of this land he was esteemed fitted for great positions of trust, as in the Tract Society and the Sunday School Union ? It was not due solely to his great ability, but more to his great character, a character without a stain from his early years. Young men are apt to feel that they "must have their fling." They think they may soil themselves a little in their callow years and somehow make it all right later. But it is a mistake. The highest character has been pure and true and sweet from the beginning. Beware, young men, of living to-day so that sometimes your friends will have to apologize for what you were by pointing out that you are such no longer. Heed the dying advice of John B. Gough and "keep your record clean."—American Grocer.

A FIRE IN MONTREAL.

About 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon fire was discovered in the cellar of Wm. Sclater & Co.'s asbestos establishment, at No. 42 Foundling street, Montreal. There was a quantity of oil and other inflammable material stored in the cellar, and with great rapidity the flames spread throughout the basement, and, leaping up through the aperture of the hoist, which extended from the basement to the upper flat, in a very short time enveloped the whole building. The splendid work of the fire brigade, however, prevented the extension of the flames to the adjoining buildings, although the stock of Messrs. Kearney Bros., importers of teas, etc., was considerably damaged by water and smoke. Sclater & Co.'s establishment was badly gutted, and the loss will be considerable. The stock being largely composed of asbestos, was not much affected by the fire, the packing cases being burned away from the material, leaving the contents apparently unimpaired. Both Sclater & Co. and Kearney Bros. are said to be fully insured. During the progress of the fire the firemen were at times, owing to the shaky condition of the floors, in considerable danger, and the chief ordered the men to keep near the windows in case of a collapse.

STRATFORD'S BOARD OF TRADE.

Stratford's Board of Trade is to live. This was decided upon at a meeting held on Friday last to consider the question. These officers were elected :

President, Mr. W. Preston.
Vice-president, Mr. George McLagan.
Honorary secretary, Mr. Duncan Ferguson.
Council, Messrs. E K. Barnsdale, Wm. Buckingham, Wm. Maynard, John Walsh, John Pullen, I. W. Steinhoff, E. O'Flaherty. C. E Nasmyth, E. T. Dufton, W. M. O'Beirne and R.M. Ballantyne.

A meeting of the council was held immediately after the election of officers, when Mr. Maynard was appointed treasurer, and a committee consisting of Messrs. McLagan, Ferguson, Dufton, Buckingham and Steinhoff was appointed to revise the bylaws, and bring up a recommendation at the next regular meeting of the board. It is the intention of the members to simplify the organization by having a small Executive Committee instead of the former council, and to reduce the number of meetings.

MUST BE GOOD AT GETTING MONEY.

A GROCER who does a credit business must be good at getting his money, if he wishes to keep in business. His first task is to be careful in giving credit, and the second to get what is due to him. Sometimes he may have to sue for his money. That is where some legal points will be useful to him. In suing for money the claim must be proven beyond any possibility of dispute. To do this an itemized bill or statement is necessary. It is this statement that many grocers fail to make correct. Many begin the statement with a balance without explaining where this balance came from. This should never be done. A statement must be made out beginning with the first item after the accounts were closed, even if it has to be made a yard long and for a period of several years. Here is where a point may be learned by many grocers. In taking money from a debtor, a business man should endeavor to secure an amount that will settle all bills to a certain date without leaving a balance. Thus, if a customer owes $20 and wishes to pay ten on account, while her bills to a certain day amounted to $9.50 and to another day to $11, the grocer should try to get either $11 or only $9.50. If he takes $10, he will be obliged to begin his statement with a balance of 50c. The remarks of an out-of-town grocer in an exchange may give some other hints to the grocers in this city and elsewhere. He says:

I lose very little through bad debts, for the simple reason that I am very particular whom I trust. When people come to me for credit, I begin by having a thorough understanding with them that the money must be paid when due, or their credit stops. Not only that. I have also an understanding with them as to whether all of the family are authorized to order goods. This I find to be necessary, as I have had cases of a daughter ordering goods and the mother saying afterwards that she had no right to do so. The worst collector imaginable is the grocer who is lenient in the first place, but who afterwards gets frightened and tries to bluff people into paying up. This is just what people want. It gives them an excuse for getting angry and refusing to pay.

I believe that quietly insisting on prompt payment from the very first is the only way to do business where you can't trust the law to help you. And the proof that my method is successful lies in the fact that I have often had accounts paid by people covered with attachments.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

THANKS FOR "THE GROCER."

William J. Tulk, secretary of the Executive Committee of the recent Pure Food Show held in Hamilton, writes THE CANDIAN GROCER under date of May 17 as follows:

The Executive Committee of the Exposition has instructed me to extend to you the hearty thanks of the committee for your co-operation in making the first Pure Food Exposition held in Canada such a magnificent success. We realize that this result is due in a great measure to you, and we appreciate this fact.

E. B. EDDY'S NEW WAREHOUSE.

OWING to the increased amount of business at their Montreal branch the E. B. Eddy Co. have moved into a large new warehouse at the corner of St. Genevieve and Latour streets, Montreal. The building, which is well adapted for this line of trade, consists of four flats, and contains nearly 40,000 feet of floor space. A representative of this paper called there a few days ago, and through the courtesy of Mr. John A. Hardisty, the manager of the Montreal branch, he was enabled to go through and examine their new quarters.

"I intend," said Mr. Hardisty in conversation, "to make this a model warehouse of its kind." And, judging by appearances, it looks as if he would succeed, for the warehouse has been arranged in a manner most convenient for the prompt and satisfactory transaction of business.

The ground floor is divided into three departments—the general and private business offices, the paper department and the shipping office. In connection with the shipping department it may be noted that this building has unusual facilities for the prompt handling of goods. There are two separate entrances for teams, one in the basement and one connected with the ground floor. This is a convenience that very few warehouses possess. On the ground floor there is also a large and well-arranged sample room, where customers can examine any line of goods they wish. The other floors are used as store rooms for the different lines of paper, woodenware, etc., which they handle. A well-planned arrangement of speaking-tubes and parcel-carriers—similar to those in use in large retail establishments—makes communication between the departments an easy matter.

The Eddy Co., which was established in 1852 as a small match and woodenware manufactory, has now grown to be the largest concern of its kind under the British flag, manufacturing every kind of paper, woodenware, matches, etc. The Montreal branch was opened in 1892 and is now the largest and most important of the many situated in different parts of Canada. Mr. Hardisty, the present manager, has been in charge there ever since the branch was established, and it is under his efficient management that the Montreal business has increased to its present proportions. An idea of the amount of business done can be gathered from the fact that the Montreal branch alone handle, on an average, two car loads per day of inward and outward shipments.

OLD ENGLISH FISHING LAWS.

In 1616 the first pageant in the Lord Mayor's Show, says an exchange, was a fishing boat, "with fishermen seriously at labor drawing up their nets, laden with living fish, and bestowing them bountifully upon the people." Several fishery laws were passed in 1710. Eel spears were forbidden, and it was made unlawful to use a flue, trommel, hooped net or double-walled net or to destroy the fry of fish. No draw nets were to be shot before sunrise or after sunset. No fisherman was to try for flounders between London Bridge and Westminster more than two casts at low and two at high water. No flounders were to be taken under the size of six inches. No one was to angle within the limits of London Bridge with more than two hooks upon his line. No one was to drag for salmon with nets under six inches in the mesh, and all unlawful nets were to be destroyed.

HOW TO PACK BUTTER.

D. GUNN BROS. & CO., Toronto, have just issued their seventh annual butter circular. In part it reads as follows :

"There are several unfortunate conditions that exist in our Canadian butter trade which have to be faced. We think we are within the mark when we state that notwithstanding the increase in the number of creameries recently, probably two-thirds of the butter produced in Canada is made in the home dairy. This butter is usually brought to the local merchants in lumps of various sizes, varying from one to ten lbs. or more, and sold for cash, or more frequently traded for goods. In this way the merchant will receive butter from many customers having different facilities for butter making, and marketed in all kinds of weather. It is to these merchants that we especially address this circular. We know that a great deal of butter received by merchants is quite equal to the finest creamery. There is, however, quite enough of very inferior butter made, which, when mixed with the good butter, spoils the whole parcel. We have frequently been not a little amused, while visiting the different towns buying butter, to have each merchant tell us that he himself is very particular in buying butter, but that his neighbor "Jones" will take anything that comes along. A little later we call on neighbor "Jones" and he tells us the same thing of "Smith," and so it goes. Trade is so keen that the majority of merchants are afraid of giving offence to a customer, and it is a well-known fact that farmers' wives are very sensitive as to the quality of their butter.

"The bad and the good grades of butter are often bought without discrimination, and then all are mixed together, and allowed to stand on tables, or dumped into boxes, and there to remain possibly for weeks before finally packed in tubs. The cellars and other rooms in which butter is stored are often contaminated by foul odors, and where these conditions exist it is impossible to have good results. We suggest the following methods, which, if adhered to, we think will help to materially improve the quality of butter handled by merchants :

"First.—Prepare a special room in the cellar in which only butter is stored ; the room if possible should be chilled with ice. This room should be thoroughly whitewashed once or twice during the season ; it is best to add to the whitewash a small quantity of common salt. The salt will assist in making the whitewash adhere to the walls or partitions better than if the lime is used alone in the water.

"Second.—When received care should be taken to class the butter according to grades in color and quality. This will save time in the packing process. The butter should be packed every day. In order to get a uniform color in each tub, the butter may be worked on any of the ordinary table mixers ; but in no case should the hands be used for this process. None but experienced persons having good judgment should be allowed to do the mixing. Care should be taken that the butter is not overworked, as in this way the grain is often destroyed.

"Third.—The person who is working the butter should have, by his hand, ordinary pickle, which may be made by using three pounds of salt, two ounces of saltpetre, and one gallon of water. A small portion of this should be sprinkled over the butter from time to time as it is mixed. This will serve the purpose of washing the butter and freeing it from any buttermilk that may remain in the product.

"Fourth.—The fifty-six pound dovetailed square box, the inside of which should be paraffined and lined with the best quality of parchment paper, is the proper package for butter intended for the British market. We do not, however, favor this package for the local trade, and as the majority of this class of butter is used locally, the ordinary fifty or sixty pound tub is usually preferable. Any of the ordinary woods, such as white ash or white wood, will serve the purpose.

"Fifth.—Tubs should be soaked at least twelve hours before packing, and then rinsed out with a strong salt pickle, after which a small quantity of fine salt may be rubbed over the sides of the tub. If the tubs are paraffined they are preferable and do not require to be soaked.

"Sixth.—Butter should be packed into the tub by means of a hardwood masher. In filling leave about half an inch space at the top of each tub, so that a paste of fine salt may be applied, after covering the butter with a bleached cotton cloth.

"Seventh.—Market without delay, as butter will not keep fresh in ordinary cellars for any length of time during the summer months."

CANADA'S ATTITUDE TOWARD THE STATES.

WHILE the day when closer trade relations between Canada and the United States shall exist is no doubt far distant, the minimum tariff, and the advantage which British products enjoy under it, will probably tend to bring that day nearer than would have the conditions which before obtained.

Among the countries to which the United States exports her products, Canada stands third. Great Britain is, of course, first, with $405,623,127 worth. Next is Germany with $97,949,950. Then comes the Dominion of Canada with $59,689,597 worth. France is fifth with $46,973,955 worth, and the Netherlands sixth with $39,022,899. The value of Canada's trade to the United States is only about $10,000,000 less than that of the Central American States, West Indies and South America combined, in all some twenty-five separate countries.

The chief competitor of the United States for the Canadian market is Great Britain, the latter contributing 29 per cent. of our total imports and the former 52 per cent.

Under the new minimum tariff the products of Great Britain will come into the Dominion at a rate 12½ per cent. less than those from the United States until June 30, 1898, and 25 per cent. on and after that date.

Obviously this must on the one hand tend to stimulate the imports of British goods into Canada, while it will on the other hand tend to retard those the product of the United States.

At present the politicians of the United States appear to want no dealings with the Canadians. All they desire is power. And this is a desire that blinds all politicians whatsoever, whether they hail from the United States or from Canada.

By-and-bye, when it is demonstrated beyond all peradventure that the minimum tariff is as a gateway to British goods and as a stone wall to United States products, the business men in the latter country who have been in the habit of selling their wares in Canada will naturally feel as every man feels when he is losing a customer. When that point is reached the business man usually wants to pinch the politicians whose perverseness has caused his pocket to be pinched. Then in time will come the remedy. It may be a long time, and doubtless will be, but it will come.

Since Confederation Canada has made about half a dozen attempts to secure closer trade relations with the United States, sometimes almost going upon our knees in the dust, but each and every attempt was a failure.

We have now, however, got our Sunday garments of dignity on, and are too busy frying fish within the Empire to bother ourselves about other fish.

We are still willing to trade with the United States, but we are not willing to knock at the door for admission. Our patience is exhausted and we are tired.

Although we are tired we have not barred the door to negotiations. In the reciprocity clause of the new tariff we have heralded it abroad that any nation whatsoever can enjoy the minimum tariff by complying with certain conditions.

That is not hostility. It only means that the United States must come to us and not we to them. And they can come to us over the path we have beaten in going to them.

THE TOBACCO SITUATION.

The trade is still, to some extent, groping in the dark in regard to tobacco. There is no great demand, but wholesalers' stocks are short in some lines, and as the factories, being closed down, will not accept orders, some difficulty in filling orders is being experienced. Some houses at least will not guarantee delivery. Prices, while generally 14c. per lb. higher than before the tariff was brought down, are still unsettled pending the final action of the Government.

THE MERCHANT'S ONLY HOPE.

TWO things seem patent in regard to the department stores. One is that they are never likely to be crushed out of existence by the hand of the law. And the other is that whatever the law can be persauded to do in the way of limiting the power of these stores for evil can only be done after much agitation and the lapse of much time.

In the meantime the curtailing of the evil influences of the departmental store devolves upon the legitimate storekeepers themselves.

They have no circumlocution office to go through before the necessary forces can be put into operation. If there are any circumlocution offices they are of their own creation.

If they will they can act promptly: Each for himself and all together for the whole.

Every merchant must first of all begin with himself. His store must be bright and up to date. His goods what they are represented to be and well bought.

Exorbitant profits it is folly to try and get; for while they may be reaped for a while, yet it will only be for a while. People do not these days long remain in ignorance of the market price of any article or commodity, and woe is it to him who hath charged exorbitantly.

"Small profits and quick returns" is the old familiar motto of the Cheap Johns so common in the Old Land. And he who in this day and generation would be successful should have a practical acquaintanceship with this motto.

The merchant who to-day makes business a success is the merchant who turns his stock over frequently.

It is better to turn a stock over half a dozen times during, say, a year, and make only 10 or 15 per cent. on each turnover than to do so once or twice and gain a profit of 25 or 30 per cent. thereby.

Give time and thought to your advertising. And advertise judiciously and in a way that will demand attention.

Then take an active part in the business men's association with which you may be or should be connected. If you have not an organization of the kind in your neighborhood try to create one.

By rubbing shoulders with your fellow business men you will get ideas; and ideas make good bullets for fighting departmental stores with. There is nothing like unto them. The machinery of the law is nothing to be compared to them.

Merchants affected by the departmental stores who are waiting for the law to rescue them from the octopus, will be dead, buried and forgotton before their salvation shall appear.

At the moment, the merchants have none other immediate help outside themselves.

The spring number of Le Prix Courant is a thing of beauty. It consists of about one hundred pages and is nicely illustrated. The cover is a strikingly handsome one.

A FALLACIOUS PLEA.

PEOPLE who are in the habit of being late to business often, as a rejoinder to the axiom, "It is the early bird that catches the worm," say, in effect, "Yes, but what about the early worm?"

This plea would have at least some weight if it was the duty of the worm to be out at day break. But as it is not its duty the plea has no weight.

The early worm was a late one. It had been out all night and should have been back in bed long before the sun rose and the early bird was abroad.

Young men who are out all night always suffer more by getting home late than they do by getting to business early. The young man who is early to business gathers the worm, but the young man who is late to business is the worm that is gobbled up.

GROCERY CLERKS' PICNIC.

The members of the Grocery Clerks' and Drivers' Association of Toronto will hold an excursion to Oshawa on May 24th, the Queen's Birthday. An excellent programme of athletic sports, etc., will be presented. It is expected that a large crowd will be present, and a pleasant time is certain if favorable weather obtains.

The association is incorporated under the laws of Ontario, and all legitimate clerks can become members thereof on payment of a fee of $1. The association meets every fortnight.

A meeting of the association was held on Monday night, with Mr. E. W. Lee in the chair, when arrangements for the picnic were completed.

QUESTION OF "FILLED CHEESE."

NOW that the new season has opened in earnest the question of filled cheese is one of great importance to Canadian producers, as these filled or imitation cheese from the United States are competitors in the British market with our genuine gilt-edge goods.

Although tens of thousands of boxes of adulterated cheese have been imported into Great Britain since 1893, the first time they appeared as "imitation cheese," or under any other heading than cheese, in a Liverpool Customs bill of entry, was on the 28th April. These "imitation" cheese are made in the States (especially in the state of Wisconsin), and shipped as pure cheese to Great Britain.

As a large number of factories in the state mentioned which have been shut down for over two years are resuming operations, there are grave fears that the export of these cheese will be largely increased during the coming year. It is of interest, therefore, to honest Canadian as well as United States factorymen, that the Government of the latter country should make a move in the matter, and it is gratifying to learn that English importers are already taking steps in this connection, one of the leading members of the Liverpool trade now being on his way to the States in relation to the matter.

Prior to the passing of the "filled cheese" law in America last year, importers, excepting those who imported the imitation knowingly from the factories, could not, unless by analysis, know whether they were receiving pure or adulterated cheese as there was nothing whatever on the outside of the boxes to give any indication. Since the passing of the law the volume of the adulterated cheese trade has somewhat decreased, but since November last shipments of adulterated cheese have again come forward. The boxes are so badly marked, with skeleton or elongated letters, that it is some trouble to read them at a very little distance. Each imitation cheese is wrapped in a double cloth, on the outside of which the words "filled cheese" are badly marked (very often smudged) and on the removal of this cloth the article stands in every way, to all appearances, as pure cheese.

This article is made from skim milk curd, cotton-seed oil, neutral lard and oleo, which in combination predispose the product in warm weather to become rank and offensive if kept long after its manufacture.

When fresh it is inoffensive in smell and is sold by many retail dealers as pure cheese at 6d. per pound.

If sold under its proper name the trade will bring about its own extinction, as cheese is now blamed for the faults of the imitation article.

The word "imitation" should be sunk in the rind of the cheese itself, which could easily be done without interfering with the sale of it on its merits.

The words "filled cheese" are misleading words and offer no guidance to the public as to the nature of the article.

No one in the trade objects to its importation if it is consigned and shipped as "imitation cheese" and sold as such on the retail counters.

At present imitation cheese are consigned, shipped and manifested as cheese.

Reference to the British Board of Trade returns shows that there is no heading for "imitation cheese," which seems exceedingly strange considering that so many thousands of boxes have entered Great Britain.

TEAS STRONG AND ACTIVE.

THE change in the United States regulations regarding the inspection of and duty on teas has had an enlivening effect on the market for the staple in Montreal during the three last days of the previous week. On Thursday buyers from New York came on the market and cleared up 5,000 packages of Japan teas at a range of 15 to 17c. They followed this up later with purchases of 2,500 blocks at values running from 10 to 12c., and 1,300 Ceylons, the basis for which was not made known.

These heavy purchases have naturally stiffened the tea market, especially as they have been supplemented by enquiries from Chicago, which are very likely to lead to further business.

Further advices from Yokohama also continue strong in tone, as already noted by THE GROCER last week. They state that goods are selling for $35 per picul now that only brought $22.50 last season.

CHAT WITH A MAN FROM SMYRNA.

MR. FRANCIS SOLARI, of Smyrna, Turkey, was in Toronto this week. He is a son of Antoine Solari, importer and exporter of figs, Sultana raisins, etc., and is making a tour of Canada and the United States in the interests of his father's business. His firm has been doing business with England for twenty years and it is now making a special effort to extend its business on this side of the Atlantic. Mr. Solari has been induced to attempt this through the success his efforts have already met with. "I am well pleased with our business in Toronto during the past year," he said in reply to a query.

Antoine Solari's exports of figs last year to London, the United States and Canada were nearly 8,000 cases, and of Sultana raisins nearly 150,000.

The firm does a banking business in Smyrna besides dealing in fruits, and in the former capacity advance money to the fruit growers on their crops.

Mr. Francis Solari is a pleasant gentleman of fine appearance and readily submitted to an interview.

"It is rather early to speak of the crop of Sultana raisins," he said, when questioned. "But when I left Smyrna about the end of April the prospects were pretty good. We shall probably have a larger and better crop than last year. Last season, you will remember, the crop had the quantity but not the quality, owing to the damage by rain."

"What is the expectation regarding prices?"

"On account of the war in Greece and a consequent short crop of currants, there is expected to be a large demand for Sultana raisins, they being the fruit best suited to take the place of currants. But notwithstanding this increased demand we expect prices to be lower than last year. Of course there is yet the possibility of damage to the crop. But if there is no damage prices will undoubtedly be lower than last season."

In regard to figs Mr. Solari said the crop was likely to be about an average one, namely, 80,000 loads. And prices, he said, would in all probability be lower than a year ago.

This is Mr. Solari's first visit to Canada. "I have been quite surprised with your country," he said. "I had the idea it was a very cold place. Why, you have it as warm here as we have it in Smyrna. I am very much pleased indeed with the country." And the expression on his face showed that he meant what he said.

Mr. Solari was introduced to the trade in Toronto by Mr. E. Fielding, the Toronto agent of the firm.

THE SECOND FRUIT SALE.

THE second auction sale of Mediterranean green fruit at Montreal did not result as satisfactorily as the first. The cargo consisted of 25,000 boxes of Messina lemons, 4,700 boxes of Palermo, 3,738 boxes of Catania, 1,000 half-boxes Messina oranges, 424 boxes Palermo and 2,800 half-boxes Catania, making a total of 33,438 boxes of lemons, 3,800 half-boxes oranges and 424 boxes ex Sir Walter Raleigh. The attendance of buyers was not as large as at the Fremona sales, owing to the fact that a large number of American and Western buyers had left the city. Consequently the bidding was not so brisk, and as the quality of the fruit generally was much poorer than that of the Fremona's cargo low prices were the order of the day. Oranges show a decline of fully 50c. to $1 per box and choice lemons, 20 to 25c. per box, as compared with the prices realized at the previous sale. Fully 50 per cent. of the lemons were purchased on American account, and most of the good lines of oranges were also taken. The largest local buyers were Messrs. Hart & Tuckwell and John Barry & Sons. Messina lemons sold at 40c. to $2 per box, Palermo at 60c. to $2.70 per box, and cases at $2.10 to $2.80. Messina oranges brought from 70c. to $1.10 per half-box; Palermo, $1.50 to $2.30 per box, and $1.05 to $2 per half-box. Several lines of very fancy Catania ovals sold at $2 to $2.20 per box, and bloods at $1.80 to $2 per half-box.

The out-of-town buyers present were: Van Valen, of Chicago; C. Parsons, Zucca; J. W. Lumsden, of New York; G. W. Emery, of Boston; R. A. Tucker, of New York; R. Barden, of Quebec; W. Dixon, of Hamilton; Wood, of Sarnia; G. Husband, of Toronto; G. McWilliam, of Toronto, and Hunt, of Ottawa. The principal local buyers were: Messrs. John Barry & Sons, Hart & Tuckwell, T. S. Vipond, J. J. Vipond, J. Brown, O. & E. Hart, Vipond, Peterson & Co., J. T. McBride, E. Harris, A. Bowes, J. R. Clogg & Co., Montreal Fruit Exchange, J. Caldwell & Co., and L. Sylvester.

The secret of success is the ability to grasp opportunities.

NEW JAPAN TEAS.

The first samples of new season's Japan tea reached Toronto on Monday. They were received by Dane & Halford, agents for Morrow & Ewing, the Canadian agents of the Japan Tea Firing Co.

The quality shown is excellent, and rather better than last year's first picking of Japan tea.

The first picking, according to advices received from Japan, only amounted to a little over three piculs, or about four hundred pounds, and this quantity was divided among eight firms.

The samples left Yokohama April 24, and took 23 days to reach Toronto.

MISCHIEVOUS LOAFERS.

Some storekeepers wonder how it is that people will walk past their door, and go farther to purchase their goods, when they can give them just as good value.

In a great many cases these merchants allow a certain number of small boys to hang around their store, who, when the dealer's back is turned, take the first thing they can lay their hands on. This would not drive the people away, however. It is the noise, foul talk, and the tricks they play.

I was in a store, when a little boy came in for something. Those who were in the store watched their chance and put a rotten egg in his pocket, and pushed against him, so as to break it. Now, people are not going to deal where their children are used like that.

It is true that these boys run errands free; but look at it in a business light, and you will find out that it will pay a good deal better to give a fair sum to one lad and keep him in his place.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 20, 1897.

GROCERIES.

TRADE this week cannot be noted for its briskness. Indeed, in no one line can there be said to be any real activity. Compared with a week ago the volume of business is lighter. Since our last there have been further shipments of teas to the United States. And this is the feature of the trade. Canned goods are receiving fair attention and prices, on the whole, are strong. Coffees are quiet and steady. Teas are not receiving much attention locally. In spices, a little higher price is to be noted for pepper in the primary market. Sugars are dull and weaker in both New York and London. Tobaccos are somewhat unsettled, pending the final decision of the Government regarding the tariff, and as the factories are closed down wholesalers cannot get supplies in some lines. Currants continue to occupy a strong position. A few Valencia raisins have been brought on from New York, but stocks are still light. Sultana raisins are also scarce.

CANNED GOODS.

On account of the slowness of the demand for gallon apples there is a disposition on the part of jobbers to sacrifice prices a little in order to made a sale. A little business has been done on this basis, but ordinarily the demand is dull. Tomatoes and peas are in fairly good demand at firm prices. Corn remains quiet. The increased demand for salmon and sardines noted last week continues to increase. Lobster is still scarce, particularly the best grades. Some wholesale houses have no canned lobster in stock. Some low offers are being made on certain kinds of canned fruit, and a little business is being done. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c;. peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The coffee market is dull. On Monday in New York the price of Rio coffee declined 5 to 15 points. According to latest advices Java coffees were a little higher. Jobbers quote green in bags: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There are very few offering, and there is nothing doing. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is quiet. Advices from New Orleans state that prices there are upon a steady basis. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The market is dull and rather unsettled. On Monday in New York there was a decline on all hard grades of 1-16c., and for Nos. 4, 5, 6 and 7 of ⅛c., while Nos. 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 14, 15 and 16 were down 1-16c., with Nos. 11, 12 and 13 unchanged. Beets declined ¾d. in London on the same day. On the Canadian market no change in price has taken place, but there is very little business transpiring. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

There has been another fractional advance in pepper. Other kinds of spices are unchanged. Business is quiet locally.

NUTS.

Locally there is nothing new to note. It is said there are no more Valencia shelled almonds in Malaga available for export. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

The mills are out of "B" rice, and stocks of this particular grade are light, with at least some jobbers. The demand for rice is fair. Tapioca is quiet. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¼c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The first samples of new season's Japan teas were received in Toronto on Monday by Dane & Halford, agents here for Ewing & Morrow, of Montreal, Canadian representatives of the Japan Tea Firing Co. The quality is superior to that of last year. Further shipments of teas have been made from Toronto to the United States during the week, but the demand from this quarter appears to be easing off. The local trade is quiet, and the little that is being done is chiefly in cheap Ceylon teas at about 12c. per lb. The season for Indian tea is practically over in London, while that for Ceylon tea is beginning. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Currants on the Toronto market are getting into limited supply and are changing hands amongst the wholesale trade. New York is selling cases at 4½c. in bond, which is close to 6c. duty paid, Canadian terms. Locally, there is not as much doing as there was a week or two ago. We quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅞ to 5c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; Patras, 5¾ to 6c. in bbls., 5¾ to 6c. in half-bbls., and 5¾ to 6c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8c.

Valencia raisins in layers have been brought in from New York lately which are being sold to the retail trade at about 5½ to 6c. per lb. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

In California loose muscatels the highness of price precluded the possibility of doing much business. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are a drug upon the market. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 6 to 6½c. in boxes.

Dates are dull and unchanged. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

California evaporated fruits are receiving little or no attention. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

California prunes are meeting with a fair demand, and the lowness of the price is selling a few French prunes. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

Sultana raisins are scarce. There are several enquiries from wholesale houses, but no sellers.

FOREIGN GREEN FRUITS.

Oranges are in active demand and higher, and shipments now coming forward are from the Montreal fruit sale. In lemons the demand is good and a wide range in prices is to be noted. Bananas are experiencing a good demand. At the fruit sale at the Yonge street wharf on Monday about 3,000 packages of oranges and lemons were sold. The prices obtained for the oranges ranged from $1.45 to $3.45, and for the lemons from $1.60 to $3.20. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $6 to $6.50 per case; large 420's, $7 to $8; Messinas and Sorrentos, $3.50 to $4 for 200's, $3.50 to $4 for 300's, $1.75 to $2 for 80's, $2 to $2.25 for 100's, $2.25 for 120's, $2.50 to $2.75 for 150's, $2.75 to $3 for 180's. Lemons, $2 to $4. Cocoanuts, $4.25 a sack and 60c. per doz. Onions, $3 to $3.25 per bag for Egyptians. Cranberries, Jerseys, $4.50 per bbl. Bananas, $2 to $2.25. Pineapples, 6 to 15c. each. Strawberries, 16 to 18c. per quart. New cabbage, $3 to $3.50 per crate. Tomatoes, $4 per case of six baskets. Apples—Fancy spies, $3.50 per bbl.; and other kinds $1 to $2 per bbl.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts are large and prices weaker. The quality is gradually improving, although a good deal of fodder butter is still coming forward. Tubs, pails and tins are beginning to come in a little faster, and shippers are urged to now send their butter forward in these packages instead of in large rolls. The price of creamery butter is being affected considerably by the large receipts of dairy butter, the cheapness of the latter causing the attention to be given more to it. The demand is fair for good butter. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 10 to 11c. for good to choice; large rolls, 9 to 11c. for good to choice; pound prints, 11 to 12c. for good to choice. Creamery—erally are steady, sugar at the refineries being held steady. Molasses is somewhat easier at the islands, but spot values are unchanged. Teas are active in a large way on account of extensive buying operations by United States operators in this market, but otherwise is quiet, as traders here are not doing much, being inclined to hold off. Coffees, spices, rice, etc., are all much as they were a week ago.

SUGAR.

In a jobbing way there has been a fairly good movement of sugar from wholesale grocers' hands, but the refiners are selling little or nothing. Values generally are steady at 4¼ to 4⅜c. for granulated, and yellows 3½ to 4c. At the refineries prices are unchanged also; 250 bbl. lots, 4⅛c. and smaller quantities of granulated, 4 3-16 to 4¼c., while yellows range from 3⅜ to 3½c.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in the syrup market, business ruling dull at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per pound as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The first direct cargoes of new molasses have arrived here this week, but the fact has had no influence whatever on local prices. Buyers generally are pretty well supplied with goods, and for this reason the jobbing price for this province is unchanged at 25c. in 15-puncheon lots and over and 26c. in any less quantity. Advices from the islands lately report continued weakness, goods having been offered as low as 6c. first cost, but this week 6½c. is asked. This fact, however, has had no influence on the situation here.

RICE.

There has been no further change in rice this week, business being quiet, despite the fact that supplies generally are light. We quote: B grade, or any other quality equal or inferior as follows: Bags, 250 lbs., 1 to 4 bags or equal to $3.50; 5 to 9 bags, $3.45; 10 bags or over, $3.40. Half-bags, 100 lbs., 1 to 4 bags, $3.55; 5 to 9 bags, $3.50; 10 bags and over, $3.45. Quarter-bags, 50 lbs, 1 to 4 bags, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags or over, $3.50. Pockets, 12½ to 25 lbs.; 1 to 4 bags, $3.65; 5 to 9 bags, $3.60; 10 bags and over, $3.55.

SPICES.

Business in spices rules quiet and prices generally are steady, as last quoted: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market has been quiet and the easy feeling noted last week is continued. In fact, values have been shaded somewhat in the case of some large lots of Maracaibo. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 25c.; Santos, 12½ to 18c.; Rio, 12 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 24 to 27c.

TEAS.

The activity noted last week in teas continues, and, as noted elsewhere, there have been further large purchases of Japans, blacks, and Ceylons on American account in this market, which has practically cleaned up all the stock there is here. Advices from Japan also state that owing to the free purchases on American account the May teas are held extremely high. So much is this the case that large houses here who have orders in Japan for May growths have declined to have them executed at the advance, preferring to hold back, though some express doubts whether they will gain anything by so doing. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a moderate jobbing call for canned fish and vegetables. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 80c.; peas, 80c.; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.70 to $1.90, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2.30; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $8.50 to $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is little change in Valencia raisins here, business ruling extremely light. Stocks here are very small and prices are held pretty steady, while advices from abroad are firm on the fruit. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

There has been some jobbing business in California fruit during the week; in fact it has been the only kind moving, as the large supplies of green fruit of all kinds kill the demand for anything else. Values on California stock are unchanged, the range being from 6c. for 2-crown up to 8c., according to grade.

The currant market is steady, with little movement of any kind to report. We quote: Provincials, 4 to 4¾c.

Prunes are quiet and unchanged, California being the only kind moving, prices for them ranging from 6½ to 9c. Austrian and French stock continue largely nominal, the remaining stock of them being very light.

Figs and dates are as last quoted, 8 to 12c. for the former and 5 to 6c. for the latter.

California evaporated fruits are quiet and steady. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 10 to 14c., and prunes 8 to 12c., according to brand and quality.

NUTS.

There is little doing in nuts, and prices generally are steady. Advices from abroad are firm in their tone on leading lines. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

GREEN FRUIT.

The sales of oranges and lemons have naturally attracted the chief attention in this market this week, to the exclusion of everything else. Still, a fair jobbing trade has been going on in all other lines. We quote: Messina lemons, $2 per box; Valencia oranges, $5 per box and $6 per case; blood do, $2.50 per half-box and $4 to $5 per box; Messina oranges, $2 per half-box and $3 to $4 per box; bananas, 75c. to $1.75 per bunch, and pineapples, 6 to 15c.

APPLES.

The apple market is firm under steadily diminishing supplies at $2 to $3 per bbl., as to quality.

DRIED APPLES.

These furnish no improvement, dried offering at 3 to 3¼c., and evaporated at 3¾ to 4¼c. per lb.

tinues steady under a good demand, and trade is active at 9 to 9¼c. per dozen.

MAPLE PRODUCT — Business in maple product was quiet, and values rule steady. Syrup sold at 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. in wood ; 45c. per small tin, and 50 to 55c. for large ones. Sugar brought 6 to 6½c. per lb.

BEANS—The demand for beans is slow, and the market rules dull at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and at 65 to 70c. in a small way.

HOPS—The market continues quiet at 11½ to 11½c. for choice Canadian.

HONEY — Rules slow at 8 to 10c. for white clover comb, and 6 to 7½c. for extracted.

POTATOES—Unchanged ; car lots selling at 35 to 40c., and smaller quantities 45c. per bag.

ASHES—Dull and unchanged.

TALLOW—Quiet at 1½ to 3c., as to quality.

PROVISIONS.

There was no change in the situation of the local provision market. The demand is limited and trade of a jobbing character. We quote : Canadian pork, $12.50 to $13.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¼ to 6¾c., and compound refined at 4¾ to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

There have been several export enquiries for flour during the week from London and other British markets and 2,000 sacks or so were put through Monday on this account. The local demand has been fairly active also. We quote as follows : Winter wheat patents at $4.25 to $4.40 ; straight rollers, $3.90 to $4, and in bags, $1.90 to $2. Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4.25 ; outside brands, $3.90 to $4.10, and spring wheat patents, $4.40 to $4.60.

The oatmeal market is unchanged at $2.80 per bbl. and $1.37½ per bag for rolled oats.

The feed market has declined to a lower level since last report, and prices are 50c. per ton lower than they were, Manitoba bran offering at $10 and shorts at $11 per ton, including the bags, while Ontario is obtainable at the same range in bulk.

BALED HAY.

Receipts of baled hay continue light, and prices are firmly held at $10.50 for No. 1 and $9 for No. 2, car lots on track.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market has exhibited a steadily declining tendency during the past week, and at this writing demand is slow and prices easy at 9 to 9½c., according to quality here, which is a drop of ½ to 1c. during ten days. The fact of the matter was that prices on the fodder goods were rather high for export business and they had to come down. Full grass cheese are now coming in, and a very large make is in progress throughout the country.

Butter continues to show an improved feeling, and this week it is doubtful if very finest creamery is obtainable at 16c., for we hear of sales at 16½c., and this figure has been bid in several other instances. The diversion to cheese of a large quantity of milk has exerted a beneficial effect on butter.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Molasses at the islands declined to 6c. first cost at one time during the week, but have since gone back to 6½c.

United States buyers have practically cleaned the market here of Japan, black and Ceylon teas, paying full figures for them.

Montreal houses have not done very much in May growths of Japan teas this year owing to the extremely high values asked for them.

The first direct cargo of Barbadoes molasses has arrived in port here. It is of the well-known "Peerless" brand and owned by Hudon, Hebert & Cie. Another cargo has also arrived for another importer.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 20, 1897.

BUSINESS continues good. Our wholesale dealers are not pleased at the reduction in the export freight rate on flour, grain, etc. It allows cars to be delivered at water points in Nova Scotia less than at St. John. The difference between export and local rate to St. John on a barrel of flour is from 17 to 23c., which would allow it to be landed at a water point in Nova Scotia, say Bridgetown, 9c. per barrel less than at St. John. As millers will sell all dealers who buy a car as low as St. John wholesale men, it cuts our merchants entirely out of the Nova Scotia trade, which has been a large factor in their business. There is little change in prices. Some of our dealers are trying to sell tea in the American market. The weather so far in May has been very backward, being wet nearly all the time.

OIL—The chief demand is in lubricating oils, and competition is such that prices are figured fine. Values show no change. We quote : Best American burning oil, 18½ to 19c.; Canadian, 17¼ to 18c.; prime, 14½ to 16c.

SALT—The last cargo arriving was almost all put in store, there being but little outside demand. Stocks here are large, and a cargo is about due, so the market is well supplied, and trade is rather dull. Prices rule easy. In Canadian salt, which the butter and cheese makers use largely, and also which is the chief table salt, there is rather an improved demand. We quote : Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 90c. to $1; Canadian fine, 90c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

CANNED GOODS — The demand keeps good, and canners report a good enquiry. There must soon, however, be a dropping off in many lines. Canned apples at present show better sale. They have been dull. Some very nice California apricots are offered low here. Oysters show rather higher prices. New American pineapple is now being received. Salmon rule easy, but lobsters are high and scarce. Vegetables show a wide range, particularly peas. There are, however, no low-priced tomatoes. We quote as follows : Corn, 60 to 70c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; tomatoes, 80 to 90c. ; gallon apples, $1.85 to $2.00, corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35 ; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50 ; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20 ; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3 ; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85 ; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $3 ; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Business keeps active and new lines of green fruit are coming in daily. Demand for oranges is hardly as active. Bananas, coming in so freely, are now having a large sale. Pineapples have been coming in in larger quantities. Lemons are higher for best grades and in good supply with the demand improving. Strawberries arriving are of good quality, and prices tending easier. There is a good sale. Rhubarb is now as low as it will be for some little time. We quote : Messina lemons, $3 to $3.55; oranges, Valencia, $4.50 to $6 ; blood oranges, $2.50 to $3; bananas, $1.25 to $2.25 ; apples, $1 to $3 per bbl.; lettuce, 60c. per doz. ; pines, 12 to 15c. ; berries, 15 to 18c.; rhubarb, 3 to 3¼c.; cucumbers, $1 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—The movement in these goods is limited. Onions have quite a free sale. Bermudas are still high, very few having arrived this season. Egyptians are lower. While chiefly sold in bags quite a quantity are crated here. The low price of California prunes has caused some demand, but in this line the season has been a very dull one. Currants are scarce, and it now looks as if there would be a further advance. The sale is largely confined to cleaned. Of late quite a few of American cleaned have

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

come into the market. While evaporated apples are higher in outside markets, and best stock is hard to get, local prices are still low. Quite a quantity of cocoanuts arrived by last West India steamer. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 7¼ to 7¾c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4½ to 5c.; onions, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.; Bermuda onions, $2.50 per crate; cocoanuts, $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8¼ to 9c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—Prices show no change. The feeling is easy, stock being ample and but fair demand. Dealers will be in the market first for yellows. The demand is largely for the better grades. The fact that German sugar is in bags makes it very unpopular here, and it would need to be offered well below Canadian prices to find buyers. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¾ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—Sale is quite active. The steamer this month had quite a quantity of Barbadoes. This is offered low. But that by next steamer will cost a cent less at the island, which will make the price the lowest it has touched for years. In Porto Rico there is quite a range of prices, full figures being obtained for the best. Some new St. Croix here could be bought quite low. There is little or no demand for syrup, and New Orleans molasses is also quiet. We quote: Barbadoes, 24 to 27c.; Porto Rico, 26 to 30c.; New Orleans, bbls., 25½ to 27c.; Antigua, 24 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; St. Croix, 23 to 25c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter has been scarce; sale has been slow, which has affected the supply. Prices keep low. There is, however, a good, steady demand for best grades. Eggs are very low for this time of year. They are being sold at retail at the wholesale price. In cheese the market holds firm, with but few here. The demand is for small cheese. Local cheese will be on the market in about three weeks. It is thought the number manufactured in the Maritime Provinces will be large. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 18c.; creamery, 20 to 21c.; prints, 20 to 22c.; eggs, 9 to 10c.; cheese, 11½ to 12c.

FISH—While there is some trade in dried fish, pickled fish are very dull. Smoked herring fail to show any improvement. Prices keep low. The chief business is in fresh fish. Gaspereaux are still running quite freely, though the catch has not been a large one. Shad are now being caught freely. They are largely sold fresh at this season, the later caught fish being best to pickle. A few salmon are being taken, but it is yet early for any large business. Halibut are rather lower. Those coming into this market at present are largely from Nova Scotia. Lobsters are scarce, and those coming here are small. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $2.75 to $2.80; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl., $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box; Barrington, $3 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.55 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each, small; gaspereaux, 50 to 60c. per 100; halibut, 7 to 8½c. per lb.; fresh shad, 12 to 15c. each; salmon, 20 to 25c. per lb.

PROVISIONS—In beef there is a good steady sale at even prices, but pork is in light demand, and holders are offering below figures at which they could replace. Pure lard shows a range in price, but tends rather higher. Stocks are large and no change is looked for. We quote: Clear pork, $14 to $14.50; mess, $12.25 to $13; plate beef, $12.25 to $13; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; rolls, 8 to 8½c.; pure lard, 7 to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — Flour keeps easy, particularly Manitoba, the price of which is now little higher than Ontario. The St. John demand will be affected by the low freight rates quoted to Nova Scotia water points via St. John, which in many cases are lower than to St. John. This will lead outside buyers to buy more freely from millers' agents for direct shipment, cutting off that much of the St. John trade. Oatmeal and

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Last week five schooners cleared in one day from Boston for Nova Scotia ports, carrying flour, oatmeal, cornmeal, etc., coming almost altogether from Ontario.

St. John Board of Trade report fifteen new members elected at their last meeting. Our board has done valuable work for the city, and should receive the support of all its business men.

Exports to Great Britain via St. John for the winter of 1896-97 included 230,508 sacks flour, 41,987 of bran, 21,495 of oatmeal, 14,500 barrels apples, 48,700 packages butter and cheese, 12,500 head of live stock, 1,436,000 bushels grain. The total tonnage was 77,435.

The new canning company at Woodstock, N.B., is distributing seed for corn, peas, beans, etc ; also information regarding cultivation and the price they will be prepared to pay for the vegetables.

Smith & Tilton had a letter from J. & J. Colman, London, whom they represent here, referring to some information they had obtained through THE CANADIAN GROCER. Advertisers should note this.

Among the cargo of the West India steamer arriving this past week were 500 bags cocoanuts, 600 packages Barbadoes molasses, 50 packages tamarinds, 25 packages St. Kitts molasses, 60 of St. Croix molasses and 50 crates Bermuda onions.

WILL DEAL IN MANITOBA GRAIN.

A new grain company has been formed by a number of provincial grain dealers, to carry on business in Manitoba, and for which a charter will be applied for at once. The capital stock of the company will be $250,000, of which $150,000 has been subscribed and paid up. The applicants for a charter are : W. J. Lindsay, W. L. Parrish, Brandon ; W. A. Walker, Winnipeg ; A. J. Adamson, Morden ; J. A. Thompson, Carnduff ; R. J. Chalmers, Manitou ; and other well-known grain dealers are stockholders. The company intends to enter the field early in the summer, and will control about forty elevators at leading centres throughout the province and territories. The intention is to purchase grain at from seventy-five to one hundred points. The head office will be at Winnipeg, and representatives will be established in Ontario and New York city, who will attend to the export business of the company.

SOAP FROM CORN.

A soap manufacturing concern at Des Moines, Ia., is, according to an exchange, experimenting in the manufacture of soap from corn. It is said the first lot of cakes turned out proved a success. The cakes resemble those of castile soap, except that the color is not quite as dark. The soap makes up compactly, but is light and will float.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. A. A. Parks, of Williamsford, was in Toronto last week.

Mr. L. McDonald has just opened out a nice grocery store at St. Antoine and Aqueduct streets, Montreal. He has a well assorted stock of groceries and liquors, and everything is very neatly arranged. Mr. McDonald has the best wishes of THE GROCER.

CALIFORNIA FRUITS UNSETTLED.

THE California dried fruit market is in an unsettled condition and the outlook is somewhat uncertain. The stock of last year's crop here and in California is much smaller than usual at this time of the year, according to current report, but at the same time the consuming demand is at present, as it has been for some time past, lighter than usual, with the result that those who have anything to sell have been inclined to force business in order to dispose of their holdings rather than put them into cold storage.

One reason for the anxiety to get rid of spot goods is found in the reports from California that the output from this year's crop would be much in excess of previous seasons. Many new orchards will come into bearing this year, and will, it is believed, make up for any shortage of the older trees and vines. There has been a good deal of talk of damage to the fruit crop of California by drouth and dry winds. According to some private letters received from the Coast recently more than half of the prunes are already on the grounds, and other fruit crops are said to have suffered proportionately ; but it is generally admitted that California, in spite of all adverse conditions, may yet turn out one of the largest crops of fruits since 1891. The stock of prunes left from the 1896 crop in California, according to last advices, is reduced to less than 30 cars ; some informants stating that there are not more than 25 cars left there. In the spot market, supplies are reported to be equally small, with a very light percentage of the larger sizes, for which there is the most demand. The intermediate grades, which make up most of the supply at present, do not seem to be wanted and prices on these are rather easy.

Mail advices from the Coast to day state that the stock of apricots is virtually exhausted, but that there is little or no demand. Of peaches there are said to be only about five cars left on the Coast, but in the absence of important demand prices do not improve. Raisins are about the dullest article on this list. Loose raisins command little attention at present, as the bulk of the stock offered does not seem to suit the buyers. The best goods were hurried forward and sold quite freely a few months ago, but for some time past few sellers, it is said, have had any really first-class stock to offer, either on the spot or for shipment. As much of the stock offered is of goods that do not fully come up to grade, the market is nominal. A good consuming demand is looked for during the next three months, when consumption is usually at its best, except during the winter holiday season.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

A VISIT TO LUNENBURG.

THE CANADIAN GROCER visited Lunenburg, N.S., on the 30th ult., proceeding there by steamer from Halifax. Lunenburg possesses a very fine harbor, which is easy of access and large enough to float a navy. The view of the town from the entrance of the harbor is a very fine one.

The business of the port can be imagined when it is known that a fleet of 230 sailing vessels and 2,300 men are employed in the cod fisheries.

The fish are exported, being shipped in sailing vessels to all parts of the world, the bulk going to Boston and the West Indies. Some are shipped to Boston and New York in bond for export to the islands of Hayti and Cuba.

Zwicker & Co. are large exporters—in fact, they are the principal shippers, their fleet consisting of thirty-eight sailing vessels. THE GROCER was shown a handsome new three-master (the Narka), recently launched, which they employ in the carrying trade to the West Indies. She carries 21 men. Her accommodation is superior, equal to a first-class hotel. The new vessels of this class are all being built for speed. The Narka made the run to the West Indies in nine days and the return trip in the same time. This, of course, was under favorable circumstances. The outbound cargo is fish and the return cargo sugar and molasses.

MICHIGAN WHOLESALE GROCERS.

THE annual meeting of the Michigan Wholesale Grocers' Association was held at the Morton House, Grand Rapids, Mich., Tuesday, May 11th, 1897. Several important changes were made in the bylaws. The Executive and Sugar Committees were done away with, and the Board of Directors will in future have charge of all matters affecting the work of the association. Committees on membership, arbitration, transportation and legislation were elected. More severe penalties were adopted for punishing members and their salesmen for any violation of the rules of practice, or cutting or rebating on any goods which are sold on the equality or contract plan.

Great interest was manifested by the members present ; and several excellent letters were received from prominent officials of other associations. The following officials were elected for the ensuing year :

President, Amos S. Musselman, Grand Rapids.
1st Vice-president, W. H. Brace, Detroit.
2nd Vice-president, J. W. Symons, Saginaw.

CASSAVA.

The cultivation of cassava for a food-stuff in times of dearth, to be used by the peasantry of St. Elizabeth (Jamaica), has recently been occupying the attention of the Agricultural Society of Jamaica.

The preliminary investigations of the committee appointed by the society, as reported in The Jamaica Daily Gleaner shows that at present no accurate statistics exist as to : (1) the cost of cultivation : (2) the yield per acre of cassava ; (3) the quantity of starch from a given weight of tubers. The committee, however, consider the subject of sufficient importance to warrant further investigation, and the institution of careful experiments in the growth of cassava, under different conditions as to soil and climate, and in the manufacture of its products by the best methods.

Cassava is cultivated at a nominal cost, and is said to be one of the most productive plants in the world, an acre of cassava yielding more nutritive material than six acres of wheat. The cultivation entails but little labor, and may be undertaken by women and children ; for, except in the early stages of growth, the plant is almost independent of moisture and scarcely requires attention. Even under the present crude conditions a cassava patch yields an abundant harvest, and, if the plant were systematically grown by the settlers in those portions of the island subject to drought, it would greatly ameliorate their condition during periods of dearth.

The cultivation of cassava appears to have been long neglected in the island of Jamaica, and it is satisfactory to know that such a valuable economic product is likely to be more utilised in the future than in the past.

WHOLESALE GROCERS DISSOLVE.

The partnership hitherto existing between J. H. Northrup and S. E. Hoyt under the style of Northrup & Co., wholesale groceries and fish, St. John, N. B., has been dissolved. The business will be continued by J. H. Northrup under the old style at 23 and 24 South Wharf.

The stone work for Simister's cheese warehouse on Victoria street, Ingersoll, next to Wm. Hayes', is about completed. It is to be a two-storey building, 66 by 33 feet.

TRADE CHAT.

A WAREHOUSE belonging to E. A. Baker & Co., at Moose Jaw, was burned the other night. The fire is thought to have been caused by mice gnawing matches. Loss about $1,000. Some anxiety was caused by the proximity of a building containing coal oil and powder.

Aylmer has placed a fee of $50 on cigarette sellers.

The cheese factory at Marburg, Ont., began operations last week.

Mr. Geo. J. Thorp, of Guelph, is shipping five loads of oats to the Old Country.

A larger area than usual will be cropped with flax in Southern Manitoba this spring.

A Custom house and port of entry is to be established at Seine City, in the Rainy River district.

The prospects for a superior hay crop are exceptionally good, according to The Guelph Herald.

In future transient traders will have to pay a fee of $150 before they can open up a store in Galt.

The bylaw establishing a public market in Meaford has received its third reading. The bylaw comes into force June 1.

The store of John McKee, grocer, Burlington and James streets, Hamilton, was entered by thieves the other night. They stole six brooms.

Mayor Colquhoun, of Hamilton, has received official notice that the Underwriters' Association have decided to return to the old insurance rates in that city.

Nearly 15,000 lbs. of milk were brought into Murray's cheese factory, con. 10, East Nissouri, one day last week, from which seventeen cheeses were made, averaging 78 to 79 lbs. each.

The Dresden, Ont., Board of Trade held its annual meeting on Friday night, when Mr. Aikin was re-elected president, M. A. McKim vice-president, and John McVean secretary-treasurer.

The creditors of F. G. Hearne, grocer, Hamilton, have appointed Messrs. J. F. Monck and J. G. Farmer inspectors, and the estate will be wound up. The liabilities are about $2,800 and the nominal assets $600.

R. W. Sharp, the well-known north end grocer, Hamilton, has disposed of his stock, after being in business on Richmond street for a number of years. It is stated that Mr. Sharp is contemplating engaging in evangelistic work.

The Blenheim correspondent of The Chatham Banner writes: "As a sample of the great export business done in the way of farm produce from this point we simply mention the fact that E. G. Thompson, one of our prosperous young merchants, has shipped as high as 1,500 dozen eggs, one week's receipts, and averages 800 dozen weekly. We doubt if this can be beaten in any of the city's establishments."

Clerk—We haven't anything but this inferior quality of coffee left.

Groceryman—Well, we'll have to make the best of it.

So the clerk took down the sign "30c. per pound," and put up "60c. a pound" in place of it.

Lewis Wigle purchased 3,000 lbs. of tobacco from Tape Bros., Ridgetown, last week, and shipped to Quebec. This makes sixteen carloads of the odorous weed that have been shipped from this station. Mr. Wigle is of the opinion that four times as much will be grown this year as in 1896, and the price will likely be a little better.—Leamington Post.

The Ingersoll correspondent of The Hamilton Herald writes: One thing our town has to be specially proud of is the fact that there is scarcely a vacant store here. The one at present vacant on Thames street, lately occupied by A. D. McRossie, is to be occupied in a short time by one of our merchants, Mr. John Lenihan, who has found his business so increasing that another store is necessary.

George Grange, tea merchant, Waterloo street, London, was almost suffocated by gas the other evening. He lighted the gas, which heats the water in the bath-room, and remained there so long that his relatives became alarmed, rapped at the door, and there was no response. The door was then forced open and Mr. Grange was found unconscious. A physician was summoned, and after some time he succeeded in restoring him to consciousness. The apparatus in the bathroom was out of order.

FRUIT SALE IN TORONTO.

The first auction sale of fruit this season at the mart on the Yonge street wharf, Toronto, took place on Monday last. It was under the auspices of McWilliam & Everist and Clemes Bros. There was a good attendance of buyers, the bidding was brisk and fairly good prices were, on the whole, obtained. Of lemons and oranges, all told, there were about 3,000 packages disposed of. The lemons sold at from $1.60 to $3.20 per box and the oranges at from $1.45 to $3.45.

The annual outing of the Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto will probably be on July 21. Its nature and place are yet to be decided.

TEA IN THE UNITED KINGDOM.

As evidencing the marvellous growth of the tea trade during Her Majesty's long record reign, The London Grocer notes that the total quantity of tea of all sorts retained for home use in the United Kingdom, which in 1837 was only 36,315,000 pounds, last year attained the enormous dimensions of 227,785,500 pounds, and the probability is that the entire amount may be exceeded in 1897. Everybody can see at a glance that to feed a consumption like this requires a proportionately expansive supply, which is furnished mainly by the tea crops of India and Ceylon, and on these great producing countries the British distributors mostly rely; so that, in the event of any big failure in the production—a contingency which we regard as quite remote—a serious, if not alarming, upheaval of prices would speedily follow.

SUGAR IN VARIOUS COUNTRIES.

In England the price of granulated sugar is 3 cents; in the United States, 5 cents; in Germany, 6 cents, and in France 10 cents per pound. "These distinctions are due to the various fiscal arrangements of the different countries, and account, in great measure, for the differences in their per capita consumption of the article," remarks Grocery World.

DEPARTMENT STORE DESTROYED.

The departmental store of the John Eaton Co., Ltd., Yonge and Temperance streets, Toronto, was destroyed by fire on Thursday morning. Not even the walls are left standing. The loss is probably about $250,000.

The St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, Montreal, has been closed temporarily.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE Board of Trade delegation to Ottawa, re the sugar tariff, have returned. They are hopeful a change will be made. As was stated in this correspondence last week, the Finance Minister was not acting from a lack of knowledge of the situation. Indeed, Mr. Mitchell, one of the delegates, says that Mr. Fielding has a better knowledge of the sugar business than he has. As Mr. Mitchell has been in the business nearly all his life, his estimate of Mr. Fielding's knowledge means something. From all that can be gathered, the trouble was caused by the Montreal refiners wanting one thing and the Halifax refiners another. The Halifax refiners asked that the duty be on the polariscope. The Montreal refiners objected to this, because it would interfere with the importation of beet root sugar. Thus the Finance Minister decided to leave matters stand as they were, as far as raws were concerned. Now the Montreal and Halifax men have met, and have decided upon a compromise. This compromise has been submitted to the Government, and the result is being awaited with patience. In the meantime one of the Halifax refineries has closed down — not as a direct result of the tariff, however, but as an indirect result. Previous to the introduction of the new tariff our merchants, anticipating a rise, stocked up very freely. Indeed, the demand taxed the capacity of the refineries for a while. Consequently there is enough sugar in merchants' hands to last for several months. The refinery people therefore decided to curtail the output by shutting down one of the refineries. Mr. Cutter, the secretary, told THE GROCER that it was impossible to say how long the refinery would be idle. They decided it would be better to carry raws than refined, as the depreciation would be less. Resumption of work depends upon the demand, and the demand depends upon the amount of refined brought in. Mr. Cutter has also been at Ottawa and Montreal and feels confident that the Government will make a change.

The largest cargo of flour received here for some time came on the steamer Tiber, from Montreal, on Monday. She brought 3,500 barrels.

Lawrence A. Wilson, acting for a Montreal syndicate, has practically completed the purchase of the plant of the McDougall Distillery Co. here. They will ask for tax exemption for a number of years.

Eggs have taken a big slump. Retailers are offering three dozen for 27c.; case lots are selling at 8c.

Live cattle are in good demand. Receipts are large, principally from Ontario, P. E. Island and the Cornwallis Valley. Quotations are $8 to $10, according to quality.

Mutton is worth 8c., and is scarce.

Spring lambs readily bring $4 and $5 each.

Hogs are scarce at 6c.

Old creamery butter is selling at 20c. in prints and 19c. in tubs. New creamery is worth 21c. Eastern Townships dairy is offering at 17 and 18c. Native dairy is worth 15c.

Prices for molasses are fairly good and the demand is well maintained. Three or four cargoes have arrived during the past few days. Fancy Demerara is quoted at 37c.; extra choice do., 30 to 34c.; choice do., 28c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 29c.; St. Croix, 25c.; Antigua, 24c.; St. Kitts, 22c.

The flour market continues fairly steady, though the demand is not up to dealers' expectations. Quotations are: Hungarian patent, Manitoban, $5.15 to $5.25; Manitoba, strong bakers', $4.90 to $5; Canadian pastry, $4.80 to $5; 75 p.c. roller patents, $4.50 to $4.60; 80 do., $4.40 to $4.50; 90 do., $4.30 to $4.35; straight, $3.95 to $4.25; extra, $3.90 to $4.05.

Prices in fish stuffs rule low, as will be seen from the following quotations: Dry cod from vessel, tol quol, shore, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank cod, $2.50 to $2.75; large bank cod, $3 to $3.25; bay cod, $2.25 to $2.50; Labrador cod, $2.50; haddock, Cape Breton, $1.75; haddock, Western, $1.75; hake, $1.75; pollock, $1.50; Bay of Islands split herring, No. 1, $1.50; Labrador, No. 1, none; alewives, No. 1, $2.50; mackerel, No. 1, $15.50; No. 2, $13.50; No. 3, fat, $7; No. 3, large, $4.50; salmon, No. 1, $17; No. 2, $15; No. 1, small, $13; No. 3, large, $11; No. 3, small, $9.

The refinery is meeting with little or no demand for sugars. They have not changed quotations. Jobbers have made a reduction of an eighth of a cent in granulated, selling at 4¼ to 4¾c. and yellows at 3½, 3⅝ and 3¾c.

In canned goods there is an advance of 5c. in vegetables. The demand is good for both fruits and vegetables.

Currants are quoted at 5c., being an advance of ½c. Dried apples are selling at 3c., and evaporated at 4¾c. Dates are worth 5 to 6c. Off-stalk Valencia raisins are selling at 6 to 6½c.

P. E. Island mess pork is stiffer in price, being quoted at $13, with small stocks.

Large shipments of oats are being made from P. E. Island to the English markets. The Island quotation is 24c.

The potato market is very uncertain. Stocks are selling at 35 to 40c., but the demand is light.

ENGLISH MUDDLE OVER ADULTERATION.

In England the public authorities have no power to seek and confiscate adulterated goods at the ports of entry, but must wait until they are exposed for sale; also some magistrates condemn the use of preservatives in food as adulterants, while others hold them, up to a certain point, to be admissible. The contention on the subject is largely one between city and country, the farming interest desiring to place obstacles in the way of imported substitutes for their own fresh products, which the cities, on the other hand, consider essential for the supply of the wants of their population.

PRAISE FOR CANADA.

THE British Trade Journal of May 1 has the following regarding the preferential clause of the new Canadian tariff:

"Canada has signalized the year of the Diamond Jubilee by a tariff arrangement which promises to open up a new era in the history of Imperial politics. * * * No one who has at heart the development of the colonial trade of this country, and who regards it as a means of binding together the Queen's dominions, can fail to welcome the scheme of the Canadian Government. In the home country especially, it has been received with great enthusiasm, and in many of our colonies an echo of the Canadian feeling is to be found. Canada has adopted the suggestion made in this journal more than once. In discussing the question of preferential treatment for British goods in British colonies we have pointed out that the only way in which the colonies can test the validity of the treaties between this country and Belgium and Germany is by the adoption of a tariff favoring British productions and discriminating against goods of foreign origin. This would bring the question to a head, and we have no doubt that if the whole of the colonies were to follow the example of the Canadian Parliament, the obstructive treaties with our competitors on the Continent would soon be swept away. Canada raises the question in a somewhat modified form. It does not refuse to extend the preferential treatment to Germany or to Belgium, but it gives those countries the opportunity of sharing the benefit extended to Great Britain if they will put Canadian produce on more favorable terms.

"If they are not disposed to do this, they reject an offer the refusal of which may have momentous consequences. The Canadian scheme was certainly forced on by the new American tariff, and it is aimed especially at the importations of German and United States manufactures. Neither Germany nor the United States extend any favor to Canadian produce, and Canada naturally asks why it should admit their manufactures on terms as favorable as those extended to the Mother Country. This is a most reasonable position to take, and if the treaties with Belgium and Germany are to frustrate so loyal an attitude, those treaties will have to be modified. The probability is that Germany and Belgium will submit to the inevitable, and put up with the discrimination against their productions without stirring up the general question.

"We cannot conceive it possible that either Lord Salisbury or Mr. Chamberlain should rebuff Canada by vetoing a tariff proposal which is based upon Canadian affection for Great Britain, and which follows most reasonably the lines of the French, the Spanish and other Continental tariffs. The feeling in this country against throwing open the colonies and India indiscriminately to our competitors is a growing one. Some British manufacturers even propose that an extra duty of 10 or 15 per cent. should be levied on all foreign imports, leaving British goods to come in under the present tariffs. The rapid growth of foreign trade in countries acquired, developed, and, maintained by British blood and treasure strengthens this feeling from day to day, and our statesmen will be wise if they give heed to it in time."

CHAMPAGNE PRODUCTION.

The total quantity of champagne forwarded from the champagne districts of France for the twelve months ending March 31 amounted to 28,359,913 bottles, against 24,032,685 bottles in 1896, and is by far the largest quantity on record. Stocks in casks and bottles equal 1,250,735 hectolitres, or about 156,341,875 bottles, showing a slight decrease as compared with 1896, 1895 and 1894.

Rains this week have increased the splendid crop prospects. So favorable has been the seeding season that an unusually large area is under crop.

CHASE & SANBORN'S LATEST NOVELTY.

CHASE & SANBORN, the big coffee dealers, continue to take a great interest in their customers. They are not content with placing their coffee on the shelves of all the best merchants in Canada. They go further: they assist them in disposing of it by schemes which draw consumers to their stores. Having got a customer in, it is the fault of the salesmen if she leaves without purchasing.

Their Brownie Book was a great hit. It brought people in hundreds to the stores which gave them away. Many new customers were thus secured. The "snap shots" and "grocers' aprons" were also good things in their way. Their latest promises to be the best hit yet. It is a little book giving thirty-six tricks and puzzles, and explaining how they are done. They are specially suited for after dinner. Above is a reproduction of the front cover. It is printed in several colors. The inside is most artistically and attractively gotten up in three printings. For both appearance and contents copies are likely to be largely sought after. There is no advertising connected with the booklet's contents, but the back cover shows a reproduction of a can of coffee.

Any reader of THE GROCER wishing a supply for distribution may have them by asking his wholesale house or by applying direct to Chase & Sanborn, Montreal.

Whether this particular brand of coffee is handled or not, the distribution of these "trick books" will awaken an interest in the store where they are given away. They are certain to arouse the curiosity of the younger people, and, through them, their parents. Children will take their copy of the booklet to school, and they will thus interest the whole neighborhood in the tricks, just as people went crazy over the Fifteen puzzle a few years ago. The following are a few of the puzzles :—

WITH ELEVEN MATCHES.

Required, so to place them as to make nine of them.

WITH NINE MATCHES.

WITH THREE TOOTHPICKS.

WITH THREE WINE GLASSES AND THREE MATCHES.

Required, with the three matches, to form a bridge between the three wine glasses strong enough to support a fourth wine glass.

N.B.—Each match must rest on one glass only, and touch such glass only at a single point.

The booklet gives the illustrated answers to these and each of the thirty-six other puzzles and tricks.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF PROFIT-SHARING.

Edward Kramer Nicholson, A.B., in Business.

PROFIT-SHARING, in the broadest acceptance of the term, includes profit-sharing, gain-sharing, the system of rewards, and a system that might be called earning-sharing, or industrial profit-sharing. There are certain other schemes, those of "collection bonuses," "reference rate," and the "good fellowship scheme," but as they are really individual schemes, are of little importance except as illustrating the tendency of the times to increase the wages of the laboring class at the expense of some one else, no matter whom.

In gain-sharing, as described by Mr. Towne, of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co., of Stamford, Conn., the employer ascertains the cost of the product in labor, supplies, materials and such other items as the workman can influence. He undertakes to organize and pay for a system whereby the cost of products in these same items will be periodically ascertained, and agrees to divide a certain portion (retaining himself the remainder) of any gain or reduction of cost the workmen may effect by reason of increased efficiency of labor or increased economy in the use of materials, or both; the system of rewards consists in the certain promised reward for special excellence or diligence in some particular branch, as, for instance, that offered by certain railway companies for the discovery of flaws in axles or cracks in tires; the third system is that of giving a certain per cent. of the excess of individual sales to the individuals. Profit-sharing proper, however, differs from all of these in that it is a "predetermined share in the profits," as the International Congress of Profit-sharing at Paris in 1889 defined it.

It may be described briefly as follows: At the beginning of the fiscal year the firm, either orally or by circular, announce to the employes that at the end of the year a certain percentage of the profits for that year will be divided among the said employes, either share and share alike, or in proportion to their wages, or the value of their services.

Albert Gallatin, the Secretary of the Treasury from 1801 to 1813, had some such plan in operation in his glass works. Lord Wallscourt attempted something of the kind in Ireland early in the century, but the scheme was really devised by M. Leclaire, the proprietor of a house decorating establishment in Paris, from a chance word dropped by the eminent English financier, Mr. Babbage.

M. Leclaire, by paying high wages, had secured a set of workmen who were the best in Paris, but even they required constant supervision, and lost two or three days a week from drinking and carousing. In attempting to reason out the cause M. Leclaire came to the conclusion that equal responsibility and equal proportionate reward between the employer and employe would settle the question. The scheme he involved was a complete success. Even in the first year none of his men who worked three hundred days received less than fifteen hundred francs, three hundred of these representing the lowest extra profit. M. Leclaire describes in strong terms the improvements already manifest in the habits and demeanor of the workmen, not only when at work and in close relations with their employer, but at other times and in other relations, showing increased respect both for others and for themselves.

The example set by M. Leclaire has been followed very extensively in France, the conditions of employes being such as to require some such system in order that a proper amount of labor and steadiness of habit may be secured from them. Mr. David T. Schloss, whose work, "Methods of Industrial Remuneration," is considered the best criticism of the subject yet written, in a magazine article gives a glowing account of the success of the system in France.

Germany and Italy have not interested themselves in the system except to a very slight degree. England has had some experience and some success, but as the conditions of labor there are somewhat similar to those in this country, her success has been less complete than that of France.

In 1886, Mr. N. O. Nelson, the founder of the N. O. Nelson Manufacturing Company, of St. Louis, a firm which manufactures plumbing goods, steam goods, and machinery, introduced into this country a system of division of a portion of his profits with his employes. He is spoken of by others as the "pioneer of profit-sharing in this country," although it is somewhat difficult to determine the authenticity of the statement, since a large number of firms adopted practically the same method at about the same time. Mr. Nelson's system introduced at that time was as follows: Without making any changes in management or wages, it was stipulated that, after allowing interest at the ordinary market rate of capital, setting aside one-tenth for a reserve fund, one-tenth for a provident fund, and one-twentieth for an educational fund, the remainder should be divided between capital and wages. Interest was regarded as the proper wages of capital. The reserve fund was to meet the losses of bad years and to equalize dividend when profits were small. The provident fund was created to take care of the sick, the disabled, and the families of the deceased. The educational fund was to provide a library which should be accessible to all employes. The results for the first few years were very good, and the system (which he had adopted, in a modified form, from that of M. Godin, of Guise, France), has been continued in practically the same way ever since, though the provident and educational funds have been abolished, and in their place has been inaugurated the practice of paying out whatever amounts were required for these purposes, and at the end of the year charging them against the profits before the division. Mr. Nelson's system, he claims, has been successful, though the claim is not made that there has not been a lessening of profits.

During the same year (1886), when Mr. Nelson was introducing the new system into his manufactory, there was great disturbance caused by the sudden increase in the prominence of the Knights of Labor, and "employes in manufacturing establishments throughout the country became more or less restless." As Mr. Wm. Cooper Proctor says in The Independent for May 2, 1895: "During that year the firm of Proctor & Gamble, soap manufacturers, of Cincinnati, had in their various departments no less than fourteen different strikes, having, at different times, from eleven to one hundred and fourteen of their employes quit work in a body, and for all sorts of trivial causes. They were continually at the expense of breaking in new people, and the question was one of constant anxiety." After considerable thought and careful study it was decided to attempt a plan of profit-sharing, and to secure, if possible, some relief from their troubles. The employes of Proctor & Gamble are precisely such as a casual observer would think unfit for any such system, and that therefore it would be a test case as to whether among ignorant, unskilled labor, profit-sharing could be applied. It is just in such a case, however, that success is, and will be, most marked, and in this case the system adopted has shown what can be done. At first the employes were disposed to accept the dividend as a matter of course, but since the firm had retained the right of depriving those who showed any indifference from any share in the dividend, and of giving the share so withdrawn to those who showed an especial interest, this was soon broken up. The firm say: "It is, of course, a matter of education with them (the employes). We do not think that during the first two years profit-sharing, as a money-making scheme, was a success, but as the men became more and more convinced that they were being treated with absolute justice, they gradually developed more careful and intelligent work, and now we are able to demonstrate very clearly that the saving under the profit-sharing system is largely in excess of what we pay as the share of the wage-earners in the profits. We, of course, have had no strikes nor any labor troubles of any kind since our plan has been in force. We find also that our people are staying with us better, and that we have very seldom to discharge a man for neglect of his work. In fact, our scheme, has, if anything, exceeded our expectations." When the firm was incorporated into the Proctor & Gamble Co. in 1890, the system was changed, but the profit-sharing was adhered to in another form.

One of the most instructive cases of profit-sharing in this country is that of Charles Gerard Conn, factory at Elkhart, Ind. Mr. Conn has been not only a manufacturer of band instruments, but also an inventor, an editor, a mayor, a state legislator and a congressman. The pressure of outside duties compelled him to withdraw, to a considerable degree, any careful oversight of his manufacturing interest, so he proposed to adopt a scheme by which the oversight would be unnecessary. His scheme was somewhat novel, in that the workmen receive their proportion according to their membership in one of three classes, the three classes being graded according to efficiency, length of employment, faithfulness or laxity, and moral character. The most peculiar features are: First—the principle that only those shall share the profits who assist in making the profits; second—not only is a distinction made in the distribution of profits in respect to length of service and faithfulness, but a moral distinction is made; third—the share of each participant is not determined by the amount of wages he receives, but equal efforts secure equal rewards.

They have been very successful in 1895, there being divided $25,000 among a little over a hundred men, the shares running from sixty to two thousand dollars.

A number of other profit-sharing businesses, which might be described as successful, are the Bowne Mills, of Tinerton, R. I.; P. N. Kuss, painter and decorator, of San Francisco, Cal.; the Bowdoin Paper Manufacturing Company, of Brunswick, Me.; Pomeroy Brothers, of Newark, N. J.; the Malvern Lumber Company, of Malvern, Ark.; and the Columbus (Ohio) Gas Company. Mr. Paul Munroe, in The American Journal of Sociology for May, 1896, deals with these firms more particularly, as well as with a number of instances of failures.

There are several firms who state that they believe in profit-sharing, but that for several years there have been no profits to divide. As one of the great advantages given by advocates of the system is that it will decrease cost, and thereby increase demand, which shall use the extra efficiency, this fact seems rather against the system.

Among the failures can be cited those of Rogers, Peet & Co., New York; Siegel, Cooper & Co., in their Chicago store; the St. Louis (Mo.) Shovel Co., and the Ara Cushman Co., of Auburn, Me.

This last-mentioned failure is the most important in the list, both on account of its size and importance and the causes. There are on the pay roll about one thousand persons, twenty-five to thirty per cent. being females. The employes are enterprising and industrious as a class, nine-tenths or more natives of the town or state. In all social, business and church relations the people of Auburn are very democratic in their instincts and associations; no classes or castes are recognized. It is just such a place as would seem ideal for the introduction of any new system which would benefit the laborer, for everyone is intelligent, educated, active, industrious and pushing. In 1886 Mr. Cushman inaugurated a simple form of profit-sharing; wages were to remain the same as before; a fair amount was to be allowed for interest on capital invested, management of the business, and for risks, depreciation and other contingencies; anything left was to be divided between employer and employes in the proportion that labor bore to the cost of the rest of the goods. A committee of employes was also appointed to care for their interests.

In 1887, at the close of the first year of business, an enthusiastic meeting was held at Auburn Hall, where Mr. Cushman made an address congratulating the workmen and Mr. C. S. Yeaton, of the committee of employes, answered, and gave a detailed report. Everything was on the top wave of success. The next year Mr. Cushman in his address showed that the beginning of the end had come by saying: "Profit-sharing must be accompanied by better co-operation and stronger efforts toward profit-earning and profit-saving than has yet been manifested by many who have worked for us and participated in the benefits of the business." The following year the system was abandoned.

Mr. Cushman gives as some of the reasons for the failure: "The inadequate ideas of most of the employes in regard to the exacting demands of business which led them to think that the profits of business were larger and more easily earned than they really are; the failure on the part of most of them to realize that success of the business such as would assure them a dividend above fairly liberal wages must depend on the individual efforts of all. But altogether the most important reason why we could not make our plan successful was the opposition, open or concealed, of the labor organizations under the control of professional agitators and leaders."

The question arises, then, Why is it, if profit-sharing is so successful in France, that it is so unsuccessful in this country? There are three reasons, each of them dependent upon the difference in the character of the workmen of the two countries:

First—The workmen of this country are more under the domination of the labor organizations, who fear to lose control over wages.

Second—The self-will and self-assertion of the American employe, with a peculiar lack of reason in his actions.

Third—The difference in intensity of the employes in the two countries.

This last is the real reason for the failure of profit-sharing in this country. The French workman is inefficient, works with a very slight degree of intensity, has strong tendencies toward holiday taking, and is not particularly careful with materials. The American workman is commonly an educated person; that is, he has a common school education; he is industrious; when he works he does so with all the strength and intensity possible, and is peculiarly careful in handling materials. Profit-sharing, in order to be successful, needs an increase in the output caused by an increase in the efficiency, intensity, or carefulness in the workmen. Where such a thing is possible, there profit-sharing will be successful, but where no such increase is possible, no such system can be anything but a failure. If the time ever comes when our workmen need some greater incentive than good wages and active competition, then perhaps profit-sharing may prove to be that incentive, but until there is some such need, it is bound to be a failure here. One further reason for failure that might be given is that the American workman is sufficiently shrewd to see that in many instances the "benevolence" of the employer consists alone in the greater toil of the employe, that if he works hard enough to gain a small amount for himself, he will also have to gain more for the employer.

Profit-sharing, very evidently, is not the ultimate solution of the labor problem in America. It may possibly be a step in advance, but it is merely a step, or perhaps might better be termed an "indication" of the point toward which the laborer and the capitalist are moving.

HOW THE BOY WENT WRONG.

I've got a letter, parson, from my son away out west,
An' my ol' heart is heavy as an anvil in my breast,
To think the boy whose futur' I had once so proudly planned
Should wander from the path o' right an' come to sich an end!
I told him when he left us only three short years ago
He'd find himself a-plowin' in a mighty crooked row—
He'd miss his father's counsels, and his mother's prayers, too,
But he said the farm was hateful, an' he guessed he'd have to go.
I know thar's big temptation for a youngster in the West,
But I believed our Billy had the courage to resist.
An' when he left I warned him o' the ever-waiting snares
That lie like hidden serpents in life's pathway everywheres.
But Bill he promised faithful to be keerful an' allowed
He'd build a reputation that 'd make us mighty proud.
But it seems as how my counsel sort o' faded from his mind,
An' now the boy's in trouble o' the very wustest kind!
His letters came so seldom that I somehow sort o' knowed
That Billy was a trampin' on a mighty rocky road,
But never once imagined that he would bow my head in shame,
An' in the dust 'd waller his ol' daddy's honored name.
He writes from out in Denver, an the story's mighty short;
I just can't tell his mother; it'll crush her poor ol' heart;
An' so I reckened, parson, you might break the news to her—
Bill's in the Legislatur', but he doesn't say what fur.—Ex.

SOME GROCERS ARE CARELESS.

MY grocer treated me so badly last week that I resolved to accept the long-standing invitation of the editor of The Grocery World to contribute an article to his paper on some subject from the consumer's standpoint, writes J. B. N. Morley in that journal.

I never was more exasperated over any piece of carelessness than I was last week when my wife sent the servant to our grocer's for some vinegar. Unluckily she failed to send any receptacle for it, so the grocer himself supplied one, as he had done on one or two occasions before. When I smelled the vinegar which the girl brought home I noticed a peculiar odor to it, and a still more peculiar taste. When I investigated I found that the bottle in which the vinegar had been sent had been used to hold gasoline immediately before, and had apparently not been washed out at all. To close your eyes and smell the vinegar you would have thought that you were certainly smelling gasoline.

My experience leads me to believe that grocers, as a class, are far too careless about the matter. Not long ago I was in another grocer's after some molasses. I had no kettle and the grocer fished under the counter until he got one. As he picked it up I noticed that the inside was covered with a thick coating of syrup and molasses, covered with dust and pieces of dirt. The kettle had been used for molasses before and had never been washed out.

I supposed, of course, that before my molasses was drawn the can would be cleaned. What was my surprise to see the grocer go straight to the barrel and begin to fill the kettle, without any attempt whatever to wash it.

"See here," I said, "aren't you going to wash that kettle out?"

"Oh, no," he said, "it had molasses in before."

"That don't make any difference," I said, "I want it washed out or I don't want any molasses."

He then washed it out, but with a resentful, injured air, as if I was a crank who had fads. And yet I had insisted only on what any clean person would, and what the grocer ought to have attended to himself.

Let me exhort grocers to be clean above everything.

A FISH STORY.

The tall yarns of Yankees are proverbial, but I think this is one of the best that I have ever seen. A small company of fishermen were seated in a Cardiff hotel, engaged in telling fish stories. "The most exciting day's sport I ever had," said one of the party, an American, "was when I was off Labrador. I was with two others; each had two rods, and we were simply pulling out fish as fast as ever we could put in our lines. I forget," he added, in a thoughtful tone, "what those fish were."

"Whales?" suggested an Englishman, with an attempt to be sarcastic.

"Whales!" said the Yankee, with a deprecatory wave of his hand; "why, man, we were baiting with whales!"

BUSINESS RULES.

EVERY man who aims at becoming a clever and successful man of business, must have a regular and consistent line of conduct, writes V. M. C. in Retail Grocers' Advocate. He must have a character for strict regularity and attention to his duties. He must deny himself, in a great measure, the ordinary pleasures and amusements, and govern his private and domestic conduct by a system or method and regularity similar to that observed in business persuits. In addition to regularity and attention and strict moral integrity, the possession of business habits implies also the possession of a certain mental aptitude for conducting business. The chief intellectual qualities requisite are a sound understanding, quick perception, prompt decision, and finesse in execution. The two latter are qualities which every man must practise and improve for himself, the former are natural endowments which men do not possess in common—which are strong or weak in different men, but capable of being more or less strengthened by all. To the foregoing qualifications may be added the cultivation of a pleasant and agreeable manner, for much depends on this.

There is nothing that creates a more unfavorable impression than a rude, hasty, imperious or uncourteous manner. On the other hand, a man who is courteous and obliging will always conciliate, for the nearer men approach to free and unreserved intercourse with each other, the more smoothly the affairs of life seem to move forward.

It is a law of our nature that the more agreeable we are the more gratification we experience. This we find demonstrated in our daily commerce with the world, and it is therefore of immense importance to a man of business that, in addition to his other qualifications, he should study to acquire an agreeable and conciliatory manner. The main principles in connection with the immediate conduct of business will be found to be conveyed in the following rules.

Fulfil every engagement punctually. Do nothing carelessly or in a hurry. Employ nobody to do what you can easily do yourself. Keep everything in its proper place. Leave nothing undone that ought to be done, and which circumstances permit you to do. Keep your own business to yourself and do not interfere with the business of others. Be prompt and decisive with your customers and let your word be your bond. Be clear and explicit in all bargains; take care to understand every transaction thoroughly yourself and do not let these misunderstand you. Leave nothing of consequence to memory which can and ought to be committed to writing. Retain copies of letters, invoices and other documents connected with business, classified and put away in such a manner that any document may be produced at a moment's notice. Never suffer your desk to be confused by many papers either lying inside or upon it. Have certain places for books and other things in constant use, always keeping them in their places when not required, so that they may be readily found without confusion or loss of time.

Superintend your own business affairs as much as possible, your personal attendance will be always more satisfactory to your customers, and will also ensure your servants paying proper attention to their duties. Examine your books day by day so that you may inform yourself of the progress you are making with your customers, and the progress they are making with you.

Avoid as much as possible all sorts of finessing in money matters and do not lend your name to any transaction that is not straightforward or in good faith. Be economical in your personal expenditure and rather live within your means than beyond them. Be cautious how you become security for persons, and choose without offending them by refusal rather than to be unjust to your creditors by acquiescence. Take pleasure in your business and it will soon become your recreation. Hope for the best, prepare for the worst and bear mainfully whatever may happen.

THE PERSONAL EQUATION.

IT enters largely into all affairs in life, and is particularly the secret of success in retail store-keeping. People are quick to form likes or dislikes. Who does not prefer to be served by a newsboy that is bright and cheerful than one that is clumsy or ugly? Do we not instinctively go to that restaurant where the waiters are the most agreeable? There is in a Chambers-street restaurant a waiter who is a college graduate and a man of imposing presence. So captivating is he in manners, so efficient in service, that the tables he cares for are always in demand, and so liberal are his tips that his income is better than were he a college professor. He wins patronage through an agreeable personality.

The storekeeper whose clerks win popular favor may laugh at competitors. There is an influence about a good fellow that is irresistible. Such an one soon discovers there is tremendous power in a smile, a kindly greeting, a pleasant tone of voice, neat appearance, a bright eye to open pocket-books. A store may have French plate glass windows, be elegantly decorated and have a superb stock, and yet it will invite failure if the personality of its proprietor and his assistants is not of the right stamp.

"Well, what do you want?" gruffly asks a cross-grained clerk of a timid girl, and before he hears a reply that child has mentally resolved to keep out of his way. Unless a clerk can show some personal interest in customers he is more of a detriment than a help in winning trade. If taciturn, glum or morose, he had better sprout potatoes in the cellar, scrub windows, keep stock in order, in short, do anything rather than come in contact with customers. Courtesy, cheerfulness, self-command, cleanliness, will do more to win success in retailing merchandise than cheapness, advertising, display or other impersonal factor.—American Grocer.

THE FRUIT SALES.

The third fruit sale of the season took place to-day at the Montreal Fruit Auction Co.'s rooms, at the corner of Murray and Wellington streets. The fruit ex steamship Victoria was offered, which consisted of 24,500 boxes Valencia lemons, 3,400 boxes Palermo, 4,000 boxes Messina oranges and 1,500 boxes Palermo. The condition of this cargo of fruit was much better than that of the Sir Walter Raleigh's, but, notwithstanding this fact, the prices realized were only considered fair, and show a decline as compared with those ruling in the New York market this week for both oranges and lemons. The demand from American and western Ontario buyers was fair and fully one-third of the cargo will be exported. Valencia lemons sold at $2 to $2.60 per box; choice, $1.70 to $2, and poor to fair, 50c. to $1.50. Oranges brought from $2 to $3 per box, 50c. to $1.50 per half-box, and some fancy ovals, $2 to $2.30. The principal local buyers were: Messrs. Hart & Tuckwell, John Barry & Sons, O. & E. Hart, J. J. Vipond, J. T. McBride, Vipond & McBride, T. Vipond & Son, Vipond and Peterson, Louis Sylvester, George Laird and J. R. Clogg & Co. The New York buyers were: C. H. Parsons, J. W. Lumsden, A. Zucca, E. A. Morris and T. Hulbert; Boston, G. N. Emery; Chicago, H. P. Stanley & Co.; Ottawa, H. A. Browse, J. A. Browse and G. W. Hunt; Toronto, George McWilliam, Clemes Bros. and Husband Bros.; Guelph, H. Walker; Hamilton, Dixon Bros.; Quebec, A. Legare and L. Beauchamp.

DEATH OF A GROCER.

William Kennedy, one of St. John's (N.B.) oldest and best known merchants, died a few days ago in the 83rd year of his age. He had been confined to his home about three months with tumor of the stomach. He came to St. John over 50 years ago from Boston, Mass., and was a native of Ireland, though of Scotch descent. For over 60 years Mr. Kennedy has been identified with the order of Oddfellows, joining the ranks in Boston and connecting himself with Pioneer Lodge in St. John about 20 years ago. He conducted a grocery business on King street, that city, and up to the time of his death was perhaps the only merchant living who had started in business 50 years ago in St. John. Deceased leaves one son, E. J. Kennedy, who conducts the old firm's business on King street.

"CAPITAL" SAFETIES.

The Toronto branch of the E. B. Eddy Co. have just received a stock of the "Capital" safety matches which they have been advertising for some time. They are of such a nature as to recommend themselves for use in hospitals, asylums, and all large buildings where great care from fire is needed. They can be lighted only on the box which contains them. Insurances companies, for this reason, have strongly recommended their use. A stock has been placed in the hands of the wholesale grocers, from whom retailers may now purchase them, or from the E. B. Eddy Co., Hull, or its branches.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. H. Dunn, commission agent, Montreal, is leaving for a visit to Toronto and the province of Ontario this week.

A. P. Tippet & Co. are introducing a new article on the market, viz., rennet tablets, each tablet being sufficient for a dish of junket. It is claimed to be entirely superior to wine of rennet or other similar essences, and its cost is much less.

STATISTICAL POSITION OF CURRANTS.

N. Y. JOURNAL OF COMMERCE: "If it were not for the uncertainty which exists as to the outcome of the tariff question it is claimed that currants would be bringing higher prices than those which have been accepted during the past week. On the other hand it is reported the delay in the passage of the tariff bill and very dull condition of general trade has induced some holders to make an effort to get rid of their stocks. After sales of several hundred packages had been made, however, the continued interest shown by buyers had a strengthening influence upon holders' views, and at the present writing the tone of the market shows a very confident feeling on the part of sellers.

"Speculative interest which was quite noticeable a few days since has at the present range of market values apparently subsided, but on the other hand holders are not disposed in view of the statistical showing to make any further concessions. Stocks now available on the spot under ordinary wants of consumption are not sufficient it is held to keep the market supplied but for a few months, and there is nothing more to come forward from the primary market according to reliable authorities until the new crop is ready for shipment, and that will be some time toward the end of next September.

"With the disappearance of speculative interest, which was a feature of the market last week, and which, by the way, seemed to centre largely in the better grades, the market has been quiet but strong, holders being actuated more by the statistical situation than by the present apparent indifference of buyers. From a reliable source we have obtained the following statistical statement which will give a good idea of the conditions now prevailing. The latest cables from Greece reported that stocks there are exhausted, and there is nothing on the way. Spot stocks are closely concentrated. A SCURRILOUS PRACTICE.

A GREAT many complaints have been heard lately from manufacturers of various kinds of commodities regarding the imitation of their goods, their packages or their labels by competitors. Some of the cases of imitation are flagrant.

We have special reference to canned goods, pickles and other staple package goods.

When one man imitates in this way the manufactures of another he testifies by ocular demonstration that either the goods or the package he imitates are superior to his own. He would probably deny the impeachment, but it is true, nevertheless. The very fact that he has counterfeited it proves it beyond peradventure.

But testimony of this kind is neither compensation for the man who is wronged nor justification for the wrong act.

The manufacturer or the merchant who, in order to build up his own business, steals what his own unimaginative and sterile brain cannot create, namely, ideas, is full brother to a thief and first cousin to a coward.

When a man builds himself a house it is his own. Equally so is the product of a man's brain his own.

Fight a competitor day in and day out, but fight fair. Use all the ideas you can command, but use your own. "Thou shalt not steal" applies to ideas as well as to commodities. Stealing is taking whatsoever is not your own, no matter what the shape, form or condition of the thing taken may be.

Every man in business ought to be able to stand upon his own bottom. If he cannot he has no right to be in business. And rob his competitors as he may it is only a question of time before he will have to get out.

It is the man who originates, not the man who imitates, that succeeds in business to-day.

Merchants can help a great deal in securing justice by refusing to handle goods which are put up with the obvious intention of deluding the public into the belief that they are Jones' goods when they are Smith's. Unless the merchants so refuse they are accessories after the fact to the dishonest practices of unscrupulous manufacturers.

Even in the brutal prize ring a man must fight fair or be ruled out. And, if in the prize ring how much more in the business arena.

It is sometimes necessary for a merchant to cut down expenses in order to save himself from being cut off from the land of business.

TO BUILD UP CANADIAN TRADE.

The Dominion Government has appointed Mr. E. E. Sheppard, of Toronto, a trade commissioner for Mexico, Central and South America. Not being acquainted with the intricacies of each Canadian manufacturer's business, he has sent out requests for price lists and catalogues to those who might carry on an export business.

By means of these he intends to determine the lowest price at which Canadian goods may be placed in these markets, and thus what goods may be exported with advantage to the countries referred to. He intends also to carry away with him much more information by having measurements and photographs of these various productions.

Hitherto Canadians have had little precise information with regard to forwarding facilities or financial arrangements, but with the hearty co-operation and assistance of those to whom he is addressing these requests, he hopes to bring back exact and original reports. On these reports the manufacturers will be able to rely, and Canadian trade will then assume its proper proportions.

NEARER THAN EVER BEFORE.

GEOGRAPHICALLY Canada has everything in her favor for intercommunication with Europe. But the advantage of nearness to Europe which our geographical position gives us is negatived by the disadvantages which the absence of an efficient steamship service has created.

While, therefore, nature planted the shores of Canada a day or two nearer the shores of the Motherland than it did those of the United States, we have, by our neglect to take advantage of the fast steamships which science has created, shoved ourselves as it were three or four days further back from the coasts of Great Britain than is the United States.

Naturally the very exigencies of the case induced the Dominion to repent of her sins of omission and to bring forth fruits meet for repentance in the shape of a fast steamship service.

For half a dozen years or more we have been actively trying to secure this desideratum. Parliament has stipulated large bonuses which it was willing to pay, tenders were repeatedly advertised for, agents were sent to Europe to do missionary work, and eventually the financial co-operation of the Imperial Government was secured. But still we did not secure the fast steamship service. It seemed a "wild will o' the wisp."

Now, however, we appear nearer to the desired fast steamship service than we ever have been before.

The Dominion Government has made a contract with Petersen, Tait & Co., a Newcastle ship-building firm, whereby four fast steamships are to be put on the route between Canada and the United Kingdom. And a cable received at Ottawa on Friday last states that the contract has received the approval of the Imperial Government, something which was essential to securing the the latter's financial aid.

The details of the arrangement have not yet been made public, but we are promised they shall be at an early date.

About all we know is that the steamers are to be equal to the Campania, which seems to have become a recognized standard boat, and to be capable of maintaining a minimum speed of 500 knots per 24 hours, or a little over 20¾ knots per hour. Ample cold storage facilities, we are told, are to be provided. The subsidy the owners are to receive is $750,000, of which amount the British Government will contribute $250,000. Compared with the tender which it was proposed to enter into with the Allans nearly a year ago, there is an annual saving in cash of $375,000, of which $250,000 is saved to the Canadian Treasury.

On the face of it the bargain seems to be a better one financially than that which the late administration proposed to make. But whether all round it will be so when all the details are known remains to be seen. So far, the evidence is all in its favor.

It is to be hoped that there will now be no more hitches, born of politics or anything else. Much will depend, of course, upon the business ability with which the Government manages the affair. If it does right, it has a claim on the thanks of the business men of Canada.

STORE SIGNS.

If merchants only knew how much custom they lost owing to their lack of a large sign they might, perhaps, regard the expenditure of a few dollars in such an article as a good investment. Strangers often see a progressive firm's advertisement in a paper, and, noticing something advertised of which they are in need, they go to town as would-be customers of that firm.

Owing to the absence of a noticeable sign they inquire of the first merchant they come to as to the whereabouts of Mr. Somebody's store, telling him at the same time why they want to see him. This merchant is in the same line of business and, of course, does not fail to grasp the opportunity of being ignorant of the existence of Mr. Somebody and of selling his own goods.

Unless Mr. Somebody owns the first store a stranger can come to, he ought to have a large sign decorating the front of his place of business.

THE COCOANUT TARIFF.

THE Canadian cocoanut manufacturers are complaining that they are not fairly treated under the new tariff, and it looks as if there was a good deal of justice in their complaint.

A duty of 50c. per hundred is charged on cocoanuts when imported direct from the country of growth, and $1 per hundred when brought in through the United States. The latter has the effect of discriminating directly against the Canadian manufacturer, for the reason that most of the cocoanuts used in this country are obtained through the United States, and the industry here is not sufficiently large to permit of cocoanuts being purchased in such quantities as would warrant their being brought direct from Jamaica. Even should the Canadian manufacturer adopt this course, the additional freight rates would more than counterbalance the reduction in duty.

Under the new United States tariff cocoanuts are admitted free, and this, added to the low duty imposed by the Canadian Government on the manufactured article, and the serious disadvantages which our manufacturers labor under, permits the American cocoanut manufacturer to undersell the Canadian dealer in his own market.

This is not right. The Government should place cocoanut on the free list, or at least make a material reduction in the duty when imported from the United States. The Canadian manufacturer should be given a chance to compete with the well protected, and therefore cheap, American manufactured article.

KEEP STOCK IN SIGHT.

A GREAT many sales are lost and a great deal of dead stock is carried by stores which are in the habit of having places behind or under the counters in which to place goods. These goods are probably never overhauled except at stock-taking times, and these drawers and hiding places are an excellent catch-basin for all sorts of goods which are usually called "stickers," and which ought to be out on the counters where they can be pushed more than ordinarily.

Do not have any places in your store where goods can be stuck away out of sight. If you have plenty of room it is better to have all the goods above the counters on the shelving. If possible have no shelves below, and there will be less probability of things being put out of sight. A great many stores, however, cannot do this, as they are crowded for room, and it is, therefore, necessary that a part of the goods should be kept below the counter-board. If this is necessary see that every piece of goods not in easy access is looked over and examined and brought out to the light at least once a week.

If the goods are kept out where they can be seen all the time they are very much more apt to sell than if hidden away. Salesmen are sometimes careless about goods which are not easy to reach, and they very seldom take the pains to look into any of these old drawers or under the shelves to find the goods to sell.

If customers come in and call for some particular thing which they know to be in such and such a place, they usually go and get it, but if it is in some place where there is any doubt about finding it, they either say they haven't got it or they don't take the pains to look for it where they should, and try to substitute something else which possibly the customer does not want.

If you have goods that cannot be carried on the shelves, arrange them on the counter or on a centre-table in the middle of the aisle and place them there in full view of the customer.

MONTREAL GROCERS' PICNIC.

A special meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was held in the Monument Nationale to decide where their annual picnic should be held. The committee handed in their report on various places, and St. Rose was finally chosen as the place to spend the day. It is a lovely little place, about thirty miles from Montreal, on the C.P.R., and a favorite resort for picnickers. The grocery travelers have decided to cast in their lot with them on that day.

The following are the chairmen of the respective committees: Games, E. Upton; Music and Dancing, E. Massicotte; Railway, N. Lapointe; Printing and Advertising, J. P. Dixon; Refreshments, V. Raby; Reception, S. Demers; Finance, John Scanlan; Subscription, J. O. Levesque. Each chairman has, however, to choose as many members as he thinks necessary to complete the arrangements.

THE TARIFF CHANGES.

THE promised amendments to the tariff were brought down on Tuesday by the Minister of Finance. The only article appertaining to the grocery trade in which any change has been made is tobacco. We give in full Mr. Fielding's reference to this article. He said :

"In the matter of the Inland Revenue and Excise Department it will be remembered that we brought down a resolution imposing a duty of 10 cents a pound on raw leaf tobacco unstemmed and 14 cents per pound on the stemmed ; that is an excise duty. It has been represented that it is desirable in the interest and convenience of the trade that that duty, if it be imposed, should be imposed by way of a Customs duty. There would be a manifest disadvantage in imposing it at the first stage as a Customs duty for reasons which I think perhaps it is not necessary to enter into, but which the House quite readily understands ; reasons which are very largely in the direction of increased public revenue. We propose, however, that this excise duty on raw leaf tobacco shall be continued until the 1st day of July and thereafter as respects any raw leaf tobacco which is now in warehouse and which remains in warehouse after the 1st July, but as respects all importations of tobacco after the 1st day of July we propose that that duty shall be levied by way of a Customs duty instead of an excise duty. In the meantime as respects the levying of excise duties we shall ask the House to authorize the Department of Inland Revenue to make such changes in the regulations as will facilitate the payment of excise duty on the raw leaf at convenient terms, so that dealers who might feel it an embarrassment to be called upon to pay these duties immediately will find the Department anxious to make every reasonable arrangement with them so that that duty will not be found to be too heavy."

Mr. Foster : "They pay in instalments ?"

The Finance Minister : "I think the idea is that they might be able to pay in proportion for the use of it, practically as they do now on the manufactured product, that is to say, as it comes out of the warehouse, and they leave the Department of Inland Revenue to make an arrangement, this is only a temporary one, to extend the tobacco now in warehouse, and we think that any arrangement which will facilitate the handling of the business to the convenience of the tobacco trade will be readily concurred in by the House."

Mr. Foster : "But the tobacco will always pay that anyway."

The Finance Minister : "Certainly."

Mr. Foster : "You make a difference on stamped tobacco ?"

The Finance Minister: "Ten and fourteen cents are the two rates, which, I believe, will be quite reasonable and in proportion to the value of the two articles. In the matter of excise duty on cigarettes, a change was made from $1.50 a thousand to $3. We propose that that change should stand as respects foreign leaf tobacco out of which cigarettes are made, or cigarettes made from foreign leaf tobacco, but we propose as respects cigarettes made from Canadian tobacco that the old rate of $1.50 should stand, so that as between our former resolution and the present one there is a reduction in favor of the Canadian leaf. These two articles, of course, are regarded perhaps by some as coming in competition. The parties in the tobacco trade, however, seem to think that they are not so closely in competition as would be thought from a general view of the question. However that may be, if there is any advantage in that for the growers of Canadian tobacco we are desirous that they should have it. With regard to Customs duty we have made a number of increases, but in the great majority of cases the changes that we make are in the direction of a decrease.

"In the case of Customs duty on tobacco we make a change, without, however, increasing or decreasing the duty. In the first resolution the Customs duty on manufactured tobacco was 45 cents per pound and 12½ per cent. ad valorem. We think it better to have a specific duty instead of a compound duty and we change the duty to a straight specific of 50 cents per pound instead of 45 cents per pound and 12½ per cent. ad valorem. The effort is to make it equivalent, and I think we have done so. The 5 cents per pound added is intended to be equivalent to the ad valorem duty. In regard to cut tobacco, item 425, we have applied the same rule. The first resolution provided for a duty of 50 cents per pound and 12½ per cent. ad valorem, and we now make it a specific duty of 55 cents per pound."

Some relief has been given to the wire nail and cut nail industries, to the bridge builders, to the makers of woolen yarns and the printers and lithographers of advertising matter, by increases of duty. In the steel schedule there is a large increase in the articles for the manufacture of which steel may be imported free of duty. Flat steel spring, steel axle bars and billets may be imported by carriage manufacturers for use in their business, as well as steel used in the making of cutlery when under a half-inch in diameter. Steel used by toolmakers and of a class not produced in Canada is reduced to 5 per cent. Under the old tariff, scrap iron was taxed $4 per ton. It was proposed in April to reduce it to $1.50 per ton, and now it is announced that the duty will be $1 per ton only. Steel billets were $5 under the Foster tariff ; under Mr. Fielding's first draft it was proposed to impose $4 per ton duty. The rate is now fixed at $2 per ton. The makers of bridges get an increase of 5 per cent. on the finished product, and a reduction of 5 per cent. in the cost of the bridge plates, which are their raw material. The only change in the woolen schedule, regarding which there was much pressure brought to bear on the Ministry, is a rearrangement of the duty on woolen yarns. It is provided that the duty on yarns worth over 30c. a pound shall be 20 per cent., while worsted tops made from wools not produced in Canada are placed on the free list. There is no change in the duties on textiles. A concession is given to the makers of shirts, collars and cuffs, blouses, ties, scarfs and the like, under which the cloths used by them may be imported at 15 per cent. duty if cut ready for making up in bond. The duty on cheap unbound and paper-covered books remains at 20 per cent.; the duty on the better class of books has been further reduced to 10 per cent. The first draft of the tariff prohibited the importation of reprints of British copyrights. Mr. Fielding has decided to let the copyright law alone, and the clause dealing with reprints is withdrawn. Printed matter other than books is to be taxed 15c. a pound and lithographed matter 35 per cent.

During his speech, Mr. Fielding announced that the Government still held that the Belgian and German commercial treaties did not apply to the new tariff or give those countries a right to come in on the minimum tariff, and that nothing had transpired to alter that belief. It would, however, be necessary to make provision for an adverse decision, should it be come to, and so he proposed to add to the reciprocal tariff resolution the words, "that the Governor in Council may extend the benefits of such reciprocal tariff to any country which may be entitled thereto by virtue of any treaty with Her Majesty."

DUTIES ON SPICES.

A Washington despatch of May 21 says : Senator Davis' amendment to the tariff bill, relating to spices, strikes out paragraph 640 from the free list, providing for crude spices, and substitutes the following for paragraph 286 :

Spices : Mustard, ground or prepared, in bottles or otherwise, 10c. per pound ; cassia, cassia vera, cassia buds, cinnamon, cinnamon chips, nutmegs and mace, if unground, 15c. per pound; if ground, 20c. per pound; cloves, clove stems and ginger root, not preserved or candied, if unground, 10c. per pound ; if ground, 15c. per pound; pimento, peppers and peppet shells, of all kinds, if unground, 5c. per pound; if ground, 10c. per pound; all other spices not specially provided for in this Act, if unground, 3c. per pound; if ground, 5c per pound.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 27, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE holiday has naturally interfered with business during the week, but, taking it all round, the conditions are much about the same as at the time of last review. Generally speaking, trade is quiet, and in no one line can there really be said to be activity. In teas, the only feature is the continued demand for parcels to ship to the United States. Sugars are dull and somewhat unsettled in the outside markets. Canned vegetables are meeting with fair demand. So is canned salmon. Currants are still strong with the demand good. Peppers have experienced another advance.

CANNED GOODS.

There are no new features to note. Prices are, on the whole, firm, with the demand for tomatoes, peas and salmon good. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c;. peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There is not much doing and the outside markets are somewhat irregular. Jobbers quote green in bags as follows: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There is nothing doing. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The local market is quiet and featureless. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

While the wholesale houses report a slight improvement in the demand for sugar, the refineries are still practically doing nothing, the former still being able to get their supplies of granulated from speculators at prices below refiners' figures. The speculators appear, however, willing to part with yellow sugars at cut figures. Generally speaking the market is gradually assuming a healthier condition. Beets have advanced ¾d. in London for June delivery, and the visible supply shows a decrease of 125,000 tons. The Cuba sugar crop is not expected to be over 200,000 tons, which is 31,000 less than last year. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

The spice market continues firm. At a forced sale of pepper in London, England, the other day full prices were obtained, which may be taken as a pretty good indication of the condition of the market. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 11c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 13c. in 5-lb cans; ditto, whole, 10c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 18c. in kegs, pails and boxes and 20c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 15 to 17c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 23 to 25c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 20 to 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

NUTS.

Business is quiet and featureless and prices unchanged. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled

TEAS.

There is still a demand for tea for shipment to the United States, although it is not as active as it was. The first samples of new season's Indian teas reached the Toronto market this week. The quality is better than last year. The first sales of Indian teas will be on a small scale and will not likely interest the Canadian market. The prices of new season's Japan teas are so high, due to the activity of the demand from the United States, that it is not likely the Canadian market will see shipments to any extent of May or early June teas. The Foochow market is expected to open about the middle of June. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

As the fact of the shortage becomes more emphasized the currant market increases in strength. The local demand is good and prices firm. We quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅞ to 5c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; Patras, 5¾ to 6c. in bbls., 5¾ to 6c. in half-bbls., and 5¾ to 6c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are still dull. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 6 to 6½c. in boxes.

Dates are quiet and uninteresting. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

California evaporated fruit trade is light. Peaches are dearer on the Coast, stocks there being exhausted. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

In prunes the demand is still nearly altogether for the California article. We quote as follows: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for both lemons and oranges is good. Blood oranges are now on the market. Common apples are about exhausted, there only now being a few choice Spies to be had. Florida tomatoes are this week arriving in carload lots for the first time this season. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $6 to $6.50 per case; large 420's, $7 to $8; Messinas $3.25 for 200's, $3.50 to $4 for 300's, $1.75 for 80's, $2 to $2.25 for 100's, $2.20 to $2.25 for 120's, $2.50 to $2.75 for 150's, $2.75 to $3 for 180's; blood oranges, $2.50 per half box. BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The demand is good for the better quality of dairy butter in both tubs and pound rolls; but there is not much attention being paid to creamery butter. Dairy tub butter is arriving more freely, but the cool weather is causing large rolls to be more plentiful than they otherwise would. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 10 to 12c. for good to choice; large rolls, 9 to 11c. for good to choice; pound prints, 11 to 12c. for good to choice. Creamery — Tubs, 16 to 16½c.; 1-lb. blocks, 17c.

CHEESE—Market is lower. New cheese is selling outside at 8½ to 8¾c., and it is being jobbed out here at from 9½ to 10c. The demand is only fair. Old cheese is firm at 11 to 11½c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is no improvement. We quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 60 to 65c.

DRIED APPLES—The market is still dull and featureless. There is no export demand. Prices are nominally 1 to 2½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Market is firm, but the demand is not as good as it was. Wholesale quotations are: Quarters, 3 to 3½c.; ordinary sliced, 4 to 5c.

EGGS — Receipts are fairly liberal and about equal to the demand. The idea as to price is 9 to 9¼c.; No. 2 eggs are quoted at 6½ to 7c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 o 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

MAPLE PRODUCTS — Dull. The ruling prices for good syrup are: 5-gallon tins, 55 to 60c. per gallon; 1-gallon tins, 60 to 65c. per gallon; sugar, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.

POTATOES—Are dull and weak at 20c. on track and 25 to 30c. out of store.

FISH.

The demand still continues unequal to the quantity coming in. Prices remain low. We quote as follows: Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 5c. per lb.; whitefish, 5½ to 6c.; trout, 5½ to 6c.; perch, 3c. per lb., fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; haddies, 7½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $3 to $4 per bbl. and $2.25 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7 to 7¼c. for carload lots, and 7½c. per lb. for ton lots and cases; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; hams, large, 10½ to 11c.; medium and small, 11½ to 12c.; shoulder hams, 7½c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½ to 6¾c.; tubs, 6½ to 7c.; pails, 6¾ to 7¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12.50 to $13; Canadian short-cut, $13.75 to $14.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—During the week prices have fallen considerably. We quote: Red wheat, 74c.; white, 75c.; oats are in good demand from 20½ to 22c.; peas, 40c.

FLOUR—Business dull; prices firm. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.20; Ontario patents, $4.20 to $4.40; straight roller, $3.85 to $3.90, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quiet and prices unchanged. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3 in bags and $3.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 to $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.25 to $2.35; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

SALT.

Trade is fair and prices are firm and unchanged. Quoted at Toronto, carload lots go at $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Firm, with no changes during the week. Dealers pay 7½c. for No. 1, 6½c. for No. 2 and 5½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market brisk, with a rise in prices: No. 1 veal, 8 lbs. and up, 9c. lb.; No. 2, 7c. Deatons, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. each. Sheep skins, $1.25 to $1.35; shearlings, 15 to 20c. each.

WOOL—Owing to the delay in the passing of the American tariff, the market is in a state of uncertainty. As soon as duty of 16c. per lb. on washed fleece and 9c. per lb. on unwashed is put on, it is expected there will be a falling off in price. Price now is 21c., which may be changed any moment. Unwashed, 12 to 13c.; tub-washed, 19c.; pickings, 9c. We would advise caution in bringing wool.

PETROLEUM.

Since last issue the oil market has undergone no change. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 14½c.; carbon, safety, 16½c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 17½c.; Pratt's astral, 17c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

New cheese is weaker.

California evaporated peaches are dearer on the Coast.

The visible supply of sugar has decreased 125,000 tons.

Beet for next month's delivery is ¾d. dearer in London.

Tea is still being purchased on the Toronto market for shipment to the United States.

Although dairy tub butter is arriving more freely, there are still too many rolls for the comfort of the market coming forward.

Mr. Hayter has received advance samples of the new season's Indian teas, April's manufacture, from the Consolidated Tea and Lands Co. The quality shows an improvement upon last year's first invoices. The plucking season commenced early, and prospects are good for fine quality.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, May 27, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a very indifferent week's business in groceries and the volume of trade is, if anything, lighter than it was. Retailers are strictly confining themselves to actual wants in every staple. Sugar is so quiet that one of the refineries has shut down so that it can work off some stock. The same dulness prevails in syrups, and a cargo of Barbadoes molasses that arrived and was offered on ship's account found that jobbers were satisfied with what they had on hand for the present. Americans have continued active enquirers for tea, but supplies here are worked down and the amount of business in consequence was small. Rice is very firm abroad with every prospect of the strong feeling being maintained.

SUGAR.

The local sugar market continues without feature, business being dull and prices at the refineries nominally unchanged. In fact, trade is so slack that the St. Lawrence refinery is shut down temporarily until the stock of refined is reduced. In a jobbing way values range from 4¼ to 4⅜c. for granulated and 3½ to 4c. for yellows. Outside advices have ruled easy and the fact may influence this market later, although it has not done so yet. At New York the refined as well as the raw article has been weak in tone.

SYRUPS.

There was no change in syrups, business ruling quiet and prices unchanged at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. as to quality at the factory.

MOLASSES.

The continued easiness in molasses at the Islands has failed in having any influence on the local situation so far, prices for jobbing lots ruling unchanged. New Barbadoes here is offered in carload lots on ship's account at 23c. without much encouragement, as most of the jobbers are well supplied for the present. A further reduction of ½ to 22½c. did not produce any better results. In a jobbing way 25c. in 15-puncheon lots and 26 to 27c. in smaller quantities is the ruling basis.

RICE.

With the receipt of stronger advices from primary markets, especially India, the rice market has exhibited a strong feeling. We quote: B grade, or any other quality equal or inferior as follows: Bags, 250 lbs., 1 to 4 bags or equal to $3.50; 5 to 9 bags, $3.45; 10 bags or over, $3.40. Half-bags, 100 lbs., 1 to 4 bags, $3.55; 5 to 9 bags, $3.50; 10 bags and over, $3.45. Quarter-bags, 50 lbs, 1 to 4 bags, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags or over, $3.50. Pockets, 12½ to 25 lbs.; 1 to 4 bags, $3.65; 5 to 9 bags, $3.60; 10 bags and over, $3.55.

SPICES.

There is only a limited demand for spices, and no changes are to report in the markets. We quote: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEES.

There has been no improvement in the coffee market. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 25c.; Santos, 12½ to 18c.; Rio, 12 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 24 to 27c.

TEAS.

Americans have continued active buyers of tea in this market, but business is restricted by the greatly reduced stocks here, a result of the recent heavy buying. In fact, holders of small lots of desirable goods are in no hurry to sell them, as they feel that they will all be wanted before the first arrivals of new crop. Actual local demand from the retail trade is moderate at present. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a moderate jobbing trade passing in canned goods, with no special features to report. Fish is in some enquiry. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 80c.; peas, 80c.; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.70 to $1.90, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2.30; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $8.50 to $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins continue quiet and unchanged. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins are quiet and steady also at a range of 6 to 8c., according to grade.

There has been no change in currants, and locally little is doing in them. We quote 4 to 4¾c., according to quality.

Prunes are dull and lifeless, but prices are unchanged. Stocks here are light. We quote: California, 6½ to 7c.; French, 4½ to 5c., and Bosnia, 6c.

Figs are dull and inclined to heaviness at 8 to 12c., while dates rule quiet, with prices largely nominal at 5 to 6c.

California evaporated fruits move along very slowly indeed. Prices, however, are steady. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 10 to 14c., and prunes 8 to 12c., according to brand and quality.

NUTS.

There is only a small jobbing trade in nuts. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

APPLES.

Apples are steady, with stocks pretty well cleaned up here on the basis of $2 to $3 per bbl., as to quality.

DRIED APPLES.

Without life at 3 to 3¼c. for dried and 3¾ to 4¼c. for evaporated.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market has ruled very steady since last report, prices ruling to-day at 9 to 9¼c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—Business in these is quiet and values are unchanged. We quote; Syrup, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. in wood; 45c. per small tin, and 50 to 55c. for large ones. Sugar brings 6 to 6½c. per lb.

BEANS—Demand for beans is slow at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and 65 to 70c. in a small way.

HOPS—Canadian good to choice hops sell steadily at 11¼ to 11½c.

HONEY—Comb honey continues steady at 8 to 10c., and extracted at 6 to 7½c.

POTATOES—Largely nominal at 35 to 40c. here in car lots, and 45c. in a jobbing way.

TALLOW—Quiet and steady at 1½ to 3c.

PROVISIONS.

There was no improvement in the local provision market, trade being quiet, but prices are fully maintained. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $12.50 to $13.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¼ to 6¾c., and compound refined at 4¾ to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

The demand for flour continues good, and millers in some cases state that they oversold of some grades. We quote: Winter wheat patents at $4.25 to $4.40; straight rollers, $3.90 to $4, and in bags, $1.90 to $2. Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4.25; outside brands, $3.90 to $4.10, and spring wheat patents, $4.40 to $4.60.

There continues to be a good demand for feed, and millers in some cases are asking an advance in prices. On the whole the market is active and firmer, Manitoba bran selling at $9.50 and shorts at $10.50 per ton, including bags.

Business in oatmeal was quiet and prices are unchanged at $2.80 per barrel and at $1.37½ per bag for rolled oats.

BALED HAY.

Baled hay has ruled firmer since last report, an advance of 50 to 75c. per ton having been established. Prices therefore are

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market continues heavy and it is difficult to say whether prices are to go much lower or not this season. Of course the pessimists contend that the bottom has not yet been reached by any means, predicting all sorts of low figures. It may be admitted, however, that the make this season is going to be a large one, for though the flush is still some weeks away, yet the receipts are very large. On spot to-day prices were nominal, but the equivalent of 9c. was paid in the country, so that 9 to 9¼c. is still the range. Mail advices of the 15th from Great Britain state that consumptive demand has been of a steady character, but that the shipments of new cheese on the way across is exerting its influence on buyers. Bristol reports of the date mentioned stated that finest new Canadian fodders were being offered prompt shipment there at 49s. c.i.f.

The butter market rules much the same. In the country it is learned that, owing to competition between buyers, some pretty full prices were paid in the Townships. The figures paid, however, were entirely unwarranted by the legitimate position here, as more was paid in the country than it is possible to realize here. We quote a range of 16 to 16½c. There is no indication of any enquiry for export, and shippers don't anticipate any until they are able to offer genuine grass creamery, which they cannot do at present.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cables on raw sugars have been easier, but the fact has not affected local prices.

Cables on Barbadoes molasses have continued easy on the basis of a first cost at the Islands of 6 to 6½c.

The St. Lawrence sugar refinery has shut down temporarily to work off some of the accumulation of refined stock on hand.

Offers of new molasses have been made here in cargo lots on ship's account, first at 23c., and the offer has been reduced to 22½c.

Americans have continued active buyers of Japan, Ceylon and black teas here, but business was not large owing to the fact that the stock to deal in was limited.

Cables from India state that the demand in Burmah for rice on Indian account will last for at least two or three months more, and tend to keep prices high for the balance of the season.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., May 27, 1897.

BUSINESS during the week has shown some improvement, but the weather here and through these provinces has been bad, being cold and wet, and farmers have as yet done very little. Last spring it was too dry. Markets show but little change. In cream of tartar there is a slight advance, but the price is still low. It is a hard market to keep track of. In rice about all our merchants, since the change of duty, have ordered from England. The price is quite high and market is advancing. In grocery lines now many more lines than ever before are being put up in packages. A New York house offers evaporated apples in 1-lb. cartoons. There has been a complaint here that some packages, said to contain one pound, do not do so. Retail dealers should watch this and not allow even a cut in prices to influence them to handle short-weight packages.

OIL—The demand for lubricating oil tends lighter, but is still good. That for burning oil is very light. Lard oil is held firm owing to light receipts. It is difficult to get best quality. We quote : Best American burning oil, 18½ to 19c.; Canadian, 17¼ to 18c.; prime, 14½ to 16c.

SALT—Market is dull. Dealers are feeling the effect of the large importations during the winter with which they filled up all the trade. Fine salt shows a better movement on account of the starting of the dairy business. Stocks in all lines are large. We quote : Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, 95c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS—Packers west report corn firmer and stock of tomatoes light and peas higher. This market works up slowly, goods being sold as low as they could be replaced. Owing to the low prices last fall the importations were rather larger than usual. Gallon apples continue to show better demand, price ruling low. Local packed sardines show a better sale. The demand is chiefly from the west. Some of our leading wholesalers are now selling canned meats, oysters, etc., under their own labels. Market is still bare of lobsters. We quote : Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; tomatoes, 85 to 90c. ; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3 ; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85 ; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $3 ; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Business continues active. Bananas are a large sale, but hardly equal to last year. The sale of oranges keeps active, but the quality begins to be against it. The price has helped the sale, for while it keeps going up, it is still lower than usual at this season. Lemons show good demand at even prices. California oranges and Cape Cod cranberries are out of the market. Apple trade is about over. Rhubarb has come in more freely than was expected. The native has taken the place of the American. Pineapples have better sale at lower prices. Strawberries tend lower, and therefore find freer sale. Cucumbers and tomatoes have but fair demand. We quote : Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3.25; oranges, Valencia, $6 to $6.50 ; bananas, $1.50 to $2.25 ; apples, $1.50 to $3 per bbl.; lettuce, 50c. per doz.; pineapples, 10 to 15c.; rhubarb, 2 to 2¼c. per lb.; strawberries, 16 to 18c.; cucumbers, $1 per doz.; tomatoes, $3 per crate.

DRIED FRUIT—Trade continues dull. There is a little life in currants, as they are scarce and higher. Quite a large shipment came forward this week direct from Greece in barrels, chiefly to be used after cleaning for packing in cartoons. Evaporated apples continue to arrive, while the market is firmer. There is quite a stock of dried here, which holders would sell low. Prunes keep low. A shipment of Bosnias arrived this week. Small lots of Californias keep coming in ; also small lots of muscatel raisins. The market is easier. In onions price is firmly held. Bermudas are scarce. We quote : Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 7 to 7¼c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¼ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6¼ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4½ to 5c.; onions, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.; Bermuda onions, $2.50 per crate ; cocoanuts, $3.25 to $3.50 per 100 lbs. ; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8 to 8¼c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—Market shows no change. It is supplied for some time, particularly with granulated. Prices rule easy, but show no change. We quote : Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c. ; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—Market is weak. There is quite a quantity moving. There is still some old here. Barbadoes finds light demand, though quite a quantity of new has been moved since the opening of the season. First cost is lower than ever known. Porto Rico has the trade and some very fine is offered. Some new St. Croix and Nevis is here, the latter in barrels. These grades could be bought low. We quote : Barbadoes, 24 to 26c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 25 to 27c.; Antigua, 24 to 26c. ; syrup, 36 to 38c. ; St. Croix, 23 to 24c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs are low and not active. The retail price is down to three dozen for 25c. Butter keeps low, but the stock is light, and good butter is in demand. Stock of cheese keeps small. Local factories are now working and market will soon be well supplied and prices, which have kept high, will likely drop off a little, though coming on a bare market with prices well sustained in other places, there will not likely be much change. Prospects are for a large output. We quote : Dairy butter, 15 to 17c.; creamery, 19 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 8 to 8½c.; cheese, 11½ to 12c.

FISH—The only business moving of any account is that in fresh fish, which is active. Haddock, which a short time ago had to be imported to fill the demand for smoking, are now being shipped west. Gaspereaux are a good fair catch. They are being chiefly pickled, and also sold fresh for bait. Shad are now running freely. Salmon are also coming in more freely, and this, which is one of our largest fresh fish trades, will soon be in full swing. Dry, pickled, and smoked fish are dull. Lobsters scarce and halibut easier. We quote as follows : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30 ; medium, $2.75 to $2.80; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25 ; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl. ; smoked, new, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl., $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 65 to 75c. per box ; Barrington, $3 per bbl. ; Shelburne, $3 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 12c. each, small ; gaspereaux, 50 to 60c.; halibut, 6½ to 7c.; smoked gaspereaux, 80c. per 100; smoked shad, $1.50 per doz.; fresh shad, 6 to 8c. each ; salmon, 20 to 22c. ; fresh haddock, 2 to 2½c.

PROVISIONS—Trade is quiet. Clear pork continues to be sold in this market low. In mess, stock is not so large, and there is a rather firmer feeling. Beef has a good, steady sale. Smoked meats, while firm, are beginning to show less demand. Lard seems to tend rather easier. We quote : Clear pork, $14 to $15 ; mess, $12 to $13 ; plate beef, $12 to $13 ; hams, 11½ to

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands—the true touchstone of merit.

The Manufacturer, R. E. Jamieson, Ottawa

12½c.; rolls, 8½ to 9c.; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — Flour shows little change, and that little is on the downward side, particularly Ontario. Oatmeal and oats, while the demand is but fairiy active, prices tend higher. Cornmeal, while ruling low, is off another 5c. this week. Our local mills, while getting the city trade, find it difficult to hold the outside business. Like the flour business, it seems to be slipping away. Beans, while higher outside, show little change here. Stocks are large. In barley the feeling is easier. Seeds have still a good sale, but the season is getting late. Feed keeps high, particularly bran. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.85 to $5; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60; medium, $4.30 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.30; cornmeal, $1.75 to $1.80; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c. prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $11.50 to $12.50; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; timothy seed, Canadian, $2 to $2.25; do. do., American, $1.75 to $2; clover, 8¾ to 9c.; alsike, 8½ to 9c.

THE MAN AND THE OPPORTUNITY.

HISTORY furnishes thousands of examples of men who have seized occasions to accomplish results deemed impossible by those less resolute. Prompt decision and whole-souled action sweep the world before them.

True, there has been but one Napoleon ; but, on the other hand, the Alps that oppose the progress of the average American youth are not as high or dangerous as the summits crossed by the Corsican.

Don't wait for extraordinary opportunities. Seize common occasions and make them great.

On the morning of September 6, 1838, a young woman in the Longstone Lighthouse, between England and Scotland, was awakened by shrieks of agony rising above the roar of wind and wave. A storm of unwonted fury was raging, and her parents could not hear the cries ; but a telescope showed nine human beings clinging to the windlass of a wrecked vessel whose bow was hanging on the rocks half a mile away. "We can do nothing," said William Darling, the light-keeper. "Ah, yes, we must go to the rescue !" exclaimed his daughter, pleading tearfully with both father and mother until the former replied : "Very well, Grace, I will let you persuade me, although it is against my better judgment." Like a feather in a whirlwind the little boat was tossed on the tumultuous sea, and it seemed to Grace that she could feel her brain reel amid the maddening swirl. But borne on the blast that swept the cruel surge, the shrieks of those shipwrecked sailors seemed to change her weak sinews into cords of steel. Strength hitherto unsuspected came from somewhere, and the heroic girl pulled one oar in even time with her father. At length the nine were safely on board. "God bless you ; but ye're a bonny English lass !" said one poor fellow, as he looked wonderingly upon this marvelous girl, who that day had done a deed which added more to England's glory than the exploits of many of her monarchs.

A cat-boat was capsized in 1854 near Lime Rock Lighthouse, Newport, R.I., and four young men were left struggling in the cold waves of a choppy sea. Keeper Lewis was not at home, and his sick wife could do nothing ; but their daughter Ida, twelve years old, rowed out in a small boat and saved the men. During the next thirty years she rescued nine others at various times. Her work was done without assistance, and showed skill and endurance fully equal to her great courage.

"If you will let me try, I think I can make something that will do," said a boy who had been employed as a scullion at the mansion of Signor Faliero, as the story is told by George Cary Eggleston. A large company had been invited to the banquet, and just before the hour the confectioner, who had been making a large ornament for the table, sent word that he had spoiled the piece. "You !" exclaimed the head servant, in astonishment ; "and who are you ?" "I am Antonio Canova, the grandson of Pisano, the stone-cutter," replied the pale-faced little fellow.

"And, pray, what can you do ?" asked the major-domo. "I can make you something that will do for the middle of the table if you'll let me try." The servant was at his wit's end, so he told Antonio to go ahead and see what he could do. Calling for some butter, the scullion quickly moulded a large crouching lion, which the admiring major-domo placed upon the table.

Dinner was announced, and many of the most noted merchants, princes and noblemen of Venice were ushered into the dining-room. Among them were skilled critics of art work. When their eyes fell upon the butter lion, they forgot the purpose for which they had come, in their wonder at such a work of genius. They looked at the lion long and carefully, and asked Signor Failero what great sculptor had been persuaded to waste his skill upon a work in such a temporary material. Faliero could not tell ; so he asked the head servant, who brought Antonio before the company.

When the distinguished guests learned that the lion had been made in a short time by a scullion, the dinner was turned into a feast in his honor. The rich host declared that he would pay the boy's expenses under the best masters, and he kept his word, but Antonio was not spoiled by his good fortune. He remained at heart the same simple, earnest, faithful boy, who tried so hard to become a good stone-cutter in the shop of Pisano. Some may not have heard how the boy Antonio took advantage of this first great opportunity ; but all know of Canova, one of the greatest sculptors of all time.—Pushing to the Front.

KEEPING MACKEREL.

NEARLY every retail grocer has experienced disappointment at one time or another in the keeping qualities of mackerel, and not a few have been inclined to blame the packer or jobber. For this reason they have limited their purchases and often found their stock inadequate to meet demand. The fault is not with the packing or the jobber, but with the retailer, who does not exercise sufficient care with the fish after he places them in stock.

A writer in The Grocery World gives some information on the subject of keeping mackerel, which is well worth preserving. He says :

Keeping mackerel is a very simple matter when you know how. Many grocers buy a barrel of mackerel and allow the brine in which the fish are submerged to leak away or evaporate, leaving the fish dry. Under these circumstances mackerel will invariably grow rusty. The cause of this is that in the absence of brine the natural oil of the fish comes to the surface and granulates, so to speak, or gathers on the surface and discolors. While mackerel in this condition are not necessarily inferior to non-rusted fish, they are unpleasant in appearance to the average consumer, and as a rule great difficulty is experienced in working them off.

Mackerel kept covered with the proper sort of brine will never rust. Indeed, they should keep in perfectly good condition for a year if properly taken care of. Never allow the brine in which the fish are packed when the barrel reaches you to escape, and always keep enough in the barrel, so that the fish are entirely submerged in it. Sometimes the brine escapes without the grocer's knowledge. When this is so more should be made and immediately supplied. The proper way to make brine is not to sprinkle salt on the fish and add water, as many grocers do, for this method will spoil the mackerel nine times out of ten. It should be made in a bucket or cask, a mixture of coarse salt and water being made sufficiently strong to float an egg or potato. This should then be poured over the fish.

WHERE NOTHING IS EVER SOLD.

In Bainbridge, Geauga County, O., not far from Cleveland, is the queerest country general store I ever ran across, says a writer in a Chicago paper. Bainbridge is a small hamlet, but the store is as large and as well stocked as the average suburban store. It is kept—that is precisely the word for it—by an old widower, who has no relatives in that section of the country. When the civil war began he was running a flourishing general store in Bainbridge, and made money rapidly during the succeeding four years. When peace was declared prices, which had been greatly inflated, took a sudden drop. The old fellow believed that this would be followed by a boom which would send prices skyward again, and refused to sell his goods for less than he paid for them. Down went the prices—down, down, down—and finally he was forced to close his store for want of purchasers.

To-day his store stands almost exactly as it did thirty years ago. It is stocked with such goods as are usually found in country stores, but, of course, the stock is now practically worthless.

Every day the old man opens up the place to give it an airing. He is there, too, for business, if anyone chooses to buy what he has to sell, and is willing to pay what he asks.

"Why, sir," he said to me, "some of the calico I've got here cost me sixty-five cents a yard in 1867. Wouldn't I be a fool to sell it for five cents ?"—Chicago Times-Herald.

AGAIN READY FOR BUSINESS.

Mr. W. Clark, Montreal, who was burned out some time since, is now in a position to fill all orders without delay. Although crippled for two weeks he has made arrangements which will enable him to fill at once all orders received during that time, and at the same time keep up with his regular business. He reports large sales of tomato soup, put up in 1-quart cans.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, May 27, 1897.

THE state of trade is practically same as last week. There is no rush, but business is fair and steady. Contrary to expectation, butter is scarcer than last week and the price is up, but this is, no doubt, but a temporary rise.

TOBACCO—The Macdonalds, of Montreal, still maintain the advance of 14c. and refuse to sell in bond. Tuckett, of Hamilton, is not quoting regularly at present. Two or three carloads have been bought during the past week and, of course, the dealers will ask the advance of 14 to 15c. all round.

DRIED FRUITS—Currants are now selling at 6¼c. per lb. and may go higher. Raisins, $2.20 per box for Valencias; prime off-stalk, $1.80 to $1.90 per box.

CANNED GOODS—Future packs of peas are now being offered by some Ontario factories. Tomatoes are still $1.90 per case.

BUTTER — Scarce and demand brisk; price, 16 to 17c.; choice dairy, 18c. per lb.

EGGS—Plentiful, but still high, the last week's price of 10c. being maintained. The sales of the early part of the week were made at 11c., but this price only held for two days.

CHEESE—Whole stock held by one house, which shows no disposition to sell under 10½c.

CURED MEATS—Market firm and demand good. Hams, assorted, 10½ to 11c.; breakfast bacon, bellies, 10½ to 11c.; do. backs, 9½ to 10c.; short spiced rolls, 7½ to 8c.; shoulders, 6½ to 7c.; long clear, 7½ to 8c.; shoulders, 5¾c.; boneless shoulders, 6½ to 7c.

LARD—20-lb. pails, $1.70 to $1.75; $4.25 for 50-lb. pails.

VEGETABLES—Potatoes grow scarcer, and are quoted on the street at 40 to 50c. per bushel; carload lots, 40 to 45c.

COFFEE — Market for Rios is dull, with price down to 16½c.; Javas, 30 to 35c.; Mocha, 37c.

A MACKEREL NOVELTY.

One of the Boston fish houses is introducing in this market a novelty in the mackerel line. It is termed "spiced Hamburg mackerel," and consists of five-pound wooden pails, filled with small mackerel very highly spiced.

Spiced mackerel are not entirely unknown, although they are in the way the idea has been carried out in this case. Small mackerel are used, being soaked for several days until all saltiness has disappeared. They are then packed in vinegar together with slices of lemon, onions, cloves, allspice and various other spices of the same sort. The result is an entirely new wrinkle, and presents a not altogether displeasing flavor. The idea is to eat the fish cold, in which it somewhat resembles soused mackerel. The cost to the retailer is about 75c. per pail, and it retails for about $1.—Grocery World.

ECKARDT'S SALVAGE SALE.

THE salvage sale of groceries of H. P. Eckardt & Co., which closed last week, was probably the largest sale of the kind ever held in Toronto, about $60,000 worth of goods being disposed of. The attendance was fairly good, particularly on the first two days.

Fair prices were obtained for the small lines, but the staple lines went at very low figures.

Here are some of the lines sold and the prices obtained: 300 boxes C. & B. lemon peel, free from damage, 6½c. per lb.; cleaned Filiatra currants, 3½ to 4¼c.; 100 cases Hallowee dates, 3¾c.; 1,000 boxes Arguimbau's selected Valencia raisins, 2½c. per lb.; 100 bags choice apricots, 2⅜c.; 75 bags of egg plums, 1c. per lb.; 3,000 cases of tomatoes, 55 to 64c. per doz.; 1,500 cases corn, 40 to 45c.; 384 cases Lakeport gallon apples, $1.01 per dozen; 281 cases 3-lb. apples, 42c. per dozen; 151 cases Flemish Beauty pears, 2-lb. tins, 60c. per dozen; 82 cases blue damson plums in heavy syrup, 80c. per dozen; 62 cases Orleans plums, 2-lb. tins, 75c. per dozen; 50 cases apricots, 3-lb. tins, $1.30 per dozen; 25 cases mackerel, 90c.; 500 cases salmon, 90 to $1.05 per dozen; 94 cases sardines, imported, ¼ tins, 3¾c. per tin; 30 bags Marbot walnuts, 3¾c. per lb.; 200 Aylmer tomato catsup, 42c. per dozen; 5 cases Eleme figs, 10 and 20 lb. boxes, 2½c. per lb.; 100 bags white beans, 42c. per bushel; 100 caddies of "Prince of Wales" tobacco, 7's, 55½c. per lb.; 100 caddies "Brier," 55c. per lb.; 75 boxes and 78 bags natural figs, 2c. per lb.; 200 cases large French prunes, 70's to 80's, 2c. per lb.; 25 boxes Oregon prunes, 40's to 50's, 4c. per lb.; 500 cases of tea at from one-half to two-thirds their value. The sugar stored in the burned building was sold by private sale to confectioners for manufacturing purposes.

There were in all 719 lots put up, and as the sale was without reserve everything was cleaned up. The goods sold are estimated at one hundred carloads. H. P. Eckardt & Co. are now starting off with a new stock of goods. The new stock is already complete with few exceptions.

The firm was compelled by the underwriters to take over the goods at an appraisement of the damage, and in order to dispose of them quickly recourse was made to the auction mart. Three catalogues and two supplementaries were got out for the sale.

CANNED TOMATOES IN THE U.S.

THE N. Y. Journal of Commerce of the 21st inst. said: "The market for canned tomatoes is generally claimed to be in better shape statistically than it has been at this season for many years past. Most of the cheap stock which has been seeking an outlet with a demoralizing effect upon market values has been cleaned up by recent purchases, it is reported, and as a result a stronger feeling has been developed. However, progress toward higher prices is slow, partly because the speculative demand which has in past years been a prominent feature of the trade at this season is wholly lacking this year, the purchases made recently and such business as is now going on in spot goods being to cover actual needs of consumption.

"Another reason for the slow recovery of the market is said to be the continued offerings of small lots from various sources, some coming from packers who are in need of ready money for the coming season and others and perhaps the larger number from people who had made advances on the goods and are now anxious to realize. It is claimed that a considerable proportion of this cheap stock is of inferior quality. Hence it is finding a limited outlet and the pressure to dispose of it, which increases with the nearer approach of the new packing season, helps in connection with the present moderate wants of consumption to keep down the prices of the comparatively small remaining stocks of more desirable goods.

"Nevertheless, holders of the latter are more confident of the future than they were apparently a week or two ago, as new goods will not be on the market for some months to come, and even at the present rate of consumption the balance of the old stock will, they believe, be needed. It is reported that of late there has been a considerable demand for fancy packed tomatoes for forward delivery, as these goods are wanted by consumers, and little, if any, of the former pack remains."

FAITH IN BUSINESS.

Faith in the foundation of business. It is an essential asset to every bank and mercantile house in existence. Many a thriving business and successful enterprise has been carried through dark days of reverse on no other capital; and without such capital the markets of the world would soon come to a standstill. I have known men whose ruin has been brought about by some little insinuation relative to their credit—the business equivalent for trustworthiness. The loss of public faith has brought the darkest reverses to the richest of corporations, and even nations have felt the ruin which it entails.—Moody.

"GOOD LUCK" BROOM.

The H. A. Nelson & Sons Co. have added two desirable lines to their regular assortment of brooms, and have called them the "Good Luck." The one dollar line is sewn with four strings, two and two, i.e., two close together and two farther down, making a good, serviceable broom and adding considerably to their appearance. The two-dollar line is a shorter broom. It also is sewn with four strings, but they are all close together. Both lines are made of the finest quality, carefully selected brush. They have also the firm's new fancy striped handle. Up to the present they have been able to meet only the city trade, but will soon be in a position to supply all their customers throughout the country, who would do well to immediately send in orders.

FLORIDA PINEAPPLE CROP.

A conservative estimate of the Florida pineapple crop for the present season, including the Keys, is 150,000 barrel crates, 300,000 standard crates. The large output is placed on the market in a period of two or three months. The natural increase from year to year is 50 per cent. If this business can remain in a prosperous condition the increase will be much more rapid and there will not be a dearth of the fruit during its season in any of the markets of our country, though all foreign fruit should be excluded.—Titusville (Fla.) HIS IDEA OF REST.

A business man accustomed to hard work for many years usually finds idleness irksome. Men who have been actively in the harness, as a rule, do not like to retire, although retirement in old age is the goal of the average worker. A successful Chicagoan, who has reached sixty years, said to me the other day: "I am going to quit. I have worked for thirty years without a week's vacation; now I am going to rest for thirty years. I have earned every dollar I possess; now I intend to spend and stop worrying about accumulating it."

I applauded this determination and inquired how he intended to spend his leisure.

"I have bought a homestead in Blank," he said, naming a small Michigan town, "and I shall remove there with my family and simply wallow in idleness and contentment!"

"But how will you pass your spare time?" I insisted.

"Well, I'll hunt and fish," he said.

"Good—but that will not keep you busy the year round," I ventured.

"No, but I shall read. I'll take all the papers, I will get together a little library, too."

"Will that occupy all your extra time?"

"Oh, I shall walk about a good deal, I dare say. Exercise—you know—great thing for an old man."

"Is that your entire programme?"

"N-no; not exactly," he said, hesitatingly. "I'm going to organize a private bank down there and manage it."—Chicago Times-Herald.

THE MERCHANT WOULD NOT BITE.

Sharpers are trying to make money easily for themselves out of the gold mine boom. A few days ago a well-known merchant received a letter from Sandon, B.C. It was addressed correctly, but when he opened it he was surprised to find that it began "Dear Harry," while his name is George and was correct on the envelope. The letter appeared to be a confidential communication from the sender, to a personal friend, advising him of a particularly good find in the gold region and advising him to get up a company and send out an expert. The Simcoe man at first thought it a great chance, but when he began to reflect he concluded that it was a game. The "mistake" in putting the confidential letter into his envelope had evidently been intended to lead him on. The letter was very cleverly written, but disguised in poor writing and occasionally bad spelling. Probably others have received similar letters.

CHASE & SANBORN'S LATEST NOVELTY.

CHASE & SANBORN, the big coffee dealers, continue to take a great interest in their customers. They are not content with placing their coffee on the shelves of all the best merchants in Canada. They go further: they assist them in disposing of it by schemes which draw consumers to their stores. Having got a customer in, it is the fault of the salesmen if she leaves without purchasing.

Their Brownie Book was a great hit. It brought people in hundreds to the stores which gave them away. Many new customers were thus secured. The "snap shots" and "grocers' aprons" were also good things in their way. Their latest promises to be the best hit yet. It is a little book giving thirty-six tricks and puzzles, and explaining how they are done. They are specially suited for after dinner. Above is a reproduction of the front cover. It is printed in several colors. The inside is most artistically and attractively gotten up in three printings. For both appearance and contents copies are likely to be largely sought after. There is no advertising connected with the booklet's contents, but the back cover shows a reproduction of a can of coffee.

Any reader of THE GROCER wishing a supply for distribution may have them by asking his wholesale house or by applying direct to Chase & Sanborn, Montreal.

Whether this particular brand of coffee is handled or not, the distribution of these "trick books" will awaken an interest in the store where they are given away. They are certain to arouse the curiosity of the younger people, and, through them, their parents. Children will take their copy of the booklet to school, and they will thus interest the whole neighborhood in the tricks, just as people went crazy over the Fifteen puzzle a few years ago. The following are a few of the puzzles :—

WITH ELEVEN MATCHES.

Required, so to place them as to make nine of them.

WITH NINE MATCHES.

Required, so to place them as to make three dozen of them.

WITH NINE MATCHES.

WITH THREE TOOTHPICKS.

Required, so to lay them on the table as to make four of them.

WITH THREE TOOTHPICKS.

Required, as to lay them on the table as to make six of them.

WITH THREE WINE GLASSES AND THREE MATCHES.

Required, with the three matches, to form a bridge between the three wine glasses strong enough to support a fourth wine glass.

N.B.—Each match must rest on one glass only, and touch such glass only at a single point.

The booklet gives the illustrated answers to these and each of the thirty-six other puzzles and tricks.

HANDLE BEST VALUES.

A grocer cannot do better than to handle the best values for the prices asked. The temptation to do otherwise is often great; but greater are the rewards of the grocer who resists the temptation. A consignment of canned corn, for example, is found on inspection to be of a superior quality. The dealer can sell the goods at 15c. and make the desired profit, or, because of the excellence of the corn, he can sell at a higher price. Shall he do it? "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush;" but more than one grocer has found to his cost that, by so doing, he has frightened away the bird in the bush, and even the one in hand has managed to get away.—Ohio Merchant.

TWO THOUSAND PIGS.

A butcher residing in a country town was afflicted with a terrible lisp. One sale day, being suddenly seized with an inspiration to raise his own pork, he invested in a few pigs; but, having no place ready for their immediate occupation, he called upon a neighbor whom he knew had an empty sty.

"I thay old man," he began, "I have jutht bought a few pigth. Could you lend me your thty?"

"Certainly, if it is any use. But how many pigs have you? The sty is none too large."

"Oh, only two thowth and pigth."

"Two thousand pigs! Good gracious! It wouldn't hold 200!"

"I did not thay two thowthand pigth. I thed two thowth and pigth!"

"Yes, I hear; and it won't take a quarter of them. It's no use."

"You don't underthand me," said the poor fellow, "I do not mean two thowthand pigth; I mean two thowth and pigth."

"Well, you couldn't get twenty in; so there!"

"I don't want to!" exclaimed the lisper, excitedly. "There are not two thowthand pigth, but two thowth and pigth"—(gesticulating)—"two thowth and pigth, I tell you!" And so he kept on in vain, until a a happy thought struck him. "I did not mean two thowthand pigth, but two thowth and pigth!"

He got the sty.—Answer.

"It is better to have built . . .

a dog house than to have dreamed of building a castle." It is better to run a small grocery and be up with the times, than to conduct a big one and be a back number. If you want to be the foremost grocer in your town don't attempt it unless you have for sale a complete range of our plain and fancy biscuits. Our Cream Sodas are the leaders. They are the product of care and attention, skilled workmen and modern machinery. If not already on our list of customers get there at once. It will pay you.

THE MAN WHO MADE "SALADA."

By W. L. E.

THE man who can, in these days of keen competition, build up a large and successful business is worthy of commendation. It is evidence he has ability and knows how to use it. These are the thoughts which came to me after a brief glance through the headquarters of the Salada Tea Co., 25 Front street east, Toronto.

The word "Salada," the name of the package tea which this company puts up, is familiar to more or less extent to every grocer and general merchant in Canada. And the man who has made it such is P. C. Larkin. I am not going to discourse upon the merits of "Salada." It is neither my province nor purpose. My chief object is to speak of the man who made it.

"Salada" was first put upon the market about five years ago, and, as far as I can learn, was the first home-made package tea in Canada. England is, of course, the mother of the package tea.

The "Salada" package tea was the result of extended experiments in blending, a blend having been eventually hit upon which Mr. Larkin was convinced would take well if put up in packages. The name "Salada" given to it comes from a tea-growing district in India, although "Salada" tea itself is of Ceylon production.

As I have just said, Mr. Larkin felt convinced he had hit upon a tea that would take well in packages. And that which Mr. Larkin believes in he becomes enthusiastic over, tea as well as everything else. Talk with him five minutes and you will be convinced of that.

Mr. Larkin is convinced that "Salada" tea is the best package tea on the market. He may be right or he may be wrong. But he believes it.

It does not matter how good an article may be. It may beyond all peradventure be the best in the world. But articles do not, like worms, work their own way into the world: They must be pushed. And Mr. Larkin to enthusiasm has added push. As the result of his efforts "Salada" is now sold, to a more or less extent, in nearly every hamlet, town and village in Canada.

In pushing his tea Mr. Larkin has relied largely upon newspaper advertising. To the trade he has spoken chiefly through THE CANADIAN GROCER, and some four hundred daily and weekly newspapers are utilized as mediums for reaching the consuming public.

P. C. LARKIN
The man who made "Salada."

"I don't care how good an article may be," I heard Mr. Larkin remark one day, "you must advertise it if you want it to sell."

The greater part of his business is done through letter orders, only three travelers being out in the country.

Since the Canadian field has been pretty well covered Mr. Larkin has been looking around for other worlds, or rather other countries, in which to operate. In pursuance of this he about a year ago began to investigate the United States market. Probably what induced him to venture upon that market when he did was the receipt of letters from people living across the border, stating they had tasted "Salada" and expressing their desire to purchase some.

The first branch was started in Buffalo. That was rather less than a year ago. Since then branches have been started at Pittsburgh, Wilkesbarre, Scranton, Youngstown, Rochester, Detroit, Boston, etc.

"Although we have branched out largely in the United States," said Mr. Larkin in reply to a question, "our trade there yet is really insignificant compared with that in Canada, because our usual system of doing business here has not been pursued there. What I mean is that only a very small lot of tea goes out over there with opening orders as a rule. Reckoned in pounds, therefore, the output is small so far. But if the orders are small the expense is enormous," remarked Mr. Larkin as he dipped his hand deep into his pocket. "You know, the United States is not a tea-drinking country. Coffee is its staple drink. I am, however, firmly convinced that the next ten or fifteen years will see the United States taking as much Indian and Ceylon tea as does England at the present day."

"I suppose with your opening up in the United States you have been pretty busy lately?" I ventured.

"Yes, we have. During the last three months we have been turning out 'Salada' at the rate of one million pounds per annum, or equal to more than one-tenth of the black tea trade of Canada."

"Salada" tea is packed upon the premises at No. 25 Front street east. The packing department is situated upon the second floor. All the tea is packed by machinery. And an interesting process it is. There are three or four machines, exactly the number I do not remember. To each machine there are three young men. The duty of one is to wrap the tea lead paper around a square funnel-shaped article which is handed to the operator who thrusts it into an aperture in the machine. Simultaneously with doing this the operator grasps another funnel-shaped vessel, suspended at his right, which contains the desired quantity of tea which has been put therein by the third workman. As he grasps it the contents are automatically emptied into the receptacle around which the lead paper is wrapped. Then, in the twinkling of an eye, down upon the tea comes a powerful press, packing it firmly. At the same moment the operator touches a lever with his foot and out comes the funnel-shaped vessel around which the wrapper was put. Next the operator dexterously closes the end of the package, brings a sort of iron door down upon it with a bang, touches another lever with his foot and up pops the package ready for labelling. By actual time test I found the operator was turning out ten half-pound packages per minute, and all to an hair's breadth uniform in size.

The machines used are the invention of Mr. Larkin himself, and not only does he use them in his own business, but he has sold them to tea packers in different parts of Canada, the United States, Great Britain, Australasia, etc.

Just north of the packing machines is a mammoth tea blender. It stands about twelve feet high and is eight or nine feet square, and has a capacity of two tons of tea. It is operated by electricity, and is fed from the floor above.

After the packages of tea are labeled they are placed tier upon tier in a large room fronting the north. Lately it has been found impossible to dry the labels quickly enough to allow orders to be filled promptly. Accordingly last week several electric fans were introduced. These are placed before the different piles of tea and are kept going night and day.

The staff of men and boys engaged in packing, labelling, etc., is 27.

The man who made "Salada" tea was born in Montreal about forty years ago. He began mercantile life at the early age of thirteen years, when as a boy he entered the employ of a retail grocer in the "Commercial Metropolis." Eventually he became a traveler for Tiffin Bros., Montreal, which position he held for twelve years. It is eight years since he started in the wholesale grocery business in Toronto and five years since he put "Salada" tea on the market, the whole of his attention now being devoted to that article.

"Larkin," remarked a friend of his the other day, "has brains enough for two firms. He is a bright and clever fellow."

"THE WRONG SORT OF GROCERS."

At a meeting of the trade, some years ago, there was an informal discussion on the subject of small shops managed by the wives of working men, and one speaker was ungallant enough to describe women as "the wrong sort of grocers." He was right. It is an undoubted fact that women are not a success as grocers. The business is too complex for their management; it demands a too persistent and onerous attention; the work is too hard, and the variety of articles handled too extensive for ordinary female capacity —London Grocer.

In the city of ———, is a grocer, an easy-going fellow, who for twenty years and more had kept a store that for appearances would take the medal for untidiness. Goods were always scattered and mixed and kept in confusion and disorder. The cellar was a hotch-potch. The desk was littered with odds and ends and scarcely approachable on account of the goods piled about it. Shelves were dusty and it seemed as if everything was purposely left where it might chance to lodge. A fever put this careless, slow and easy fellow in bed for some weeks, during which the wife laid aside her duties and took charge of the store. Entering it one day, entirely ignorant of the proprietor's illness, we were astonished to find it in perfect order. The old heaps of miscellaneous merchandise had disappeared. There was a place for everything and everything was in its place. Order and neatness reigned and the place had an attractive look. We could not resist asking the cause for the change, when we learned that one woman at least knew how to keep store and increase trade. The wife took charge of affairs, sent the broom and the dust pan into nooks and corners. The stock was re-arranged and made inviting. Order put disorder to flight and cleanliness superseded slovenliness. Therefore we assert that it is not "an undoubted fact that women are not a success as grocers." There are men who never achieve success as there are women, and there are those of both sexes who always do well.—American Grocer.

SUGAR STATISTICS.

This week's summary of the statistical position of sugar, as made up by Willett & Gray, shows stocks in the United States and Cuba together of 623,937 tons, against 589,490 tons last week and 295,717 tons last year, a plus of 328,220 tons over last year. Stocks in Europe, 1,854,500 tons, against 1,851,800 tons last week, and 1,759,435 tons last year. Total stocks of Europe and America, 2,478,437 tons, against 2,743,291 tons last week and 2,055,152 tons last year at the same uneven dates. The excess of stock is now 423,285 tons, against an excess of 410,442 tons last week and a deficiency of 6,733 tons December 31, 1896. HER FRENCH.

"Let me see some of your black kid gloves," said a lady to a clerk. "These are not the latest style, are they?" she asked, when the gloves were produced. "Yes, madam," replied the clerk, "we have had them in stock only two days." "I didn't think they were, because the fashion paper says black kids have tan stitches, and vice versa. I see the tan stitches, but not the vice versa." The clerk explained that vice versa was French for seven buttons, so she bought three pairs. —Household Words.

THE MAN AND THE OPPORTUNITY.

"IF we succeed, what will the world say?" asked Captain Berry in delight, when Nelson had explained his carefully formed plan before the battle of the Nile.

"There is no 'if' in the case," said Nelson. "That we shall succeed is certain. Who may live to tell the tale is a very different question." Then, as his captains rose from the council to go to their respective ships, he added: "Before this time to-morrow I shall have gained a peerage or Westminster Abbey." His quick eye and daring spirit saw an opportunity of glorious victory where others saw only probable defeat.

"Is it possible to cross the path?" asked Napoleon of the engineers who had been sent to explore the dreaded pass of St. Bernard. "Perhaps," was the hesitating reply, "it is within the limits of possibility." "Forward, then!" said the Little Corporal, heeding not their account of difficulties, apparently insurmountable. England and Austria laughed in scorn at the idea of transporting across the Alps, where "no wheel had ever rolled, or by any possibility could roll," an army of 60,000 men, with ponderous artillery and tons of cannon balls and baggage and all the bulky munitions of war. But the besieged Massena was starving in Genoa and the victorious Austrians thundered at the gates of Nice. Napoleon was not the man to fail his former comrades in their hour of peril.

The soldiers and all their equipments were inspected with rigid care. A worn shoe, a torn coat or a damaged musket was at once repaired or replaced, and the columns swept forward, fired with the spirit of their chief.

"High on those craggy steeps, gleaming through the mists, the glittering bands of armed men, like phantoms, appeared. The eagle wheeled and screamed beneath their feet. The mountain goat, affrighted by the unwonted spectacle, bounded away, and paused in bold relief upon the cliff to gaze at the martial array which so suddenly had peopled the solitude. When they approached any spot of very special difficulty, the trumpets sounded the charge, which re-echoed with sublime reverberations from pinnacle to pinnacle of rock and ice. Everything was so carefully arranged and the influence of Napoleon so boundless that not a soldier left the ranks. Whatever obstructions were in the way were to be at all hazards surmounted, so that the long file, extending nearly 20 miles, might not be thrown into confusion." In four days the army was marching on the plains of Italy.

When this "impossible" deed was accomplished others saw that it might have been done long before. Many a commander had possessed the necessary supplies, tools and rugged soldiers, but lacked the grit and resolution of Bonaparte. Others excused themselves from encountering such gigantic obstacles by calling them insuperable. He did not shrink from mere difficulties, however great, but out of his very need made and mastered his opportunity.

Grant at New Orleans had just been seriously injured by a fall from his horse when he received orders to take command at Chattanooga, so sorely beset by the Confederates that its surrender seemed only a question of a few days; for the hills around were all aglow at night with the camp fires of the enemy, and supplies had been cut off. Though in great pain, General Grant gave directions for his removal to the new scene of action immediately.

On transports up the Mississippi, the Ohio and one of its tributaries; on a litter borne by horses for many miles through the wilderness; and into the city at last on the shoulders of four men, he was taken to Chattanooga. Things assumed a different aspect immediately. A master had arrived who was equal to the situation. The army felt the grip of his power. Before he could mount his horse, he ordered an advance. Soon the surrounding hills were held by Union soldiers, although the enemy contested the ground inch by inch.

Were these things the result of chance, or were they compelled by the indomitable determination of the injured general?

Did things adjust themselves when Horatius with two companions held 90,000 Tuscans at bay until the bridge across the Tiber had been destroyed?—when Leonidas at Thermopylæ checked the mighty march of Xerxes?—when Themistocles, off the coast of Greece, shattered the Persian's Armada?—when Cæsar, finding his army hard pressed, seized spear and buckler, fought while he reorganized his men, and snatched victory from defeat?—when Winkelried gathered to his breast a sheaf of Austrian spears, thus opening a path through which his comrades pressed to freedom?—when Benedict Arnold, by desperate daring at Saratoga, won the battle which seemed doubtful to Horatio Gates, loitering near his distant tent?—when for years Napoleon did not lose a single battle in which he was personally engaged?—when Wellington fought in many climes without ever being conquered?—when Ney, on a hundred fields, changed apparent disaster into brilliant triumph?—when Perry left the disabled Lawrence, rowed to the Niagara, and silenced the British guns?—when Sheridan arrived from Winchester just as the Union retreat was becoming a route, and turned the tide by riding along the line?—when Sherman signaled his men to hold the fort, though sorely pressed; and they held it, knowing that their leader was coming?—Pushing to the Front.

WOULD HAVE THE HAM.

An old and favored customer at a Lewiston grocery store, caught sight of a new and finely put up ham from a western meat house, one day recently, and asked for it. "Oh, that isn't to sell! that's only a sample," said the clerk. "Well, I want it. Samples are better than anything else. I want it, and I have traded here long enough to have a few favors." "Well, I tell you it is not good to eat. We will keep it here ourselves." At this the customer grew indignant, and the clerks promised to send it up. He went home happy, and the next day tried to cut up the nicely packed, varnished and sealed package of ham. He found that it was turned out of pine lumber.

CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

Concerning the prune situation, The California Fruit Grower says, under date of the 22nd inst.: "Business confined to small lots to fill assorted orders, chiefly for local trade. Eastern demand slow; a few export orders coming to hand. Stocks are cleaning up. From Philadelphia comes the report that there is some clashing in prices in that market between Santa Clara Valley and San Joaquin Valley prunes, the latter being offered at ½c. per pound less than the former, with some dispute as to quality of the San Joaquin Valley fruit. The drop is about over and the fruit is as large as robins' eggs, with every indication of an early harvest. The loss by dropping has been heavy in all sections, yet at this time indications point to a fair-sized crop of good prunes. Reports from France, Bosnia and Servia of 15 days ago gave evidence of a good crop of prunes, but since then frosts have occurred and some damage done. We are waiting for further reports, as upon the crops of those countries depends our export demand."

NEW JAPAN TEA CROP.

Smith, Baker & Co.'s circular, dated Yokohama, May 7th, has the following on tea: "Owing to unseasonable weather the new tea crop is quite backward, arrivals in merchantable quantities only commencing on the 30th ult. Receipts up to the present time amount to 4,218 piculs, of which 3,377 piculs have been settled at very full prices compared with last season, the buyers doubtlessly being largely influenced by a desire to get some first shipments off per Bearer. Prices paid range from $30 to $50 per picul, and show more or less irregularity, as usual at the beginning of the season, but average $4 to $7 over last year's values at even date. Teas from the best districts have not yet arrived in any considerable quantities; consequently close comparison cannot be made as to quality in fairness to the new crop. Total receipts to date are 4,218 piculs and settlements 3,377 piculs, against 7,885 and 6,731 piculs respectively at the same date last year. The Bearer takes about 3,500 pkgs. at 2c. per lb. At Hiogo only about 150 piculs new leaf have been received thus far. Suez freights are likely to rule low, as the New York conference is dissolved and there will be several lines competing for the business."

PAST AND FUTURE OF THE SUGAR INDUSTRY.

EUROPEAN countries impose a heavy tax on sugar consumed at home, in order to raise the $25,000,000 they pay annually in subsidies to promote their export trade in sugar. This and prohibitive tariffs account for the high prices abroad. But our plan of countervailing duties equal to foreign export bounties neutralizes the advantage heretofore enjoyed in this market by export bounty sugars. By this artificial stimulus, aided by science to a degree that is a wonder and delight, Europe has nearly doubled her beet-sugar product since 1880, until it is now about 5,000,000 long tons annually. The world's cane-sugar supply, including Cuba in a normal state, has grown only half as fast of late years, and is now about 3,000,000 tons. It is quite likely that this year's production of sugar from beets will be twice as great as from cane, whereas conditions were just the reverse about twenty-five years ago.

This accounts for United States imports of sugar from Europe increasing from 150,000 tons four years ago to 550,000 tons last year, meanwhile decreasing one-half from "the countries to the south of us"—from 1,300,000 tons in 1892 to 700,000 last year. Indeed, only the yellow races have been able to hold their own against Europe's highly subsidised beet-sugar industry. Yet so quietly has this application gone on of degraded labor to the sugar cane that it is astonishing to find United States imports of sugar from Hawaii, the Orient and Egypt jumped from about 250,000 tons in 1892 to 700,000 tons last year. The Sandwich Islands' product has nearly doubled in the four years, during which so enormous has been their importation of coolie or yellow labor that Chinese and Japanese now comprise more than half the male population. This result has been fostered by our treaty of reciprocity with Hawaii, under which that sugar has had free admission to this market since 1876. While we have thus remitted over $61,000,000 in duties on her sugar—practically amounting to a direct bounty of this sum to a few of her planters at the expense of the United States Treasury and the retarding of our domestic sugar industry—we have also paid the islands $140,000,000 for sugar, while they have taken but $56,000,000 worth of our exports. Such an absolutely one-sided and illogical treaty was never before maintained by a government of reputed sanity.

UNADULTERATED NERVE.

"I might relate an instance of what I call nerve," says a writer in a Minneapolis exchange, "which came to me the other day; I understood it happened in this state. Out here in the country in a small town where there is a little bank and two or three general merchants, a farmer came to town one morning, went to the place where he had traded for years, and had always been accommodated (was probably owing the man money then, but that I do not know), and said that he wanted to borrow $50. The merchant said he could not let him have it. The farmer said: 'If you cannot let me have it can't you go on my note at the bank so I can get $50? I must have it. So the merchant told him he would do so to accommodate him for a short time. They went over to the bank and the farmer got the paper indorsed, got his $50, went back and got his team and went over to the depot and piled on $50 worth of goods bought from a supply house in Minneapolis."

"Ah," sighed the grocer, as his eyes wandered over the piles of unsalable articles in his stock; "you novel-writers have a big advantage over us grocerymen. You can put anything you please in the mouths of your people; we can't."

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report an active trade for their "Maple Leaf" brand cure of smoked shoulders and spiced rolls. They also say that the prices being asked by creameries and holders of dairy butter prohibit any trade for export. The American markets being lower than the Canadian prices, exporters are buying in American ports.

The F. F. Dalley Co., Ltd., of Hamilton, have put up in handsome packages, containing 1 oz., 2 oz., 4 oz., 8 oz. and 16 oz., spices of all kinds, which have their name on, and they guarantee them to be pure. The firm writes: "As the Government sends out men to gather samples of spices to test for purity, it is very essential for the merchant to have spices that are guaranteed by the spice millers. Now, no merchant that handles bulk spices can protect himself, as no manufacturer can be made to guarantee his bulk goods after they have left his factory."

COFFEES AND CRUDE SPICES.

A Washington despatch says: "The subject of adopting new revenue duties as a part of the tariff bill is not at present under consideration by the Finance Committee. Duties on coffees and crude spices were considered when the duty on tea and the increase in the tax on beer were adopted, but the feeling in committee was strongly against them. The duty on coffee would affect so many more consumers than the duty on tea that it was not considered a wise experiment. Representations have been made to the committee in favor of a duty on coffee, but they regarded it as proceeding largely from interested motives and the desire to control the trade. The committee are busy at present on the schedules about to be taken up for consideration. Representatives of the domestic earthenware and china manufacturers have been here and have locked horns with representatives of the importers. The committee have returned to ad valorem rates on the cheaper grades of white and decorated ware, with compound duties on the medium grades and ad valorem on the finest qualities which do not admit an adequate classification upon the specific basis."

PAYING BANK DIVIDENDS.

On Tuesday morning a large percentage of the Canadian banking institutions began the payment of half-yearly dividends, and, as a consequence, upwards of $1,500,000 will be paid to shareholders. Of this sum the banks with headquarters in Montreal furnish something like $900,000, the balance being distributed in other commercial centres throughout the Dominion. June 1st is the regular half-yearly dividend day for fourteen banks out of a total of some twenty-five which pay dividends regularly. The Bank of Montreal, the premier monetary institution on the continent and the third largest in the world, naturally leads the list. Next in point of magnitude are the Merchants' Bank of Canada and the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the former paying four per cent. on a capital of $6,000,000 and the latter three per cent. on the same amount of paid-up capital.

AUCTION SALE OF FRUIT.

Clemes Bros. and McWilliam & Everist are holding a joint auction sale of lemons, oranges, etc., at the Yonge-street fruit market, on Tuesday, June 8th. This is the second and largest auction of the season, and it will pay dealers to attend.

CROW'S NEST PASS RAILWAY AGREEMENT.

AT a caucus of the Liberal members of Parliament in Ottawa on Wednesday, the Government's railway policy, especially with regard to the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, was announced by Mr. Blair. An agreement has been reached by the Government with the C.P.R., under which the Government will pay to the company a subsidy of $11,000 per mile for 330 miles from Lethbridge, N.W.T., through the town of McLeod and by way of the Crow's Nest Pass across the Rockies, terminating at Rossland, the line to be completed this year. The Government reserves to itself the right to regulate the terms and conditions upon which the timber and timber lands are to be sold, and receives from the company 50,000 acres of the valuable coal lands acquired by the C.P.R. some months ago under the British Columbia Southern charter, these coal lands having been originally granted by the Provincial Government as a subsidy to assist in building the road. The coal lands will be selected by the Government in blocks of 500 and 1,000 acres.

The C.P.R. Co. makes reductions in rates on important classes of freight over its main line and connections coming from the east of Lake Superior, and especially on wheat, coal oil, agricultural implements, iron in bars, plates and sheets, wire, binder twine, nails, cordage, bags and bagging, live stock for breeding, paints and oils, fruit, etc. Although the schedule has not yet been made public, it is understood that these reductions in some cases are as high as 33 per cent. On wheat there is to be a reduction in the freight the first year of 1½c. per bushel, and a similar reduction the second year, making 3c. altogether. On coal oil it is said the reduction will be 20 per cent.

Those who have looked into this matter state that the cut in rates will mean about $600,000 a year to the farmers of the province of Manitoba alone. Besides this, the company binds itself to submit its rates on all business to and from the Crow's Nest line, to and from all points on the C.P.R. and its connections in other parts of Canada, to the control of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council. All railways are to have running powers over the new line.

The question of granting a subsidy to the Heinze syndicate for 200 miles from Trail to Penticton is under consideration.

The bill giving the sanction of Parliament to the agreement between the Government and the C.P.R. will be brought down in a few days.

STORE FRONT DISPLAYS.

A word about the displays in front of all cheap stores. Has it ever struck the grocer that the articles marked out in front of the cash stores consist of the same old chestnuts all the year around? Oatmeal, tomatoes, corn and peas, soap, etc. All over about the same price, and I wonder the public give these displays any attention at all any more. The professional bargain hunter or runner takes about the only interest in these advertised goods and by going six or eight blocks up the avenue, supplies herself with groceries at about cost.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

WHY BUTTER IS EASY.

Mr. Park, of Park, Blackwell & Co. says there is too much butter of inferior quality coming in just now to allow the price to rise at all. To get their old stock off their hands, dealers are taking any price offered them. The packing of grass butter has already commenced, which will mean the immediate rise in price.

THE OUTLOOK FOR TRADE.

WHAT this country needs most of all at the moment is confidence. And there is no reason why we should not have it.

From all parts of the country come reports of good crop prospects, both cereal and fruit, while farmers generally are increasing their earning powers and at the same time lessening the possibility of disastrous seasons by paying more attention to diversified farming.

Then there are the railroads; their earnings are increasing nicely compared with a year ago and materially compared with two years ago. There is a great deal of talk regarding the quietness of trade, but as railways live by carrying merchandise, it is obvious that the quietude is exaggerated rather than under-estimated. In all the leading commercial countries railway earnings are accounted reliable trade barometers. And when they are on the ascendency it is quite reasonable to expect that the summer of better times is approaching.

The returns of the chartered banks of the Dominion give further indications of awakened activity in trade, the discounts and loans having increased nearly 3¼ million dollars during April compared with the previous month. All the provinces, it may be noted, contributed to the increase. In March the discounts and loans were about 4½ million dollars larger than in February. The notes in circulation increased $783,334 during April.

Turning to the trade returns, we again find the results favorable. The imports for home consumption entered during April, the last month for which figures are to hand, increased $485,787 compared with the same month a year ago, while the exports showed the substantial increase of $1,799,788. Taking the ten months' trade ending April 30, the imports are $93,498,952 in 1897, against $92,062,405 in 1896, an increase of $1,436,547. It is in the exports, however, that the increase for the ten months is most notable, the figures for the respective periods being $106,339,814 and $96,903,450, an increase of $9,436,364, or nearly 9¾ per cent. The aggregate trade for the ten months of the present fiscal year was over 5¼ per cent. larger than for the same period in 1896.

In Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia there is certain to be a great deal of activity, what with the influx of farm settlers and people interested in the mining industry. And it must be remembered that the people who enter the mining country will be largely consumers and not producers.

One unsatisfactory feature about the situation is the lumber industry. It certainly is not as promising as might be desired. Our trade with Great Britain in this particular article is increasing, but we have so long been accustomed to look upon the United States as our chief market for lumber, that whenever the demand from there falls off or hostile tariffs are on the tapis, we immediately become discouraged.

The United States is undoubtedly a good market for our lumber. But it is a market which is, on the whole, over-estimated. The United States does not by any means use all the lumber she imports from Canada. On the contrary she re-exports a great deal of it to countries which we ought to sell to direct. And if we were as wide-awake and as enterprising as we should be these countries would be our direct instead of our indirect customers.

Of our total exports of $27,175,686 worth of products of the forest $12,530,551 went to the various countries in the British Empire and $14,645,135 to foreign countries. Of the last-named amount $13,528,047 was taken by the United States. Last year our exports to Great Britain increased by nearly 2¼ million dollars.

Stocks of merchandise in stores throughout the country are, on the whole, light. The fact that merchants are buying from hand to mouth, and have been for some time, is evidence of it. And light stocks necessarily mean light liabilities.

The dulness which characterizes trade in the United States certainly does not help trade in Canada, but we shall never make much headway if we are watching our neighbors all the time. The tariff question has been settled in Canada, the crop prospects are good, increased activity is to be noted in trade, and the conditions generally are favorable. What we want is confidence, accompanied by push and business common-sense.

VALUE OF TIDY STORES.

A great many grocers sit around the store, let the work go, and wait for customers. They wonder how it is they do not do as big a business as the one opposite, who has just moved there. The latter always keeps himself busy cleaning up and arranging the goods so as to give the store an attractive appearance.

Grocery men must remember that women take notice of these things, and a clean, tidy store is one of the best advertisements they can have, for it gets whispered around: "What a lovely store So-and-so has."

Success in advertising depends more on the ability of the advertiser than some people are willing to acknowledge.

THE FRUIT CROPS.

The first reports of the frost in Western Ontario on the night of Friday, May 21st, were to the effect that a great deal of damage had been done. At London the tomatoes, beans and other delicate plants were reported to have been destroyed, and the prospects for a cherry and currant crop greatly spoiled. Although the frost was rather heavy the damage does not seem to be so serious as was first reported. Owing to the lateness of the apple trees in blooming these were not hurt.

An examination of the peach trees in Essex county shows that the crops will be a failure. The extremely cold wave last winter killed the buds, which grew to a large size last fall on account of the mild weather. In that section the prospects for a good crop of pears and plums and most small fruit is good.

HOW A LAW IS MADE ABORTIVE.

MR. W. A. McKNIGHT, cheese importer, Liverpool, and a member of the Produce Exchange in that city, was in Toronto on Tuesday for a few hours.

Mr McKnight's visit to the North American continent is primarily with a view to securing in the United States a more vigorous enforcement of the law regarding filled cheese.

This law was passed last year, and stipulated that all filled cheese must be stamped as such in letters not less than two inches long in four places on the sides as well as on the top and bottom of the cheese. But this law appears to be kept more in the breach than in the observance.

Instead of the letters being in black they are but a shade or two darker than the light-colored package, and are so skeleton in construction as to only occupy 2¾ inches space. To read the words is practically impossible, and this is obviously the intention. We endeavored to get our engraver to make a cut of letter on one of the cheese boxes, but it was so obscure as to baffle even his skill.

But not only are the words "filled cheese" printed in letters almost invisible, but what is clearly a more fraudulent intention is the placing of two cloths on the cheese, the outer one being removed on arriving in Great Britain, and thus putting the cheese on the English market without anything to indicate that it was the imitation and not the genuine article.

As the United States Secretary of Agriculture remarked when the matter was brought to his attention, the officers of the Government were allowing the law to conform to the cheese instead of the cheese to the law.

Mr. McKnight's mission promises to be anything but barren of results, the Secretary of Agriculture having declared that the law shall be carried out to the letter. According to his instructions the words "filled cheese" are to be printed in black letters, and the use of two cheese-cloths is to be forbidden.

Canada is not uninterested in the proper enforcement of the law. A great number of United States cheese are shipped to Great Britain in the summer months by way of Montreal, and when they arrive on the other side often become known as Canadian cheese.

That there is a danger of these filled cheese being confounded with Canadian cheese is obvious. Only a year or two ago, it will be remembered, a writer in a Scotch paper made a vicious attack upon what he termed filled cheese from Canada. And it was only after the Canadian Government had taken the matter in hand that the writer in question found he had made a mistake, and was compelled to apologise. Of course, every Canadian and every practical cheese man in Great Britain knows that not one pound of filled cheese is made in Canada. The law prohibits it. Illinois is now, it appears, the only state in the Union in which filled cheese is made. Wisconsin, formerly one of the centres of this industry, has passed a law prohibiting its manufacture.

Since 1893 it is estimated that thousands of boxes of adulterated cheese have been imported into Great Britain, but until April 28 last, they have never appeared in the Customs returns as anything other than cheese. Thanks, we believe, to the efforts of Mr. McKnight, in the Liverpool Customs bill of entry of that date cheese and imitation cheese were for the first time separated. And these returns show that on the date in question there were entered at the Custom house 409 boxes of imitation cheese and 176 boxes of cheese. Mr. McKnight has the documents with him showing this.

Filled cheese, everyone may perhaps not be aware, is made from skim milk curd, cotton-seed oil, neutral lard and oleomargarine. As long as this filled cheese is kept in a cool place it is sweet and inoffensive. But let it be assailed by warm weather or heat and the opposite conditions are created. On the British market it is sold at 6d. per pound as the genuine cheese, and, with its predisposition to go bad on the slightest pretext, it is obviously a dangerous enemy to the legitimate cheese trade.

Mr. McKnight is the author of a neat little vest pocket book of tabulated cheese and butter statistics. The following, giving the colonial and United States cheese imported, in hundred-weights, into the United Kingdom for the four years ending December, 1896, is taken from Mr. McKnight's statistics :

	Australasia.	Canada.	United States.
1893.....	37,114	1,046,704	645,235
1894	54,378	1,142,104	672,347
1895 ...	92,759	1,150,013	500,409
1896... ..	52,149	1,234,297	581,187

It should be remembered that the figures referring to the United States comprise imitation as well as genuine cheese.

THE OUTLOOK FOR JAPAN TEA.

THE first shipment of new season's Japan tea reached the Toronto market on Monday, ex Empress of India and C.P.R.

The tea is April pick. It is about 10 per cent. dearer than the first shipment of 1896, and could not be duplicated in Japan except at a material advance. This Canadian buyers are unwilling to pay.

This firmness in the market is due to the extraordinary demand from the United States for all teas that can be landed before July 1 to avoid the proposed duty of 10 per cent. per pound.

In view of these conditions it is feared Canadians will have to be content with a small quantity of early-picked Japan tea.

It is thought that after the demand in the United States has been satisfied a decline in prices is almost certain to take place, but by that time all the early Japan teas will have been shipped out of the country of production.

There should be good clerks as well as good goods behind the counter, for the bad odor of the one will spoil the sweet savor of the other.

SITUATION IN LEMONS.

The situation in lemons is anomalous. According to the official statistics, there are now on the way to New York alone 200,000 cases less than this date a year ago, while the arrivals so far are also much less than last year.

The reasons assigned by holders for the depression in the market is the unusually backward and cold spring, which has checked consuming demand and prevented speculative purchases.

The uncertainty of the tariffs of the two countries have not had a stimulating effect upon the demand for shipment, for the reason, it is said, that, in spite of the light receipts, the markets are believed to be well supplied, and the old time speculative spirit lacking.

May, June and July are considered to be the best months for lemons, so that the available stocks would not last long if the demand were up to the average. Holders, therefore, look for a large increase in consuming trade, and an immediate rise from the prevailing low prices, with the advent of warm weather.

MONEY AND SUCCESS.

ONE of the hardest puzzles to a young man of to-day is how to connect success with small earnings. Certainly, unless clever, he cannot obtain success at one bound, so that it remains to choose the best from the many long methods.

Most of our moneyed and successful men of to-day say that they attribute their success to the fact that they early acquired the habit of saving their coins and of practising economy in every expenditure. Thus, without being miserly or niggardly, the early lessons in saving prevented them from wasting a great deal of the money which young men are prone to do.

Of course any young man who is struggling for a social position, or who, on account of his being clever, has a higher and more responsible position, finds it hard to save the coins that an apprentice does.

But yet a great many think that it is only by emptying their pocketbooks that friends can be gained. In some cases it may be so. But in the long run the friends won by your own personality will exhibit far more of the qualities of a friend when called upon to do so than would those bought by making a show of money.

Of course money and economy is not the only means to success. To accomplish one's ends in these days a man must be shrewd and capable of taking advantage of opportunities. When lectures in economy are given by our rich men, it cannot be inferred that it was by this means only that they succeeded. We can see in these men also other qualities which must have been a factor in their gaining their riches. But still economy is one of the traits that mark the successful man of business, for he, without being miserly, is ever careful to cut down needless expenses, and to penetrate deep-rooted schemes.

MR. ARGUIMBAU, OF DENIA.

Mr. J. D. Arguimbau, the well-known fruit exporter, Denia, Spain, spent a couple of days in Toronto last week. Private business brought him to New York, and his visit to the Queen City was a flying one, being taken chiefly with a view to seeing the friends he has there in the wholesale grocery trade. He said that when he left Spain the crop prospects for Valencia raisins were good, the yield promising to be as large or larger than last year. Of course, he said, it was too early to definitely forecast what the crop would be.

Mr. Arguimbau was accompanied in his visit to the trade by Mr. P. L. Mason, his Toronto representative. His visit was a gratifying one on account of the remarks of satisfaction regarding his fruit which he heard from the trade.

The Jubilee celebration will find Mr. Arguimbau in England.

OPENING PRICES ON CANNED SALMON.

The question of new pack canned salmon is naturally attracting some attention at present, but so far nothing definite in the shape of reliable intelligence regarding it has been had from the Coast.

Some offers have been reported on the Coast, it is true, but the difference between these and the opening figures last season is so great that eastern buyers are not disposed to place much reliance on them, lacking more detailed information.

It is claimed that $3.65 f.o.b. Coast has been refused, sellers asking $4.

As prices opened out last year at $3.40 to $3.50, or 50 to 60c. per case lower, it is not surprising that buyers should look on these high figures with some suspicion.

At any rate nothing has been done, and one of the largest firms of grocers in Montreal said the other day that they were in no hurry about contracting.

HE REPRESENTED TRADE PAPERS.

Dr. Griffin, whose doings recent and remote are receiving so much attention from the press of the United States and Canada, was ran against in Pittsburg a few weeks ago by a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER. The "doctor" was representing a couple of Montreal trade journals as an advertising solicitor. He was "throwing on" a great deal of style, endeavoring to create the impression that he was an important personage who had the authority to make large purchases of goods as well as sell advertising space.

The "doctor" may or may not be guilty of all the charges levied against him, but his record is certainly against him.

SHORT SALES OF JUNE CHEESE.

EVERY season there is more or less short selling of June cheese, or, in other words, sales of June make, in the belief that prices will decline before the time for delivery arrives.

This year, however, this speculative practice is being followed much more extensively than usual, for already, before we are hardly into June, operators in Montreal and elsewhere in Canada have contracted with the Britishers to deliver in the vicinity of 60,000 boxes of Canadian June cheese all the way from 41s. to 43s., or the equivalent of 8¼ to 8½c. or thereabouts Montreal.

These speculators are basing their deal on the generally admitted fact that an enormous make is going on throughout the country, and calculate from this that they will be able to fill these short contracts at a profitable margin to themselves. Based on last year's cost of June cheese, which was from 6¼ to 7¼c., and the way price are declining in the country, the market at present is certainly going in their favor; but there is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip.

As the ruling prices in the country stand at present they have a margin to work on, but a moderate advance in the market would wipe this out, and then these enterprising gentlemen would be decidedly out in the cold.

The knowledge of these large short sales is also in itself a strengthening factor, for, with the knowledge that they have to be filled, the temptation to squeeze the shorts will be very strong, unless the latter have already made provision in advance to protect themselves. They may not have done so, for it has happened often before that short contracts were never filled, the shorts preferring to settle up with their English buyers as a cheaper method than actually delivering the cheese.

That in the meantime the market was thrown into a state of confusion was of no importance to them in their greed to shut a competitor out of a little business here and there. But though this speculation is often baneful in its effects it is questionable if any legislation can be shaped that will put an end to it.

There are plenty of opportunities for success in life but a great many men either do not see them, or, seeing them, are unequal to the task of grasping them.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 3, 1897.

GROCERIES.

WHILE trade cannot be characterized as active, it is, on the whole, brisker than it was a week or ten days ago. It is, however, unmarked by any very striking features. There has been a little doing in canned salmon for future delivery, but beyond the fact that prices are lower than last year, little or nothing can be ascertained. Canned tomatoes and peas continue in good demand at firm prices, and business in fruits is improving a little. "B" brand rice is scarce on the street and prices are firm. The commoner descriptions of coffees are easier, while the higher are firm. Sugars are quiet, although the demand is improving, and wholesalers are still drawing upon speculators' lots for supplies. In spices the feature is a further advance in pepper at the primary points. Teas are, on the whole, quiet. There are still a good many tobaccos going out. Such seasonable lines as pickles, sauces, etc., are experiencing a good demand. Payments are not altogether satisfactory.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned salmon for future delivery has been receiving a little attention during the past few days. Prices appear to be yet without a settled basis, and figures are not procurable. About all that can be ascertained is that prices are slightly lower than last year and that in the transactions that have taken place the figures obtained were not more than $3.65 f.o.b. on the Coast. Canned tomatoes and peas continue in good demand in a sorting-up way, at firm prices. Nothing yet appears to be doing in the way of futures. There is a little doing in canned fruits, but the output is, so far, only small. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c;. peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Rio and Santos coffees are a little lower in the primary markets, but the finer coffees, such as Java, Mocha, East Indian, etc., are firm. Locally trade is quiet. Jobbers quote green in bags as follows: Rio, 14 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues quiet. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Business in molasses is still quiet. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The refineries are still doing but little business, the wholesalers largely supplying their wants of both granulated and yellows from speculators' stocks. The refiners are still firm in their price notwithstanding. During the past week retailers have been replenishing their stocks more freely, and the wholesalers are in consequence able to report a little more activity, but at the same time a large trade is not being done. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated—St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c. The New York market is firm, but the London market has been characterized by some irregularity.

NUTS.

Advices from the primary markets state that the price of filberts is advancing steadily and that still higher figures are looked for. Early purchases will be the cheapest. Latest advices from Spain confirm the reports of frost damage to the almond trees while in bloom. Locally there is nothing new to note. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

There is a scarcity of "B" rice on the street. In fact, there is scarcely a sack to be had. In the primary markets prices have receded a little from the highest point, but the Canadian mills are firm in their figures. We quote: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The feature of the local market this week is the arrival of the first shipment of new season's Japan tea, April pick. It arrived on Monday. Further reference to this tea will be found on the editorial page. The tea trade generally is quiet, and shipments from here to the United States have practically stopped. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The currant market remains firm and the demand fair. It is estimated that there are only about 1,500 tons of currants in Greece against 20,000 tons a year ago. We quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅞ to 5c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; Patras, 5¾ to 6c. in bbls., 5¾ to 6c. in half-bbls., and 5¾ to 6c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are still dull. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 6 to 6½c. in boxes.

Dates are quiet and uninteresting. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

Mail advices from Smyrna, under date of May 8, state that lately even rain-damaged fruit had been sold at high prices, while the stock remaining in Turkey is only 800 tons of very inferior fruit. The new crop was progressing favorably.

California evaporated fruits are quiet and featureless. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

There is not much doing in prunes and the market is uninteresting. We quote as follows: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of butter, especially in tubs, have been fairly liberal. Shipments of pound prints and rolls have eased off, as commission houses have been discouraging shipments in this form. Sales have been inactive, and there is a tendency to accumulation of stocks. Prices remain about the same as last week's quotations both in creamery and dairy. We quote: Dairy butter— Tubs, 11 to 12c.; white and mixed tubs, 7 to 9c.; large rolls, 10 to 11c.; tubs wanted in preference; pound prints, 11 to 12c. Creamery — Tubs, 16 to 17c.; 1-lb. blocks, 17c.

CHEESE—Market is weak. New cheese is selling at 8 to 8¼c., jobbing price, 8¾ to 9½c. Old cheese is firm at 11½c.

PROVISIONS.

Trade has been active during the past week in all lines. At times it has been difficult to keep up with orders. Apparently barrel pork and heavy mess are getting pretty light in stock and short cut is practically sold out. The present advance in live hogs makes prices firm.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7¼c. for carload lots, and 7½ to 7¾c. per lb. for ton lots and cases; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 8c.; hams, large, 10½ to 11c.; medium and small, 11½ to 12c.; shoulder hams, 7½c.; backs, 10½ to 11c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

SALT.

Trade has improved. The many enquiries coming in portend a good June business. Prices are unchanged. Quoted at Toronto, carload lots go at $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS — Business is dull. We quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 60 to 65c.

DRIED APPLES — There is no change. Prices are nominally 1 to 2½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES — Market is still firm, and the demand is fair. Wholesale quotations are: Quarters, 3 to 3½c.; ordinary sliced, 4 to 5c.

EGGS — Receipts have been large, although it has been difficult to make sales. There is a tendency to lower prices to effect large sales. Picklers seem to be through their operations for the season, so that there is a tendency to accumulation of stocks. The idea as to price is 9 to 9¼c.; No. 2 eggs are quoted at 6½ to 7c.

POTATOES—Are becoming scarcer. Prices have risen several cents during the week. We quote: On track, 21 to 22c., and out of store, 28 to 30c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

MAPLE PRODUCTS — Dull. The ruling prices for good syrup are: 5-gallon tins, 55 to 60c. per gallon; 1-gallon tins, 60 to 65c. per gallon; sugar, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—During the week prices have not changed much. Trade is dull. Oats and peas have risen a few cents. We quote: Red wheat, 73c.; white, 75c.; goose, 62½c.; oats are in good demand from 25c.; peas, 45½c.

FLOUR—Business fair; prices not much changed. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.45; straight roller, $3.85 to $3.90, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is moderate, and although prices have dropped in some cases, there is no cutting going on. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3 in bags and $3.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 to $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.15 to $2.25; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

FISH.

The quantity coming forward still continues greater than the demand warrants. White fish and trout have dropped in price slightly. We quote as follows: Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 5c. per lb.; whitefish, 5 to 6c.; trout, 5 to 5½c.; perch, 3c. per lb., fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; haddies, 7½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $3 to $4 per bbl. and $2.25 per half-bbl; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Firm, with no changes during the week. Dealers pay 7½c. for No. 1, 6½c. for No. 2 and 5½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market brisk; no change in prices: No. 1 veal, 8 lbs. and up, 9c. lb.; No. 2, 7c. Deatons, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. each. Sheep skins, $1.25 to $1.35; $1.50 for best; shearlings, 15 to 20c. each; lambs, 25 to 30c.

WOOL—Owing to the delay in the passing of the American tariff, which is expected in a month, the market is still in a state of uncertainty. As soon as duty of 16c. per lb. on washed fleece and 9c. per lb. on unwashed is put on, it is expected there will be a falling off in price. Price is 21c., which may be changed any moment. Unwashed, 12c.; tub-washed, 19c.; pickings, 9c. We would advise caution in buying wool.

PETROLEUM.

The oil market has picked up considerably. Machine oil is in good demand at this season of the year. Prices are unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 14½c.; carbon, safety, 16½c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 17½c.; Pratt's astral, 17c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Pepper is dearer.

"B" rice is scarce.

Beet sugar declined ¼d. in London on Tuesday.

Cream of tartar has advanced fully equal to 1c. per lb. in the primary market during the past week.

The first shipment of new season's Japan tea, April picking, reached the Toronto market on Monday.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 3, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been little change in the general grocery market, and business as a whole has ruled exceedingly quiet. In sugar neither the refiners nor the jobbers are doing anything except the merest hand-to-mouth trade, but prices are steady. The same remarks apply to syrup, while in molasses large supplies have put buyers in an independent frame of mind, and the better advices from both Porto Rico and Barbadoes have had no influence on the feeling here. In tea the speculative spurt is over and business is of a very ordinary character. Dried fruit, coffees, spices, etc., continue much as they were. In canned goods, salmon are attracting some attention, but there is nothing definite as yet to go on regarding new pack. although reports from the Coast speak of higher prices asked.

SUGAR.

The sugar market continues extremely quiet and prices generally are unchanged, for, despite the exceeding dulness, refiners' prices are held firm at 4⅛ to 4¼c. for granulated and 3¼ to 3½c. for yellows. The jobbing demand is strictly confined to actual wants, and prices in this particular also are the same as quoted a week ago, at 4¼ to 4⅜c. for granulated and 3½ to 4c. for yellows. In London beet sugar has ruled steady, beet recently being cabled ¼d. firmer for May, at 8s. 9¾d, while August was strong at 8s. 11¼d.

SYRUPS.

There has been no change in the syrup market, business ruling quiet at 1⅜ to 1⅞c., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market has ruled easier under ample supplies, and though advices from the Island both on Barbadoes and Porto Rico have been firmer, especially on the latter, the fact has had no influence in stiffening the spot position, nor is it likely to in view of the ample supplies which are now offering. As a result values generally are 1c. per gallon lower on Barbadoes, round lots of which have changed hands all the way from 21 to 23c. for new, ex ship, and Porto Rico, to arrive, at 24c. for choice stock. We quote values in a jobbing way, therefore, on both grades at 24 to 26c., according to grade and quality.

RICE.

The strength noted in the rice market continues and there is strong possibility of higher prices in the near future, though we repeat former quotations to-day. We quote: B grade, or any other quality equal or inferior as follows: Bags, 250 lbs., 1 to 4 bags or equal to $3.50; 5 to 9 bags, $3.45; 10 bags or over, $3.40. Half-bags, 100 lbs., 1 to 4 bags, $3.55; 5 to 9 bags, $3.50; 10 bags and over, $3.45. Quarter-bags, 50 lbs, 1 to 4 bags, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags or over, $3.50. Pockets, 12½ to 25 lbs.; 1 to 4 bags, $3.65; 5 to 9 bags, $3.60; 10 bags and over, $3.55.

SPICES.

There has been nothing special to report in the spice market. We quote: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEES.

The coffee market continues quiet and unchanged. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 25c.; Santos, 12½ to 18c.; Rio, 12 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 24 to 27c.

TEAS.

There has been little activity in the tea market, for reasons already mentioned before, that stocks in first hands in Canada have been pretty well reduced. Beyond a moderate movement in Japans on home account at a range of 16 to 18c. there has been little business to note. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c: for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market has not presented many new features since last report. Considerable attention is being directed to new salmon, but so far nothing has been done, for figures on the Coast, which are specially referred to elsewhere in our editorial columns, are not considered reliable by wholesale grocers in this city, and they are holding off. Canned lobsters are very scarce and 50c. higher here, none now being obtainable under $9. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 80c.; peas, 80c.; peaches, $1.50 to $1.80 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.70 to $1.90, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2.30; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been no change in Valencia raisins. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins remain the same, and advices from the Coast state that there is very little to come forward. We quote standard brands California 2-crown, 6¼ to 6¾c., and 3-crown, 7 to 7½c. The outlook for the coming crop is encouraging.

Figs are unchanged at 8 to 12c., and dates at 5 to 6c.

There is no change in prunes, which we quote as heretofore: California, 6½ to 7c.; French, 4½ to 5c., and Bosnia, 6c.

Evaporated California fruits are steady. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 10 to 14c., and prunes 8 to 12c., according to brand and quality.

NUTS.

The nut market continues quiet. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

APPLES.

There has been no change in apples, which sell at $3 per bbl. for what little remains.

DRIED APPLES.

There is nothing doing in dried apples, which continue nominal at 3 to 3¼c., and evaporated, 3¾ to 4¼c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The auction sale of oranges and lemons given elsewhere will show what prices on these were. In other lines of green fruit business has been fair. Pines are a heavy receipt and prices are low at 6 to 15c. as to grade. Bananas are in good demand and steady at $1 to $1.50 per bunch. Receipts of first crop strawberries from the south are the heaviest on record, and they are selling all the way from 10 to 13c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no important change in the situation of the egg market. The demand was fair, and prices about steady at 9 to 9¼c. per doz.

MAPLE STOCK—The demand for maple product is slow, owing to the fact that buyers have ample supplies on hand. We quote; Maple syrup, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb.

BEANS—Business in beans is very quiet, and prices are unchanged at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and 65 to 70c. in a jobbing way.

HOPS—Steady and unchanged at 11¼ to 11½c.

PROVISIONS.

Trade in provisions continues quiet and chiefly of a jobbing character, but the tone of the market is firm and prices show no change. We quote: Canadian pork, $12.50 to $13.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¼ to 6¾c., and compound refined at 4¾ to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

Locally millers report trade in Manitoba flour good, but dealers in Ontario grades state that business is slow and chiefly of a jobbing character. We quote: Winter wheat patents at $4.25 to $4.40; straight rollers, $3.75 to $3.90, and in bags, $1.85 to $1.90. Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4.10 to $4.15; outside brands, $3.90 to $4.10, and spring wheat patents, $4.40 to $4.60.

Trade in feed continues active, and as millers in some cases are considerably oversold, they have advanced prices 50c. per ton, and are now firm at $10 for bran and $11 for shorts per ton, including bags.

There was no change in the market for rolled oats, business being quiet, but prices rule firm at $2.90 per barrel and at $1.40 per bag.

BALED HAY.

Owing to the continued scarcity of baled hay there have been two advances in prices during the past week, which are now $2 to $2.25 per ton higher than they were last week, at $13 to $13.50 for No. 1 and $12 to $12.50 for No. 2 per ton.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The heavy feeling in cheese continues and prices are lower again this week when it is a question of effecting a sale. At the wharf some 1,500 boxes of French country cheese were offered and these sold at 8c., which is a decline of ½c. compared with a week ago. In a general way the market to-day was 8 to 8¾c. It is understood that the short sales of June cheese have gone on apace and that in the vicinity of 60,000 boxes are represented on this account all the way from 41 to 43s.

The butter market exhibits no signs of improvement. For business on local jobbing account prices are unchanged at 16½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

There are only a few barrels of green appies remaining here, and they are held firm at $3.

Receipts of first-crop southern strawberries on this market this spring have been the heaviest ever recorded.

Offers of salmon on the Coast have been made at $4 f.o.b., but this high figure is not considered reliable by buyers here, who are not doing anything.

According to advices to agents here, the outlook for the coming crop of California dried fruit is most encouraging, and a good yield is looked upon as certain.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 3, 1897.

THE backward spring is having a bad effect on business, but this week there has been a better movement in trade. Money keeps scarce, and payments slow. Canned goods are being offered for fall shipment, and it looks as if the bad features of last year would be repeated. In cream of tartar there is a firmer feeling, and import prices are rather higher. Rice is tending upward, supplies now coming from England in place of from Montreal. That the tariff question is kept open so long is much regretted by our business men. The wet spring, while regretted by our farmers, has brought good fortune to our lumbermen. The good prices ruling in the English market would have done them little good had they not got their logs out. In this they have been more successful than for a number of years. "The lime trade, which St. John is in such a good position to do, is flat," said a lime dealer to THE GROCER the other day. "Even with no American duty on lime we could not sell in that market at the prices now ruling there, and our lime costs us much less than theirs."

OIL—The increased duties on linseed and lard oils have caused a firmness in the market, but no change in prices. Linseed oil is low, and, as a large quantity comes from England, the advance in cost will not even be the five per cent. extra duty. Burning oil is light sale, and there is no change in price. Demand for lubricating is rather lighter. We quote : Best American burning oil, 18½ to 19c. ; Canadian 17¼ to 18c. ; prime, 14½ to 16c.

SALT—Though the season during which large quantities of salt are used by the fishermen is about here it fails to help the demand, as their wants were filled early in the season. Except a small demand for dairy purposes, and the regular demand for table use, there is little movement. Two cargoes of coarse salt are afloat for here and daily expected. Prices are easy, and quite large stocks are held here. We quote as follows : Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, 95c. to $1 per bag. ; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS—The season is opening. Offers for fall shipment are being made. It looks as if competition between packers would drive prices low, as it did last year, the tendency being to sell at open prices and let the man who comes after you make the price. If the business is to be done in a business way, sales should be made at firm prices. Tomatoes are the firmest feature in the market. Packers have very few to offer. Peas are being offered, and while prices are held there is less tendency to advance. Corn, though packers are firmer, remains low. We quote : Corn, 65 to 70c. ; peas, 80 to 85c. ; tomatoes, 85 to 90c. ; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50 ; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20 ; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3 ; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85 ; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $3 ; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—The demand is large. Oranges, though the market is higher from week to week, continue to have a large sale. Rhubarb has arrived freely this week and prices are lower. The cold weather retards demand for lemons. The feeling is firm. Berries show little change in price. Demand is improving. Lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers all tend toward lower prices. Pineapples have larger sale. Apples are out of the market. We quote : Messina lemons, $3.25 to $3.75 ; oranges, Valencia, $5 to $6 ; blood oranges, $2 to $2.50 ; bananas, $1.25 to $2.25 ; lettuce, 50 to 60c. per doz.; pineapples, 12 to 15c.; berries, 15 to 18c.; rhubarb, 1½ to 2c. per lb.; cucumbers, $1 per doz.; Messina oranges, $3 to $3.50.

DRIED FRUIT—There is only a light demand. Even package currants, which have shown a steady sale, are quiet. There is some movement in bulk cleaned, though dealers prefer to sell in cartoons. Prices tend higher. Stocks are light. Onions have a fair sale and hold their price. Raisins are easy and there is little doing. They have rather disappointed holders, but stocks are light. The demand for prunes has been good during the week. Prices are low. In evaporated peaches and apricots the demand is small and does not improve from year to year. Evaporated apples are rather firmer. No change yet made in price here, though they could not be replaced at cost. We quote : Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 7 to 7¼c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7½ to 7¾c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½ to 6¾c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4½ to 4¾c.; onions, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.; Bermuda onions, $2.50 per crate ; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100 lbs. ; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 8 to 8¼c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—There is nothing new. Wholesale price keeps as low, and even lower than the refinery prices. The margin, to pay interest and expenses on the large stocks held, is small. There is little call for dark yellows. We quote : Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c. ; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The market is weak. Quite a quantity is being moved, and the situation is somewhat improved by the report of an advance at Porto Rico. Barbadoes moves slowly, and is marked rather lower. Some St. Croix is held here, which is of fair quality and could be bought low. We quote: Bar-

DAIRY PRODUCE—Cheese is marked lower, but stocks are still light. Market will soon be closed to Ontario goods, as local make will soon be here. Factories are now offering and trying to make season contracts, but buyers are backward. Eggs keep low, and the outlook is not encouraging, as the season is approaching when quality becomes doubtful. Shippers should be very careful. Butter is in rather better movement. Stocks have worked off better than was expected. It is the quantity of poor butter offered that kills the business. There is not expected to be much change in price. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 17c.; creamery, 19 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 7 to 8c.; cheese, 11 to 12½c.

FISH—The business is still all being done in fresh fish. Gaspereaux keep good supply. The demand for them for bait holds large. Shad are being shipped in fair quantities, but the larger part of the present run is over. Not many are pickled at this season. Salmon are being caught more freely. Prices still keep up. Dealers are not feeling bad over the proposed American duty, but expect to find it as good a market as ever. While haddock are not an over-catch, more than enough for local use are being caught. The surplus is shipped west. Dry and pickled fish show but light sale. Smoked herring keep low. Rather more lobsters have been received this week, but no large quantity. Halibut are marked lower. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $2.75 to $2.80; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl., $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 50 to 65c. per box; Barrington, $3 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.25 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 10c. each, small; gaspereaux, 40 to 50c. per 100; halibut, 6 to 7c. per lb.; fresh shad, 10 to 12c. each; salmon, 18 to 20c.

PROVISIONS—There is little change. Demand is light. There is better sale for beef than pork. Smoked meats hold their price, but demand is lighter. Lard is lower. Fair stocks are held here. There is but little inclination to buy at this season, except for actual needs, which are not large. We quote: Clear pork, $14 to $15; mess, $12 to $13; plate beef, $12.50 to $13; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; rolls, 8½ to 9c.; pure lard, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—While Manitoba flour shows no change, Ontario tends lower. There is a fair demand. Oatmeal has taken quite an advance west and is likely to be higher here any day. Oats are also higher and there is fair demand for them. In beans the market is well supplied, so that while there is a firmer feeling it has not yet affected price here. Cornmeal is rather easier again. Our millers are selling at close prices. Though the demand for feed is light prices keep high. Barley is rather lower. Seeds show a good sale yet, but season is getting late. Prices are fully maintained. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.85 to $5; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60; medium, $4.25 to $4.35; oatmeal, $3.25 to $3.30; cornmeal, $1.75 to $1.80; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c. prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $11.50 to $12.50; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; timothy seed, Canadian, $2 to $2.25; do. do., American, $1.75 to $2; clover, 8¾ to 9c.; alsike, 8½ to 9c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

The steamer Damara, for London, will this trip take upward of 100 tons of pulp wood from this port.

Mr. Joseph Marvin is now on the road for C. D. Trueman, commission merchant and wholesale grocer, of this city.

Mr. W. Stoddard, representing the Delhi Canning Co., has been doing the trade, together with Mr. F. R. Tippet, the local agent.

J. J. McGaffigan, tea merchant, of this city, has returned from the southern states, where he has been for his health. He is much improved.

The refrigerator car service between Toronto, Montreal and St. John, by the C.P.R., which was so much appreciated last season, will soon be resumed.

Mr. H. S. Scott, representing the Tillson Co., was in the city this week. For years the name Tillson has been known in this market to represent best quality.

Mr. Robt. Jardine, the local representative of the Pure Gold Mfg. Co., in speaking to THE GROCER, said that during the week he had found quite a boom in extracts.

Mr. B. B. Hardwick, agent for "Pearline," was in the city this week. He intends spending the month of June in England, where he will attend the Jubilee celebration.

Kane & McGrath have in the market building the largest refrigerator in the city. It will hold 200 quarters of beef. It is on the dry air system. Some 30 tons of ice are used in one charge.

Each steamer to Boston now takes quite large shipments of fresh fish. One day this week 54 bbls. of shad, 41 cases and 13 bbls. of lobsters, 5 cases of halibut, 36 bbls. of mackerel, and 5 cases of salmon were forwarded.

TRADE CHAT.

Wm. Nash, of London, has secured a position as packer for Morehead Bros. & Co., wholesale fruit dealers.

It is reported in Winnipeg that an old and well-established spice manufacturing firm in the far east are about to open up a branch in Winnipeg.

Mr. John Carson, an employe of Messrs. Bradt & Co., grocers, of London, Ont., fell through a trap door in the store and was badly shaken up. He was removed to the city hospital.

In its issue of May 22 The California Fruit Grower says: "Samples of new crop honey indicate a large yield of fine quality. We do not take much stock in the New York report of a California honey exchange controlling 90 per cent. of the crop. This, from the nature of the honey business, would be almost impossible. No one man can market all the honey that will be produced on the Coast this season. Prices are low at the present time."

A STARCH FIRM'S OFFICE.

The Edwardsburg Starch Co. have had a neat little office fitted up at 53 Front street east, Toronto, and Mr. C. R. Graham, the manager of the Toronto branch, is now moving in from his old quarters at 46 Front. A visit to this office shows how tasty an office may be made at little more expense than is customarily entailed. The most striking features are its brightness and its roominess. To the office furniture has been added a magnificent oak case, to be used for displaying the numerous brands of starch this firm handles. Mr. Graham will doubtless take great pleasure in meeting his customers and friends in his new quarters.

GOOD LUCK BROOMS.

Owing to a misunderstanding, THE GROCER last week misrepresented the "Good Luck" brooms of the H. A. Nelson & Sons Co. They should not have been given as the one and two dollar lines, but rather as the first and second. The price, too, misrepresented the quality of the broom; not only are they not cheap, but they are two of the highest class of brooms on the market.

VALUE OF A GOOD PERSONAL APPEARANCE.

A genius and shabby clothes sometimes are together.

Long hair and pure poetical instinct may be inseparable.

He who thinks only of his clothes may not have time to think of anything else.

He who thinks of everything else except his clothes may of necessity look shabby.

While many men of genius are long-haired and of frayed pantaloons, there are millions upon millions of men with unkempt heads and shabby clothes who have not brains enough to even fan a spark of genius.

While the great astronomer may look into the clouds and not have time to look at his raiment, there are thousands upon thousands of men who uselessly and vacantly stare upward, and have not even the excuse of science, or of occupation, to prevent them from presenting themselves decently.

The dude is a fool.

The unkempt man is another.

Because a man is a genius does not excuse a filthy personality.

If the unkempt man has so great a mental ability, and can build around him so fierce and brilliant a fire of genius, then in the glare of his talents one may not see the shabbiness of his clothes, or remark if his hair grows too long and his shoes go unblacked.

Few of us are geniuses, and most of us stand on the auction block of business to be sold as we appear to be as well as we are.

The dude and the shabby man both repel trade.

Neatness is essential to salesmanship.

Good clothes well kept, and poor clothes well kept also, are absolutely essential to the proper balance of successful business outside.

If the goods must be placed in harmony, if the advertisements must be adapted to the people, the appearance of everything in the business must be appropriate to the business.

It is necessary that everything worn by the clerk, or the business man himself, from his shoes to his hat, should be in harmony with his appearance and his surroundings.

The blacksmith must wear the smithy's clothes, and the baker had best not appear before the oven in full dress. Each man must dress as becomes his personality and his surroundings.

The business man and clerk should not be dressed as a dude, but they should be neatly and harmoniously clothed and presentable to the class of people they meet.

No man is well dressed when he is overdressed or underdressed.

The man is well dressed when 90 per cent. of those who see him, if asked the question when they turn their back on him, cannot tell how he is dressed, but can say that he is well dressed.

Striking, loud custumes should never be allowed behind the counter, and only the fool of a business man will wear them.

It is not the clothes that makes the man, but, oh, how they help !—N. C. Fowler, Jr.

COCOA AND THE TARIFF.

To the manufacturers of cocoas, chocolates, etc., the changes in tariff are not satisfactory. The duty has been reduced on these articles to 20 per cent., which the preferential rate will bring down to 15 per cent. With this small protection they expect to be unable to compete with the big capitalists.

One of the finest lot of Antigua molasses has just arrived in Montreal consigned to Laporte, Martin & Cie. The quality of this lot is certainly unequalled and will satisfy both trade and consumers.

HOW BOBBY WENT TO THE GROCERY.

BOBBY had started down town with a grocery list; and it was the first time he had gone alone, so he felt very proud and happy over it. But by-and-bye he stopped under a lamp-post to rest.

"It's purty hard work to walk all alone to the grocery man's," he thought. Just then a girl came by, and stopped to mail a letter in the iron box on the lamp-post.

Bobby watched her with much interest.

"Where does it go to?" he asked.

"The letter?" answered the girl, "Oh, down to the post-office. Didn't you ever see a post-office box before?"

"No, ma'am," said Bobby. "Cause we've just moved here from the country."

Then, as the girl went on, Bobby stood still, looking at the box.

"I wonder if it wouldn't take my grocery list down, he thought. "'Cause if it's smart enough to take letters, I should think it would be able to take a grocery list."

So he tucked his paper in, and sat down to see what would happen, though his conscience pricked him a little.

"My mother might not like it," he thought. "I wish I had thought to tell her about it first."

Presently, a man dressed in gray drove up, and jumping out of his buggy, unlocked the box, and took out the letters.

Bobby stood up on tiptoe and tried to see in.

"I thought," he explained to the man, "maybe I'd have some groceries there. I put a list in."

"No," said the man, laughing, "this doesn't deliver groceries. But you climb in and I'll take you down to the grocery. Here's your list."

The grocery man let Bobby drive with him; and when Bobby saw his mother looking anxiously out of the door, he at once began to explain.

"I tried to ex-peppermint with a box, mother," he said. "But I was sorry; though it was tormentous long ways to the grocery man's, and, if they hadn' let me ride, I don't know how I'd managed. But I won't do it again, mother, truly."

"No, Bobby," said his mother, "experiments don't always turn out right; and it's better to go along the way your mother expects you."

"Yes, that's so," said Bobby. "I won't forget that."—Outlook.

SUGAR TRUST GRAB FOILED.

THE United States Government accepted a bid yesterday for 1,250,000 pounds of foreign standard granulated sugar, entirely ignoring offers made for supplying the home production because the American Sugar Refining Co. arbitrarily dictated the price at which dealers in its sugars should sell, while the importer had a free field, and, knowing the rate fixed by the sugar trust, cut under it sixteen one-hundredths of a cent a pound.

A notice posted yesterday at the Government Indian Bureau warehouse, at No. 77 Wooster street, reads: "Gustav A. Jahn, .04¼. Sugar." That means that the yearly supply of sugar for the Indian Bureau, costing $53,125, will be purchased from Mr. Jahn, of No. 98 Wall street, who will supply the imported product.

This action on the part of the Department of the Interior is being severely criticised by dealers in American sugar, and the news was telegraphed at once to the Senate chamber in Washington, where it will likely develop a most lively discussion when the sugar schedule is reached, which will probably be this week.

The Indian Bureau is the largest single purchaser of sugar in the United States, and its offer for bids for the annual supply is always watched for with interest. They were opened last Tuesday, and it was found that six had been filed—five from New York and one from Chicago. Five of these bids offered the sugar at four and forty-one hundredths of a cent a pound, while one bid offered it at four and one-quarter cents a pound.

Usually the award is made the day after the bids are opened, but when it was found that the lowest bid was for imported sugar there was a delay of three days, and a consultation in the Interior Department. Competitors in the bid communicated with Indian Commissioner W. A. Jones, protesting against the imported sugar being accepted, referring him to the precedent of last year, when there was a similar condition of affairs, and the Department ignored the foreign bid and divided the contract among the American bidders. But the protest was in vain, and yesterday, after consultation with Secretary Bliss, who was in New York looking after the affairs of the Indian Bureau, the lowest bid was accepted.

"I made the award on the merit of the sugar," said Commissioner Jones, when I asked about the matter. "The sample submitted by the importer came up to the required standard, and his being the lowest bid he gets the contract."

"This state of affairs has come about, not because American sugar could not have been offered at a profit as low as the foreign production, but because the Sugar Trust dictated the price at which we should offer it," said one of the bidders, when asked about the true inwardness of the case. "It would not be well for me if the trust knew I was complaining, but its arbitrary action is an outrage, and the result in this case is that their own product is kept out of the Indian Bureau to the injury of dealers and all the workers in the industry. Even the sacks in which the sugar will be imported will be of foreign make.

"This is the effect of the 'factor' plan, which enforces an 'equality' price. That is, we, the factors, must sell at just the price the trust dictates. As it controls the American output, we are helpless. When the price changes we are notified, and are governed by the new figures. If we should depart from them the American Sugar Refining Co. would quote us a price on sugar that would be prohibitory and drive us out of the business. In this case many of us could have bid as low as the importer and made a profit, but we did not dare to.

"The price as made by the trust when we put in our bids was four and one-half cents, which, with the regular allowed discount could be brought down to four and forty-one-hundredths cents; so we had to put all our bids at that figure. We were simply a lot of dummies acting for the trust. We had no right to say what we would do in our own business.

"The difference between our offer and the accepted price is only $2,000; but the precedent will be most injurious to the trade, for it is striking at the home business. The action of the Department will give a prestige to the foreign manufacturer, who supplies the sugar, and he will use it to his best advantage and to our injury. The news will go all over the world that the American Government is buying foreign sugar and ignoring the great home industry that it talks so much about fostering."—N. Y. Herald, May 31.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, June 3, 1897.

THE creameries and cheese factories are now all at work, and many are running at full capacity. Business in all lines is fairly brisk, but prices show little, if any, change. Eggs have dropped again to a normal price and are now selling at 9c. THE ESCALONA FRUIT CARGO.

The fourth and last sale of the season of cargoes of fruit imported direct took place on Tuesday at the Montreal Fruit Auction Co.'s rooms. The cargo of lemons and oranges, ex steamship Escalona, was offered, which consisted of 1,250 boxes of Messina and Catania lemons, and 8,900 cases of Valencia oranges. Mr. T. J. Potter was the auctioneer, and disposed of the whole cargo satisfactorily to all concerned. The attendance of buyers was not by any means as large as those at the previous sales, owing to the fact that there were no American or western Ontario firms represented, which was probably on account of the cargo being only a small one, as compared with the others, and probably the latter buyers filled their wants at the previous sales. All the principal local buyers were present, and Messrs. John Barry & Sons, of Bonsecours market, were the largest purchasers of the day. The bidding was quite brisk at times, but the prices realized were only fair when the condition of the cargo is taken into consideration. Common sound Messina and Catania lemons sold at 90c. to $1.20 per box and wasty goods at 30 to 50c. per box. Messina Oval oranges brought $3.30 per box, and $1.35 to $1.45 per half box. Messina oranges, out of condition, sold at 65c. to $1. Valencia oranges, 714 size, sold at $4 to $4.50 per case; ordinary, 420 size, at $2.20 to $3.50 per case, and large at $3 to $4.60 per case. The principal local buyers were: Messrs. Hart & Tuckwell, John Barry & Sons, O. & E. Hart, J. J. Vipond, J. T. McBride, Vipond & McBride, T. Vipond & Son, Vipond & Peterson, Louis Sylvester, George Laird and J. R. Clogg & Co.; Ottawa, H. A. Browse, J. A. Browse; Quebec, A. Lagare, L. Beauchamp, P. Reahume and Barden.

TEA IN A RUSSIAN MANNER.

One must not forget in speaking of Russian meats and drinks, the omnipresent, universal stakan chai—the goblet of weak tea, burning hot, and fragrant with mingled perfume of the Chinese leaf and golden lemon, which is served everywhere and at all times in Moscovite lands. The samover, an urn of brass or copper, is seen and heard everywhere boiling, and the Russians have the same good sense which the Japanese display in never allowing the infusion to become a decoction. Tea that has been standing for any length of time is justly looked upon by even the moujik as rank poison. Although, therefore, milk is seldom or never obtainable, this hot Russian tea in the goblet, which is a silver or enamelled cup, wins the gratitude of the traveler, who will ofttimes end by preferring it to a less scientific "dis of tea" of his native "five o'clock."—From a Russian Letter.

A SPECIES OF STEALING.

Several of the ministers of the city have, owing to the immorality bred by the craze for bargains, entered upon a crusade against the cause of the infatuation—the departmental stores.

Rev. Mr. Rowe, a Toronto clergyman, is of opinion it is a sin to want an article for less than you know it is worth. He classes the sin under the heading of stealing by defining stealing as the act of a man becoming rich at the expense of another. The craze for cheapness is degrading business integrity. Men and women seem to have forgotten that the people with whom they do business have to make a living as well as themselves, and that the heads of department stores are not so many philanthropists.

Those who rush after bargains are also encouraging, he declared, a system which is gradually and surely working to the demoralization of the clerks. "How can clerks fail to contract deceptive habits when they are forced to mark a $3 pair of shoes down to $1.50 before the ink in the three is dry?" he exclaimed.

ODORIFEROUS LOBSTER.

THERE is a grocer up in the west side of this city who in the future will be more careful when he sells lobster to an Irishman.

Three or four days ago one James O'Brien thought that a lobster salad would be the proper caper for his evening collation, and accordingly he set out to secure the necessary ingredients.

As O'Brien did not know a whole lot about the anatomy of a lobster, he thought it the better policy to secure a canned crustacean, and went into a small German grocery shop to get it.

There were all sorts of canned lobsters set high upon the dusty shelves, from the modest 11-center to the one at 18c. a can.

"Which will you?" asked the proprietor.

"Give me the best you have," said O'Brien; "nothing's too good for the Irish," and the proprietor, with a bland smile, wrapped him up the 18c. one.

About a half hour later O'Brien returned to the shop holding his nose between his fingers and the can of lobster in his outstretched arm.

"Sure, this lobster is no good, and as I'm not found of antiques, I want my money back," said O'Brien.

"Never mind," said the proprietor, "that lobster may, as you have hinted, know some valuable points about the construction of Noah's ark, but here's another can that I'll bet is good," and with that he tenderly passed him another tin imprisoned lobster. Within 20 minutes in came O'Brien again with the second lobster.

"See here," he said, "What sort of a game is this anyhow? This lobster evidently died without medical attendance and I want my money back."

The German was somewhat of a connoisseur on the subject of lobster, and remarked:

"That lobster was not sick, but merely a little nervous. I can't give you your money back, but I'll give you another can of lobster."

O'Brien objected to this arrangement, but his German friend refused to return the money, and accordingly off went Jim with the third can.

No return trip was made to the grocer's that evening, but two days later an express package was delivered at the grocer's shop on which the bill was for collection of $1.75.

As the grocer expected some articles for his wife that day he cheerfully paid the bill, but when he opened the package he found only the following note and an odoriferous can of lobster:

My Dear Friend,—I have learned more about lobsters in the past two days than I ever knew before. You will remember I bought the enclosed can of you the other night under compulsion. What worries me is, don't you think it would be a big improvement if you put a small quantity of chloride of lime in those you sell hereafter?

Respectfully,

JAMES O'BRIEN.

As the grocer let part of his lobster stock fall in the sawdust, he was heard to remark:

"And still they say you can't fool the Dutch."—Retail Grocer's Advocate.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE holiday last week interfered with business to a considerable extent. When Monday is taken away from business the rest of the week does not seem to be of much use.

The weather in Nova Scotia has not been so backward for years. Rains have fallen almost constantly during May, and the farmer is going to have very little time to do his planting. A continuation of the rains for another fortnight would make the outlook serious.

Reports from Prince Edward Island are to the effect that the shipment of oats to the Old Country has about ceased. The price at Charlottetown is 24c. The demand for Island oats in this market is fair, the jobbing price being 31 to 32c. Canadian mixed are 1c. lower.

P. E. Island potatoes are jobbing here at 40c. for a fairly good article. There will be very few cargoes from the Island this spring on account of the shortage there. Turnips sell at 85c. per barrel.

Molasses is dull and neglected. The demand is poor. A small cargo of Porto Rico was received here a few days ago, but sent to another port without being handled. Fancy Demerara is quoted at 37c.: choice do., 30 to 32c.; fancy Porto Rico, 29 to 30c.; choice, 27 to 28c.; common grades, 22 to 24c.

Fresh mackerel are on the market and retail at 15c. each. The catch so far has not been large. There is a large fleet of American seiners on the western coast, but they are being closely watched by the cutters. Grocery cod is bringing from $3.75 to $4. Fat herrings are scarce.

Jobbers' stocks of dried fruits are about depleted owing to the good demand. Evaporated apples are worth 4½c Currants are worth 5c., and in some cases 5¼ to 5½c. Off-stalk Valencia layer raisins are quoted at 6c., and fine off-stalk, 6¼c. California raisins are in good demand at 6½ to 6¾c. for No. 2 and 3-crown brands. Malaga layers are quoted at $2 to $2.25.

Green fruits are now in abundant supply, the semi-weekly steamers from Boston keeping dealers well supplied. Valencia oranges are worth $6 per case and $7.50 repacked, 420 count. Lemons are quoted at $3.50 to $4 per case, 300 count. Strawberries are in fair supply, but the demand for this fruit is not heavy. Stocks are offering at 10c., and retail at 15 and 20c. Native rhubarb is offering at 1 to 1½c. per lb. Bananas are worth $2.50. Pineapples are quoted at $1.25 to $1.75 per dozen, with fair demand.

Egyptian onions are selling at 5c. There are no Bermudas in the market and none are expected this season.

American cabbage is selling at about $2.25 per crate.

There is no change in the sugar market. The refinery is holding on to prices, which stiffens the hands of jobbers and prevents unnecessary cutting. Jobbers' quotations are 4½c. for granulated and 3¾ to 3⅞c. for yellows.

Spring lambs hold their strength on the market, owing to the light supply. They bring from $3 to $4.25 each. Veal is lower, selling down to 3¾ and 4c. Beef and cattle are not too plentiful for the demand.

What few chickens are coming in bring 75 to 80c. per pair. Fowls are worth 60 to 75c. per pair, and turkeys are scarce at 12½c.

The flour market remains quiet. Quotations in leaders this week are: Ogilvie's Hungarian patent and Five Roses, $4.75 to $4.85; Goldie's People's, Walzen and equal grades, $4.60; Tillson's Obelisk, Sunbeam, Kent and Beaver, $4.35; 90 p.c. patents, $4.25; straight grades, $4.15.

Stocks of canned goods have been considerably lowered on account of the brisk demand experienced during the past few weeks. Plums are worth $1.50 to $2. Raspberries and strawberries are not the best sellers just now. They are quoted at $2.25 for 2's. Log Cabin beans, 2's, are worth 90 to 95c.; peas and corn, 75 to 80c.; tomatoes, 90c. for 3's; lobsters, 1's, $2.25; American beef, 2's, $2.60; do, 1's, $1.50; ox tongue, 1½ lbs., $7.50; do, 2's, $8.25; lunch tongues, $3 per dozen for 1's; gallon apples, $1.75; pineapples, 2's, $2.25; B.C. salmon, $5.75 per case; N.B. clams, $1.25.

P. E. Island mess pork is in fair demand at $12.25 to $12.50; Chicago mess, $13.50, and Chicago clear, $14.50. The market is bare of P.E.I. clear pork. Canadian plate beef is quoted at $10.50.

New cheese remains at about 11½c., and will likely see 11c. before the end of the week.

Canadian dairy butter is in fair supply at 17c., with moderate demand. There is no native dairy in tubs on the market worth speaking about. Creamery prints are worth 20c.

An important business change was made this week, which amalgamates two of the leading flour and feed houses. I. B. Shaffner has purchased the flour and feed business of J. A. Chipman & Co. Mr. Shaffner was formerly a partner with Mr. Chipman, but a couple of years ago went in business for himself, working up quite a large trade.

A HINT TO WHOLESALERS.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—I think the wholesale trade of this country are doing a great injustice to the merchants of honor who pay 100 cents on the dollar. Men are allowed to cut prices and even sell below cost. At last they fall through. Then a meeting of creditors is held and they make a compromise at 50 or 75 cents on the dollar, thus giving them the opportunity to make further cuts. Now they should in all jnstice make the same reduction to the honest men who pay the full price. Every man who comes to grief through cutting ought to be closed out entirely, for he is not fit to be in business. The above remark would not apply to a man who had been burned out or had had some other misfortune.

The time is come for some solid action to be taken by the retailers of this country. The wholesalers have their guild and fix terms and prices. Why not the retailers? Notice how we are fixed in the matter of railroad rates. The cartage from the wholesale house to the station is all charged to the retailer. Then when the goods arrive at the retailer's station he has to pay the cartage to his store. So we have to pay cartage at both ends. The shipping cartage is collected by adding 1¼ on each bill. This rate is charged on all bills even though the railroad has the goods delivered at the station free. Retailers should take this matter up at once and either get the railroad to reduce this amount or make the wholesaler deliver free, as paying cartage at both ends is monstrous.

In the matter of insolvency, I am satisfied that every man in business knows if he is running behind and should close out his business, pay up his creditors and not allow the serious loss to come to the wholesaler which eventually is charged up to loss account and comes on the honest dealer in the end. Wholesalers are generally aware how business is being run by the retailer and should in every case purge this country of these unprincipled dealers. Close them up and divide the stock amongst those who are paying the full quota. Let us hear from some of our brother retailers.

Yours, etc.,

Stratford, May 27, 1897. RETAILER.

THE BLESSING OF EMPLOYMENT.

When morn the task dispenser passes by,
Some take their burdens up with sweet elation,
Taught by a kindly past that jewels lie
'Mid stony wastes of routine occupation;
Others subvert the golden hours that hasten,
Despite the past's accusing looks that chasten.

Most blest is he who the essential path
Of happiness in labor is pursuing,
Who heeds time's opulence by day, and hath
The prize of sleep allotting night's soft wooing,
Who will permit no rust on its tools shining,
Or dust in chambers of his mind's refining.

The climbing rose that toils that it may twine
Without the casement its rare bower of beauty,
Mingles its perfume with this truth divine,
Blessings succeed to effort, grace to duty;
So hands employed give impetus to thinking,
And purpose finds its goal through work unshrinking.

No faithful labor ever comes to naught,
Feet that are shod with care insure swift running;
With toil and pain cool evening's rest is bought,
And stalwart Labor conquers latent Cunning;
His mind is rayless where no plan is growing,
While he who looks afar keeps his face glowing.

—Arthur Howard Hall, in Salem Gazette.

"This butter seems strong," said the young husband, at their first breakfast at home.

"Yes," she answered; "I talked to the marketman about that, and he said it was economy in the end never to buy weak butter. He said that even though this might cost a little more, people could get along with less of it, and it would last longer."—Washington Star.

WINDOW CARDS.

A new business has sprung up—window card writing. The general competition in the improvement of advertising is responsible for this. Retailers in most large cities contest strongly for first position in the attractiveness of their windows and general advertising display. It is almost impossible for the average retailer to make window cards that are neat and attractive; and their efforts usually result in only a badly written, poorly punctuated, clumsily painted sign. It was the full realization of this which suggested the painting of signs to the ambitious youth, whose ideas have since been followed in almost every large city in the country. The card writer goes from store to store. He studies the stock, talks with the proprietor, finds out what he wants to advertise, and gets all the general information he can secure. Then, in his own bright and breezy way, he tells the story attractively and in a few words. Bright card writers make several thousand dollars a year; and so well does the work repay the retailer that the price he pays for it is never begrudged.—Commercial Enquirer.

MINT ... PUFF-STRAPS

RECOGNIZING the great popularity of peppermint with the sweets-loving public, we are the first to introduce to the trade Pliable Licorice containing this flavor.

The delicious quality of our Pliable Licorice is well known; it is matchless in this respect as well as in its flavor and finish.

Our Triple Tunnel Tubes and Navy Plugs are great favorites also, and are made of the same material, although flavored differently. . . . . .

We recommend all these goods as suitable for Summer Trade; they will please the most exacting taste as wholesome, smooth and palatable confections. . . .

Leaders in every way! Not a mess of various kinds of fish canned, cured and sold as Finnan Haddies, but genuine Finnan Haddies, cured and canned while they are fresh, right at the water side. This ensures a delicate flavor. The Thistle Haddie Co., of St. Marys Bay, N.S., does all this. It is the oldest and most reliable brand on the market. It pays to sell the "Thistle Brand."

THE MAKING OF A HIGHWAY.*

By Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P.

IT has been well said that good roads are at once the index and the agent of civilization. Judged by this standard, Canada has scarcely emerged from a condition of semi-barbarism ; and dependent on such an agency, her progress towards higher civilization would be slow. In very few parts of the country have we good roads. Almost everywhere in the rural districts they are execrably bad, and the streets of most of our towns and cities are little better. Neither our streets nor rural highways reflect the intelligence and progress of the Canadian people. With a relatively sparse population scattered over a vast territory, we have grappled with the problem of transportation in a way to excite the wonder and admiration of the world. We have a magnificent system of canals. Every province has a network of railways—too many in some parts for profitable working, an evil resulting from local enterprise and rivalry, which has multiplied and paralleled lines beyond the needs of trade and its ability to sustain them. Long ago we connected the older provinces of Confederation by a national road, and afterwards threw a line across the continent in advance of settlement. And we are not through yet. We are now making enormous appropriations for new railways and for the extension and deepening of our canal routes. Probably no country in the world, population and area considered, has made a more heroic effort to solve the great problem of transportation than Canada. And in grappling with this problem our vision has not been local, but national, and, indeed, Imperial. For we are now undertaking to connect our superb means of transport by boat and rail, with the Mother Country by means of a fast transatlantic service, which will at once give us supremacy on the ocean.

Still, all this vast expenditure of energy and of wealth has only touched one phase, though the greater one, of the all-important question of cheap transport. Much of the value of our great arteries of trade and of rapid transit is lost if the little arteries that should feed them are lacking or sluggish in their circulation. It is the common roads of the country that must supply the chief avenues of commerce with most of the products which these convey to the markets of the world. But during much of the year these roads are useless. During the rest of the year they are so bad as to enormously enhance the cost of traffic, and to this extent decrease the profits of the producer. We may deepen our canals, increase our railway mileage into new regions, regulate, reduce and control freight rates ; but we will never have solved the entire problem of cheap and rapid transportation until we have improved the rural highways of the country and our civic thoroughfares as well. Neither our farmers, our lumbermen, nor our manufacturers can increase the price of their products in the great markets of the world. They cannot affect these markets. They can merely decrease the cost of production. This is the sole method open to them to increase their profits. Perhaps from no other cause does the country suffer so much in the way of dear production as through bad roads. The direct and indirect and baneful effects of dear transport by wagon are felt in every line of industry throughout Canada to-day. Careful statisticians have estimated that the United States loses from two hundred and fifty to six hundred million dollars per year unnecessarily through bad roads. Whatever the amount may be, Canada's loss may be similarly computed according to population. It is quite certain that in one of her leading agricultural industries the annual loss in hauling through bad roads is not less than one million dollars. In the rural districts we have spent in ten years thirty-five millions on roads, besides our statute labor. Much of it has been thrown away. And the appalling loss through ignorance and inefficiency in the towns and cities of the country is not less great. The Mayor and some members of the City Council of Toronto admitted the other night that several hundred thousand dollars had been thrown away in that city in recent years on badly constructed and unnecessary expensive pavements. Probably half a million would not cover the cost of ignorance, inefficiency and dishonesty in this one city alone during the last twenty-five years. And still Macadam and Telford taught the world how to make roads early in the present century.

The ancients knew how to build roads. Roman genius had solved the problem long before Paul entered the city over the Appian way, a road which still remains the admiration of the world. And on this continent, in the extreme southern lands of South America, ancient races now extinct have left enduring monuments of their genius and skill as road builders. But ancient methods were cumbrous, and would not be suited to an age in which both material and labor are not only of some account but are the chief elements in the problem. Modern road building on scientific or common sense principles is not so old as the present century. The system now pursued everywhere is the creation or revival of Macadam, Telford, and a few other men of like genius, who have contributed through their system fabulous sums to the profits of agriculture and trade. So it cannot be said that Canada has bad roads because she is a young country. The modern art of road-making is not older than the old districts of this country. And we have no insuperable difficulties to contend with, or any difficulties that differ greatly from those met with in England, France and other countries which have all but ideal roads. Great Britain spends twenty-five million dollars a year on roads, France almost twenty millions, and poor little Italy over three millions. Such sums are cheerfully spent because the people of these countries know that good roads cost nothing. They mean economy, saving, the avoidance of waste. Canadians suffer incredible loss through bad roads, and imagine that they are avoiding taxation. They close their eyes and ears and endure burdens that the people of other countries would consider intolerable.

Why, then, have we bad roads in Canada? It is not through lack of intelligence; it is not through lack of energy ; it is not our inability to pay for good roads, for these cost vastly less than bad ones. It is through apathy and lack of knowledge on this special subject. In the rural districts it is the fault of our system, or lack of system. In this age of specializing the highest intelligences are devoted to special objects. Men devote their brains, their energies, their whole life to minute parts of specialized professional work or of industry. Without such specializing, such concentration of intelligence and energy success in any direction is now all but impossible. But in roadmaking, intelligence is scarcely an element. Most of our country roads are still made under the statute labor system. Pathmasters are not selected because they know how to make roads. When they do happen to know, which is very rarely, they are not retained in office. They do not work to any definite and uniform plan. They are not under trained direction. Ignorance has charge of work requiring special skill and some knowledge of the scientific principles on which roadmaking and maintenance depend. The results under this system could be greatly improved by a more careful selection of pathmasters, their retention in office, and their direction under competent municipal overseers appointed by the townships and counties. But we can never have good roads until the work is done by men specially selected for their knowledge of it, who will be retained in office, who will work to uniform plans prepared by road builders, and under trained supervision, and who will continue the work of repair throughout the whole season. But that the statute labor system of our rural municipalities is not entirely at fault is seen by the fact that in most Canadian towns and cities the streets are little better than country roads. The inefficiency, the waste, and the shocking results are quite as obvious. In no phase of civic work is the failure of our municipal system more clear than in street building and maintenance. It is obvious, therefore, than popular apathy and ignorance are really at the root of evils which every good citizen must deplore.

It is this belief which led to the formation of the Ontario Good Roads Association four years ago. The agitation for good roads had been kept up in a systematic way and with definite objects for some years previous. The association was formed to give direction, unity of aim, and, therefore, influence, to the agitation. The association has gone on the principle that education must precede legislation, that in a country enjoying (or suffering under, as some might wrongly wish to put it) popular government, we must educate our masters, as Robert Lowe once said with a groan. Of late the work has been left chiefly to the Provincial Road Instructor, Mr. A. W. Campbell, an official appointed by the Ontario Government on the representation of the association. During the past year Mr. Campbell has held fully 100 meetings throughout the province. These have been successful far beyond all expectations, and earnest, practical results are following in the most of the civic and rural municipalities which he has visited. And the influence of the movement begun here has extended into Quebec and the Maritime Provinces.

In connection with this work it is curious to note the entire absence of information on the question of road-making among many people who are highly intelligent on other topics. There is everywhere seen an absence of the most elementary knowledge on the subject. Incredible sums of money and vast volumes of labor are thrown away on roads and streets by men who are frugal to meanness in every other direction, and who would go into rebellion if the state took from their pockets the sums which they waste on childish efforts at road building and repair. And yet the principles of roadmaking are very simple. Macadam was once asked what they were. He replied that there were three ; "(1) drainage ; (2) drainage ; (3) drainage." Still, underdrainage of Canadian roads is almost unknown. But a good road, strange as it may seem, is just like a house. It must have a good foundation and a good roof. The foundation can only be got in most soils by underdrainage. The roof can only be got, after proper grading, by metalling with clean material, by rolling and constant repair. The crown of the road must shed water as the roof of a house does. This is the whole philosophy of roadmaking made easy. How many Canadian roads are built on these principles? But good roads cannot be made on any other. The gospel of good roads is very simple, like the old, old Gospel of the good Book, but how few there be that know or receive it?

There is, of course, a great difference between the roadways needed in country districts and for the streets of our larger towns and cities. In very few places in the country is macadam necessary. Good gravel and stone roads (that is, broken stone in place of gravel, where the latter is not available) or even well drained, well graded mud roads, are all that is necessary. Through our villages, and in the outlying portions of towns and cities, clean screened gravel or broken metal roadways, laid on foundations prepared a little less carefully than for macadam, will usually answer all the requirements of traffic, and prove a cheap, durable and easily maintained street.

But whatever the darkness and discouragement of the past, the light is dawning. A great change has taken place in public opinion in Canada in a few years. Where apathy and opposition was found a short time ago there is now popular interest and an eagerness for change. A revolution in methods and results has begun. It will soon transform both our streets and rural highways.

But the effects of good roads are not all material. * * * Good roads bring the producer and the consumer near together. Markets which are now separated from the producer by bad roads could be brought near by good ones. There are places in Canada which at certain seasons are cut off from their rural sources of supply through impassable highways almost as completely as if an Asiatic jungle lay between. Every village, town and city of Canada could double the area contributory to it by the simple expedient of improving the roads. It could, paradoxical as it may seem, cheapen the price of the produce which it must buy and enhance the profits of the producer at the same time.

THEY GIVE IMPETUS.

Always there is some dominant issue with which the associations are grappling and which acts as a mighty lever to lift the grocers' movement out of the sloughs of indifference and devotion to petty interests, remarks Merchants' Review. At one time it is the manufacturing peddler, at another it is the absence of proper collection laws, and again it is the department store. Whether in the wrestlings with these questions the grocers are or are not successful does not matter so much as an outsider might suspect, because each of these issues, or the agitation which springs up from the eradication of the evil, answers the very useful purpose of stimulating association work, strengthening the organizations, and, above all, of acting as a preservative from dry rot. While the great effort may fail, from various causes, the impetus thereby given to the general movement for reform is felt in the eradication of various minor abuses and the improvement of the condition of members of the trade.

A CUP OF TEA.

SOME valuable hints on preparing tea for use are given by Joseph M. Walsh, in "Tea, its History and Mystery." He says :

"Tea may be made depressing and injurious, or exhilarating and wholesome, according to the manner in which it is treated and prepared for use. Many who imagine that a high, dark-colored liquor indicates strength, boil the leaves, while others, again, spoil the tea by putting the leaves into the boiling water, some people putting the leaves in cold water and then placing the kettle over the fire to boil, prolonged infusion being still another serious mistake. All of these methods produce the same evil results—that of extracting an increased amount of the tannic acid—therefore destroying the flavor of the tea by giving it a bitter and astringent taste as well as imparting an almost ink-black color to the infusion.

"The falsely economical custom of filling the tea pot a second time without removing the exhausted leaves is another error in the making of tea, as the theine, which is only soluble in fresh-boiled water, is wholly extracted in the first drawing, and cannot for this reason be present in the second, the latter being merely a decoction composed chiefly of tannin. To avoid this error a sufficient quantity of tea should be made in the first drawing or fresh leaves supplied as needed. And still another reprehensible practice is that of adding fresh leaves to those that have already been used once, it being utterly impossible to add either to the strength or flavor of tea by putting more leaves in the tea pot after the first drawing, for the reason that tea water will not extract the active principle—theine—from the dry leaves of fresh tea ; only fresh boiling water will do this. The use of tea water simply increases the amount of tannin, darkens the color, destroys the flavor and only adds to the quantity of leaves already in the pot without in the least affecting the active principle, so that if it be necessary to increase the strength of the tea prepared, draw some fresh leaves in a separate vessel and add the liquor to that already made.

"Tea being an infusion, not a decoction, it should be brewed, not stewed, the object being to extract as much of the theine, or refreshing principle, and as little of the tannin, or astringent property, as possible, without, at the same time, either boiling or overdrawing. So that, in the proper preparation of tea for use, the aim and object should be to extract as little of the tannin as possible and as much of the theine and volatile oil as can be conveniently extracted without permitting the infusion to boil, to obtain which most desirable result the following general rules are recommended : Put the requisite quantity of leaves in a covered china or earthenware vessel—avoid tin or metal of any kind, even silver—then pour on fresh, briskly-boiling water and let stand where it will keep hot without boiling from seven to ten minutes according to the variety of tea used. In this time, while the tea is drawing, only the refreshing and stimulating principles (theine and volatile) are extracted from the leaves. Boiling or prolonged infusion dissolves and brings out the astringent principle (tannin) which injures the nerves and impairs digestion, for which reason no tea which has been either boiled or overdrawn is fit to drink. When tea has been boiled or overdrawn it can be readily detected by the exceedingly dark color of the liquor, as well as by its bitter and astringent flavor."

CURRANTS.

Although it has been reported that the stock of currants in Greece was exhausted, it is understood that some offerings for shipment have been made within a day or two, but at prices fully equal to those quoted for spot goods. Moreover, it is said that the time of shipment specified is so late as to make it improbable that the goods would come in under the new duty.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

COLD STORAGE FOR CHATHAM.

The Chatham Board of Trade is considering the comprehensive scheme of building a large four-storey refrigerator to work in connection with the cold storage system being inaugurated by the Government.

Mr. Lamont, the originator of the scheme, proposes that this warehouse be the central station of the district embracing the counties of Kent, Essex, and Lambton. Fruits, meats, butter, cheese, and all perishable products will be brought in by refrigerator cars, and shipped out in carload lots through to the seaboard in refrigerator cars.

Mr. Lamont is willing to turn over his cold-storage patent to the Dominion Government for use in the cars, if his Chatham scheme will be aided to the extent of $20,000. The cost of the structure will probably be $35,000 or $40,000.

A resolution was passed at a recent meeting of the Board of Trade asking Mr. Campbell, M. P., to render what assistance he could at Ottawa.

CHEAP PARIS GREEN.

Peuchen & Co., 10 and 12 Bay street, Toronto, wish to attract the trade to their prices on paris green. On account of carrying over a heavy stock of arsenic last year, which was bought before the advance in the price of that article, they are in a position to sell pure paris green below the cost of manufacturing, at this year's price of raw material. As the stock is limited, it would be advisable for intending purchasers to order at once.

It is largely experimental, and will be run weekly as follows: Monday—Sarnia to London, way freight Orillia to Belleville, Wiarton to Stratford, Goderich to Stratford, Meaford to Allandale. THE YOUNG MAN AND HIS BUSINESS.

BUSINESS is really the training school of life—the gymnasium in which power, endurance, character are developed. The mind is trained by slower process than the body. Character matures slower than muscle. Manhood is made by the work of a lifetime. Hence, when one has chosen a business, to get the best results from it he must stick to it. He must grow to it, so that he and his business shall be almost one. He must magnify it by his best endeavors; put thought and push into it; so will it make the most of him.

At the bottom of a sound character and a true life is integrity, and there is nothing that more promotes it than business. Every day and every business demands integrity. If we only work for another we are put upon our integrity to work honestly and well. The slave will cheat in his work, because he works under compulsion, and without the reward of labor. But the free worker works as a man works, under contract, to prove his skill and earn his reward—works to honor himself and benefit the community.

Another element of true life is humanity; and few things more promote it than business. Business men are in constant intercourse with each other—with the world as it is. They learn it well—its worst and its best. They learn how to sympathise with it, learn the wants of human nature and how to be patient with it and generous to it. Our best business men are our best philanthropists. Such men as George Peabody, Wm. E. Dodge, Peter Cooper, illustrate the statement. Few better records of charity and quick sympathy for humanity are ever left in this world by our noblest men than they left. They began life as poor boys. They made great fortunes by faithful devotion to business, and were always generous contributors to charity, education and every good cause. In the last twenty years of their lives they gave many thousands of dollars every year to good works, and were seemingly more interested in benefitting the needy classes than in their business. As they grew rich, they grew generous and kind. And this is the proper result of business well done.

One point more should be mentioned just here. No true man is only a business man. He is always something more. He makes his business help him to become intelligent. Through his business he learns human nature, learns of the world, of his country and his kind, and so his interests reach out in all these directions, and he becomes broad-minded, large-hearted, many-purposed. Beyond one's business, there are always the great interests of the community, education, reform, the country, the church, demanding the care and help of business men. These great interests are best promoted by the trained judgment and interested public spirit of the men of affairs. And they are not for a few, but for all. Every man, however great or small his business, has an interest in these things as the outgrowth of business.

Then let the young man understand, that business has all the great affairs of the world in its hands. They not only furnish the money, but largely the brains to direct them. They are underneath all the grand things that promote civilization. Business is not selfish and narrow unless men make it so. It is not low and mean unless men carry mean spirits into it. It abounds with the grandest opportunities for great and good things; and young men should be nobly quickened to go into it, not only to get a living, but to be high-minded men and make the most of themselves and do the most for mankind that their powers will admit.

One thing more seems urgent to be said touching what men shall do and how they shall do it. Though men are to "choose the business they like best," it is not wise to decide till by careful study of themselves they have determined what they are best adapted to. Their judicious friends may know them better than they know themselves. Their mental and bodily condition should do much in deciding what they shall do. Often an experienced phrenologist will throw great light upon this question. The science of mind is really the science of life, and if we know how to apply it in the choice and conduct of our business, our success is assured.

An expert in the study of men may so apply the teachings of this science as to make clear the kind of business to which one is best adapted and the enterprise and force he will put into it. All available light should be secured in deciding what business we should choose, and when it is chosen, all our energies and our best ambitions should be devoted to such a conduct of it as shall make our lives useful and develop in us the best character of which we are capable. Business is a grand school of character, and when we are in the business to which we are exactly filled, we do best in working out the best results both for ourselves and others.—Looking Forward for Young Men.

ST. JOHN HARBOR.

According to the report submitted to the St. John, N. B., Board of Trade, the number of British and foreign steam and sailing vessels arriving at the port between April, 1896, and March, 1897, was 1,372. Cattle, horses and sheep to the number of 13,714 were shipped to the same port. The imports of free goods amounted to $1,343,000, of dutiable goods to $2,138,000, making a total of $3,481,000 worth of imports between April 1, 1896, and March 31, 1897. The Government collected $758,440 in duty. During the same period St. John exported $5,542,250 worth of goods. There is also transhipped at St. John, for transport to foreign countries, chiefly to Great Britain, a large amount of grain, meats, etc. from the United States, which, between Jan. and May 31, 1897, totalled to $1,181,068 in value.

LARGE BUYERS.

Unless the large buyer is a large distributer, says American Grocer, he will reap little advantage from heavy purchases. Interest, insurance, storage, depreciation in looks and quality are inevitable items of expense frequently left out of the grocer's reckoning of cost. The wise policy for nine-tenths of the retail grocers is to buy frequently and, if possible, for net cash. This keeps the stock looking fresh and in perfect condition. The risks of carrying are reduced as well as the cost. Interest works every day, every night, on Sundays and holidays. It amounts to $300 on a $5,000 stock, or nearly $1 a day. If, by careful and frequent purchases, the general stock can be reduced $1,000, it means $60 profit, in addition to those small losses difficult to detect and which, in the aggregate, amount to quite a sum and are irreparable from carrying too much stock.

The grocer who can turn his stock rapidly is the one who is bound to make the best showing. We know of one buyer who turns his stock every two weeks. He is in the market every day. The advantages gained by buying in large lots are generally dissipated in the ordinary carrying charges, except where there is a very wide channel of distribution.

MONEY WELL SPENT.

A determined attempt has been made during the past few years to capture the American and Canadian tea trade by British producers in view of the continued increase of production in India and Ceylon, and the danger of falling markets here. Large sums of money have been spent in bringing before the public of North America the value of these teas, and to secure the patronage of their 70,000,000 of people for the British-grown article. These sums have not been spent in vain. During the quarter just ended, 4,389,920 pounds of Indian and Ceylon tea have gone to the United States and Canada, against 2,344,938 pounds last year, which is certainly encouraging as a relief to our market, and, as Messrs. Gow, Wilson & Stanton say, warrants the expenditure of time and money bestowed on the campaign for popularising British tea in North America.—Grocers' Journal, London.

AMONG RETAILERS.

MR. F. C. WHITELOCK, of 382 Yonge street, Toronto, is advertising his business for sale. He intends to close up at the end of this month if possible.

Just Like Him.

Mr. Robert Barron tells me that the success of his branch store on Wellesley street, Toronto, has exceeded his expectations. On buying out the stock of Munroe & Co., last February, he overhauled the store throughout, put in new refrigerators, etc., and fitted up an establishment that will compare with his Yonge street place of business. The business-like manner that won him success on Yonge street has also gained him a trade on Wellesley.

Catches Dirt, But—

Going down some of the principal streets of the city the other day, I was struck by the quantity of perishable fruits, such as strawberries, that were being displayed on the street, where they were sure to catch the dust thrown up by the street cars. On speaking of this to several merchants whom I noticed were content to display their fruits in the window, I received the almost universal reply that those who were trying to catch trade in this way caught only the dust. They also informed me that it was impossible to clean them and make them salable to good customers after they had been displayed on the street. Grocers and fruit dealers cannot afford to overlook this fact. To retain his customers, a merchant must sell satisfactory articles.

A Loyal Firm.

While in conversation with one of the members of the firm of Swan Bros., King street east, Toronto, wholesale and retail grocers, who are well-known Imperialists, and who are taking great interest in the preparation for the Queen's Jubilee, he turned to his desk, wrote a note, which he handed to me with the remark : "These are our sentiments." The note reads as follows : "We find the pro-British tariff very satisfactory, and giving great pleasure not only to ourselves, but to the general public, as we see the sentiment reflected in conversation with our customers. The trend of trade interest seems to be turning from the United States to the Mother Country. God save the Queen."

Jubilee Windows.

The idea struck me the other day, when I saw a picture of Her Majesty in a grocer's window, that the grocers have an excellent chance to dress a striking Jubilee window. Many manufacturers are getting out new brands of their various manufactures, and are giving them the name "Jubilee." Now, why couldn't a window be dressed with these articles only? There are Jubilee baking powders, Jubilee cocoas, etc., etc. The Queen's picture, nicely framed, could be placed in the centre of the window and the Jubilee articles arranged around it in a manner which the taste of the dresser and the style of window would determine. The Jubilee is the main topic for conversation in the stores now, and your window would not fail to be noticed. In fact, nothing is noticed so quickly as something that has a patriotic appearance. It will surprise the customers, too, to see so many different "Jubilee" articles. It will also show the merchant's up-to-dateness.

Profit On Sugar.

From one-fourth to one-third of the goods that each grocer handles consists of sugar and on this branch he makes little or nothing in comparison with what he makes on the rest of his goods. Why is it? Most grocers are not discontented with this fact. Many are willing to even lose money on sugar so long as they can give a pound or so more in a dollar's worth than their competitors. But even the steady grocer who does not cut prices doesn't make more than ten per cent. He regards sugar as a staple article, and the trade as a means of quickly turning over money. I enquired of some grocers why they did this and they said that they didn't need to make so much per cent. on sugar as they did on tea. It does not seem reasonable to me. The sugar trade makes up a fourth of each grocer's business, and why should he make only ten per cent. on it? I believe that it is a custom the grocers themselves have adopted and that it is a matter to be considered. Sugar is a necessity as much as is tea or coffee. If merchants want to advertise their business by cutting prices, they ought to certainly see that it would be far cheaper to do so by sacrificing in some other line, for there surely are lines as staple as sugar in the grocery business. Because a merchant trades extensively in any one article does not seem to me to be a reason why he should be willing to handle it for nothing. "We have the Grocers' Association," said one retailer, "why can it not regulate a fair, not a trust, price. I believe the assistance of the wholesalers could be obtained to keep the stragglers in line."

Challond & Jenks' lemon sour, which Lucas, Steele and Bristol handle, is the same quality they had last year and for which so many repeat orders were received.

CANNED GOODS OUTLOOK.

Five prominent members of the Canadian Canners' Association met last Wednesday morning in the Walker House, Toronto, to discuss the prospects of the canning business for the ensuing year. No business in regard to the association was done; it was an independent meeting of several canners to discuss the effects of weather and tariff.

Combining their reports on the prospects for fruit, it is likely that the harvest in this branch will be ample.

However, the wet weather has done a great deal of damage to some vegetables, and particularly to corn. Rotting has commenced and if a light frost comes the crop will be ruined. As it is, the harvest will be small.

The stocks now in the canners' hands are small. Tomatoes are practically sold out, peaches are held by only one canner, and a few beans by only two. During the last six weeks the amount of corn in the canners' hands has been reduced by one-half, and it is possible, they assert, that the supply will be exhausted before the market can be supplied with the new crop.

Everything is two to three weeks late. Last year packing on strawberries commenced on June 1, while the canning this year will not commence for two weeks yet.

As a consequence of all this, the prices in canned goods are firm.

The tariff changes were also discussed, but as they do not seriously effect the industry, nothing will be done in the shape of a deputation.

TORONTO GROCERS' PICNIC.

The Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto are going to Port Hope and Cobourg on July 21st for their annual picnic. Arrangements have not been finally made, but it has been decided that a team bicycle race will be run from Port Hope to Cobourg, between the grocers and travelers. Other games, such as baseball matches, will also be on the programme. The Garden City has been chartered for the day, and it will be a cheap excursion of 140 miles for $1. Further particulars will be given after the meeting next Monday night has decided on the programme.

LOGS IN THE MIRAMICHI RIVER.

Never before at this season were so many logs together in the Miramichi River, there being upward of 90,000,000 feet in one boom. They are packed so solid in the river for about three miles that people walk across the river on them. In some places they are piled 20 feet above the river. It is said the logs, placed end to end, would reach 3,600 miles. Their value is estimated at $630,000.

WHERE DOES CANADA BUY MOST OF HER MANUFACTURES?

IN a recent issue of the N.Y. Journal of Commerce it was stated that it was evident that Canada purchased most of her manufactured articles from the United States.

What constitutes a manufactured article is an arbitrary question. Certainly no two men will agree thereto all along the line. A finished article there is likely to be no dispute about. The difference of opinion chiefly arises over articles which must necessarily be put through a further process before they can possess utility, or which are the raw material of this or that industry.

Even among the statisticians in the Governmental Departments at Ottawa there is a difference of opinion in regard to this matter. We have reference particularly to the compiler of the Trade and Navigation Returns and the compiler of the Year Book. And as a result of this difference of opinion the one figures the exports of manufactured goods to be much lower than the other. Take, for instance, the exports of manufactures for 1895, as given by both these official books: The Year Book places them at $26,144,376, and the Trade and Navigation Returns at $8,859,602, a difference of $17,284,774. The compiler of the former book, in an explanatory note, states that included in his list of manufactures are such articles as sawn lumber of all kinds, box shooks, etc.

Webster defines the word "manufacture" as (1) "to make or fabricate from raw materials, by the hand, by art or machinery, and work into forms convenient for use; as to manufacture cloth, nails or glass; (2) to work, as raw materials, into suitable forms for use; as to manufacture wool, cotton, silk or iron."

After perusing these definitions, two questions naturally arise: (1) What is raw material? and (2) when is an article made into a suitable form for use?

Even in our Trade and Navigation Returns such articles as coke, cotton waste, cotton wool, etc., are enumerated as manufactured goods, and yet they are all recognized raw materials in the manufacture of the products of which they are the basis. Practically they are only advanced one stage from their original condition. Therefore, if they are entitled to be enumerated as manufactured articles, why not wheat, which has to be reaped, threshed and winnowed; and pig iron, in the making of which machinery has to be called into requisition?

The fact of the matter is that the present methods of classification are both absurd and inconsistent.

Their absurdity is evident when we imagine ourselves, in the presence of a manufacturer of cottons, talking about cotton wool as a manufactured article. He would laugh at us. The inconsistency of the method is evident from the fact that while pig iron, for instance, is termed a raw material, cotton wool and other articles in a similar stage are defined as manufactured goods.

The foundation of the present absurdities and inconsistencies seems to us to be the anxiety of the various nations to increase their importance as manufacturers.

Of course, wherever we draw the line between manufactured articles and raw materials there will be more or less difficulty experienced in allocating this and that line to its several positions. But it does seem that the line could be and should be drawn with better judgment than it now is.

Obviously all will never agree upon the definition of what constitutes a manufactured article. Why not, then, have two classifications, namely, one for finished products and another for products partly manufactured and designed to be put through a further process, such, for instance, as steel for saws, files, hammers, etc.?

To return to the claim of The N.Y. Journal of Commerce. The following table compiled from the Dominion Trade and Navigation Returns and the report of the Department of Trade and Commerce gives the imports into Canada of dutiable manufactured goods:

By the above table it will be seen that the imports of manufactured goods from Great Britain were in excess of those from the United States by $3,191,310, or about 13 per cent. This is in spite of the fact that our imports of dutiable goods of all kinds from the United States exceed by nearly $5,000,000 those from Great Britain, the figures for the respective countries being $29,101,646 and $24,366,179.

To arrive at a correct estimate of the relative value of our imports, duty free, of manufactured goods from the United States and Great Britain is practically impossible on account of the differences of opinion as to what constitutes a manufactured article. All we can attempt is to approximate. And with this end in view we present the following table of imports of manufactured goods, free, from Great Britain and the United States.

MANUFACTURED GOODS—FREE.

	Great Britain.	United States.
Books	$ 133,273	$ 176,502

Cotton wool	31,719	2,845,371
Coke	1,991	201,835
	$4,078,170	$12,514,899

It will be noticed that in the above table we have included such raw materials as cotton waste, cotton wool, coke and minerals, as well as the manufactures of. A good many of our readers may say it is ridiculous, but we have done so because they have been so classified in the official trade returns of the Dominion. By embodying these the contention of The New York Journal of Commerce is obviously sustained by about 4¼ millions. But eliminate these and the great number of articles under the classifications drugs, dyes, etc., and minerals and manufactures of, which are really the raw material of those who import them, and we are by no means quite so certain regarding the claim of our contemporary.

Taking what are really finished products we beyond all question import a greater proportion from Great Britain than from the United States.

Our contemporary's statement was probably made without having any figures in view. In other words it was largely guessng. What it in all probability had reference to was such articles as are recognized by business men as manufactured articles. If it did it was therefore mistaken in stating that Canada's imports of manufactured goods come mostly from the United States.

Now, with the preferential tariff in operation, the tendency will be to take a still greater proportion of British manufactured goods.

CANNED SALMON MARKET.

AN unfortunate error made by one of the members of our staff in regard to the opening prices of canned salmon in Montreal escaped the eye of the editor and was allowed to appear in last week's issue. It stated that the opening price was higher than last season, and in giving the figures of a year ago placed them at nearly a dollar below what they really were.

The market, instead of opening higher than last year, is lower, and that considerably.

Very little business has so far been done, but the few transactions which have taken place have been at $3.65 to $3.75 per case f.o.b. on the Coast for the leading brands, or about 75c. to $1 per case lower than last year.

Some houses in Toronto who have placed orders for "Horseshoe" brand are this week quoting to arrive at $1.25 per dozen.

The cause of the present low prices is, as far as THE CANADIAN GROCER can ascertain, due to the indiscriminate cutting among the packers on the Coast.

Last year there was an understanding among them as to price, which, it appears, was violated before the season had ended. This naturally induced a want of confidence among the packers in each other, and the present cutting is the fruit thereof.

With the market in its present condition it is well that the trade should be careful with whom it places its orders. In the past, fish, represented to be from localities which it never saw, was put upon the market.

Some rivers are more famous for the quality of their salmon than others, and if merchants desire those from the districts which are supposed to possess the most virtue they should get them, and not those which are untruthfully named as such. A guarantee clause in the contract would assist in the premises.

In view of the present low price of sockeye salmon the outlook for cohoe and cheap salmon generally is not bright.

Unless bullish factors cause the market to take a different turn we shall probably see well-known standard brands retailed at two for a quarter. When we see wholesalers quoting "Horseshoe" at $1.25, or about 10½c. per tin, this is quite evident. It is also evident that if consumers can buy first-class salmon at two tins for twenty-five cents not many of them will take the lower priced but inferior article.

One thing also to be remembered is that while the outlook next season is for low-priced salmon, it is also for a large consumption of salmon.

AUCTION SALE OF FRUIT.

The Toronto Fruit and Produce Auction Co. are conducting auctions at 9.30 a.m. every day except Monday at the Yonge street fruit mart. On that day the sale is held at 2 p.m.

On June 8th the largest sale of the season was held, when 2,000 boxes of lemons and 1,000 boxes of oranges were disposed of.

The prices were fairly good, considering the weather, but as the quantity of this fruit in stock is exceedingly light, they were expected to be better. The lemons realized from $1 to $2 per box, and the oranges from $2.65 to $3 per box.

JAPAN AND CANADIAN CHEESE.

Japan is fast becoming modernized. Their Government is now sending out representatives hither and thither to foreign countries to pick up information and practical knowledge of innovations. By this means she will profit by the wisdom and experience of other nations. A bright young Jap has been sent out to Canada to learn the art of making cheese. He has come to the right place, and on his return to the "Flowery Kingdom" will instruct his fellow countrymen in the mysteries of making cheese as it is made in Canada.

As Japan is a past master in the art of imitating, the efforts of that country to learn cheese-making from Canada will be watched with interest.

REFINERS BUYING MOLASSES.

It is now believed that Barbadoes molasses has at last touched bottom and some large purchases made during the latter part of last week by one of the Montreal refineries lends strength to the assumption.

The deal comprised three cargoes to arrive, and sales ex wharf have been made at 22½c., which is a somewhat better figure than was possible a week ago.

JAPAN TEA SITUATION.

THE strength which the market for Japan tea assumed about a month ago, consequent upon the recommendation of the imposition of a 10c. per pound duty on tea by the Finance Committee of the United States Senate, is still maintained, although more or less doubt obtains as to the recommendation being adopted.

On account of the present condition of the market the situation in Canada as far as Japan tea is concerned is peculiar.

About four-fifths of the total exportation of Japan tea is taken by the United States. Canada takes the remaining fifth, and consequently can do little else but look on while her bigger competitor is playing its present role in the market.

With the anxiety to get Japan as well as all other teas into the market before July 1, the United States is even a greater factor than under ordinary conditions. Canada, therefore, cannot possibly get orders for Japan tea filled before the situation in the United States becomes normal, which will probably be about the end of the present month.

It should, however, be remembered in connection with the present situation that the teas of this particular growth which the United States takes are of high to finest grades, while Canada chiefly draws her supplies from medium to good common grades. And these latter grades are, of course, not yet on the market.

The finest, best-drawing and best-keeping Japan teas are the early teas picked from the middle of May until July, the lower grades coming later in the year.

With teas of Indian and Ceylon growth the opposite conditions obtain, what are known as the autumnal teas being the most highly-flavored, the most popular and the best-keeping.

The tea report of Fraser, Farley & Varnum's, under date of Yokohama, May 13, just received in Toronto, says :

"Our last issue was dated the 9th inst., and the next day telegrams were received stating that a duty of 10c. per lb. would probably be placed on tea entering the United States, to take effect from the 1st July next. This had the effect of immediately strengthening the market, and prices rapidly advanced, buyers taking every parcel as it came forward. Tea which last year at this time were bought at $20 and $21 have been readily taken at $35 and $36 per picul. It has been impossible to fill orders, except for the highest grades without limits. The quality of the leaf is rapidly deteriorating and prices, in our opinion, are dangerously high. Settlements to date amount to 23,176 piculs ; against same time last year, 25,802 piculs ; stock, 6,000 piculs."

THE U. S. DUTY ON DRIED FRUIT.

CONSIDERABLE curiosity is felt regarding the possible effect of the advance in the United States tariff on dried fruit, on values for new crop California goods.

The advance, it is understood, averages about 1c. per pound, and as it was imposed at the solicitations of the California dealers and handlers of fruit, it is naturally expected that they will take advantage of it. It is open to question, however, whether it will cause any serious rise in the average of Canadian prices.

The United States duty does not apply to Canada, and the price in New York for California dried fruit has generally been on a parity with what was asked for the same goods in Toronto and Montreal.

The new duty very likely will cause a higher average price on the former markets, but with regard to the latter the case is different.

An average advance of 1c. or even less would very likely drive a lot of the demand, that in recent years in Canada has been converging on California dried fruit, back to its Mediterranean rivals.

POTATOES IN MONTREAL.

An active demand for potatoes, that sprung up at the close of last week, has developed the fact that the market in Montreal is scantily supplied with the staple root. Prices commenced to stiffen in consequence, and when it was ascertained that practically all the carload lots offering had been gathered in they were marked up still further, now standing 35 to 45c. per bag higher than they did ten days ago at 75 to 90c. for jobbing lots, and no large lots are offering. Receipts also have decreased to almost nothing, as the farmers are busy with their seeding.

CHAT WITH A MALAGA FRUIT MAN.

MR. RICHARD HEINSDORF, of Malaga, Spain, representing M. Campuzano, fruit exporter, etc., of that place, is making a business tour on this side of the Atlantic. He was in Toronto on Saturday last, and was accompanied by Mr. Rose, of Rose & Laflamme, Montreal. This is Mr. Heinsdorf's second visit to Canada and his first to Western Canada. He expressed himself as much pleased with Toronto. "It has such a substantial and clean appearance," he said.

When I questioned him in regard to Malaga raisins, he said : "The prospects are good. Our crops are increasing every year. This year the crop is about two weeks earlier than last year."

"What do you think of your chances for holding the American market in competition with California fruit ?"

"With the finer grades of Malaga fruit we think we shall be able to continue to hold the market. There is no question about it, our fruit has the advantage in quality. The great objection to the California fruit is its thick skin. In the cheaper grades the California fruits have the advantage. People now want cheap goods, and California is better able to satisfy that demand than we are."

Mr. Heinsdorf stated that one pleasing feature in regard to Malaga fruit was the improvement in both packing and in weights. "Five or six years ago," he explained, "some of the packers were not any too particular about weights. They would, for instance, call a box of raisins 22 pounds when in reality it was only 18 pounds. These dishonest practices naturally tended to injure trade in Malaga raisins. Well, all this is being overcome now. Then the plants which were put in to replace those destroyed some years ago by the phylloxera are now beginning to bear, so that our output is gradually increasing."

"What about Valencia almonds ?"

"The crop will be a little smaller than last year, but last year the crop was an exceptionally large one. The season, however, is an early one, and we expect to ship about two weeks earlier than in 1896."

"About prices ?"

"The price of raisins will be about the same as last year, but almonds will be dearer on account of the smaller crop."

The crop of figs, Mr. Heinsdorf said, would be a fair one, and in price about the same as last year.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 10, 1897.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS on the local market is not characterized by any specially new features. The rain is to some extent interfering with the movement of merchandise, and there is an absence of that snap about trade which merchants desire. Canned goods are in fairly good demand at firm prices. A little more interest is being taken in salmon, but for future delivery only a few transactions have taken place. Prices are about $1 lower than the opening prices of last year. Coffees are without special feature. The outside sugar markets are, on the whole, higher than they were a week ago. In Canada prices are much about as before. In order to relieve the scarcity of "B" rice, some import lots of a similar grade have been brought in. Teas are quiet. Currants continue firm.

CANNED GOODS.

For immediate consumption there is a fairly good demand for canned salmon. In new pack, for future delivery, there is a little business being done, but it does not amount to much. The canners are quoting about one dollar lower than the opening figures of last year. Local wholesale houses are quoting "Horseshoe" to arrive at $1.25 per dozen, and a few orders have been taken at that figure. Peas and tomatoes are in fairly good demand at unchanged prices. Supplies of the former are getting scarce. A good many canned apples are going out and an improved demand is now being experienced for beans. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c;. peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The activity of a few weeks ago has given place to inactivity. In Brazil coffees the market at the moment has a better undertone in consequence of lighter deliveries. Jobbers quote green in bags as follows: Rio, 13½ to 15½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues quiet. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is easy in New Orleans molasses, but advices from the primary market report a freer movement. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Surplus stocks held by speculators who have been unloading during the past few weeks are getting pretty well exhausted. There are, however, still some stocks held by speculators, but those now holding have apparently more confidence in the market and are not disposed to unload at the low prices which others have been accepting. One or two local houses have been bringing on German granulated. They are quoting 4⅛ to 4¼c. per lb. In the city there is some demand for it on account of the price, but in the country it is receiving little or no attention. A little raw sugar is being offered on the local market, both soft grades and crystalized Demerara, and a few transactions are reported. Since our last there have been two advances of 1-16c. each in raw sugars. In that same city early on Monday Nos. 4, 5, 9, 10 and 14 grades of refined sugar advanced 1-16c. Later in the day, however, standard granulated declined ⅛c., while No. 7 grade was advanced 1-16c. The latter part of last week beet declined in London 1½d. foi this month's delivery and ¾d. for next month's delivery. Local wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated — St. Lawrence and Redpath's, 4 7-16c. for single barrel lots and 4⅜c. for 5-barrel lots; Acadia, 4⅜c. for single barrel lots, and 4 5-16c. for 5-barrel lots; yellows, 3⅝ to 4⅛c. per lb.; German granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c. per lb.; Demerara crystals, 3⅞c.

SPICES.

Spices continue firm, particularly pepper, the price of which is still tending upward. This latter remark would also apply to cream of tartar. We quote: Pure Singapore black pepper, ground, 11c. in kegs, pails and boxes, and 13c. in 5-lb cans; ditto, whole, 10c. per lb.; pure white pepper, ground, 18c. in kegs, pails and boxes and 20c. in 5-lb. cans; ditto, whole, 15 to 17c., according to quality; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 23 to 25c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 20 to 25c. per lb. for ground and 40c. for Saigon.

NUTS.

Business is quiet and featureless. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 o 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Owing to the scarcity of "B" rice, the manufacture of the Canadian mills, some of the local houses are importing rice of an equal grade in addition to other kinds. The demand for rice is fairly good. Tapioca is firm, having advanced about 6d. during the last three weeks. We quote as follows: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

A few more lots of teas went out from the local market to Chicago last week. These were mostly Congous and Assams, and were not large lots. Locally the demand is light. Indian and Ceylon teas are meeting with a fair demand at steady prices in London, according to the latest advices. In regard to Japan teas, some uncertainty exists pending the outcome of the proposition of the United States to put a duty of 10c. per lb. on teas of all kinds. The local tea market is quiet and featureless. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Currants are still firm, and there are few local houses that are not open to buy. Advices from Greece state that the new crop is likely to be abundant. We quote: Provincials, 4⅞ to 5c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; Patras, 5¾ to 6c. in bbls., 5¾ to 6c. in half-bbls., and 5¾ to 6c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8c.

A few Valencia raisins are offering on spot, but few, if any, transactions are taking place. Prices, if anything, are firmer owing to stocks getting into smaller compass. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins are a drug upon the market and wholesalers are willing to make concessions in order to secure buyers. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Stocks of Sultana raisins on spot are small, and there is nothing in Smyrna but rain-damaged fruit, which are bringing high prices for shipment to England.

Figs are dull and unchanged. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to 12c.; 28 lb., 11 to 13c.; taps, 3¼ to 3½c. net; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 6 to 6½c. in boxes.

Dates are without feature. We quote: 5½ to 6c. for Hallowee and 5 to 5¼c. for Kadrowee.

California dried and evaporated fruits are quiet and unchanged. Stocks of these fruits in the primary market are smaller than for several seasons past, but advices state that any effort to advance prices is immediately followed by a check in the demand. We quote: Peaches, 7 to 10½c. per lb., according to quality; apricots, 6½ to 15c.; pears, 5½ to 10½c.; egg plums, 5½ to 11c.; silver prunes, 8½ to 13½c.

California prunes are getting scarce in the United States. The supply in New York is estimated at only 20 or 30 carloads, while on the Coast the stock is said to be only about 15 carloads. Locally there is no feature of interest to note. We quote as follows: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 70 to 80's, 7½c.; 60 to 70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 to 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 to 50's, 9½ to 10½c.; 30 to 40's, 12½ to 13c.; "Ruby" prunes, 7½ to 8c.; French, 4½ to 5c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market has been active this week in all lines. A stimulus has been given to this branch of trade by the arrival of new goods on the market. This week shipments of beans, peas and watermelons have arrived in the city for the first time this season. Mississippi tomatoes are now to be had. Onions have risen from 2¾c. a lb. to 4c., with price firm. The demand for oranges and lemons continues good. This week and next are the two weeks of the season for pineapples. There is an immense quantity in stock. We quote: Oranges—Valencias, ordinary, 420's, $6 to $6.50 per case; large 420's, $7 to $8; Messinas, $3.25 to $4 for 200's, $3.50 to $4 for 300's, $1.75 for 80's, $2 to $2.25 for 100's, $2.20 to $2.25 for 120's, $2.50 to $2.75 for 150's, $2.75 to $3 for 180's; blood oranges, $2.50 to $3.50 per half box. Lemons, $2 to $3.50. Cocoanuts, $4.50 a sack and 60c. per doz. Onions, 4c. per lb. for Egyptians. Bananas, $1.50 to $2.50. Pineapples, 6 to 10c. each. Strawberries, 11 to 12½c. per quart. New cabbage, $2.50 per crate.

Mississippi tomatoes, $1.75 per case of 4 baskets. Apples—Fancy Spies, $3 to $4 per bbl., and other kinds $1 to $2 per bbl. Green beans, $1.50 per basket. Green peas, $1.25 per basket. Watermelons, 40 to 45c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — Receipts of butter continue liberal, and those of roll butter are particularly heavy for this season, owing, doubtless, to the cool weather. The quantity of tubs going into storage is proportionally small. Advices from New York say that receipts of butter during the past week have been the largest on record for that season, the result being a decline, creamery having been sold as low as 14c., and anything not up to fancy at 12½ to 13c. Dairy is quoted at 9 to 9½c.; lower grades at 7 to 7½c. On the local market dairy tub is quoted at 10 to 12c. for best, and others at 7 to 8c.; large rolls, 9 to 11c.; pound prints, 11 to 12c. Creamery is dull, owing to low price of dairy. Tubs, 15 to 16c.; prints, 16 to 17c.

CHEESE—Market easy. Factory price, 8¼c.; jobbing price, 8¾ to 9c. Old cheese steady at 11½c.

PROVISIONS.

Trade continues active. Stocks are running light. Some of the large dealers are already sold out. There have been a number of carloads changed hands this week at outside prices. Although there is no quotable change in market, there is a tendency to higher prices on all lines of smoked meats.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7¼c. for carload lots, and 7½ to 7¾c. per lb. for ton lots and cases; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 8c.; hams, large, 10½ to 11c.; medium and small, 11½ to 12c.; shoulder hams, 7½c.; backs, 10½ to 11c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½ to 6¾c.; tubs, 6½ to 7c.; pails, 6¾ to 7¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $13 to $13.50; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Prices have dropped considerably during the week. Trade is dull. We quote: Red wheat, 67c.; white, 68c.; goose, 62c.; oats are unchanged at 20c.; peas, 38c.

FLOUR—Business is dull. There is no speculative interest. Stocks only are now being sold off. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.45; straight roller, $3.85 to $3.90, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3 in bags and $3.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 to $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.15 to $2.25; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

SALT.

Trade continues good. Prices are unchanged. Quoted at Toronto, carload lots go at $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

FISH.

At last the fish market has taken a change for the better. The quantity coming forward has decreased, and only the demand is now satisfied. Whitefish and trout have recovered their former price. We quote as follows: Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 5c. per lb.; whitefish, 6c.; trout, 5½c.; perch, 3c. per lb., fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; haddies, 7½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $3 to $4 per bbl. and $2.25 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Quiet and unchanged. We quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 60 to 65c.

DRIED APPLES—A few odd barrels are still coming forward, but the demand is nil. Stocks now in hand will in all probability have to be carried over till next year. The idea for choicest stock is about 2¼c. f.o.b. at outside points.

EVAPORATED APPLES— The demand is pretty well over, but stocks are about cleaned up outside of those in cold storage. Holders are asking 3 to 3½c. f.o.b. at outside points.

EGGS—The market is in good shape. Local receipts have been quite equal to requirements, although not so heavy as they have been. The consumption of eggs has fallen off considerably during the past few weeks. Quotations remain the same. The price is 9 to 9½c.; No. 2, 6½ to 7c.

POTATOES—Are becoming scarcer, and prices are rising proportionately. We quote: On track, 25 to 30c., and out of store, 35c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

MAPLE PRODUCTS — Dull. The ruling prices for good syrup are: 5-gallon tins, 55 to 60c. per gallon; 1-gallon tins, 60 to 65c. per gallon; sugar, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Firm, with no changes during the week. Dealers pay 7½c. for No. 1, 6½c. for No. 2 and 5½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—The market has improved. Prices have risen 1c. a lb. No. 1 veal, 8 lbs. and up, 10c. lb.; No. 2, 8c.; Deatons, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. each.

SHEEPSKINS—We quote: $1.25 to $1.35; $1.50 for best; shearlings, 15 to 20c. each; lambs, 25 to 30c.

WOOL—Owing to the delay in the passing of the American tariff, the prices have become feverish. Price of wool now is 18c. Little or nothing is doing. Dealers are holding wool in anticipation of higher prices, but it is almost certain to come down.

PETROLEUM.

The oil trade continues good. Machine oil is moving lively. Prices are unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 14½c.; carbon, safety, 16½c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 17½c.; Pratt's astral, 17c. in bulk.

nominal on account of the unsettled state of prices.

Tapioca has advanced about 6d. within the last three weeks.

"Horseshoe" salmon is being quoted at $1.25 per dozen, to arrive.

Some of the local wholesalers are offering German granulated sugar in 100-lb. bags.

Imported rice, to take the place of "B" grade, is being brought in by local wholesalers.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 10, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE week has not developed any striking feature, and business generally continues quiet. There is a rather heavy feeling in sugar, for although prices are nominally quoted the same, it is well known that outside lots bought on speculation are weighing on the market, and that they have been offered at cut prices. Teas have been quiet since the recent activity on American account, and the same can be said of other staples, like coffee, spices, syrup, etc. There have been some large transactions in Barbadoes molasses, both to arrive and prompt shipment ex wharf, at pretty close figures, but the jobbing price is unchanged. Canned goods and dried fruit are dull.

SUGAR.

The local sugar market has been almost at a standstill during the past week, and although no actual change is to note in refiners' prices, values certainly have a heavy tendency owing to the pressure of outside lots. With the preserving season approaching, however, a better demand is looked for, and a clearance of the stocks held in second and third hands. The outside markets have had little bearing on the feeling here owing to the above condition of affairs. We quote granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c., and yellows, 3½ to 4c.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrups continues slow, and the market is quiet at 1⅜ to 1⅞c., as to quality, at the factory.

MOLASSES.

There have been some large transactions in Barbadoes molasses from first hands lately, as the low price has tempted purchasing by the local sugar refiners here, who have purchased three or four cargoes to arrive. Sales ex wharf have also been made in cargo lots at 22½c., and some holders are asking 23c., while in a jobbing way the old range of 24 to 26c. still holds good. Porto Rico in small lots have sold up to 29c. for fancy, 25c. for choice, and 22c. for prime.

RICE.

There has been a good demand for rice from jobbers, and enquiry from retailers is brisk also. Prices are firmly maintained. We quote: B grade, or any other quality equal or inferior as follows: Bags, 250 lbs., 1 to 4 bags or equal, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags or over, $3.50. Half-bags, 100 lbs., 1 to 4 bags, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags and over, $3.50. Quarter-bags, 50 lbs, 1 to 4 bags, $3.65; 5 to 9 bags, $3.60; 10 bags or over, $3.55. Pockets, 12½ to 25 lbs.; 1 to 4 bags, $3.75; 5 to 9 bags, $3.70; 10 bags and over, $3.60.

SPICES.

There has been a fair jobbing business in spices and values rule steady. We quote: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEES.

There has been little change in the coffee market, only a few small jobbing lots moving. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 25c.; Santos, 12½ to 18c.; Rio, 12 to 16c.; Mocha, 24 to 26c., and Java, 24 to 27c.

TEAS.

The tea market has ruled quiet since the recent excitement due to American buying, a few sales of Japans at 16c. being the only large transactions. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

There is little to report in canned goods. Business generally continues dull. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 50 to 80c.; peas, 80c.; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; rasp-

DRIED FRUIT.

The Valencia raisin market remains quiet and unchanged. We quote: Ordinary offstalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California stock continues as last noted. We quote standard brands California 2-crown, 6¼ to 6¾c., and 3-crown, 7 to 7½c. The outlook for the coming crop is encouraging.

The currant market abroad is firm, and statistical advices from Greece favor this feeling. Business rules quiet here at 3¾ to 4c. in bbls., 4 to 4¼c. in half bbls., and 4½ to 4¾c. in cases.

Dates are quiet at 5 to 6c. and figs at 8 to 12c.

Prunes continue as last reported: Bosnia, 5½ to 6c.; French, 4 to 5c., and California, 6½ to 7c.

Evaporated fruits are unchanged. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 12c.; pears, 9½ to 12c.; apricots, 10 to 14c., and prunes 8 to 12c., according to brand and quality.

NUTS.

There is nothing of interest in the local situation, but advices on filberts and almonds from primary markets are very firm in their character. We quote as follows: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

APPLES.

The apple market is firm for the small remaining supplies, at $3 to $5 per bbl.

DRIED APPLES.

There is no change in these, and we quote dried apples, 3c., and evaporated, 3¾ to 4c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The cold weather of the past ten days or so has not been the best thing for the green fruit market, as demand has been of a halting character; even now it is unseasonable and prices on all kinds of fruit have a heavy tendency. Strawberries sold at 9 to 14c. for two carloads Monday, and one carload a day will be offered for the balance of the week. We quote prices as follows : Valencia oranges, $4.25 to $4.50 per box and $5.50 per case; blood, do., $2.25 to $2.75 per half-box; Messina, do., $2.75 to $3 per box; choice to fancy lemons, $2 to $2.75 per box, and common to good, $1.25 to $1.75; bananas, $1 to $1.75 per bunch; California cherries, $1.50 to $1.75 per box; pineapples, 4½ to 10c., and strawberries, 9 to 14c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There was no change in the situation of the egg market. The tone is steady, and prices are maintained with a fair business doing at 9 to 9¼c per doz.

MAPLESTOCK—The demand for maple product is slow, and prices show no change. We quote : Maple syrup, 4½ to 4¾c. per lb. and 45 to 55c. per tin. Sugar, 6 to 6½c.

BEANS—Business in beans is exceedingly quiet, which is usually the case at this season. Car lots are quoted at 55 to 60c. and jobbing lots at 65 to 70c.

HOPS—Quiet at 11c. for best 1896 goods, while yearlings are extremely dull at 4c.

HONEY—Without life at 8 to 10c. for comb, and 6 to 7½c. for extracted.

ASHES—Unchanged. First pots, $3 to $3.05; seconds, $2.80 to $2.85, and pearls, $4.40.

TALLOW—Dull at 3 to 4c. for rendered, and 1½ to 2c. for rough.

POTATOES—The market is absolutely bare of potatoes here and prices have advanced within the week 35 to 45c. per bag to 75 and 90c. in a jobbing way, and no car lots are obtainable.

PROVISIONS.

There has been a firmer feeling in provisions during the past week, and prices on pork, lard and smoked meats have all advanced as follows : Canadian pork, $12.50 to $13.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¼ to 6¾c., and compound refined at 4¾ to 5¼c. per lb.; hams, 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10½ to 11½c. per lb.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

The flour market has been fairly active during the week, but cutting in Manitoba grades has demoralized prices on spring wheat flours and values are lower all round. Ontario grades exhibit little change. We quote : Winter wheat patents at $4.25 to $4.40 ; straight rollers, $3.75 to $3.90, and in bags, $1.85 to $1.90. Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4 ; outside brands, $3.65 to $3.75, and spring wheat patents, $4.25 to $4.40.

Owing to the continued good demand for Manitoba feed and the fact that millers in some cases are considerably oversold, the tone of the market is firm at $10 for bran and $11 for shorts per ton, including bags.

There has been a fair trade doing in oatmeal, and values exhibit no change. We quote $2.90 per bbl. and $1.40 per bag.

BALED HAY.

The sharp advance in prices noted last week has led to largely increased receipts of hay, and prices have reacted in consequence. On Saturday they fell off, and on Monday another decline brought prices down $1 from the highest to $12 to $12.50 for No. 1 and $10.50 to $11 for No. 2.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market continues quiet and prices have settled down on the average about ¼c. per pound from a week ago. If a buyer wanted Ontario goods he could, no doubt, fill his orders at 8⅜c., despite the fact that such a price is not on a parity with country values, but this has always been characteristic of the spot market. Exporters here are always so generous that they pay more in the country, or at least appear to do so, than they can realize on spot. Townships cheese are on a level with Ontario, while for Quebec cheese prices were established Monday at 7¾c., a decline of ¼c. per pound for the 3,000 boxes sold at the wharf. It will be noted that in the French sections also, as testified by these receipts, the make is increasing, as the offerings were just double what they were a week ago, and identically the same as what was offered at the same date last year. There is a great difference in the price, however, which was 6½c. last summer for the corresponding week. The total receipts last week were 54,700 boxes, against 45,500 for the same week last year, an increase of 9,200 boxes.

There is no improvement in the butter market, and business is practically confined to local jobbing at different prices, from 16 to 16½c., according to grade. The outside figure is, of course, utterly impossible in an export sense, or, for that matter, the inside, as exporters here are getting fine creamery in St. Lawrence county, New York state, for a good deal less money. A great difficulty about the current receipts also is their lack of uniformity as to package, which militates against the chances for an export trade. For good uniform creamery in 70-lb. packages exporters have paid in some cases 16c., but they will give it for nothing else, so that 35-lb. boxes or tubs stand no chance.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Advices continue encouraging regarding California dried fruit yield for the ensuing season.

There is a decided scarcity of canned lobsters here, and prices are firmly held at $2.25 per dozen.

The cold unseasonable weather has not been favorable to the sale of lemons, oranges, and other heavy receipts of green fruit arriving here.

Two carloads of strawberries sold here Monday at 9 to 14c., and one carload a day will be put up by the Fruit Exchange for the balance of the week.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 10, 1897.

THE continued wet weather has a depressing effect on business, particularly through the country where the roads are bad. In the city there is considerable stir outside of regular business in preparing for the Jubilee. The demonstration here is to be large, and with two or three fine days from the 20th to the 23rd will be a success. Those having the fall exhibition in charge are also busy, and already much has been done. Brokers here selling tea for direct importation have about finished taking orders. The business is not as large as last year owing to the large importations, chiefly from London, in anticipation of a duty. That imported from London was largely the cheaper grades.

OIL—The demand, except for lubricating, is light. In many mills and such places the tendency is to use higher-priced oil for lubricating than is necessary. There is no change in prices. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18½ to 19c. ; Canadian, 17¼ to 18c. ; prime, 14½ to 16c.

SALT—A cargo of coarse, from Liverpool, arrived this week. It had been out eighty days, and the vessel had almost been given up. It found a fairly ready sale, though at low figures. The quantity of salt brought into this market since the first of the year has been large. The demand for Canadian salt is also better. Prices show no change. We quote : Coarse, 43 to 45c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, 95c. to $1 per bag. ; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz

CANNED GOODS—Orders have already been given for some fall goods. There are certain brands which dealers must have. Some new packers are offering this season, and it looks as if low prices would rule. Some goods are also being bought for present shipment, as peas, corn and peaches. Several cars of corn have been placed at low figures. It is looked on as good stock, as it is thought prices of new pack will rule firmer than this season. Tomatoes are scarce and held firm. While peas are firm, there is not likely to be a further advance. Lobsters are not likely to rule lower than the present high price, the export price keeping firm. Finnan haddies are rather lower. The number of packers is increasing faster than the demand. New American pine apple is being received. It is grated and is rather lower. It has a good sale. Salmon are easy, with futures offered low. Buyers do not seem anxious to place orders. Sales by local dealers are but fair ; the presence of so much green fruit affects the sale. Oysters show no change. Packers are offering fall pack at firm figures. As suggested in THE GROCER of last week, this is the business way to do, the experience of last year fully proving this. We quote : Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; tomatoes, 85 to 90c. ; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50 ; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20 ; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3 ; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85 ; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.75 ; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.50; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—The sale is large. Bananas are moving freely. Oranges still have a large sale, but quality is uncertain. Prices tend higher. Apples are about out of the market. The few offering are in most cases poor. Rhubarb, local grown, is in large supply, and prices are low. Strawberries, though in rather better supply, show little change in price and are not likely to be much lower till our own berries are on the market. Cucumbers are lower. Lemons tend higher, with improved sale. Tomatoes sell slowly at high figures. We quote : Messina lemons, $3 to $3.25 ; oranges, Valencia, $5 to $6 ; Messina oranges, $3 to $3.50 ; blood oranges, $2 to $2.25 ; bananas, $1.25 to $2.25 ; lettuce, 50 to 60c. per doz.; pineapples, 12 to 15c.; strawberries, 12 to 15c.; rhubarb, 1 to 1¼c. per lb. ; cucumbers, 60 to 75c. per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—While no prices have been named on Valencia raisins, packers are looking for orders to be charged at market prices when shipped. Some packers are offering on better terms than have been the custom, making draft payable in St. John on arrival and approval of goods. The letter of credit system is all one sided, and it has so often been taken advantage of by shippers in the sending of poor goods that buyers have decided they need some protection. A shipper has no right to ask for better protection than a draft attached to bill of lading. There is almost a bare market as regards Valencias here, and the same is about true of loose Muscatels. Currants are scarce and market higher. The demand in dried fruit is not large. Evaporated apples, in spite of higher prices outside, are low here. Onions are rather easier. We quote : Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 7 to 7¼c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2 ; currants, cases, 5¼ to 5½c.; bbls., 5 to 5¼c.; cartoons, cleaned, 8 to 8¼c.; bulk, cleaned, 7 to 7¼c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4¼ to 4½c.; onions, 2¾ to 3c. per lb.; Bermuda onions, $2.50 per crate ; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100 lbs. ; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7¾ to 8c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—Demand is light. Refineries, particularly, find it so. Their price is well above the price asked by the wholesale grocers. Prices here are rather easier. We quote : Granulated, 4 to 4¼c. ; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There is no change in the position here. The price of Barbadoes is rather easier, and the demand is not active. In Porto Rico, while there is a firmer feeling and a fairly good movement, prices keep low. Holders look upon it as good stock. In St. Croix, those who have consignments here find it hard to move, though quality of some is very good. It can be bought low. We quote : Barbadoes, 23 to 25c.; Porto Rico, 25 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 25 to 27c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c. ; syrup, 36 to 38c. ; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—While butter is scarce prices are rather easier, Ontario and Quebec butter being offered low. Small shipments of both dairy and creamery are arriving. Local creameries keep their price rather too high for the wholesale man to handle. Cheese are marked lower. Local cheese are now expected daily. In eggs the prices are higher, shippers refusing to sell at the low prices that have ruled. To get full prices from this out shippers should be very careful of quality. We quote : Dairy butter, 15 to 17c.; creamery, 19 to 20c.; prints, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 8½ to 9c.; cheese, 10 to 11c.

FISH—The active business is still in fresh fish, chiefly salmon. The catch this season has been the largest for years, and the fishermen have done well, as prices have so far held up. They now tend lower. Gaspereaux are still taken in good quantities, and chiefly pickled. Prices show no change. Shad tend higher, as catch is smaller. Some extra large shad have been caught this season. Smoked shad are much liked here. Lobsters are rather more plentiful, but supply is light and prices high. Smoked herring is dull. So is pickled herring. Some new dry cod are on the market. Prices are easy with but light business. Halibut show no change. We quote as follows : Large cod, $3 to $3.25 ; medium, $2.60 to $2.75 ; pollock, $1.10 to $1.15 ; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl. ; smoked, new, 5 to 6c.; shad, half bbl., $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.- Barrington, $3 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.25 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 10c. each, small ; gaspereaux, 40 to 50c. per 100 ; halibut, 7 to 7½c. per lb.; fresh shad, 10 to 12c. each; salmon, 12 to 13c.

PROVISIONS—Pork keeps dull and low. Beef holds its price and shows fair sale. In lard, the price is as low as ever known, and dealers have bought fair stocks. Market is not strong, as American pure lard, good brands, can be laid down, after paying two cents duty, at about the price of Canadian. Smoked meats hold their prices, but sale is light. We quote as follows : Clear pork, $14 to $15 ; mess, $12.50 to $13 ; plate beef, $12.50 to $13 ; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; rolls, 8½ to 9c.; pure lard, 7 to 7½c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour continues lower. The change in prices is chiefly noticed in Ontario grades. Oatmeal is marked up, and oats are also higher. Demand for the English market is so good on Prince Edward Island that they are asking about one cent more to land oats in St. John than Ontario shippers are. Cornmeal continues at the very low price. Feed finds little sale, but keeps high. Beans are reported higher west, but local market shows no change. Barley and split peas are rather easier. We quote : Manitoba flour, $4.85 to $5 ; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60 ; medium, $4.25 to $4.35 ; oatmeal, $3.35 to $3.40 ; cornmeal, $1.75 to $1.80; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16 ; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15 ; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c. prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $11.50 to $12.50; barley, $3 ; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25 ; yellow eye beans, $1.50 ; timothy seed, Canadian, $2 to $2.25 ; do. do., American, $1.75 to $2 ; clover, 8¾ to 9c.; alsike, 8½ to 9c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Shipments of deals continue large, as many as 14 steamers loading here at once. More steamers are also loading at up-bay ports than usual.

During 22 days, May in St. John showed a rainfall of 9.72 inches.

Steamer Prince Rupert is now making daily trips between St. John and Digby.

J. D. Arguimbau, the well-known raisin packer of Denia, was in the city this week.

The Customs receipts for May are $2,871.22 less than for the same month last year.

Rice, which is high on the English market, continues to show an advance from week to week.

Schepps' 5c. package is a popular size package of cocoanut at this season. Baird & Peters received a shipment this week.

The Chatham Board of Trade is asking the Dominion Government for a subsidy for a steamer to run between Chatham and P.E.I.

A FREE GIFT SOUVENIR.

The Nonsuch Manufacturing Co., Toronto, have just issued a handsome and handy article in the shape of a pin tray as a Diamond Jubilee souvenir. As their goods have been handled by the trade to such an extent they have decided on this novel idea in keeping themselves before their customers. It is made of strong embossed tin, nicely decorated, and bears a fine lithograph of Her Majesty Queen Victoria encircled in a wreath of maple leaves. It is a handy article on the desk of any business man, as well as on his dressing case. They enclose in each case of their goods a tray to be given with each package of blacking. If any of our readers have not received a sample, by dropping a post card and mentioning THE CANADIAN GROCER one will be sent by mail to any address.

The other night thieves entered the store of Peter Dodd, at Watford, and took a quantity of canned goods, cheese and crackers. They also tried on several pairs of shoes, but failing to find any to fit, they went to Samuel Howden's shoe store, a few doors away, where the correct sizes were found among a number of pairs shown in the window. Entrance to Howden's was effected by forcing a cellar window.

USEFUL FOR TRAVELERS.

A USEFUL document for commercial travelers and export agents has just been issued by the British Government, compiled from reports of consuls and other agents abroad. It gives particulars concerning the licenses and other documents required by commercial travelers or agents seeking trade in foreign countries. These particulars apply to any foreigners traveling on business in the respective countries mentioned. In Belgium commercial travelers are subject to the payment of a fixed annual license of 20 francs. Foreign commercial firms established in Belgium are taxed in proportion to the amount realized by their transactions. In France no licenses are required. Resident agents are subject to the same taxation as a native. In Germany a "trade legitimation card" is the only requirement. In the Argentine Republic the foreign licenses are based on a graduated scale of 45 categories, rising from $5 to $20,000. In the case of representatives of foreign firms, with or without a business house, the cost of the license varies from $100 to $500, according to the number of firms represented and the importance of the business transacted on their accounts. In Buenos Ayres a commercial traveler can pay a fixed license of $50, which covers all operations in the national territory. In other provinces the rates are higher. In Brazil each province has its own peculiarity in regard to this matter. In Rio de Janeiro no license for travelers has been required, but the report says that the establishing of a tax is now being advocated. For resident agents the taxes vary in the different towns and municipalities, and are regulated according to class of trade. In Rio Grande do Sul the charge for either traveler or agent is $300; in the city of Para, $1,000; in Maracaibo, $200; in Manaos, $300; in Pernambuco, $200; in Corea, $270, and in Maceio from $150 to $300, according to the nature of trade. In the ports of Alegre, San Paulo and Rio Grande del Norte there are no taxes. A bill is now before the State Congress of Bahia proposing a tax of $1,000. In Parahyba a tax is proposed for the end of this year. No license is required in Guatemala, Nicaragua or Salvador. In Honduras a consular certificate is all that is necessary. In Italy, Portugal or Peru no documents are required, while in Spain identification cards are absolutely necessary. Commercial travelers in Russia are subject to a Custom house certificate costing about $20. Resident agents must have licenses involving a payment of about $110. In Chili there are various charges ranging from $100 to $300 for the travelers and from $500 to $2,000 a year for the resident agents. In United States of Colombia and Austria there are no charges for travelers or agents.

COLUMBIA RIVER SALMON.

Latest advices from the Coast state that the catch on the Columbia River has so far fallen far short of that of previous years. At the mouth of the river there has been a fair catch, but the upper countries have had few to pack. However, there is a freshet impending, by which, it is hoped, the fish will be driven farther up.

The exact prices obtained so far have not been thoroughly revealed and reports are contradictory. It would appear, according to The N.Y. Journal of Commerce, that the prices range about $1.05 f.o.b. for talls. It is reported that the price does not go this high, and also that some canners are holding their stock even at this price.

The introduction of the co-operative brand packed by the Fishermen's Union has not disturbed the old-established dealers, for the prices asked by the former are considerably higher than those asked by the latter.

FREE CAMERAS AND WAGONS.

Chas. B. Knox, gelatine manufacturer, of Johnstown, N.Y., has started a new contest for sellers of Knox gelatines. In a contest which closed May 1 he gave away 100 Columbia bicycles. In this one he proposes to present his agents with 301 cameras and five grocery wagons. The cameras are for the clerks and the wagons for the grocers. The salesman who sells the greatest number of packages is to receive a camera worth $103; the next one hundred contestants, 4 x 5 cameras; the next one hundred, 3½ x 3½ cameras, and the next one hundred 2 x 2 cameras. This is encouragement for the salesman, and ought to be a means of pushing the gelatine.

MANITOBA WHEAT.

The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. are making preparations for extending their milling business in Manitoba. If their intentions are carried out, seven or eight new elevators will be erected in different sections of the "Prairie Province" this summer; the exact locations have not yet been decided on.

This company has recognized the fact that a large quantity of the wheat produced in Manitoba is being shipped out as raw material through the United States to Great Britain, whereas if it were milled it could be shipped through Canadian territory.

Recent experiments in shipping products to Africa and Australia have proved so successful with this company that they believe it is not necessary for Canadians to allow foreigners to monopolize all the trade, and, accordingly, have decided to extend their business with these countries. Large quantities of flour are now on the way to the "Island Continent."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Robert Greig, who spent last week in calling on his firm's customers in Toronto, Hamilton and London, booked some large orders for flavoring extracts.

Mr. W. A. Ferguson, of the Delhi Canning Co., who returned from a business trip to Winnipeg and intervening business points, says he did a good business, and reports that the trade outlook in the west is promising.

Mr. D. Gunn has returned from a trip to the west. He says he has never seen crops look better at this season. In some parts they show evidences of too much rain, but on the whole the situation is promising. A hay crop is assured.

FILLED BROOMS.

Brooms, as with other articles allowing of adulteration, can be filled; that is, heavy, coarse, common, short, cheap corn filled inside, with nice, clean corn on the outside, fancy handles and finish. Close inspection and a knowledge of the qualities and nature of broom corn will reveal this, and are the only safeguards against this fraudulent method.

Buyers, wholesale or retail, should beware, and, when purchasing brooms, buy from the best makers only. Small manufacturers have not the capital to buy the dozens of cars of the very best corn, and, therefore, really have not this class of corn to put in their best brooms.

The storehouses of Chas. Boeckh & Sons are open to any and all of their customers to examine and inspect the immense amount of the very high class of corn they carry in stock, and put into their good brooms.

Boeckh's bamboo handle broom has rapidly come to the front, as the lighest, strongest and fullest, and of the best corn. These bamboo brooms are a guarantee of excellence and quality, as Chas. Boeckh & Sons are the only manufacturers who have brought these brooms to perfection, and buyers should wait for this firm's representative or send their orders direct.

Several shipments of rice from England are to hand this week with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

"Jubilee" coffee, 1-lb. cans, is for sale by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. A pretty spoon goes with each package.

THE MOLSONS BANK PRESIDENCY.

THE recent election to fill the vacancy in the presidency of the Molsons Bank, caused by the death of Mr. John H. R. Molson, has caused some surprise in financial and commercial circles.

It is believed that there was no necessity to go outside of Montreal to find a gentleman qualified for the position, when one was ready to hand in the person of Mr. S. H. Ewing, the present vice-president.

It is well known that of late years Mr. Ewing, owing to the ill health of the late Mr. Molson, has been de facto president.

No one pretends to say that Mr. Macpherson, the new president, is not qualified. At the same time he is comparatively a new man. On the other hand Mr. Ewing has had a long experience as a leading merchant of Montreal, and besides has, in the attention he has devoted to the bank's affairs of late years, acquired an intimate and valuable knowledge of its customers.

It certainly seems that it would have been sound business policy on the part of the directors to recognize these facts by bestowing on Mr. Ewing what was clearly his due —the election to the presidency.

A NEW KIND OF SYRUP.

A good story is told of a Kansas farmer who entered a general store in Emporia, Kan., and enquired for "somethin' nice to put on griddle cakes."

"Molasses?" said the storekeeper.

"Naw, somethin' nicer. B'en eatin' molasses for twenty years. Ain't ye got somethin' slicker?"

The grocer told him about maple syrup and praised it highly. All the "toney people" of Emporia used it, he said.

"That's what I want. The hightonedest you've got."

By a strange mishap, when the boy went to pack the goods for the socially ambitious farmer, he took a tin of varnish, the varnish coming in square cans of a kind similar to those containing the maple sap. Three or four months afterward the man came back to town and reported at the store. The storekeeper, having made the discovery of error, was in a panic. At length he mustered up courage to ask how the maple syrup had answered.

"Oh, she was all right," said the customer. "Kinder highfalutin', but good. My wife at first said she thought it was some rancid, but when I told her what you said about it bein' a high-toned dish that the best people in Empory jes' nacherally craved, she seemed to take a second holt, and now she won't eat nothin' else. I thought there was a kind of a snap an' bite to it that sorter reminded me o' what we used to git when prohibition first struck the country, but in gineral it's mighty good stuff."

"Was there any bad effect at all?" inquired the amazed storekeeper.

"Well, now, I can't say there wasn't. You see, it was my wife's first experience with dude grub, an' she kinder lost her head. Got ambitious. Allowed that if we was good enough to have that kind of eatin' we was good enough to have some other things to match. Bought a lot o' new chiny dishes from a pedlar and made me promise I'd get her a new hat with red in it an' a dress this trip in town. Yes, I s'pose you might say that there was some bad effects, because vanity is certainly sinful; but you're a married man yourself, an' you know they ain't no way to stop a woman's ambition when she begins to kinder get in society. Gimme a couple gallons more o' that syrup, an' if you have some that has jes' a little more o' that pleasant bitin' sting to it, why, let's have that."—Chicago Record.

"WHEN THE GREEN GITS BACK IN THE TREES."

In the spring, when the green gits back in the trees,
And the sun comes out and stays,
And your boots pull on with a good tight squeeze,
And you think of your barefoot days;
When you ort to work and you want to not,
And you and yer wife agrees
It's time to spade up the garden lot—
When the green gits back in the trees—
Well, work is the least of my idees
When the green, you know, gits back in the trees.

When the green gits back in the trees, and bees
Is a-buzzin' aroun' again,
In that kind o' lazy "go-as-you please"
Old gait they hum roun' in;
When the ground's all bald where the hayrick stood,
And the crick's riz, and the breeze
Coaxes the bloom in the old dogwood,
And the green gits back in the trees—
I like, as I say, in such scenes as these,
The time when the green gits back in the trees.

When the whole tail-feathers o' winter time
Is all pulled out and gone,
And the sap it thaws and begins to climb,
And the sweat it starts out on
A feller's forrerd, a gittin' down
At the old spring on his knees—
I kind o' like, jes a-loaferin' roun'
When the green gits back in the trees—
Jes' a-potterin' roun' as I—do—please—
When the green, you know, gits back in the trees.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

A TRADE EVIL.

Why in the name of common sense are so many retail dealers addicted to the vice of constantly lowering quality in order to make a little more money? Some salesman comes along with a new brand of matches or some other article, and extols it as being cheaper and paying a better profit than the older goods, and after a cursory investigation the dealer is induced to put it in stock, and yet the brand may be much inferior to the older goods.—Merchants' Review.

WON THE HORSE.

A LOCAL clergyman told me a story yesterday concerning a deacon in a little Vermont town, where he was located a number of years ago, says a writer in an exchange.

The village store, as in most small places, was the "hanging-out" place of the community, and every evening the men used to gather around the stove and the sugar barrels and swap words of untruthfulness.

Now it happened that the proprietor of the establishment had an old horse, which had done service for him for years. It was crippled all up, and no longer of any use to anybody; nevertheless, it had been so faithful that to kill it was out of the question, and, of course, he could not sell it.

One night when the nightly loungers were gathered about the stove, and conversation was lagging a trifle, the jolly proprietor broke out with an original idea.

"Now, my friends," he said, "let us see who can tell the biggest lie. You will each of you tell a story, and the one that I consider has told the biggest lie, to him will I give the horse. I shall be judge of the contest."

They started, and the Old Testament statement that "all men are liars," was fully demonstrated. The contest was at its height when in came Deacon Goodnow. They told him what was in the air. Now the deacon was one of those men with a long face that would lead a man to think he was just going to a funeral—a man withal that ought to have lived under the blue laws.

"Why," he exclaimed, looking at the proprietor, "really I am surprised! Here, sir, you are encouraging lying; you are making these men lie. For shame! Now I never told a lie, and——"

"The horse is yours," broke in the proprietor.

THE COMPANIES' ACT.

Under the present law all companies incorporated under Federal charter are restricted in borrowing to two-thirds of their capital stock. A bill introduced into the Senate by Sir Oliver Mowat to remove this restriction has been read a second time. The bill proposes to exempt from the limitations on the borrowing power of companies the power to borrow money on bills of exchange and promissory notes endorsed by the company. The Ontario Legislature has given even larger powers to companies incorporated under provincial charters, and unless the Dominion law is widened, companies will no longer ask for Federal charters.

The Japanese Government has appropriated $750,000 to be used in America for advertising their teas. This has come about through the very successful efforts of the Ceylon and Indian Government representatives in getting their teas before the public in Canada and the United States, and thereby largely displacing the colored and adulterated teas of Japan. When it is said that there is scarcely a pound of Japan tea exported from Japan that is not colored or adulterated, a well-known fact is stated; and, unfortunately for themselves, there is to be no effort put forward to stop this coloring of teas. This will militate greatly against any efforts on the part of the Japanese Government to keep their teas before the people on this continent, as Prussian Blue as an ingredient in one's drinks is not pleasant to contemplate.

MINT... PUFF-STRAPS

RECOGNIZING the great popularity of peppermint with the sweets-loving public, we are the first to introduce to the trade Pliable Licorice containing this flavor.

The delicious quality of our Pliable Licorice is well known; it is matchless in this respect as well as in its flavor and finish.

Our Triple Tunnel Tubes and Navy Plugs are great favorites also, and are made of the same material, although flavored differently. . . . . .

We recommend all these goods as suitable for Summer Trade; they will please the most exacting taste as wholesome, smooth and palatable confections. . . .

CANADA'S PROGRESS IN THE VICTORIAN ERA.*

By John A. Cooper, B.A., LL B.

IN respect for herself, in respect for the Empire of which she forms a part, in respect for honor and virtue, in respect for the righteousness which exalteth a nation, Canada stands an easy first among the colonies of Great Britain. Blessed with a climate which conduces to vigorous mental and physical manhood, with a natural wealth unequalled by what has been given to any other country on the globe, and with a vast extent of territory which may yet hold a hundred millions of people, she possesses prospects which most of the nations of the earth might envy, and not prospects only—for the record of her progress during the present century, and especially during the Victorian era, shows that her wealth has increased a hundredfold. New provinces have been built where, in 1837, there were only trees and wild animals and the unprogressive redman. Towns and cities have sprung up all over the best portion of this British part of North America. Many miles of canals, thousands of miles of railways, and tens of thousands of miles of good wagon roads, have been built, and the land is full of the hum of commerce. Ships have been built and rebuilt, and Canada's commercial navy ranks fifth in the vessel tonnage of the world. Where in 1831 there were a million of people, there are now over five million. In 1837 her total trade was less than thirty million per year; now it is over two hundred million. In 1837 there were fifteen miles of railroad, and now there are over fifteen thousand, with yearly earnings of about fifty million of dollars. In 1837 British North America consisted of a half-dozen isolated colonies with no connection or sympathy. Now all these, with several new and important communities (but excepting Newfoundland) are numbered under one government, with a growing unity of sympathy, aim and national feeling, and blessed with a system of government—federal, provincial and municipal—which is unequalled anywhere.

*Condensed from an article in The Canadian Magazine for June.

FREEDOM OF TRADE.

In the Act of Union of 1840 it was enacted that nothing in that Act should prevent the Parliament of the United Kingdom from establishing regulations or prohibitions regarding trade, or for the imposing, levying or collecting duties for the regulation of navigation or for the regulation of the commerce of the Province of Canada, provided always that the net produce of all duties so imposed should be applied to and for the said Province of Canada. It will thus be seen that the trade of the province was not wholly within local control, and that Great Britain still directed Canada's external trade policy. A great many concessions concerning revenues and disbursement were made by the same Act, but it was not until 1847 that the colonies in North America received full control of their customs tariffs. In that year the navigation laws were repealed by the Imperial Parliament, and from that time forward the home authorities would not interfere with a colonial trade policy, no matter how much it might be regretted. These concessions were due in part to the "Free Trade Policy" which was then so prominent in the British Governmental policy, and in part to the policy of allowing the colonies almost entire independence in all matters which related to their domestic welfare.

The indirect result of this change of trade policy was the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 between the United States and Canada, or rather Great Britain for Canada. This treaty gave fishermen of the United States the right to take fish of every kind, except shell fish, on the sea-coasts and shores, and in the bays, harbors and creeks of the British provinces, without being restricted to any distance from the shore. The salmon and shad fisheries were not to be included. British fishermen were to have similar rights on the eastern coasts of the United States north of the 36th parallel. Certain commodities, such as grain, flour and breadstuffs of all kinds, animals, meats, poultry, fish, lumber, hides, ores of metals, rice, hemp and manufactured tobacco, were to be admitted free into each country. The St. Lawrence and the Canadian canals were to be as free to the United States people as to British subjects. It remained in force for eleven years and was mutually beneficial, although the United States Government put an end to it by giving the arranged year's notice. The interchange of commodities in the previous eight years averaged $14,230,763; while in the first year under the treaty it rose to $33,492,754, and to $50,339,770 in the third year.

Since this change in Imperial Policy, mentioned above, Canada has arranged its own tariff. Up to the 7th of August, 1858, the duties were not exceedingly high. The highest ad valorem duty was 20 per cent., and this was only on leather and rubber manufactures. The average of the charges on dutiable goods was less than 10 per cent., and there was a large free list. After 7th of August, 1858, there was an increased rate, the ratio of duties collected to total imports being 11.6. Manufactures of leather paid 25 per cent.; a long list, including cashmeres, silks, straw goods, rubber goods, jewelry, hats, caps and bonnets, guns, patent medicines, tools, woolen goods, etc., were taxed 20 per cent., and a specific duty was imposed on coffee, spirits, ale, wine, sugar, tea, tobacco, etc. In 1878 a higher rate of duties was imposed under what is known as the "National Policy." The rate on dutiable goods varied from 20 to 50 per cent., averaging about 31 per cent. The total duties collected amounted, however, to but 16 per cent. on the total imports. The total imports in 1895 were $110,781,- 682, of which $42,140,475 were free. On these the duty collected amounted to $17,887,269 or 16.1 per cent. on the total imports. In other words, the duties in 1859 were to the duties in 1895 as 11.6 is to 16.1.

The present year has been marked by a new tariff policy, the effect of which it is too early to estimate. The features of it are a change from specific to ad valorem duties, a reduction of the Customs collected on raw materials, an increase in the excise duties, and a reduction of 12½ per cent. on imports from Great Britain. The policy of the present Government would seem to be to promote trade within the Empire, and to leave Canadian manufacturing industries to work out their progress under a moderate protective tariff.

A reciprocity treaty with France came into force on the 14th of October, 1895. Several attempts have been made since 1865 to negotiate a new reciprocity treaty with the United States, but without success.

EXPANSION OF TRADE.

The accompanying tables show the expansion of the imports and exports since 1837. The total trade in 1837 of all the colonies now comprised in the Dominion of Canada was about $29,100,000. In 1895 the total trade was $224,420,485, or an increase of about 671 per cent. in the sixty years. The tables show how gradual and steady has been this expansion. There is nothing exceedingly startling about it, but to us who know the difficulties under which Canada has labored the result is highly gratifying.

At first the trade was restricted by the trade policy of the Mother Land. After this it was hampered by prejudices caused by Canada's colonial position, by mistaken ideas of Canada's climate and resources and by the scattered nature of the settlements. Great railroads have been built across the continent, and yet trade is limited in some directions. The world knows Canada better than it ever did, but not so well as it should. At present the prospects for trade expansion are brighter than ever before in the history of the country.

RAILROAD PROGRESS.

Canada was slow in securing railways and the resultant advantages of improved communications. The canal system was developed early, but a railroad policy was not adopted as soon as it might have been. The first railroad was opened in England in 1825 and the great Liverpool and Manchester road in 1830. By this date there were 23 miles in operation in the United States. The first steam railroad in Canada was not operated until 1837, and it was a very short line of fifteen or sixteen miles, from Laprairie to St. John's, in the province of Quebec (then Lower Canada). In the next twelve years we find a very slow growth, Canada having 50 miles in 1849, while the United States had 9,021 miles. After that period the growth was more rapid, there being 850 miles in 1856, 1,880 miles in 1860. The accompanying table shows more fully the growth during the different periods.

Notwithstanding the fact that railroads were more necessary in Canada than in Great Britain, there does not seem to have been the same rush to build them, and the "mania of 1845" did not extend to this colony. The epidemic, however, struck the country later, and 1850 to 1860 was a great railroading decade. In 1851 Montreal and Boston were connected, and on the occasion of the opening of this road a great international celebration was held in Boston. Under large photographs of Lord Elgin and President Filmore, which were hung across a street, was this inscription :

Now let us haste those bonds to knit,
And in the work be handy,
That we may blend "God Save the Queen"
With "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

There was a procession three and a half miles long, and a banquet, at which 3,600 people were present.

In 1853 the first locomotives in Upper Canada (Ontario) were run over the Northern Railway, from Toronto to Bradford.

In this year the freight tariff of the Grand Trunk Railway (from Montreal to Portland) was one of the first documents published in Canada to use the dollars and cents system instead of the pounds, shillings and pence.

In November, 1856, some 4,400 people gathered at a banquet in Montreal to celebrate the opening of the Grand Trunk Railway from Toronto to Montreal. This railway was the first great road built in what is now known as the Dominion of Canada. Some of the shorter roads were very primitively conducted in those days. On one Quebec road, it is said, there was but one coach on the train, and it often contained butter, eggs, fish, vegetables, sheep, calves and passengers.

One great difficulty at this time was the crossing of the St. Lawrence at Montreal. The freight and passengers had to be taken across in barges, steamboats and sleighs. Twice a year, when the ice was forming or breaking up, traffic would be delayed one to three weeks. On Aug. 25, 1860, the Prince of Wales opened the Victoria tubular iron bridge across this river, a structure which is nearly two miles in length, is sixty feet above the water, is borne on twenty-four piers and cost $7,000,000. The engineer and designer was A. M. Ross, and he was assisted by Robert Stevenson.

From this date forward transportation through Canada began to grow rapidly. Before 1860 the Hudson Bay Company sent its supplies for the Northwest via sailing vessel to York Factory in Hudson's Bay. After that date they were sent via steamboat to Montreal, Quebec or Portland, thence by railroad to St. Paul and then overland to Fort Garry.

Much money was lost by the early railroads being built with the wide gauge, five feet six inches. Two notable exceptions were the Toronto and Nipissing and the Toronto, Grey and Bruce, which were built with a three feet six inch gauge. As the four feet eight and a half inch gauge was used by the United States roads, it became necessary to adopt it in Canada. The change from one width to the other entailed a great expense. Another source of loss was occasioned by trying to use heavy English locomotives on the Canadian roads, with their light ballast, their sharp curves and their winter snowdrifts.

The building of the Intercolonial and Canadian Pacific railroads since Confederation have been large undertakings, which have cost Canada a great deal of money, but which have made possible a genuine confederation of the different provinces. Compared with her population, Canada has greater railroads than any other country in the world.

Canada's latest engineering feat is the construction of the St. Clair Tunnel under the St. Clair River. It is 6,026 feet long, or, with approaches, 11,553, and cost $2,700,000.

One feature which strikes the student of recent Canadian history is the fact that the Canadian "upper ten" are, to a great extent, railroad people. A great number of the rich and important men in Canada are men who have made their fame and their wealth in promoting, building or managing railroads. Perhaps this is due to the magnanimity of the municipalities and of the Dominion and Provincial Governments in lavishly and unreasonably bonusing every

PERPETUAL INJUNCTION

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS.

The first street railway company in Canada was organized in May, 1861, in Toronto. On Sept. 11 the horse-cars were run for the first time on Yonge street in that city. In November of the same year the first cars were run in Montreal. The horse-car system extended slowly until within the past seven years they have been superseded by the electric street cars, run on the trolley system. This electric system has also been extended to short suburban lines, such as between Grimsby and Hamilton, and between Aylmer and Quebec. The advance to be made along these lines is bound up with the general advance to be made in electricity, an advance which cannot at present be estimated or even indicated.

CANALS.

Canals have played an important part in the commerce of Canada, and especially so in assisting the circulation along the great commercial aorta made up of the St. Lawrence River and the great lakes. Even before the Victorian Era a number of canals had been opened for traffic. The Lachine Canal was opened in August, 1825, the Welland Canal in 1829, the Rideau Canal in 1832. In 1843, the Cornwall and Chambly Canals were opened, and enlargements, extensions, and new connections have been continually made since that year, until now there are eight canals between Lake Superior and tidewater, besides numerous canals on the tributary streams. The latest of these eight canals is the Sault Ste. Marie, opened in 1895. The total expenditure on canal building in Canada up to June 30th, 1895, was $78,119,319. Of this amount $20,692,244 had been expended before Confederation, $4,173,921 having been contributed by the Imperial Government. The total revenue from the canals since Confederation is $10,578,258, or an average of $377,795 a year. In 1894, there passed through these canals 23,158 vessels, with a tonnage of 4,060,931 tons.

The original locks of the Lachine Canal had a depth of five feet. In 1871 it was decided to enlarge the canals on the St. Lawrence route to 12 feet, and now the policy is to have a navigable depth of 14 feet. The depth on the sill of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal is 22 feet.

Canada's canal policy, like her railway policy, has lacked unity, and, as a consequence, much money has been spent, and is yet being spent, with little definiteness of object, and without the surety of a profitable return. Government and political exigencies lie at the root of the trouble, and have up to the present time prevented the undertakings being considered and managed from a purely business standpoint.

CANADIAN SHIPPING.

Canada has been building ships ever since about 1723, and claims that the Royal William, built at Quebec in 1830-31, was the first steam-driven vessel to cross the Atlantic. She has now a fleet of over 7,000 vessels, and, comparing her registered tonnage, stands fifth among the mercantile marines of the world. Her vessels connect her with Great Britain and Europe on the east, with Asia and Australia on the west, and dot her inland lakes and her large rivers.

On July 1st, 1867, when Confederation came into force, she had 5,693 vessels, with a registration of 764,654 tons. Now the figures are 15,376, and 895,423. There has been a decline in recent years, as in 1879 there were 7,471 vessels, with 1,332,094 tons.

The development of Canadian railways, canals and shipping has had a most wonderful effect on trade and in opening up new territory. The cost of transportation has been wonderfully lessened. The cost of living in the interior of the country is not much greater than on the coasts, and products from the interior are conveyed to the coasts at a cost remarkably low as compared with the rates demanded in 1837. Nevertheless the development of the Canadian Northwest depends to a great extent on the possibility of still further lowering the cost of transporting the animal and agricultural produce of that region to and beyond the Canadian coasts. This is one of the greatest problems which the people of this country are now facing.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

THE Wm. Davies Co., Ltd., have started another branch store at 280 Queen street west, Toronto. This firm has now about ten branches scattered over the "Queen City."

Profit on Sugar.

My remarks in last issue on sugar seem to have had some attention paid to them, but it does not appear probable that the merchants will take any steps to remedy the wrong and stop up the leak. They all have come to the conclusion that it is entirely futile to attempt a combination, and claim that it rests entirely with the individual effort rather than with a combined force. Some dry goods men are selling sugar, too, for bare cost, as a drawing card. These would not join any combination of the grocers, but would rather advertise a low price on the strength of the combination; immediately this was done all pledges would blow away with the winds. Several solutions to the question have been offered me this week. One gentleman gave it as his opinion that if the wholesalers would set the price of sugar at an even number of cents per pound, merchants would not do so much cutting. Thus, if sugar were 5c. a pound they would ask for more profit than if the cost were 4 15-16c. per pound. Well, perhaps, there is a good deal in it, but this desired change is not likely to be made. Another gentleman told me that the grocers did not reckon their selling prices on the true cost. In the modern system of conducting a store, the least possible cost for running expenses is 12½ per cent. Now, if this were added to the cost of each article, he claimed grocers would soon raise their prices. Reckoning on this calculation, the grocer who sells 20 pounds of sugar for a dollar, and does not handle an inferior quality, just clears himself. But many are giving 22 pounds for a dollar, which means that they are losing about 9c. on every dollar's worth of sugar they handle. It is rather a lamentable state of affairs. Profits on paper bags would have to be large to make up the deficiency.

Has Opened a Branch.

Last week Mr. C. M. Webb, of 273 Queen west, Toronto, opened up a branch store at Granton, a town about 120 miles west of Toronto and on the main line of the G.T.R. Mr. Webb's purpose in taking this step is to use this country store as a feeder for his city business, by having fresh butter and eggs shipped in on the cold storage cars which the Government has introduced. Shipments are arriving every other day. His son, Mr. Clarence M. Webb, has control of this branch. Such efforts to give satisfaction will, doubtless, be appreciated by his customers.

Department Stores and Groceries.

I had an answer offered me by a King-street grocer to the question: Why do department stores not deal in groceries to as great an extent as they do in other lines? Strange as it may seem, he answered: "Because the profits are not large enough." There are several lines in which they can give bargains, but there are no opportunities to make a fair profit. "Even the co-operative stores in England," he said, "cannot undersell the grocers. A gentleman who arrived just lately from England, and who is well versed in the business of Great Britain, told me that by considering all the grocers' lines he found that the ordinary retailer undersold the co-operative stores by 22 per cent."

A Scheme.

A retail grocer told me of a scheme for striking the department stores, which is receiving favor among the Americans. It is proposed to pass a law compelling stores to sell advertised goods all day long and in whatever quantity required. One of the schemes of these stores is to sell one article at a bargain price, for the purpose of obtaining a reputation for bargains. But, pshaw! they would easily evade that law.

COMING GROCERY PICNICS.

LONDON.

THE members of the London Retail Grocers' Association have decided to celebrate their 7th annual by holding a picnic in Queen's Park, that city, on July 21. Last year they had an excursion to Sarnia, for a change, and although the excursion was enjoyable it was not equal to the old-time picnics of former years, with a good programme of sports.

London grocers are noted for their picnics, and this being Jubilee year they purpose having a right loyal time with their friends.

Invitations are extended to the wholesale trade from Montreal to Windsor, and from experience we can guarantee those who avail themselves of the opportunity an enjoyable day with London retail grocers.

TORONTO.

An interesting and lively meeting of the Retail Grocers of Toronto was held last Monday evening in St. George's Hall, with the president, Mr. J. S. Bond, in the chair.

Messrs. H. Brown, S. Sanderson and R. B. MacKay were received as new members.

A communication was received from the City Clerk stating that the City Council had decided to accede to the petition of the grocers and solicit legislation to allow the city to compel farmers and gardeners to sell produce on the market only till 11 a.m.

A committee of five, who had gone to Port Hope and Cobourg to make arrangements for the annual excursion, brought in their report. The people of Cobourg offered to treat them right royally should they visit their town. A band and police protection would be provided free of charge, and a half-holiday would be declared in the town. Several members of the committee wheeled over the road between Port Hope and Cobourg and reported that it would be suitable for the proposed bicycle race between the grocers and travelers.

It was decided, therefore, to go to Cobourg July 21, and the report of the committee re the chartering of the Garden City was received.

The secretary of the association stated that the following donations had been received for prizes at the sports: Messrs. Wright & Copp, a cup for the winners of the baseball match; the Redpath Sugar Refining Co., $25; G. F. & J. Galt, 10 lbs. Blue Ribbon tea; Christie Brown, $25. Several others promised to give donations when further arrangements should be made.

Mr. White introduced a motion to appoint a committee to take whatever steps they might in regard to the abatement of the nuisance of the Italian pedlars at the Customs houses on Yonge street.

The motion received general support. This state of affairs was considered not only a disgrace to the city, but also unfair to pedlars who had to pay taxes.

It will be necessary to apply to the Dominion Government, for it appears they are far enough off the street to be beyond the city's grasp.

After the meeting adjourned the Excursion Committee convened to appoint committees to arrange for the sports on July 21. The Games Committee is composed of Messrs. Kelly, Booth, Sykes, Bell, Davies, McCleary, T. Clark, T. Nolan and — Brazil. Messrs. Gibson, Roberts, White and Bond form the Musical Committee, while Messrs. Gibson, White and Dowswell are to look after the prizes.

The Garden City is to leave Toronto at 7 o'clock a.m. and the fare for the round trip will be $1.

MONTREAL.

The regular meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was held in the Monument Nationale on Thursday, June 10. It was decided to invite the following guests to attend their annual picnic, which is to be held at Ste. Rose on Wednesday, July 14, 1897: The mayor and members of the City Council, the president of the Wholesale Guild, the representatives of both Governments for the city of Montreal, the president of the Grocery Travelers' Association, the president of the Grocery Clerks' Association, the president of the Dry Goods Association, the president of the Butchers' Association, the mayor of Ste. Rose, the Hon. Leblanc, Mr. Chauvin, Coroner McMahon, Mr. Larochelle, Mr. Beaudin, Lieut.-Col. Hughes, chief of police; D. Legault, chief provincial and revenue police.

Ex-Ald. T. Gauthier was elected chairman of the judges. Ex-Ald. Turner, ex-Ald. Connaughton, Messrs. E. Hart, J. B. A. Martin, E. Quintell, — Marceau, Albert Hebert, Alex. Orsali, F. H. Hughes, D. H. Rennoldson, D. J. Gilmour, C. Langlois, J. A. Vaillancourt, F. J. Hart, D. Taylor, John Caldwell, John Kay, L. M. Arnaud, C. T. Veaie are to be the judges of the different sports which are to take place.

Joseph Gravel has obtained the contract for the dinner and refreshments, refreshments to be served at city prices. He will supply two tents, in which can be seated more than double the number that could be accommodated in previous years, which will greatly to the comfort of all.

HAVE GOT THEIR CHARTER.

The Canesda Mineral Water Co. of Toronto, Ltd., have just obtained a provincial charter. The total capital stock amounts to $2,000 in 40 shares of $50 each. The following are incorporated: Bertha Ada Van de Carr, Ida Anna Adele Wright, Henry Wright, Arthur Van de Carr and Thomas Macdonald, all of Toronto.

A VISITOR FROM ARGENTINE.

A GENTLEMAN, now of Buenos Ayres, Argentine, but formerly well known to the grocery trade in Toronto, Hamilton and other places in Ontario, is at present visiting old and familiar scenes in Canada. His name is D. M. Rennie, formerly with Alexander Harvey & Co., Hamilton, and later still with the Eby, Blain Co., Toronto. Mr. Rennie went to Buenos Ayres nine years ago, and those who knew him then say he looks the same now as he did then. I do not know anything about that, but he looks well.

Mr. Rennie is in the commission business in Buenos Ayres, and is in Canada on business as well as pleasure bent. He will return to his adopted country in the course of a couple of months.

"Argentine," he said in reply to a question, "is a beautiful country and Buenos Ayres a fine city of 800,000 inhabitants. The country is a fine one and rich in possibilities. The climate is splendid."

"What are its chief products?"

"Wheat, corn, hides, wool, etc. It raises a large quantity of excellent tobacco." And then he pulled from his pocket a sample box of cigarettes. It contained sixteen. "That sells in Buenos Ayres at seven cents."

Mr. Rennie said that another industry which was developing in Argentine was cane sugar. "We have only been producing sugar about three or four years," he said, "but this year we expect to have a surplus of 100,000 tons for export."

"The wheat crop will be unlimited this year if the locust do not touch it. Last year the locust played havoc with the corn." Canada, he thought, would never be able to compete with Argentine as a wheat producer. "Why, you can get Italian laborers to work for about one dollar, gold, per day. Where would you get people in Canada to work during the harvest for one dollar per day? Then they have all the latest machinery down there."

"What are the possibilities for Canada doing business with the Argentine Republic?" I asked.

"Not very much. They want your white pine and spruce, and large lots of your agricultural implements find a market there. England has the bulk of the trade."

When I asked him as to whether he would advise young men in Canada to emigrate to Argentine, he said: "No, unless they have a thorough command of the Spanish language."

The price of strawberries will, in all probability, be very low this season, owing to the large crop in all the strawberry sections.

SPECIAL CAR FOR DRUMMERS.

WE read accounts in American papers of a new scheme for increasing the comforts and conveniences of commercial travelers, while at the same time decreasing their expenses. If it is successful many hotels in the country towns, who have lived largely on the patronage of drummers, will lose their custom.

The scheme consists of a car which is a home on wheels for the occupants who are railway men. The first one left St. Louis the other day. One end of the car was furnished with lockers and shelves for the storage of samples. The other was furnished on the general plan of a houseboat. There were several apartments, in each of which was found a bed and some other pieces of furniture. At the extreme end was the kitchen.

Representatives of different industries were invited to send their man on the car. The points at which the car was to stop were named in the schedule which the originators of the enterprise sent out to the business men.

It is the intention to remain one or two days in every place, the length of the stay to be regulated by the size of the town. If the traveler cannot carry his samples to the store he may invite his customers to the car. At noon, the travelers meet for dinner, and at night the car is attached to an outgoing train and pulled to the next station.

The projectors say that it means a saving of thousands of dollars to the wholesale houses.

A HEAVY FAILURE.

On June 11th a meeting of the creditors of the Boehmer Company, who carried on a general store in Berlin, was held in Assignee Clarkson's office. A large number of creditors were represented, while the array of legal talent was also somewhat formidable.

The Boehmer Company is not the Boehmer Co. (Ltd.) which are carrying on business now. This latter firm is a joint stock company, many of the leading citizens of Berlin being shareholders. It is the old company that is applying for the settlement. It is in the debt of the wholesalers to the amount of $90,000 and has borrowed money to the extent of $48,000 which, with others, make the total liabilities about $144,000. The assets are about $118,000 made up of bank notes to the extent of $64,800, cash $5,200, stock $10,000, and mortgages, real estate, etc., $25,000.

The company offered 50c. on the dollar as a settlement, which some of the creditors were inclined to accept, but others demanded an assignment and a subsequent investigation. Mr. Boehmer decidedly objected to making an assignment, but was willing that an investigation should be made. After an Investigating Committee was appointed the meeting adjourned till the 18th, when this committee will report.

WILL STOP DOWN TOWN.

THE movement of the large retail stores in Montreal up town from St. James street is a process that has been going on for several years.

Many believe that it is inevitable when the banking, insurance and wholesale trades will entirely monopolize that portion of the city lying between St. James street and the Harbor and McGill and Jacques Cartier square.

One big retail departmental firm evidently takes the opposite view, for, to the surprise of many, the S. Carsley Co. Ltd., have commenced to tear down the old premises of the City Bank on St. James street near St Peter. They purchased this building some years ago before the hegira had commenced in earnest, and as they had leased it since, it was believed that they had changed their mind about building. Now, however, the plans have been given out for a large eight-storey block which will be joined to the existing premises of the firm on Notre Dame street.

The Carsley store is practically the only big store remaining down town, and the wisdom of its owners not to follow the general move is doubted by many. But the Carsley Co. evidently knows what it is doing.

A PROFIT-SHARING SCHEME.

The Board of Directors of Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., of England, have initiated a profit-sharing scheme for their employes. According to the plan deposits of not less than 25c. and not more than $5 of the workmen's weekly wages will be received from persons in the employ of the company. Those employes paid quarterly will be allowed to deposit up to $10 weekly. For each individual who is paid weekly, the amount of deposits shall not exceed $1,000, and for each paid quarterly the maximum amount is to be $2,000. Interest will be allowed on such deposits at the fixed rate of 4 per cent. per annum, payable half yearly, and in addition a bonus will be paid, on the declaration of the company's dividend, at the rate per annum of half the difference between the fixed rate of 4 per cent. and the dividend. Sums that have been deposited with the company for a less period than three months prior to June 30 next preceding the declaration of the annual dividend will not be entitled to the bonus. Sums deposited between 3 and 12 months prior to June 30 will receive a proportionate bonus. The bonus will either be paid down or credited to each depositor.

CHAT WITH MR. WEBSTER.

MR. R. VALENTINE WEBSTER, of Colombo, Ceylon, is in Toronto this week. He is making another of his annual tours of the world in the interest of Indian and Ceylon teas. This is either his seventh or eighth trip around the world, I forget which. It takes about eight months for him to compass his trip.

Mr. Webster left Colombo in February last. Since then he has visited Australasia, Hawaiian Islands, the Pacific and Western States. After visiting Montreal he goes on to the Eastern States, and from thence to Great Britain. From the latter country he goes to the continent, and will visit, without exception, every country in Europe. This year he will even take in the Russian Caucasus to study the tea plantations which the Russian Government has started there.

Mr. Webster reports that the coffee plantations which he was instrumental in getting started in Queensland, are doing well. Great as Ceylon once was as a coffee-producing country, the industry, he said, is gone forever. Blight and the green fly was the cause of the industry's destruction. In Honolulu a remedy for the green fly has been discovered in one of the thirty-odd species of the "lady bird." Coffee growing promises well in Honclulu, and large quantities are now being shipped from there to the United States.

Referring to tea cultivation in Ceylon, Mr. Webster stated, in reply to a question, that it was still progressing nicely. One feature of recent development was the fact that Russia was taking a large percentage of the finer teas required from Ceylon.

During my interview with Mr. Webster the conversation turned upon the new tea inspection law of the United States. "I am much surprised," he said, "at the want of judgment displayed in fixing these standards. I can hardly believe it possible they intend to reject all teas 10 per cent. of which will pass through a 16-mesh sieve. If so, this means that many of the finer teas will be debarred from entering the States, as many of those teas which are made from the finest leaves often show a large percentage of very small tea, 10 and even 15 per cent. of which will pass through a 16-mesh sieve." Mr. Webster held that a 20-mesh sieve, through which only tea dust could pass, would be the proper thing.

"I saw an item in a paper the other day, to the effect that samples of new season's Indian teas had been received," said Mr. Webster. "Now, the new teas do not arrive in Calcutta till about the middle of June. Samples will reach here early in August."

STIMULUS TO CANADIAN TOBACCO.

THE new tariff appears to be acting as a sort of fertilizer to the native tobacco industry.

The new tariff on tobacco, which goes into operation on July 1, fixes the Customs duty on foreign leaf tobacco at 14c. per pound, while the Inland Revenue tax on the product manufactured from this article is 25c. per pound. The Inland Revenue tax on Canadian tobacco is 5c. per pound. The latter has, therefore, a net protection of 34c. per pound.

As every one knows, the change in the tariff has led to a material advance in the price of tobacco made from the imported leaf, the increase being equal to at least 14c. per pound. In tobacco made from the Canadian leaf the advance is only from 3 to 5c., a speculative one induced by the appreciation in the value of the article made from the foreign leaf.

Already the advance in prices is working a revolution as far a plug chewing tobacco is concerned. The 5c. plug made from the foreign leaf can no longer be sold for that price. It costs more. But, while it cannot, that made from Canadian grown can, notwithstanding that it contains more tobacco. The difference in price is 2c. per plug.

As a result of these conditions an enormous demand has sprung up for the Canadian tobacco, chewing plug.

There are two factories in Canada making tobacco from the domestic grown leaf. And although since the new tariff was brought down they have increased their staff, one at least having doubled it, it is found impossible to keep up with the business. Speaking of one factory, it is known to be one month to six weeks behind with its orders.

Tobacco men are of the opinion that should the present conditions continue, chewing tobacco made from domestic leaf is destined to displace to a large extent that made from the imported leaf.

Tobacco growing in Canada has not, on the whole, been an encouraging industry. It has had a good many ups and downs; probably more "downs" than "ups."

Between forty and fifty years ago, encouraged by tariff enactments, quite a stimulus was given to the production of tobacco, nearly every farmer in the settled portions of the country cultivating more or less of "the weed." Most of them, however, appear to have grown it chiefly for their own use, taking a handful of dry leaves out in the fields with them and filling their pipes at will.

A number of years ago a company of capitalists from the United States started a tobacco farm of one or two hundred acres in Toronto, just east of the River Don and south of Queen street. Two crops were raised and then the enterprise failed. And what was the experience in Toronto was the experience in a good many other places.

The chief drawback to tobacco culture in Canada in the early days, and one which contributed to its practical discontinuance in Ontario, was frost.

Being tender, the tobacco plant cannot stand the frost. One degree, it is said by naturalists, is sufficient to destroy it.

Frost is now, however, no longer an obstacle, the older portions of the country having grown out of it, as it were. In Ontario to-day tobacco can be grown without fear of damage by early frost. The plant is an early one and is also harvested early.

Canadian-grown tobacco for smoking purposes may never be a success. Some of it is now made into plugs for smoking, but its quality is inferior and its sale insignificant compared with that which is made from imported leaf.

In plug chewing tobacco the subtle influence is not the tobacco itself as much as the foreign substances which enter into its manufacture. The ordinary plug of chewing, it is perhaps not generally known, is made of of about two-thirds of tobacco and one-third other things, of which molasses and licorice are the chief.

For chewing purposes there is, therefore, apparently a future in store for Canadian tobacco. With the demand as it now is, it is generally conceded that the supply this season will fall far short of the requirements. Obviously this will give an impetus to tobacco growing in Canada.

The present year's crop of Western Ontario tobacco will not be marketed until December next, and it will be another six months after that before "the weed" will be fit to be worked up for chewing tobacco.

The tobacco plant is fastidious. It does not appear to be particular where it grows as far as mere growing is concerned; but the places where it will grow and give the choice flavors pleasing to smokers are comparatively limited.

Climate has a great deal to do with this flavor, but soil more, it would appear. There is, for instance, what is known as Perique tobacco, whose particular office is to give flavor. It is grown in St. James' Parish, Louisiana. But even the adjoining parish, same climate and all as it is, refuses to produce its fac-simile. Then Virginia and North Carolina will raise nothing but tobacco for smoking purposes. Ohio will only raise seed leaf for cigars, while Kentucky, immediately across the river, confines its energies to producing chewing tobacco and will have nothing to do with seed leaf. If Canada cannot grow smoking tobacco it is demonstrated beyond all question that she can chewing tobacco, and to the cultivation of this agriculturists should turn their attention.

The Government might, too, disseminate information as to ways and means of getting the best results therefrom.

We know of no means of arriving at even an approximate estimate of the quantity of tobacco grown in Canada. All we can ascertain is the quantity of the domestic article used by manufacturers. During the 13 years ending 1895, this was 7,190,084 pounds, or an average of 553,083 pounds per annum. The amount so used annually fluctuates a great deal. For instance, in 1895 it was 594,741 pounds, while the year before it was 904,835 pounds. The smallest quantity of Canadian tobacco used during any one of the 13 years was 326,804 pounds, and that was in 1884.

THE FUTURE OF TRADE.

The past year has been very disappointing, a year of increasing business depression, full of unsettling incidents, and there have been a considerable number of failures. More will have to follow unless some improvement takes place this year. The position, as far as I can read it, is this, and it seems to be a very delicate one: Any further depression, coming on a community already weakened by a long fight against adverse circumstances, will precipitate a very serious state of affairs, worse than anything we have yet had to encounter.

THE above is an extract from the address of General Manager Clouston, delivered at the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal the other day.

Bankers are no doubt peculiarly fitted to speak with authority upon matters appertaining to the trade and commerce of the country; but, like all men, they are not exempt from the influence of either pessimism or optimism. In Mr. Clouston's case he is undoubtedly influenced by the former quality.

Bankers, like other business men, are finding they are compelled to conform to the new economical conditions which are asserting themselves in this country as well as in the United States. And in conforming to these conditions pain is necessarily given to bankers as well as to merchants and manufacturers. It is getting harder year by year to maintain profits. And so it will continue to be as long as people try to maintain the profits of ten or twenty years ago. The day of big profits, as a rule, is gone. So is medievalism. And the march of civilization has caused the one as well as the other to take its departure.

Although Mr. Clouston complains of the difficulty of maintaining profits, his bank has not done so bad during the hard times of the past year: It has paid its shareholders a dividend of 10 per cent. and carried nearly $900,000 forward.

The outline of the picture which Mr. Clouston paints is, no doubt, true. Canada has been passing through a time of depression. But where Mr. Clouston errs is in regard to the coloring: His colors are sombre and unnatural.

But has it not been a practice of the officers of the Bank of Montreal to be pessimistic rather than optimistic in their annual reports. It began some years ago when there was a tendency to the rapid multiplying of industries in this country.

Quite rightfully its officers began to utter warnings against stimulating growths which were not natural, but, and what is equally natural, the continuance of these utterances ultimately induced pessimism, until it to-day appears to have become a second nature with them.

Undoubtedly it would be a serious thing for the country if the year before us was characterized by failure of the crops, and consequent further depression. It might also be a bad thing for a vessel, after weathering one severe storm, to be encountered immediately with another of equal or greater force.

But the outlook does not indicate a further season of depression. Everything indicates that the trade storm has spent itself.

Fairly good cereal crops, heavy hay crops, abundant fruit crops are pretty well assured. The dairying industry is in a more promising condition than it has ever been. Then, as to mining development, there was never a time in the history of the country when that was being carried on to the extent it now is, or when the richness of Canada's mineral resources were as fully recognized.

The earnings of the railways and the returns of the clearing houses are two faithful commercial barometers, and these both are, on the whole, favorable. Then, there is our foreign trade, which is favorable in both imports and exports.

But aside from all these, there is the actual condition of business to-day. Merchants, wholesalers as well as retailers, are not buying the quantities they did in years gone by; but they are buying more frequently. The fact that they are buying more frequently is an evidence they want the goods in order to keep their stocks assorted. And in spite of this manner of doing trade, a large number of houses are experiencing a larger volume of business than they were a year ago.

Then, besides stocks being in good shape, it must not be forgotten that business is being done on a more business-like basis than ever before in the history of the country. The banks, as well as the poor retailers, are mending their ways in this respect.

The uncertainty regarding the tariff has, no doubt, during the past ten or twelve months, interfered with business considerably, but that is practically no longer a factor.

Owing to hostile tariff legislation on the part of the United States the outlook for the lumber trade, as far as exports to that country are concerned, is not good. But the United States is by no means our only market for lumber. Our exports of produce of the forest to Great Britain last year were over $12,000,000, and our trade in this particular line is developing in a most satisfactory manner. Our exports to the United States were nearly one and a half millions larger than to the Mother Country, but it is a decreasing trade.

In one portion of his report Mr. Clouston says the present year may mark the beginning of a prosperous cycle. There is no may about it. It will. It is marking the beginning of better times.

BETTER QUALITY MOLASSES.

A VERY favorable feature about the receipts of molasses this spring at Montreal has been its superior quality.

As noted the other week, local refiners have been heavy buyers of Barbadoes stock. These goods were put to actual test and graded as high as 56 to 58 degrees against 50 to 52, the average in years gone by. The Porto Rico and Antigua which has arrived so far this season is also much brighter than usual.

With regard to values, they rule pretty steady on spot, considering the unsettled character of intelligence from Barbadoes.

Cables last week quoted 5c. first cost, which is the lowest price on record. This price, however, is hardly reliable, for when commission men cabled bids at this price, they found that sellers at the islands would not fill orders under 6c., the latter stating that 5c. was only a nominal figure.

In any event, it is believed that Barbadoes obtainable at this extremely low figure is not of very desirable quality.

Antigua in cargo lots is offered steady at 18½c. in bond or 21c. duty paid, two cargoes arriving this week. These are much brighter goods than any that have been received for some years. Porto Rico in cargo lots is not obtainable under 24c. net cash. The consumption of this latter molasses and Antigua has increased of late years, but it is doubtful if they will ever secure the foothold in the province of Quebec possessed by Barbadoes. The latter has a peculiar "rummy" flavor that the French-Canadian habitant has been accustomed to for over a generation. He wants this flavor and Barbadoes supplies it.

THE ADVANCE IN CHEESE.

LAST week the cheese market took one of those sudden freakish turns for which it is famous.

In the face of declining cables prices in the country commenced to stiffen a week ago Tuesday, and under active buying the advance culminated last Saturday in a clean rise of ⅝ to ¾c. per pound compared with a week previous.

Many of the more conservative traders believe that the advance has been too sharp, but at the same time they are not prepared to admit that June cheese can later on be purchased at a decline from current values.

The recent rise originated in buying by the shorts, who have, as already mentioned in THE GROCER, operated more extensively than usual this season. These had contracts to ship goods forward during the first two weeks of June; they lacked the goods and had to buy them in the country. Their purchasing started the rise, and of course, as is generally the case, their competitors did not hesitate to give prices a boost when the opportunity offered by bidding up the goods with the idea of making them as dear as possible to the speculators. The latter have sold a large quantity of their goods on the basis of 8½c., Montreal.

It is needless to remark, with finest Ontario and Townships cheese costing more than that laid down at the ship's side, their venture cannot be very profitable.

But it was not buying by the shorts alone which sent prices up. It is unquestionable that a long interest has been created by a recent move in the country. In a word, the usual deal in June make is on in full force.

It now remains to be seen how the English market will accept the advance.

So far the Britishers have given little indication either way, as they have hardly had time to size up matters. Altogether, the natural conditions do not favor a very bullish view.

It is undoubted that the make going on in Western Canada is a record one. The offerings and receipts clearly bear this out. This increase, however, is offset to a certain extent by a shrinkage in Quebec and the east, where the weather has been extremely cold and backward. In fact, conservative estimates put the May output in Quebec at 50 per cent. less than last year, while the June yield so far has been 25 per cent. less, and this is the middle of the month. In England, however, the domestic make is large, and in the United States also a larger output seems a reasonable certainty. Altogether, therefore, plenty of cheese to go round looks assured this season, and it is on this that the bears are banking.

Last year at this time, when the make was short, June cheese were selling from 6¾ to 7c., or almost 2c. per pound less than at present.

The store loafer will bring ill-repute to the store, but customers never. And the merchant can take his choice.

THE SUGAR SITUATION.

ONE of the features of the grocery trade at the moment is the persistency with which the refiners of sugar in Canada hold the fort in regard to prices.

For several weeks they have practically done no business whatever. The disappointed speculators who bought in expectation of an increase in the duty on refined sugar have been, and still are, supplying the demand. But, although no orders were coming their way, they refused to reduce prices in order to get business. And week after week has passed and they are of the same opinion still.

The position they have taken is probably the proper one. To have reduced prices in order to meet the figures of the unloading speculators would probably have done more harm than good. The speculators were unloading because they were frightened, and for the refiners to have reduced figures would only have added to their fears.

The reward for patiently waiting until the speculators had relieved themselves of their burdens or their fears is now in sight. During the last few days the wholesalers have, for the first time in several weeks, found it necessary to come to the refiners for yellow sugars. Another interesting feature, too, is the fact that speculators who still have sugar in their possession have advanced their views ⅛c. per pound.

With the sugar season now upon us the market should rule at least steady for a while, at any rate. The weak spot in the market at the moment is the downward tendency of the beet market in London, and that is said to be due to the subsidence of buying on the part of the United States. But in New York the tendency is the other way, the past week having witnessed a further appreciation in refined.

CANNED TOMATOES IN QUEBEC.

CANNED vegetables more and more each succeeding season are becoming a staple article of groceries in the province of Quebec.

A few years ago they were, so to speak, an exotic in the back parishes of the province. Now they are an article of general consumption and in an expanding ratio. Canned tomatoes are an instance of this, the demand from retailers of late having increased very largely also for corn. This is attributed to the fears of a very short crop of both articles in the province owing to the exceptionally cold and rainy weather experienced in the east during the spring and summer. It is believed, in fact, that the tomato crop in Quebec is almost a failure.

This shortage of the fresh article will have to be supplied with canned material procured elsewhere, and the latter is strong in consequence.

A leading Montreal wholesale grocer who carries the bulk of the stock is holding firm at 80c., and the belief is general that in the near future 90c. will be reached.

ANALYSIS OF HONEY.

The report of the chief analyst of the Inland Revenue Department in regard to the analysis of 183 samples of honey collected in all parts of Canada, has just come to hand. The report also contains the results of the analysis of two samples of pure honey obtained at Brantford.

The number of adulterated samples was very small, not exceeding 12 in the whole 180, or 6⅔ per cent. The chief adulterant was starch syrup, of which several of the samples appeared to consist almost exclusively, some genuine honey being added to merely flavor the product. None of the samples were challenged on account of the water they contained, owing to the variability of honey in this respect.

The report will be of interest to those engaged in the business of bee-keeping. The tabulated system adopted in compiling it renders it handy.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 17, 1897.

GROCERIES.

BUSINESS does not exhibit any striking features this week. But business is on the whole better, enquiries for sugar, canned goods, teas and other lines being more numerous. At the same time there is still room for improvement. The general trade outlook is improving and confidence is becoming stronger. One feature of the market which comes in for some comment is the patience with which the refiners maintain prices in spite of the absence of business due to the unloading of the speculative holders of sugar. During the past week some orders for yellow sugars have been placed with the refiners, which is the first for some time. Coffees are quiet, and in some particulars easy. Tapioca is firmer in the primary markets. The demand for Valencia raisins is improving, while supplies are getting scarce. There is nothing new to note in regard to canned salmon, and we hear of no further transactions. Payments are only fair.

CANNED GOODS.

The position of the market for canned tomatoes and peas continues strong, but no quotable change has taken place in values. There were a few cases of canned tomatoes offered on the street this week. The price was rather below what most packers are asking, and the goods were quickly picked up by the different wholesale houses to whom they were offered. Canned salmon is in active demand, the warm weather having stimulated business. Shipments of new season's lobsters are close at hand. The goods are being quoted to arrive at $1.60 for ½-lb. flats and $2.40 for tall tins. The outlook is for a short pack and high prices. Canned fruits are moving but slowly. Beans are in fair demand. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c;. peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; ditto, new season's, to arrive, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.40 for tall tins; flats, $2.85 to $2.90; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.65; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The local market is dull. In the primary markets Rio and Santos growths have ruled easy, although during the last few days there has been some improvement. Javas and East Indian coffees are firm. Jobbers quote green in bags as follows: Rio, 13½ to 15½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

A few syrups have been offered during the week, but there is no demand, and no transactions appear to have taken place. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is dull, but prices are being fairly well sustained. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

For the first time in several weeks the wholesalers have been compelled to go to the refiners for yellow sugars. This is taken as an evidence that supplies of this particular sugar in the hands of speculators are practically exhausted. Granulated sugars, however, are still being obtained from speculators. But still the refiners are refusing to shade prices. Wholesalers report a slightly better demand for sugars, although business is not yet active. Houses which have German granulated in stock report the movement fairly good. In New York the market is tending upward. A couple of grades of refined sugar were advanced 1-16c.

NUTS.

Business is quiet and featureless. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

In the House of Commons on Tuesday the Minister of Finance announced that the Government had decided to reduce the duty on uncleaned rice to ½c. per lb. What effect this will have upon the price of the manufactured article remains to be seen. The jobbers have been purchasing a good deal of tapioca during the past week, and slightly higher prices have been paid in some instances. We quote as follows: Standard "B," broken lots, 3⅞c.; 1 to to 5 sacks, 3¾c., and 5 sacks and over, 3⅝c. per lb.; Japan, 5c.; Patna, 4¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

TEAS.

The condition of the market at the moment is not very interesting. Another shipment of new season's Japan tea arrived on the local market on Tuesday. It was ex Empress of Japan. Very little attention is yet being given by merchants here to Japan teas. Most of the Ceylon teas offering here now are April pick. They are fine heavy liquoring teas, but they are not flavory, and are therefore unsuitable for this market. These teas are offering at a little lower prices. Wholesalers report a slight increase in the enquiry for Japan teas, but there is scarcely any business being transacted. The tea trade generally is quiet. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Latest advices from Patras report the currant market strong, while stocks of all kinds are exhausted except the lower grades of Provincials. We quote: Provincials, 4⅞ to 5c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; Patras, 5¾ to 6c. in bbls., 5¾ to 6c. in half-bbls., and 5¾ to 6c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8c.

Valencia raisins are in much better demand. A scarcity is expected before the new fruit is on the market. During the week several enquiries have been heard from wholesale houses, showing that local stocks are getting exhausted. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 6½ to 7½c.

GREEN FRUITS.

Market has been active all week. Canadian fruits are beginning to move quite freely and strawberries are coming down at jumps. Californian fruits have arrived on the market this week. The warm weather is booming the lemon trade in Canada and the States, but as yet there has been no rise; prices are held firm. There will certainly be an advance in the near future. Pineapples have risen slightly, and bananas have become easier. BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The quantity coming forward is much in excess of requirements. The retail trade is supplied from country stores, and jobbers here report a light trade. Most of receipts have had to be put into cold storage. Large rolls are about done for the season, and dealers seem pleased, as they have been difficult to get rid of. Prices easy, although no quotable change. We quote: Dairy tub, 10 to 12c. for best, and others at 7 to 8c.; large rolls, 9 to 11c.; pound prints, 10 to 12c. Creamery is dull, owing to low price of dairy. Tubs, 15 to 16c.; prints, 16 to 17c.

CHEESE—Market is easy at former quotations. Some factories have sold slightly higher, but we quote no change. Factory price, 8¼c.; jobbing price, 8¾ to 9c. Old cheese steady at 11½c.

PROVISIONS.

An active demand continues in all lines. Quite a few of the local dealers are sold out of stock, and are buyers from larger packers. The high price of live hogs is sure to make prices continue high, as products could not be manufactured to be retailed at present value of live hogs at a profit. Quotations continue about the same.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7¼c. for carload lots, and 7½ to 7¾c. per lb. for ton lots and cases; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 8c.; hams, large, 10½ to 11c.; medium and small, 11½ to 12c.; shoulder hams, 7½c.; backs, 10½ to 11c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½ to 6¾c.; tubs, 6½ to 7c.; pails, 6¾ to 7¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $13 to $13.50; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The situation remains much about as before. We quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 60 to 65c.

DRIED APPLES—There are still a few small lots coming forward. Locally there is nothing doing. The price being paid for choice fruit is 2¼c. f.o.b.

EVAPORATED APPLES—A small local demand is being experienced, but the market rules dull. Holders are asking 3 to 3½c. f.o.b. at outside points.

EGGS—Just lately, owing to warm weather and the decreased consumption as a consequence, it has required considerable effort to keep receipts sold up. However, receipts are becoming lighter. Quotations remain the same. The price is 9c. for No. 1 and 6½ to 7c. for No. 2.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

MAPLE PRODUCTS—Dull. The ruling prices for good syrup are: 5-gallon tins, 55 to 60c. per gallon; 1-gallon tins, 60 to 65c. per gallon; sugar, 6½ to 7½c. per lb.

POTATOES—Are becoming scarcer. Cars were bought by dealers at 25 to 30c. and price out of store is 40c.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Trade in all grains is moderate. Oats and peas are in good demand and prices are firm. We quote: Red wheat, 68 to 69c.; white, 69 to 70c.; oats are in good demand at 20 to 22½c.; peas, 40 to 41c.

FLOUR—Business is dull. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.45; straight roller, $3.85 to $3.90, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Trade continues dull. Rolled wheat has dropped a little, otherwise no change. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3 in bags and $3.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.15 to $2.25; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

SALT.

Trade continues good. Prices are unchanged. Quoted at Toronto, carload lots go at $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

FISH.

Trade is much about the same as a week ago. We quote as follows: Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; pike, 5c. per lb.; whitefish, 6c.; trout, 5½c.; perch, 3c. per lb., fresh herring, 3½c. per lb.; haddies, 7½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $3 to $4 per bbl. and $2.25 per half-bbl.; split herring, $4.50 per bbl. and $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless fish, 3½ to 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.25 per 100; fresh water herring (heads off), $2.50 per keg.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Market brisk. Prices have risen ½c. a lb. Dealers pay 8c. for No. 1, 7c. for No. 2 and 6c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Trade continues good, and the increased prices are firm. No. 1 veal, 8 lbs. and up, 10c. lb.; No. 2, 8c.; Deatons, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. each.

SHEEPSKINS—We quote: $1.25 to $1.35; $1.50 for best; shearlings, 25c. each; lambs, 35c.

WOOL—The same lack of speculative interest and the same feverish prices continue in wool this week. The price is 18 to 19c., but nothing is doing at this low price. Dealers are holding, in spite of the probable reduction.

PETROLEUM.

There has been no noticeable change in the oil market during the week. Trade is brisk, and machine oil continues to be a main feature in the market. Prices are unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 14½c.; carbon, safety, 16½c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 17½c.; Pratt's astral, 17c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 17, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has not furnished much activity during the past week; still, sufficient business is doing to keep the wheels of trade oiled. In sugar the refiners complain of the pressure of outside lots of granulated, but there has been more doing in yellows. Syrups are dull, and molasses has ruled easier at the Islands, but spot values are unchanged. Rice is not as brisk as it was, but the feeling continues firm. Spices are unchanged, while there has been an all round decline in coffee values. Teas have been motionless, the only feature being the arrival of samples of new crop Japans. Tomatoes have been a prominent feature in canned goods, and, under diminishing supplies, have advanced sharply with the strong possibility of still further appreciation in value. There has been little to note in connection with dried fruit, and the weather here has been decidedly against green.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has continued dull during the week. Lately, however, refiners have experienced more enquiry for yellows from jobbers, but granulated is dull with an unsettled feeling, owing to several outside lots which are offering on the market at 4c. in round lots, which, of course, makes it impossible for refiners to sell at 4⅛c., the inside price at which they are holding granulated. The distributing demand has picked up a trifle of late, but the orders are chiefly for small quantities. We quote granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c., and yellows, 3½ to 4c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups is exceedingly quiet and values rule steady at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per pound, as to quality.

MOLASSES.

Advices from primary markets on molasses have been easy, cables on Barbadoes giving the lowest first cost at the Islands on record—5c. It is worthy of note, however, that while this price has been named, sellers will not accept orders at the price, but demand 6c., unless the buyer is prepared to let the order stand over. Round lots of Barbadoes on spot have changed hands at 22½ to 23c. ex wharf. Two cargoes of Antigua have arrived this week, and are offering in bond at 18½c., or about 21c. duty paid. These goods are very bright; much brighter, in fact, than any that has been offered here for some years. A cargo of Porto Rico is also offering at 24c. net cash for the entire cargo, but in a jobbing way 28 to 30c. is asked for it. We quote in a jobbing way : Barbadoes, 24 to 25c.; Antigua, 23 to 25c., and Porto Rico, 28 to 30c.

RICE.

The rice market continues firm in tone in sympathy with strong advices from abroad. Demand, however, is rather quieter than it was last week. We quote : B grade, or any other quality equal or inferior as follows : Bags, 250 lbs., 1 to 4 bags or equal, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags or over, $3.50. Half-bags, 100 lbs., 1 to 4 bags, $3.60; 5 to 9 bags, $3.55; 10 bags and over, $3.50. Quarter-bags, 50 lbs, 1 to 4 bags, $3.65; 5 to 9 bags, $3.60; 10 bags or over, $3.55. Pockets, 12½ to 25 lbs.; 1 to 4 bags, $3.75; 5 to 9 bags, $3.70; 10 bags and over, $3.60.

SPICES.

There has been no cange in spices, the market ruling quiet. We quote: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEES.

This market has exhibited a very weak feeling and prices have been reduced all round. We quote : Maracaibo, 15 to 19c. ; Santos, 11 to 15c.; Rio, 11 to 14c.; Mocha, 22 to 24c., and Java, 22 to 25c.

TEAS.

There has been absolutely nothing doing in tea since last report, either in a wholesale or jobbing way. Samples of new crop

SOME say that grocers don't care what stuff they sell if they get good profits; but we believe that when the actual merits of Cottams Seed are fully known, not a grocer in Canada will choose to sell the other kind for a little more profit.

Six patents secure our formulae, methods, etc., so that no other packet dare be "Like Cottams," or, "As good as Cottams." The Bird Bread in each packet is by itself worth more to any bird keeper than a pound of the rubbish usually sold as bird food.

Then, Cottams is the only packet bird food prepared from the standpoint of the experienced fancier. Others are put up solely to get as great a profit as possible, regardless of the rubbish the birds have to eat. In Cottams, the birds' requirements are supplied first. Profit is a second consideration. Such a statement may not have the orthodox commercial ring. But it's truth. And truth is bound to win.

Cottams Seed is sold by all wholesalers.

Japans arrived on Tuesday from Yokohama and Kobe, and will be offered on the market this week. Altogether the market was never in a better position to receive new teas, as stocks in second hands are extremely light. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature of the canned goods market is the absolute scarcity and pronounced strength of tomatoes, which are held higher at 80c., and the prediction is made that they will touch 90c. ere long. Lobsters also point upward, while there have been forward contracts placed for considerable quantities of canned salmon. Offers of these are made at $1.25 to arrive. We quote: Tomatoes, 80c.; corn, 50 to 80c.; peas, 80c.; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

There has been no change in Valencia raisins. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California loose raisins have met with some enquiry from jobbers during the week, and two or three lots in first hands were entirely absorbed. We quote standard brands California 2-crown, 6¼ to 6¾c., and 3-crown, 7 to 7½c.

Currants continue firm in tone, but business is quiet at 3¾ to 4c. in bbls., 4 to 4¼c. in half bbls., and 4½ to 4¾c. in cases.

Dates are unchanged at 5 to 6c. and figs at 8 to 12c.

Prunes rule dull, but steady. Bosnia, 5½ to 6c.; French, 4 to 5c., and California, 6½ to 7c.

Evaporated fruits have received more attention. Pears and apricots are practically off the market, while peaches are offering lower at 10 to 11c. Prunes rule steady at 8 to 12c.

NUTS.

There has been nothing notable in this line. We quote as follows: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

APPLES.

There are only a few apples to be had here, and these are held at fancy prices, $4.50 to $5 per bbl. being asked for them.

DRIED APPLES.

These continue quiet and featureless. Dried, 2 to 2½c., and evaporated, 3¾ to 4c.

GREEN FRUIT.

The weather has continued unfavorable to the green fruit trade, and, with excessive receipts of all kinds of stock, prices are unsettled. Lemons and oranges show little change, but western strawberries are in overwhelming supply. We quote prices as follows: Valencia oranges, $4.25 to $6 and blood, do., $2.25 to $2.75 per half-box; Messina, do., $2.75 to $3 per box; choice to fancy lemons, $2 to $2.75 per box, and common to good, $1.25 to $1.75; bananas, $1 to $1.75 per bunch; California cherries, $1.50 to $1.75 per box; pineapples, 4½ to 10c., and strawberries, 10 to 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is a fair demand for eggs and the market moderately active. Selected near-by stock sold at 10½ to 11c; ordinary No. 1 at 9 to 9½c., and No. 2 at 8 to 8½c. per dozen.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The maple product market is quiet, the demand being only for small lots. Wequote: Maple syrup, 4¾ to 5c. per lb., and 45 to 55c. per tin; sugar, 6 to 6½c.

HONEY—The demand for honey was slow. White clover comb is offering at 10c., and dark at 7c.; bright extracted at 6½ to 7c. and dark at 4 to 5c. per lb.

BEANS—Beans continue dull and about steady at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and at 65 to 70c. in a jobbing way.

POTATOES—The demand for potatoes is fair, of which the offerings are small, at 45 to 50c. per bag in car lots.

ASHES—Market quiet at $3 to $3.10 first pots, $2.80 to $2.85 seconds, and $4.40 pearls.

TALLOW—Dull at 1½ to 2c. for rough, and 3 to 4c. for rendered.

PROVISIONS.

There has been a much improved demand for smoked meats during the past week, and prices for these goods are higher. We quote: Canadian pork, $13.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7¼c., and compound refined at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb.; hams, 11 to 13c., and bacon, 11 to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

A fair local trade was reported in Manitoba grades of flour, but Ontario dealers stated that business was dull and of a hand-to-mouth character. Prices show no change. We quote: Winter wheat patents at $4.25 to $4.40; straight rollers, $3.75 to $3.90, and in bags, $1.85 to $1.90. Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4; outside brands, $3.65 to $3.75, and spring wheat patents, $4.25 to $4.40.

Business in Manitoba feed is reported active, and prices are firmly held at $10 for bran and $11 for shorts per ton, including bags.

The demand for rolled oats is slow, and prices are unchanged at $2.90 per bbl. and $1.40 per bag.

BALED HAY.

There is a somewhat unsettled feeling in the hay market, in consequence of which buyers are holding off, only taking sufficient to fill actual wants. We quote: No. 1, $12 to $12.50, and No. 2, $10.50 to $11 per ton in round lots. Mail advices from London, Eng., under date of June 1, say: "The rains of the last week have improved English crop prospects, but crop looks like being below average." The Dutch crop has suffered from the cold and dry winds and will be below an average, and their prices have advanced 5s. per ton. The prospects for Canadian are, therefore, better, and June and July can be placed at 75s. ex ship; perhaps a shade more. We quote: Dutch meadow, 70s.; Canadian mixture, 75s.; Canadian clover, 80s. All ex ship, London.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market on spot did not display the snap that many expected as a result of last week's excited country markets. There was no indication from Britain of any disposition to follow the advance, but despite this holders were very firm in their ideas, and a buyer to fill an order with finest Ontario makes would have had to pay 8¾ to 9c. At the wharf Monday morning 4,500 boxes were offered, and they sold at 8 to 8¼c. with the outside the ruling price. In a word, the deal in June cheese has evidently commenced in earnest. All that remains to be proved is, whether the advance has been too sharp or not, and whether buyers on the other side will follow it. The receipts continue simply enormous, amounting to 43,000 odd boxes on Monday alone, but while the output is admittedly heavier in Ontario than last year, the same cannot be said of Quebec. The weather east has been cold and unseasonable, and the output to date is possibly 25 per cent. behind last year. We quote: Finest Ontario cheese, 8¾ to 8⅞c.; finest Townships cheese, 8½ to 8⅝c.; finest Quebec cheese, 8¼ to 8½c.

The butter market is steady, but business is not brisk. Exporters are disposed to do a little buying around 16½c. for boxes of the proper kind of stock, but find it difficult to procure just what they want, as they are gathered in by the local jobbing trade. There is quite a lot of medium to low grade stock on the market, however, and sales of it have been made all the way from 15 to 15½c. as to quality. Cables from Liverpool Monday quoted finest United States butter at 80s. and good at 55s. It is the low price of this butter which makes export business in Canadian creamery difficult.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Goodhugh & Co. have received this week two full cargoes of very bright Antigua molasses.

The strawberry crop in the province of Quebec is pronounced to be an almost complete failure.

Morrow & Ewing received this week the first samples of new-crop Japan tea from Yokohama and Kobe from three different shippers.

In consequence of their marked scarcity, the price of canned tomatoes has been marked up to 80c. and they are expected to go still higher.

Contracts for some 4,000 cases of "Horseshoe" brand salmon have been closed here during the week at $3.75 f.o.b. on the Coast.

There has been an increased demand for smoked meats during the week and the price of both ham and bacon has advanced in consequence.

Agents of lobster packers here state that while their principals have the best intentions in the world many of them believe that they will be unable to entirely supply all the contracts they have in hand.

THE SPONGE CROP.

The entire sponge crop of the world, as estimated by the Government of France about four or five years ago, was a trifle over $2,000,000 per year. Of this the product of the Florida fishery is $350,000 a year, in a good year. Out of this product, $150,000 worth, or thereabouts, is exported, leaving $200,000 to be consumed in the United States. Of the entire $2,000,000 this country consumes $500,000 worth.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 17, 1897.

DULL. That seems to be the state of trade. Markets keep bad and the people through the country complain on account of the wet. Money is very hard to get. The lumbermen are the happiest men in town. While the English market is a little off, most of the millers have sold at the high price. The American market is dull, but quite a quantity of lumber is going forward that it may get in before the new duty goes on. This has helped freights, but they are not expected to hold. Rice continues, contrary to the opinions of many, to advance. Currants are also firm. The demand at this season is not large. In tea dealers feel the effect of the forced sales earlier in the season. The travelers on the road for tea have a rather unsatisfactory time.

OIL—While market is not strong in burning oil no change has been made here in price. The demand is at this season light. A good movement is kept up in lubricating, for which St. John is a good market. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18½ to 19c.; Canadian, 17¼ to 18c.; prime, 14½ to 16c.

SALT—There is a firmer feeling in coarse salt. While stocks are large there is good steady demand. A large quantity is being used locally for the packing of alewives, and there is always a good demand from outside points. Fine shows no change. There is quite a range in Liverpool factory-filled on account of difference in quality. Canadian salt has an improved demand. The sale of this salt in this market has increased a great deal within the last few years. We quote: Coarse, 44 to 46c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, 95c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS—As noted in last week's GROCER, packers are much firmer in their stand on prices than last year. In vegetables, prices are low, except tomatoes, which are quoted much higher than corn and peas. The three lines could be bought together at about the same price as last year. At present tomatoes are scarce here. Some packers show a range of 20c. per doz. in their prices for peas. Lobsters are still high. Haddies easy. Clams and sardines show fair demand. Fall salmon are offered low, but buyers are backward. Oysters show improved sale. Prunes show no change, but tend easy. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; tomatoes, 85 to 90c.; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.75; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.50; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—This and fresh fish are the only lively lines at present. With the falling price in strawberries the demand improves. Valencia oranges hold the quality particularly well this year, and prices keep low. There is a fair demand only for Messina oranges and bloods. Lemons are rather lower. But few apples are selling or are for sale. Bananas have large movement Lettuce and currants are lower; also pines, which have a much improved demand. Tomatoes are lower. Rhubarb is plenty and cheap. We quote: Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3; oranges, Valencia, $5 to $5.50; Messina oranges, $2.75 to $3; blood oranges, $2 to $2.25; bananas, $1.00 to $2.25; lettuce, 25 to 30c. per doz.; pineapples, 10 to 12c.; strawberries, 12 to 15c.; rhubarb, 1 to 1½c. per lb.; cucumbers, 80c. per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Is perhaps the quietest line at present. In dried apples, which have been so dull, there is not even a prospect of better prices after new fruit comes in. Evaporated keep low. Raisins, much to the satisfaction of holders, are light stocks. Prices are easier. Currants are scarce and higher. Dealers are not anxious to sell except cleaned. Onions are quoted rather lower, but hold their price well. Very few Bermudas are in the market this year. California prunes, in which there had been some movement, are dull. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 5½ to 5¾c.; bbls., 5 to 5¼c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 7 to 7½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4¼ to 4½c.; onions, 2¾ to 3c. per lb.; Bermuda onions, $2.50 per crate; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7¾ to 8c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—Dull. Dealers look for rather improved demand during the berry season. Prices keep low, particularly granulated. There is hardly any sale for dark sugar. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅝c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—In Barbadoes people do not know what to think. Prices at the island have gone down to a point never thought of. There is, however, no large buying on the part of dealers here. The demand for Barbadoes having become light and the hot season coming on, merchants do not like to run chances of sour goods. Porto Rico market is better. With no large stocks, prices are firm. St. Croix here is held low, and the quality of same is nice. In syrup there is no business at present. We quote: Barbadoes, 23 to 25c.; Porto Rico, 27 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 25 to 27c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; St. Croix, 20 to 23c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Except in eggs prices are lower. Butter is offered very low from Ontario and Quebec, and local made is coming in more freely. Where quality is good there is steady demand, though at rather lower prices. There is no market for poor butter. Cheese are lower. Local made cheese are now taking the place of Ontario. Factories report milk scarce. Eggs are higher and present stock light, shippers holding back on account of the low prices. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 17c.; creamery, 18½ to 19c.; prints, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 8 to 9c.; cheese, 9½ to 10c.

FISH—Salmon are a good catch and find a ready sale, though at somewhat lower prices. They are chiefly shipped to Boston, though shipments are made to many other places. Shad are now getting scarce, the size of fish running smaller. In gaspereaux, run is also getting over Demand for them for bait has been large this season. About the usual quantity has been packed into alewives. No prices have yet been made on these fish, but it is thought the market will rule easy A few new dry cod are coming in. They find a fair sale at easy prices. For pickled fish, the sale at this season is light. In smoked herring there is no improvement. Receipts are light. Lobsters continue to find better markets elsewhere Halibut is higher and catch is beginning to fall off. We quote: Large cod, $3 to $3.25; medium, $2.60 to $2.75; pollock, $1.10 to $1.15; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 5 to 6c.; shad, half bbl., $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.- Barrington, $3 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.25 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 10c. each, small; gaspereaux, 40 to 50c. per 100; halibut, 8 to 9c. per lb.; fresh shad, 12 to 13c. each; salmon, 10 to 12c.

PROVISIONS—There is light sale, with prices, except on smoked meat, very low. Lard particularly is low. This has improved the movement in this line. Smoked meat business is about over. In barreled pork and beef sales are light, the advantage rather with beef We quote: Clear pork, $14 to $15; mess, $12.50 to $13; plate beef, $12.50 to $13; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; rolls, 8½ to 9c.; pure lard, 7¼ to 7¾c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED—Manitoba flour, which has held its price much better than Ontario grades, is now also moving downward. While the flour market is easy, there is little change in price here. Oatmeal started to move upward, but was not equal to the task. Oats are firm, particularly P.E. Island. Cornmeal continues to have large sale, and the low prices show no change. Beans are trying to work up, but it is slow movement. Barley and split peas are rather lower here. In seed sale is about over. It has been a successful season. Hay finds better sale at rather higher prices. Feed is rather lower, particularly bran. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $5; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60; medium, $4.25 to $4.35; oatmeal, $3.35 to $3.40; cornmeal, $1.75 to $1.80; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15; hand-picked beans, 85 to 90c. prime, 70 to 80c.; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $12.50 to $13 barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; timothy seed, Canadian, $2 to $2.25; do. do., American, $1.75 to $2; clover, 8¾ to 9c.; alsike, 8½ to 9c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Steamer Westport on her last trip took 50,000 gasperaux to the St. Mary's Bay fishermen for bait.

Merritt Bros. & Co. received this week a car of Coleman's salt. The Coleman 5c. cartoon is a handsome package.

A. A. McClaskey, who has of late years been with the firm of Taylor & Dockrill, is starting business on his own account.

THE GROCER extends congratulations to Mr. H. H. Reid, bookkeeper for T. S. Simms & Co., who was this week married to Miss Pauline Lane.

Lumber is being shipped to English ports from here at about the rate of three million per day, there being upward of twelve steamers loading here all the time.

The imports by the West India steamer for St. John this month were light, owing to the dropping off in the demand for Barbadoes molasses. Among other goods were 250 casks Barbadoes molasses, 35 half-bbls. tamarinds, 32 crates Bermuda onions, 500 bags cocoanuts. Some of the last named were for Montreal and Toronto.

Mr. S. J. Cherry, who has many personal friends here, has been pushing his "Jersey Lily" flour here this week. He is represented in this market by I. C. Bowman.

Smith & Tilton, brokers, of this city, have this spring remodelled their offices. They are now settled, and while always having pleasant offices, a marked improvement has been made.

Mr. Francois Solari, of Smyrna, this week called on the trade here in company with his local representative, Mr. E. T. Sturdee. Mr. Solari was much pleased with St. John and with his reception by the trade.

There has been some interest in tea circles here over the report that quantities of teas which had been refused admission into the United States were being sent to the Canadian market. While this may be true, it is not of necessity bad tea, as the new standards in the United States are very high. The Canadian law is also such that if bad tea were being shipped here Canadian appraisers could reject them.

LOBSTERS IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

The St. John's, Newfoundland, correspondent of The Fishing Gazette, says:

"Lobsters are becoming a scarce article in this country, and right in this city as high as $9 per case is offered. An English firm has an agent here who visits every canning establishment in the island and secures the season's pack in advance, and the canners prefer to sell to him, as they receive cash, whereas if they sell them to the merchants they must take up at least half the amount in the goods sold by the said merchant."

PACKAGE TEAS IN THE MARITIME PROVINCES.

The pioneer of package teas in the Maritime Provinces was W. Frank Hatheway, of St. John, N.B. He began two years ago with the putting up of China teas in lead packages. He started with only two employes. Now he has 10 to 12 persons employed steadily putting up his teas in one and half-pound packages. Five years ago these package teas were imported from England and the labor, etc., all went into English factories. To-day, the labor of packing, the manufacturing of cases and the printing of the labels are all done in St. John, New Brunswick. To illustrate Mr. Hatheway's increase in his packet tea business, we note that just lately he gave an order for 60,000 labels, 1,400 packing cases and 5 tons of tea lead.

W. Frank Hatheway's teas have a large sale throughout New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, June 17, 1897.

INTENSELY hot weather has set in, and already the thermometer is wandering between 85 and 90 in the shade. Vegetation in the last week has been phenomenal. One of our local market gardeners showed cucumbers of good size and quality which had been grown in the open air and were ready for the table June 10. Trade generally is very fair. About 30 creameries are now in active operation, and the average is about 1,000 lbs. each per week. The B.C. market has held up very well, but is now showing signs of glutting, and in the near future dealers will have to look to Montreal and Great Britain for a market. Butter is being offered by brokers at the Coast for 18½ and 19c. The butter manufactured is of very fair quality, but has been somewhat affected by the dryness of the season. However, the abundant warm rains of the past week have tided over this difficulty. Dairy butter, sweet yellew, is bringing 10c. per lb.

CHEESE—About 12 factories are working, but the supply is not yet sufficient for export. The price ranges from 8 to 8½c. per lb.

POULTRY—Chickens, live, 50c. per pair, or 10c. lb. dressed; ducks, 50 to 60c. per pair.

POTATOES—Market is stiffening; 40 to 50c. per bushel for Early Rose and Beauty of Hebron.

GREEN FRUITS — California seedling oranges are out of the market. Supply of Med. sweets is very limited. Prices range from $4.25 to $4.50 per case. St. Michael's, $5 to $5.25 per case; few boxes fancy bloods, $5.25 to $5.50. California Valencias, due to arrive this week, will sell at $5 25 to $5 50. Lemons on Montreal steamers have not arrived in satisfactory condition, and prices are lower than they ordinarily would be owing to the immense shrinkage in repacking, and are selling from $4.25 to $4.75 per box, according to size and condition. Bananas, fancy stock, $2 to $2.75, as to size, while anything off condition goes down to $1 to $1.50 per bunch. Strawberries are nearly out of the market and are selling at $2.75 per case. California cheries, very fancy, $1.50 per box.; onions, California, $4 per cwt; cucumbers, 90c. to $1 per dozen; pineapples, good, $2.50 per doz.; ditto, extreme fancy large, $3.50; Tomatoes (Mississippi), 4-box crates, $2.25 per crate. Special features this week are California plums; small lots, $2.50 to $2.75 20-lb. crates; California apricots, $2.25 to $2 50 per crate.

SUGAR—Market fair and prices a little easier than formerly, granulated, 4⅞c.; yellows, 4¼ to 4½c. Syrups are little changed. Glucose syrup is worth about 2c. per lb.

RICE—"B" is completely out of the market, but arrivals are expected in course of a few days, which will sell at 4¼ to 4½c. per lb. Later shipments will probably bring ⅛c. less per lb. There is plenty of Japan, which is offering freely at 5c. There is also now in transit shipment of No. 1 China rice, which will sell at 4½ to 4¾c.

COFFEE—Market is dull; nothing doing.

CANNED GOODS — Eastern packers are making enquiries as to possible wants of the jobbers. Corn, $1.60 to $1.65 per case; tomatoes, $1.90 per case. Peas remain unchanged, with prices firm and demand good, at $1.65 to $1.70; gallon apples, $2.25 per doz.; standard, 3's, $2 per case; preserved, 3's, $3.20 per case.

DRIED FRUITS—New apricots are offering, but buyers are a little shy, waiting for market to settle. Dates are 7c.; figs, natural, in tapnets, 4½ to 4¾c. Apples, no improvement, stocks heavy, prices, 3½ to 4c.; evaporated, very cheap, 4⅞c. Currants, firm at 5½ to 6¼c., according to quality.

BEANS—Not much doing in this product at present. Prices very low. Prime hand-picked only bring $1.10.

BUFFALO BILL.

The famous Buffalo Bill is coming to Canada again with his world-renowned show and will be in Montreal next week. Major Burke, Buffalo Bill's advance agent, arrived in Montreal on Sunday last and is busily engaged completing the necessary arrangements. Buffalo Bill will be in Montreal for the Jubilee on June 21st, 22nd and 23rd, and his detachments of English, German and United States cavalry will, no doubt, attract an extra share of attention owing to the military features of the celebration here. The wonderful work they do will be a revelation to Montrealers. It is probable that in their parade on Monday the American and English cavalrymen will march side by side with the standard of each country at their head, as was done in Boston at a celebration of the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill. This happy thought aroused the enthusiasm of the Boston people, more especially as a white dove perched over each flag. Our show, says the major, is an important factor in promoting international amity. That their performances showing the riding of the west have stimulated the cavalry of Europe is a claim made with apparent justice.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. A. McKnight, of Liverpool, England, who has been in the United States and Canada for some weeks, sailed for home on the Germanic on the the 9th inst.

Mr. G. B. Ganni, of Leghorn, Italy, was in Toronto this week.

Mr. Joseph F. Eby, of the firm of Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., is spending a few days at Trent Bridge, on the Severn, enjoying a little fishing.

The friends of Mr. Robert Duncan, who for the past thirty years has been a well-known figure around the warehouse of Perkins, Ince & Co., will regret to learn that he is confined to his bed through illness.

Mr. Henry Wright, of Wright & Copp, is away on a fishing excursion in Hastings. Strange to say, he is fishing for fish and not for business, although his friends say he is a greater expert at the latter than at the former. When Mr. Wright returns we shall know whether this is so or no. By his fish we shall know him.

Mr. Thomas Philp, of Philp & May, Cannington, spent a day in Toronto this week. Mr. Philp reports that the crops in his neighborhood have improved a great deal during the past few days and that the business outlook is fairly good. While little or no building was being done in Cannington, a number of farm buildings were being erected in the vicinity, notably barns, of which some fine ones were being constructed.

LOBSTERS VERY FIRM.

Advices from the Maritime Provinces with regard to lobsters point to a much lighter pack than usual this season. Several wholesale grocery houses in Montreal, who had already placed fair sized contracts with the packers, tried to double their orders the other day, but could not do so. The packers were willing to accept all the business they could handle, but while the spirit was willing the flesh was weak, several expressing the fear that they would have difficulty in supplying contracts now in hand without considering the question of fresh orders. As a result values on lobsters are extremely firm. and the very best figure at which they are obtainable is $9 per case in round lots.

"Jubilee" stove enamel, to retail at 10c. per tin, is for sale by the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Price's rennet wine, also Pure Gold rennet wine, is in stock with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering "Horseshoe" salmon, to arrive in September, at specially low figures.

DECREASED IMPORT BUSINESS.

THE Montreal Custom house issued their returns for the month of May last Thursday, and it only requires a glance at these figures to convince anyone that the volume of import business at the leading port of the country has been largely decreased as compared with May last year. The total dutiable goods this year were valued at $1,524,909; the free, 1,084,415, and the coin and bullion, $24,900; a total of $2,634,224; against $1,929,094 dutiable, $1,120,631 free, and $402,614 coin and bullion, a grand total of $3,452,339 for May, 1896. The following table, giving a few of the leading articles of import, will emphasize how general import business has shrunk :

	1896.	1897.

INSTRUCTIONS TO SHIPPERS.

McWilliam & Everist have made their spring announcement in the shape of a little book of information and advice. As it goes mostly to the dealers throughout the country who supply them with fruit, advice in regard to care of trees and methods of planting is given, which may be imparted through these to the growers. It is the object of this firm to improve Canadian trade in the fruit line, and in this pamphlet they have given information which is gathered from the experience and advice of nurserymen who have made this subject a special study. Transplanting, planting, pruning, staking, mulching and hedging are all dealt with, and several spraying mixtures and times for spraying are given.

Directions for shipment appear also, while the few pages added to allow the shipper to keep an account of goods shipped to the firm render the announcement very handy indeed.

Here are a couple of extracts from the instructions to shippers :

Be careful when packing fruit to see that the top of the basket is a fair sample of what the package contains, and your fruit will command better prices throughout the season, as the purchaser buys the fruit by what he sees, and if it turns out small he will in future refrain from buying any fruit put up by the same shipper. Where it is possible we would advise you to grade the fruit; separate the small from the large and send in different baskets.

Avoid shipping to arrive on holidays as much as possible, as they are poor market days. As a rule fruit has to be cleared out at very low prices to pedlars or held over. We understand fully the difficulty in complying with this request, but it would be better to pick your riper fruit and send it the day before.

THE INTEREST BILL.

In Sir Oliver Mowat's Interest Bill, it will be remembered that a limit of 8 per cent. was set on money. Since it was introduced it has been urged upon Sir Oliver that this limit would seriously interfere with business, so he has proposed that the original provision of the bill containing this restriction be struck out and a clause introduced which would render illegal, interest over 6 per cent. per annum which was not stated in the agreement to be equivalent to a certain percentage per annum. The amendment was adopted, but as the bill was not reported there may be a further discussion upon this particular feature.

THE OUTLOOK IN MANITOBA.

MR. G. F. GALT, the head member of the firm of G. F. & J. Galt, is in Toronto for a few days, having come down from Winnipeg last week. Knowing that this firm runs one of the most prominent grocery houses of the west, and that Mr. Galt is well informed on every subject concering the welfare of that part of the Dominion, THE GROCER called on him.

In the course of the conversation I asked him—as every one from Manitoba is asked—how the prospects were for a good crop this year.

"Well," he said, "they might be better and they might be worse. Yes, the reported dry spring was a fact, and the growth has not been very abundant; May has been rather backward, but the recent rains have brightened the hopes of the farmers. The large increase in acreage, too, will make a vast difference in the amount of grain produced this year."

Continuing, he said that trade was good in the west, but as his trade was confined to, or rather scattered over, Manitoba and the Northwest, he spoke in regard to these districts only.

"Well, can you see the reflection of the gold mines or the head-lights on the engines of the new railways in Winnipeg yet?" I asked.

"Perhaps slightly," he answered. "If British Columbia booms, a market will be opened up for the produce of the districts into which our travelers go. The mines in the district around Rat Portage will aid us in the same manner."

He concluded our short conversation by saying that the sales of "Blue Ribbon" tea, from the Toronto agency under the management of Mr. Mackay, had exceeded his expectations.

MODERN COOKING.

The following lines on "Cooking According to Science" appeared in a recent issue of The New England Magazine:

Give me a spoon of oleo, ma,
And the sodium alkali,
For I'm going to bake a pie, mamma,
I'm going to bake a pie.
For John will be hungry and tired, ma,
And his tissues will decompose;
So give me a gramme of phosphate,
And the carbon and cellulose.

Now give me a chunk of caseine, ma,
To shorten the thermic fat;
And hand me the oxygen bottle, ma,
And look at the thermometer:
And if the electric oven's cold
Just turn it on half an ohm,
For I want to have supper ready
As soon as John comes home.

Now pass me the neutral dope, mamma,
And rotate the mixing machine,
But give me the sterilized water first,
And the oleomargarine,
And the phosphate, too, for now, I think,
The new typewriter's quit,
And John will need more phosphate food
To help his brain a bit.

FOR DRYING FISH.

While the demand for fish, the world over, is steadily increasing, the demand for and consumption of salt fish is steadily declining. The salt fish market is gradually being supplanted by the supply of dry fish from Nova Scotia and St. Pierre.

The United States have hitherto carried on quite an export trade, particularly with Hayti and San Domingo, in pickled salt fish, but these markets are now being supplied with the Canadian cured dry fish. These fish are also going to tropical countries, such as Africa and South America.

This falling off in consumption of salt fish is being felt severely all along the New England Coast, for the Americans themselves prefer the "English" dry fish. In the past on importations of this brand the Americans had to pay a duty of 75c. per cwt., and under the new American tariff the duty will be largely increased.

The secret of this Canadian success lies in the fact that Whitman's drying process has been used in the Maritime Provinces only. Were it not for the difficulty of drying the codfish in such a humid and fickle climate as prevails on the Coast, these light salted, hard dried fish could be made in New England, but as it is they are being dried only in Nova Scotia.

Mr. Whitman is now, however, trying to sell the right of this patent process for operation on the New England Coast.

TOO MUCH CREDIT.

A MERCHANT sat in his office with a pen clinched in his fist, a look of distress his countenance bore while his eyes were full of mist, says Omaha Trade Exhibit. On the table before him lay a book representing the labor of years, and the items shown on the debit side told the cause of his look and his tears. For years he had struggled, figured and saved, in the hope that he might lay away a little stuff for the comfort of age and provide for a rainy day. He had toiled from dawn till dewy eve for twenty years or more and every man who bought on time knew "Uncle Jake" kept store. The fellow who is on the beat, the man with nothing to do, or anyone in need of things, bought of Jake without a sou. All had their names on old Jake's book with balances in red, and now "hard times" had struck the town, the old man wished 'e was dead. His bills came due—this never fails—jobbers must have their pay, or else the festive sheriff gets his work in right away. A draft was made on Uncle Jake—which draft he failed to meet—and now the sheriff had the keys while Jake was in the street. "Credit" had done it. The case was plain. The story was fully told in the book which lay on the table before poor Jake—but the story is old. He couldn't refuse the customers time. They would pay him, he thought, some day; but alas! for his faith in human kind, so many do faith betray! But time rolled on —as time does do—Old Jake was clear dead broke; his youth was gone, his old friends too; 'twas plain he soon would "croke." The world seemed like a blank to him, his face was wrinkled and wan, his form was bent, his step unsafe, he was old, but yet a young man. Credit had done it. The worry disease was claiming Jack for its own; it was now apparent that pretty soon he would go to a brand new home; a home beyond this world of strife, where men are tried and true and live out God's commandments. "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you." The papers said one Sabbath morn that Jake had sickened and died; business reverses had killed the man; left his family in want beside. The preacher who said the last sad rites, from the store book took his text; he said that the ledger had murdered the man, and he talked as if he was vexed. How many men, this good man said, were sent to early decay by books like this with accounts unpaid, he was not prepared to say.

That they were many he fully believed and he thought it was now full time that those who could should pay their bills and business men draw the line against too reckless a crediting, if they would escape the fate which overtook the man in the box, before it was too late.

Now, this is not a fancy sketch. "There is more truth than poetry in it." And we don't intend any reflection on our poetry, either. Business men should draw a lesson from it.

GETTING READY TO BUILD THE ROAD.

Freight cars in the C.P.R. yards are now being loaded with grading implements, tents, groceries and other supplies for the early construction work on the Crow's Nest Pass railway. It appears that the sub-contractors have been given a "tip," which has caused them to make all preliminary preparations to commencing the work at once. The Fairchild Company yesterday loaded four cars of wagons, scrapers, etc., and it was learned that their destination was the Crow's Nest Pass line. Several contractors in the city have been showing unwonted energy lately, and although they have nothing to say regarding the cause, it is well understood that it means that work on the line will be commenced as soon as those holding the contracts can get their supplies in the field. It is estimated that nearly $50,000 was spent recently in the city purchasing supplies.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

MANY GROCERS WILL

persist in keeping Biscuits in wooden boxes exposed to all the varying temperatures, the dust and the flies. The better way is to have them arranged in our glass-fronted tins. Your customers will appreciate the change. When ordering again remember this. It will help to increase your sales. Our travellers will give you pointers as to our methods of showing off your Biscuits.

MINT... PUFF-STRAPS

RECOGNIZING the great popularity of peppermint with the sweets-loving public, we are the first to introduce to the trade Pliable Licorice containing this flavor.

The delicious quality of our Pliable Licorice is well known; it is matchless in this respect as well as in its flavor and finish.

Our Triple Tunnel Tubes and Navy Plugs are great favorites also, and are made of the same material, although flavored differently. . . . . .

We recommend all these goods as suitable for Summer Trade; they will please the most exacting taste as wholesome, smooth and palatable confections. . . .

THE COST OF DOING BUSINESS.

A MAN asked the representive of this paper the other day if a wholesale house could do business on a basis of 5 per cent. profit on the invoice price of goods. The answer was that such a proposition was absurd. A recent address at a business men's convention in the Southern States dealt with this question of the cost of doing business, and the sentiments are worth considering at this time both by retailers and wholesalers :

Business methods of to-day are quite different from those of our fathers of 50 years ago. Then they had no railroads, no telegraph lines, and a merchant had to make a long, tedious journey to market to supply himself with 6 or 12 months' supply of merchandise ; mails were slow and newspapers were not read as much as they are to-day; people were not as well informed on subjects in general. Then profits in selling goods were very large, and it was not necessary that one should be particular about his expense account or his profits, which were always large enough and easily obtained. But the introduction of railroads and telegraph lines have wrought a wonderful change in the increased methods of transportation and the marvelous improvement in the interchange of communications between the most distant portions of the world.

FAMILIARITY WITH BUSINESS DETAILS.

Commerce has been revolutionized. The merchant and manufacturer of to-day have the opportunity of extending their trade to an extent only limited by their power to produce and their ability to determine the needs of customers. Commerce is always conservative and has its basis in knowledge, and hence it is highly important that we should acquaint ourselves with all of the details of our business and not be groping along in the dark without any knowledge of where we will land, awaiting the inventory and balance sheet at the end of the year to ascertain whether we have made or lost.

CHANGED CONDITIONS.

Bradstreet's reports that out of a list of firms doing business in the United States and Canada of 1,162,048 there are 300,000 names of individuals, firms and corporations annually dropped. One hundred thousand of these are not classed in the regular failures, since they pay in full by exhausting their means and quit business on account of failing to succeed. You will notice there is about one-third of the total number who drop out annually and are yet not classed as failures in the ordinary commercial reports. About the same number of new persons join the ranks, which, of course, makes a rapidly changing body. If this condition of things is kept up for a little while you can readily realize that the business public of to-day are a different population from that of comparatively a few years ago, and that with the new methods and the new conditions prevailing it is highly important for us to equip ourselves for our work.

REMEDIES FOR EXISTING EVILS.

It is generally admitted that the last few years of business have been periods of depression, and the immediate future does not promise much change for the better. Competition seems to be growing fiercer and harder. The percentage of profits in proportion to the gross sales must now be larger than it was formerly in order to take care of the expense account, but unfortunately the percentage of profits to the gross sales seems to be growing less. This must be remedied. The question now is how to do it. One way is to cut down our expenses, which most every one will find difficult to do ; another is to increase the percentage of profits on our gross sales, which we may do by concert of action ; but it will require concert of action, which, from the very nature of the case, is very difficult to obtain, but it must be obtained in some way, and if we cannot devise methods possibly our successors will, and it must be a humiliating confession to think we have not the ability to accomplish this end. My idea is that one of the most successful methods of bringing this about is for all to look closely into the question of

WHAT CONSTITUTES THE TRUE COST OF DOING BUSINESS.

The idea only a few years ago was (and I am persuaded there are still some who think so) that the invoice price and freight added to deliver the merchandise into the store constitutes the proper cost upon which to base the selling price, and if he has sold for a profit beyond this he is making money. This might be true if he had no house rent to pay, no interest on capital, no interest on borrowed money, no insurance, no taxes, no office expenses, no stationery bills, no postage, no telephone, no drayage, no boxing, no clerk hire to do the work in the store, no traveling salesmen, hotel bills, railroad fare, etc., for same, no salaries for the principals themselves, and, in fact, every other item of expense that enters into a business which is not considered in the invoice price with freight added, but all of these expenses will come in whether we want them to or do not want them to, and must be figured into the annual balance, even though they were not counted in the cost of distributing the goods.

It would be far better to recognize them as part of the cost when we go out to make prices, and if every one did this I think we would have less cutting of prices than at present, for it is reasonable to suppose that no one would go on the road to offer goods for less than it cost him to put them in the store and sell them and make collections for the same. Recollect that the cost is not all considered until you have the cash for sale back in hand ; even the discount which your customers take and return shipments which occur through mistakes in shipping goods, even by the most careful houses, and numerous other expenses which it would be hard to enumerate, but which are sure to appear ; also the frequent charities which a merchant is compelled to make, and donations to customers; all these must be considered as part of the expenses.

EXPENSE ACCOUNT.

There does not appear to be any uniform method of keeping expense account. Almost all will admit that the salaries of employes, fuel, lights, repairs, postage, telegrams, traveling expenses, stationery, telephone, advertising, miscellaneous expenses, association dues, are all proper items of the expense account, and make up the cost of selling goods, while there are some who do not consider the salaries of principals, interest on capital invested, charity, insurance, taxes, gifts to customers, rent, collections on exchange, discounts deducted by customers, bad accounts, drayage on team account—some passing some of these accounts through merchandise account, others through profit and loss account, while others ignore them altogether. It appears to me it might be more forcible to us to pass these all primarily into the expense account as we go along and then we would have before us monthly what the expense of doing business was, while in the other way, passing them through the merchandise account or profit and loss account, which amounts to the same thing in the end, we do not discover it so readily and forcibly until the year is gone and the mistakes have been made. Besides, I fear that in estimating the profits that we are making we lose sight of all stock which is lying idle on the shelves, some of which is only turned occasionally, and such as is termed hard stock or job lot stock, which perhaps, is not turned in years, but the part we are selling must always pay the expense of that which lies on the shelf.

If one merchant who owns his own building and does his own traveling does not consider the rent, nor taxes, nor insurance, nor salary for himself—and I am told there are examples of this kind--you can readily see when he goes out to make prices for his goods that he would figure the cost of doing business at a much less price than a man who considers all of the items which have been enumerated and which most surely enter into the true cost. If this man was affecting no one but himself, and he chose to pursue these methods, then we would have no right to complain, but when he goes out to offer his goods in competition with others upon a false idea of the cost of doing business, and in consequence making such prices as will eventually result in failure, we think he should have due regard for the rights of others, and while he goes down to failure be considerate of taking others with him. We do not suppose that anyone goes out with this view in his mind, and perhaps has no thought about it in this way, and feels that he is making a legitimate profit and does not discover the error until it is too late.

CAUSES OF FAILURE.

The large list of changes in the names of business firms, as enumerated at the outset by Bradstreet, indicates that there are very many failures. It behooves us to look into the cause of these failures and avoid them if we may. It is very much better for every one concerned that every merchant should conduct his business economically and earn a fair profit; for no failure is beneficial to a community in which it happens. It often results in the lowering of prices and destruction of profits to those who are seeking to do a legitimate business and who are striving to retain their commercial integrity and good name by paying dollar for dollar for what they buy. As I said before, I do not believe that any man is going deliberately to this end, but it is evident that many do go there unawares.

THE FAILURE OF COMBINATIONS.

Other methods have been tried to correct this evil of cutting prices—viz., by having a common agreement as to what price we should make on certain goods in a specified territory. This, so far as I know, has always resulted in comparative failure, and I believe will continue to do so, for where it is necessary to make an agreement with more than two or three parties as to the maintenance of prices, such an agreement is pretty sure to be a failure. These associations eventually break up with bitter jealousies among the members who once endeavored to work together, resulting in very much lower prices than before the agreement was inaugurated, bringing about demoralization generally.

Now, if this thing be true with manufacturers, who are much fewer than jobbers, then how much more difficult, considering the large number, would it be for jobbers to formulate and maintain a working agreement. Some other method must be found to remedy these evils than that of formulating prices at which we must all sell. The only kind of combination that will ever succeed will be a combination that can reduce expenses and cheapen the prices below the reach of all competition upon the same ideas as the Standard Oil Company have always worked. But this has always been foreign to the idea of all combinations; they immediately get avaricious and put up prices unreasonably high, encouraging rascality and the building of more factories, of which we already have too many. However, I am persuaded that if we could be led to see the true cost of doing business, and that products of most kinds are declining in value, as they have been doing for a period of years, so that it requires our selling more of them to reach the same amount in dollars and cents, it would necessarily require a better percentage of gain on our gross sales than in former years because our expenses have not lessened. Railroad fares, hotel bills and salaries of traveling men have not declined in the same proportion as the wares we are selling.

INDISCREET SALESMEN.

It has been said that traveling salesmen are very largely responsible for the prices; I am not able to say whether this is a fact or not, but would it not be well for us to keep the salesmen constantly posted about the expense of transacting business, and they, being sensible men, as they must be, can readily see that the business cannot continue to run and pay good salaries unless something beyond expense is obtained, and that the inevitable result will be lower salaries for traveling men, which may be done unwillingly by the house they represent, but which nevertheless becomes a necessity. We know it is very difficult for even a good salesman to obtain what is a fair market price for an article when another salesman less considerate, just ahead of him or just behind him, is making some special leader prices which are not authorized by the house, but which he does unwisely, hoping thereby to secure a nice order or to make a customer believe that he can afford to sell goods cheaper than anyone else.

REMUNERATION AND PROFITS.

I have heard it said that the method of working salesmen on the profit-sharing basis has a tendency to results of this kind; I suppose this is where they are employed on a percentage of the gross profits and where said salesman does not have to consider all of the fixed charges, such as taxes, light, insurance, office expenses, etc., and feels that if he has made a dollar on a sale he has made just his part of that profit, and, without due consideration as to the profits the house will make, will accept the order anyway. I cannot feel, though, that there are very many salesmen of this sort on the road, or, at least, they will not continue to be on the road, for an intelligent man will and should have due consideration of the interest of the firm for which he works.

SPECIAL BUYING FACILITIES.

I sometimes think that some merchant attempts to make cheap prices, feeling that he has superior ability to buy his goods better and cheaper than his competitors, and has a real advantage over them, and for this reason goes into the market and makes very low prices, feeling that he can afford to do so. It is possibly true that all of us get some specials which do not go to the ordinary buyer who does not keep strictly up with the market, but this is an exception and not the rule, and it is usually not articles on which he would depend for affecting the general profits of the business to any great extent. My general observation has been that the jobber who is able to pay promptly for what he buys and has an established credit and ability to dispose of goods in quantities, usually buys his goods at the very best market prices; for there are salesmen representing factories visiting him frequently, who are all anxious to obtain his order, and will name him the very best price they can or are allowed to; besides, we have usually noticed that these special deals, instead of being a blessing to him, are usually a hindrance. He seeks with this leverage to force sales, which may be necessary on account of the surplus taken, and gives away more in his selling price than he saved in buying, and thus demoralizes the market prices, setting a precedent for himself as well as for his competitor which is sure to cause him trouble in future. It will, therefore, be a much safer basis for us to proceed upon that our customer is buying his goods just about as cheaply as we are, and for us to demand a fair return for ours.

THRIFTY TO THE LAST.

An old Lancashire miller, noted for his keenness in matters financial, was once in a boat trying his best to get across the stream which drove his mill. The stream was flooded, and he was taken past the point at which he wanted to land; while, farther on, misfortune still further overtook him, to the extent that the boat got upset. His wife, realizing the danger he was in, ran frantically along the side of the stream, crying for help in a pitiful voice; when, to her sheer amazement, she was suddenly brought to a standstill by her husband yelling out: "If I'm drowned, Molly, dunnot forget that flour's gone up two shillin' a sack!"—Tit-Bits.

A PRETTY WEDDING.

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. Kelso, Belleville, Ont., when Miss Lilian R. Kelso, youngest daughter of the late Thomas Kelso, wholesale grocer, was led to the altar by Mr. John A. Laidlaw, of the dry goods firm of Gibson & Laidlaw. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Kelso, and Miss Bars, while Mr. James Gibson, the groom's business partner, acted as groomsman. The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of white satin, with the customary veil, and carried a splendid bouquet. The bridesmaids wore dresses of white silk. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome gold pendant, with diamond and pearl settings, and to the bridesmaids he gave gold rings, set with pearls and amethysts. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. W. Maclean, M.A., pastor of St. Andrew's church, and was witnessed by a large number of invited guests, including the relatives of the bride and groom. After a wedding dinner the happy young couple left for a wedding trip to Toronto, New York, Albany, Chicago, and other large cities. The bride received an unusually large and beautiful array of presents, chief among which were a piano and a cabinet of solid silver from the groom's parents.

GRENOBLE WALNUTS DAMAGED.

Advices received from France are to the effect that floods in the Grenoble Valley have caused great damage and that in common with other goods the crop of Grenoble walnuts is expected to be short as a consequence of the heavy storms. For the small stocks remaining in the primary market prices have advanced the equivalent of about 1c. per lb., and it is said that the cost of further importations would be fully 8½c. per lb. at the existing rate of duty and 9c. at the proposed rate.

A HUNGRY MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

"How do you suppose a famished man feels," asked the man in the smoker, "when he has neither money nor food, and finds a $10 bill lying on the pavement at his feet?"

"As if he were looked after by a special providence, I should say," was the answer.

"That was my experience once when I was stranded away from home, waiting for the letter—with money in it—that never came. I was looking into the window of a restaurant where a delicious-looking boiled ham was displayed, set off around the edges with feathery green. Happening to cast my eyes on the pavement, I saw the bill, folded just as it had fallen from its owner's pocket book. Boys, do you know how many things $10 will buy in anticipation? First, there was the biggest and best supper a starving man ever tasted, just within reach. And I went right in and ordered it."

He tapped his pipe and looked thoughtful.

"Did the supper taste as good as you anticipated?" asked one of the crowd.

"I don't know. I never tasted it."

"What? Was it a failure?"

"Yes, so far as I was concerned. The bill was a counterfeit!"

WHOLESALING V. RETAILING.

Wholesale business of any kind is one that may keep on growing for many years. There is almost no limit to its development. While the average retailer's business is limited by the size of his store and his neighborhood, no matter how much capital he may have, the wholesale dealer or manufacturer may increase his business almost without limitation. He can add to his customers, increase his salesmen and the territory for his operations. Therefore, if a man wants to become a millionaire, he has better chances in the wholesale trade than in the retail business, except in the departmental store line. Unfortunately there are not as many chances in the wholesale business, and there are not many people having the capital, ability and experience for it. —Retail Grocers' Advocate.

BUYING EGGS.

Eggs are an article that the grocer from this out can buy better of some good house that makes a specialty of candling them, than he can buy them "loss off" and candle them himself. Egg candling is an art, and, while the grocer can tell a black egg from good ones, yet few grocers can tell a "weak" egg or a "salt" or a "held" egg, even when they appear perfectly clear.—Commercial Enquirer.

FINE ART WINDOW DRESSING.

"WINDOW dressing, as well as store decoration in general, is a fine art now; it is a science. Good window dressers are in demand, and there are very few of them," was the remark made to a reporter for The N. Y. Evening Post by the director in a store, whose business it is to criticize the window dressers' achievements and order a window 'out' when the effect is not satisfactory.

"The most difficult window to dress, because the most tedious, is a notion window, and yet it is one that brings in, perhaps out of all departments, the most practical return to the firm for the time and thought put into it. Next to the notions come silks. The shades and lustre of silks are full of beautiful possibilities for the window dresser, but the silks are the most expensive goods in the house and must not be pinned, must not be crushed, rumpled or allowed to have the slightest bit of bloom taken off them. Wash fabrics are not easily managed; the ginghams and cotton stuffs are stiff and unyielding, and refuse to lend themselves to design at the hands of the decorator that can easily be exhibited in softer goods. There are twenty different styles of plaiting and over-lapping and draping silk or wool. These styles can be regularly taught to a boy or a girl anxious to learn, though some people's fingers are so clumsy that they might take lessons for years and be but bunglers in the end. The successful window-dresser must have a knowledge of color and proportion and the price and value of the goods he deals with, but he must know something about history and mythology likewise, and be quick to get up new designs for Decoration Day, St. Valentine's, for the fall school-opening time, for the Fourth of July, Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, Easter, Christmas, any and all public and religious festivals and celebrations that touch the whole people. Whether the occasion be of national or only commercial importance, the judicious use of wax figures is a great factor. Wax figures give a realism and life to the window that cannot be dispensed with, but they must be good figures and must be disposed in an artistic way. A man can have his windows arranged so as to show off the cheapness of his goods pure and simple, and again he can give the better-priced goods such a prominent place and arrange them so dexterously as to concentrate the shopper's attention on the value of the better grade in contrast with the cheaper."

"Where do our best window-dressers come from?"

"A good many come from England, from apprenticeship in Cheapside and St. Paul's Churchyard. A good many learn the trade as boys, from helping under the head decorator in a store; some excellent window-dressers are evolved from the salesmen in the stores. Our most satisfactory window-dresser, who is paid $60 a week, began work with us twelve years ago as a cash boy. He went through several stages as salesman, and by the time he had got to the woolen dress-goods department, the deft way in which he arranged the bolts of various colors, and displayed goods on his counter told plainly that he could be better employed elsewhere. The sort of salesman who is never found showing a reddish-blond woman a pink gingham or a red-flowered challie, and who instinctively knows the shade of dress goods likely to please a brunette, will most likely develop into a window-dresser, if he has energy enough. If in addition to his feeling for color he has tact enough to bring some slow-selling goods to the front and speak of them in such a way that the customer buys, his chance is better still, for more than half of the success of a window-dresser consists in managing the goods to best advantage. He must ticket them right and must beware of using commonplace sounding phrases. A really tasteful, carefully arranged upholstery window that we had in last week was spoiled by the ticketing. 'Unique cheapness' was one of the central tickets. We go in for the reticent style of decorations, and believe in showing just enough of the goods we have to sell to whet the interest of the passer-by and tempt him to come inside and investigate the stock."

"What is the most difficult kind of window to dress?" was asked of the window decorator in a Sixth avenue store.

"The kind of window that is designed particularly for a show-window," he replied; "the window that has rounded and panelled corners, and that the carpenter thought was a wonder in its way. Those rounded-glass corners reflect all sorts of queer lights, and it is next to impossible to make goods show off in them or even look as good as ordinary. The interference of outside objects is another stumbling block to the window-dresser. I mean lamp-posts and street stands and signs reflected in the front glass. Awnings are another trouble—often a greater nuisance than anything the decorator has to contend with. Would you like to see my tools—my implements?" he added. "Come up on the top floor and I'll show you what answers to me for a painter's tubes and brushes, and I keep school for my boys besides. There is a big, airy workshop on the top floor, and there are half a dozen boys learning to plait and shirr and pucker white cheesecloth on to plain surfaces. There are long shelves piled with metal rods, certain kinds of lights and crystal for brilliant effects, and 'fixtures' of all descriptions. Some of the boys are covering half-moons and octagonal blocks with black velvet. These are to show off fans and jewelry upon. In a room to themselves girls are making paper apple blossoms and paper Bermuda lilies. There are curved-necked swans, and cupids, and all sorts of figures being draped and clothed with semblance of reality.

"That woman in black crepe? O, she is for the mourning window to show off the quality of black henriettas. That linen-gowned figure is to sit by the spinning-wheel yonder in a display of a certain brand of linen household goods. Sometimes she sits by a hand-loom instead. We have these tennis racquets and golf sticks to be used in setting off our outing or recreation window, that will come in about June. In all the dark, rainy winter days I study to make my windows cheerful and comfortable-looking; blankets and comfortables and rich rugs are delightful goods to work with; in summer I try to have the displays look refreshing and inviting.

"The conscientious window-dresser sometimes works up into a better paying business. It was a legitimate window-dresser who got the contract for the decoration of the inauguration ball room. The scope for the window-dresser is growing wider every day, and in the best business houses he has even a better chance in the interior of the store than on the windows themselves, for there are a hundred departments needing special attractions. The ideal window for display, one that will soon be introduced, does away with a background altogether. The base of the window is seven feet wide and the goods are arranged on it in the best possible light, but there is drapery at the back, parted like an ordinary home window curtain, and through the parted curtains a glimpse is obtained of the counters within, with people buying and busy salesmen and women moving about. The use of mirrors in window-dressing is apt to create confusion, and unless placed judiciously they do more harm than good, except in cases where it is necessary to amplify space. Window-dressing in the largest sense is a field of employment not yet invaded by women, possibly because the reaching and lifting is too hard work, and besides there is a good deal of climbing to be done in the draping of ceilings and walls. There is no reason, though, why a woman could not be a window-dresser with men to carry out her plans, and do the heavy work.

"There is much economy to be considered in window-dressing. When window decoration was first becoming popular in America it was understood as a matter of course that the display must cost the enterprising firm considerable money. A certain Boston house once had thousands of dollars' worth of silk cut up to make the flutings and pipings of an imitation grand organ. It is doubtful if they suspected that the decorator would be so lavish, but such a blunder could never occur now. The best goods in the house, even the most delicate and costly, are used in window displays, but they are handled with the greatest care. Even a window of the striking mechanical kind, with figures popping up out of an Easter egg, or a procession of swans in motion, bridled with ribbons and in full feather, can be gotten up at a cost of $50 or $60. Economy, the making of much out of little, combined with proper care of the costly goods used, is the keynote to a decorator's success."

CONSUMPTION OF WHEAT.

The present condition of the stocks of wheat around the world furnish an inspiration for reviving old estimates of per capita consumption. In our own country the estimate of consumption, based on the old ratio of four and one-half bushels per capita—men, women and children—per annum, has proved inaccurate and misleading. There is no doubt about it. Calculations made months ago, based on this old theory, resulted in an almost entire depletion of our stocks, visible and invisible, by July 1. The outlook to-day does not justify fears of starvation. What has made the change? Oatmeal, cornmeal, corn flour, rye flour, supplemented with potatoes, turnips and cabbage cheap as dirt.

Let us look abroad. The authorities over there have assumed that England and the Continent required nearly 7,000,000 bushels per week of foreign wheat. We gave last week a statement of the world's shipments from December 12 to that date, aggregating 106,000,000 bushels, compared with about 150,000,000 bushels estimated by the authorities named as the requirements during that period. The stocks on the Continent show no such decrease, and England increased. We are quite inclined to bid farewell to these old theories and wait for the facts.—Denison B. Smith, in Toledo Market Report.

INVALUABLE ACCOMPLISHMENT.

One of the most invaluable accomplishments in practical life is the art of being able to produce a document or piece of writing of any kind in a condensed form. In any profession or business it is of the first importance to know how to do this. Without expertness in it despatches and letters cannot be abstracted, cases cannot be prepared for trial, news cannot be summarized for a newspaper. Yet expertness in it is very rare, solely from lack of early training.—The Nation.

CHINESE DRINKS.

THERE are no drunkards in China, neither is there an excise law, says N.Y. Journal. And yet it is as easy to get intoxicated in China as elsewhere, and perhaps easier, for drinks are cheaper. Wine of all kinds has been known and drunk in the Celestial kingdom since the days of the Chau dynasty, some 2,000 years B.C. Everybody drank the fermented grape juice in those days, and a gold cure establishment would have coined money had it existed.

Things went from bad to worse, until one of the emperors of the Chau dynasty went upon a protracted spree. When he began to "see things" he stopped short and reformed, and demanded reformation on the part of all his subjects. He decreed the instant destruction of all wine cellars, distilleries and saloons. Since then wine made of the grape has been unfashionable in China; scarcely any is made there or used.

Sherry, port and whiskey have become rather popular in China during the last half century, but they are considered as food, and only taken at and with meals. Among the native beverages is shoa-shing, a palish brown mixture, the taste of which suggests ripe hickory nuts. It is served at all state banquets and also at private dinners. When cold it is cloudy; when warm it grows clear, emitting a peculiarly pleasant odor.

What shoa-shing is to the upper classes, sam-shui is to the masses. It is made from rice and is its triple distilate. Old sam-shui is very expensive and tastes like old sherry.

Koa-ling is made from Mongolian millet and bears a family resemblance to rye whiskey. It is drunk only in Northern China, but has a large use in the making of liqueurs. Of these latter, ung-ka-peh, or wo-shi-pi is the best known. It is thick, oily and yellow, and is a cross between yellow chartreuse and benedictine. Its taste is sweetish and aromatic, and it has a great reputation as an appetizer. Other liqueurs made from koa-ling are moo-qua made of koa-ling and melon; meu-kwai-loo, ying-toa and hundreds of other drinks.

Then there is fun-chin, or raw alcohol, used for medicinal purposes. Fermented fruit juices and flower wine, made by steeping petals or leaves, are also common beverages. Geranium wine is a horrible concoction, while bayleaf wine is the equivalent of the bay rum used by our barbers. All told, there are some 2,000 distinct drinks in China, yet drunkards are almost unknown.

COMMON SENSE.

If all the grocers could be made to act according to one principle and by so doing protect their own interests, the department store evil would be greatly diminished, remarks Retail Grocers' Advocate. One of the things they should do is to give more support to manufacturers who honestly refuse to sell department stores, or at least who compel them to sell at prices enabling the grocer to compete. If such manufactnrers do not get any extra support, while others who show no regard for the grocers' interests get trade, they have no particular reason to stick to their principles and protect the grocers. If they have no benefit of their policy, they will be justified in selling to department stores and the grocers will have no right to complain.

DO NOT ALWAYS SELL CHEAP GOODS.

Thomas P. Hunter, the retail grocer who operates some thirty odd stores in Philadelphia, made a point in my hearing the other day which is worth publication. He was talking of the prevalent idea that cut-price grocers sell cheap stuff almost exclusively. "That's a mistake," he said. "Why, here the other day I bought out a store on Girard avenue, and when I went over the stock I had to send nearly the whole of it to auction. I'm a cut grocer, but I couldn't allow myself to sell that stuff. There were Crosse & Blackwell's pickles five years old. Another thing was quail oats, that have been out of the market for three or four years, and a lot of trash. Some of these fellows stock up with unsalable stuff and keep it on their shelves year in and year out. They wouldn't think of selling it out at a reduction and getting rid of it. Oh, no! They must get a profit on what they paid, even if the market has broken a dozen times since they bought." He gets reports on the way the different goods are selling from the different stores. If one manager reports any particular article being in poor sale, he gets reports on that article from every store, and where the sales are good the stock is sent and disposed of at a reduction if necessary. Then he don't put in any more. Cutter or no cutter, good ideas are good ideas.—Grocery World.

KNOWING ONE'S KIND.

A salesman needs something more than a knowledge of prices and styles. He may be expert in these and yet a failure. It is not always the man with the best fishing rod or the most expensive bait that catches the most fish. The successful angler studies his trout or his pickerel before he lands him. In fact, a knowledge of human nature is essential to success in any mercantile business. This is true in all departments of life and trade. You must know your man to get him, as the hunter knows the game he wants to bag.—New England Press.

WATCH THE RUN OF SALES.

THE large percentage of the total transactions in grocery stores which is made up of sales of sugar and other unprofitable staples, says Merchants' Review, renders it a duty of the highest importance that the grocer should carefully watch and stimulate as much as possible his sales of fancy groceries and the most profitable staples or semi-staples. It is commonly assumed that one-fourth of the sales of the average grocer are of sugar. This estimate is rather too liberal now-a-days, since the large increase in the production of canned goods, jams and jellies, cereal foods, and labor-saving proprietary goods took place, yet, owing to various causes, not a few dealers probably are selling an undue proportion of cheap staples and fully 25 per cent. of sugar.

The causes of this state of affairs are usually three-fold. The less profitable staples are pushed by being ruthlessly cut in price; the quality of the more profitable goods is not carefully maintained, and the grocer takes no means to discover how his sales are running or who it is, if anybody, that is buying some classes of goods elsewhere.

Some persons will buy all groceries except butter at the corner grocer's; others will patronize him when in want of everything except tea and coffee; others, again, run to the delicatessen dealer when in need of smoked meats, cheese, olives, olive oil, jams, jellies, crackers, and countless little items that help a grocer's profits when sugar and flour is selling at hard pan. The grand total of business thus lost is considerable, yet it is not an uncommon thing for the sufferer to take it all as a matter of course and regard his own experience as similar to that of thousands of other grocers.

The prudent dealer watches the run of his sales, and notices whether a customer takes too much sugar and too little tea, etc. He watches the quality of his goods, also, and endeavors to learn from customers whether they are satisfied or not, and if not, why not. He does not make the blunder of attempting to draw trade by cutting the price of sugar, and then repel it by exorbitant rates and poor quality in other branches of the business.

DEATH OF MR. ALF. VICK.

Mr. Vick, a prominent and highly-esteemed grocer of Orillia, died suddenly last week at Guelph Hospital. For some time his health had been failing, and continued illness brought on spells of melancholia. At a physician's advice he had for a little while been taking a complete rest, but even the removal of the strain of business could not repair his broken health. He was removed to Guelph Hospital as a last nope, but he gradually became weaker and died last week.

Mr. Vick had always enjoyed the confidence of his customers and employes, and the large funeral testified to his popularity. He was associated with his father's grocery business early in life, and by his constant attendance to business obtained a splendid financial standing in the commercial world. He had often been advised by relatives and friends to give himself the needed rest, but while recognizing the need of it, he never seemed to be able to stay away long enough from his business to take it.

THE CURRANT SITUATION.

Hancock & Wood, of Patras, Greece, write as follows: "In our last report, which was dated March 1, we put down total shipments of currants at 124,539 tons, and stocks available for shipment at 11,400 tons. These figures have proved nearly correct. The stirring events of which this country has been the scene during the past two months have naturally occupied people's mind to the exclusion of all other topics, and business has been almost neglected. Luckily for currant growers, war operations have been entirely restricted to the province of Thessaly, where no currant plantations exist, and we can state that the future currant crop has been in no way affected by the war which has ended so disastrously for Greece, for the vineyards have all been carefully cultivated, notwithstanding the fact that so many men were called to serve under the colors. The currant vines look extremely healthy, and the fruit has set well and abundantly. The weather during May has been unusually cool and showery, and this has caused the 'Oidium' and 'Peronosporos' to appear sporadically in most districts, but up till now the damage is quite trifling, and it is hoped that with careful sulphuring these diseases may be entirely eradicated. The retention law for 1897 has not yet been voted, and it seems doubtful whether this measure will be brought into effect this year. The rumors set afloat some time since, that the Greek Government was contemplating the sale of the currants retained during 1895 and 1896 for eating purposes, are totally untrue; these currants can only be disposed of for distillery and wine-making purposes, and, if exported, must be turned into pulp or otherwise rendered unfit for eating purposes. The law prohibiting shipments of new currants before the 28th August has been done away with. The stock of currants in Greece is quite insignificant, and we doubt if it exceeds 1,500 tons."

TRADE CHAT.

Mr. J. F. Aitkin, recently of Waterford, but a former resident of Watford, has purchased R. Haskett's grocery and boot and shoe store of the latter place.

Mr. Albert Carter, formerly connected with the agency of the Dominion Express Co., Orangeville, and Mr. Matheson, Toronto, have formed a partnership and intend opening a confectionery and fruit store in Orangeville.

The retail grocers' clerks of Detroit have formed an association for the purpose of closing all the retail grocery stores on Sunday and at 7 o'clock in the evening on week days, with the exception of Saturday.

John Mouat, representing Gillard & Co., wholesale tea merchants, Hamilton, spent a few days in town on business and on a visit to his son, J. N. Mouat, immigration agent. Mr. Mouat has the distinction of being the oldest commercial traveler on the road in Manitoba.—Press, Dauphin, Man.

New counterfeit $1 Dominion of Canada notes are in circulation. Lady Dufferin's portrait is poor, and the signature of T. D. Harrington is written on the counterfeit instead of engraved. "For Minister of Finance," "For Receiver-General," and "British American Bank Note Co." are omitted from the counterfeits.

S. Jessop, a prominent citizen of Blyth, Ont., has been arrested with his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. McElroy, charged with conspiring to defraud creditors and receiving goods to defraud creditors. Last fall Jessop, who ran a general store, assigned to Richard Tew. His assets were found to be much less than his liabilities, and, a search being made, original packages of goods were alleged to have been found hidden in Mrs. McElroy's house.

The crop bulletin of the Department of Agriculture, of Manitoba, shows that the area under wheat in the province is 1,290,882 acres; of oats, 468,411 acres; and of barley, 153,266 acres. The total area of all crops is 1,950,000 acres, or an increase of 30 per cent. over last year. There are 27,000 farmers in Manitoba, and the figures indicate that the old settlers are cropping as much land as ever, although going more into stock-raising, etc.

The first shipment of pineapples from Hawaii reached the city this week. The apples were very large, some of them weighing over ten pounds. It was an experimental shipment, but was so successful that a half carload is expected to reach the city to-day, having been ordered as soon as the venture proved satisfactory. The Hawaiian apples are very large and of delicious flavor and will bring the price down to 8 or 10c. a pound.—Winnipeg Free Press.

WHAT VICTORIA HAS DONE FOR CANADA.

WHAT Canada owes to the sovereign whose sixty years' reign the British Empire has been this week celebrating with so much enthusiasm and splendor remains for the future to reveal; and then perhaps only in part.

What we do know is comparatively little; but the little we do know confirms us in the opinion that "not half has ever been told."

Her nobility of womanhood, her wisdom and her ability par excellence as a ruler are more or less known to every British subject; but not so her views as an Imperialist.

Unlike the President of the United States, or even her impetuous grandson, the Emperor of Germany, Victoria never airs her beliefs, fads or fancies before the public. But, although she does not do what her contemporaries do, or what all her predecessors on the throne of England did to a more or less extent, she is as much a monarch as any one of them.

Practically all we know of her profession of faith as an Imperialist has come through the channels of private letters, mainly from Her Majesty to her representatives in the colonies and dependencies of the Empire.

Between forty and fifty years ago the opinion obtained among a great many eminent and able statesmen in Great Britain that the colonies and dependencies were appendages which the Motherland would be better without than with. And they tried hard and long to put their theory into practice.

For the loss of what is now the Transvaal and the Orange Free State these Little Englanders, as they were called, were responsible.

In Canada, the cold shoulder which the British Government gave her induced several of the leading statesmen in the country to issue a manifesto favoring annexation to the United States. But, thanks to the better judgment of the people of this country, their efforts were abortive.

And thanks, too, to the influence of Her Majesty, both upon her constitutional advisers and her subjects in Canada, the ties which bound the North American colonies to the Empire have been gradually strengthening—and that, too, as our liberties have increased—until in this Diamond Jubilee year they are stronger and give promise of being more enduring than at any time since the cross of St. George was first planted on the shores of the North American continent. And Victoria has done most of the weaving which has strengthened these cords. God bless her!

Canada's parliamentarians may not be ideal tariff-makers, but they can get through, go in for a swim, and be out and dressed again before their confreres in Congress have scarcely begun their task.

LOVE YOUR BUSINESS.

A man can no more be successful in a business he does not like than can a man be happy with a wife he does not love.

Enthusiasm is the power which impels men onward in any and every avocation. Without it men are lethargic. They will drift. But to pull against the tide they are as unable as they are unwilling.

Drifting, however, does not win the race, either in business or aquatic events. There must be the long pull, the strong pull, and the pull with vigor.

Men in business to-day have no easy task. There is a great deal to discourage and very little to encourage. There are foes within and foes without to contend against.

Under such conditions it is no wonder so many either fail altogether or eke out a mere existence.

The antidote for despair is enthusiasm, and the germ of enthusiasm is love for or pleasure in that business or avocation in which you are embarked.

Therefore, if you would succeed, get in love with your business.

WHERE BUSINESS MEN ARE SCARCE.

AMONG the statements made at the recent meetings of the banks none should be given greater heed to than those of Senator George A. Drummond, vice-president of the Bank of Montreal, in reference to business men as legislators. The remarks to which we have reference were these:

> Every reflective man must, I think, have arrived at the conclusion that we and our neigbbors to tbe soutb bave too much law making constantly going on, and the conviction is forced upon me that men of business are far too much disposed to abandon the political duties of every citizen to those less occupied with affairs than themselves, with the result which migbt be expected, tbat they only awake to a feverish period of remonstrance when they find their interests imperilled by legislation which might bave been prevented at an earlier stage. Statesmen of all parties deplore the absence of men of weight and experience in finance, commerce and trade from the ranks of tbose available as originators of the commercial legislation of the country. It is a matter of common experience tbat a sense of relief is felt in the great centres of the country during the brief intervals when no active law-making is going on.

Mr. Drummond is a practical business man. He speaks not from hearsay, nor from reading the newspapers. He speaks from knowledge which he has acquired through association with the men who make and unmake the laws which govern the country.

Put a dunce among dunces and he will not recognize the ignorance of his associates. But put among them a man of scholarly attainments and he will soon discover what manner of men they are.

It is the same with regard to the business element in Parliament and in the Provincial Legislatures: It is only the practical business man who can analyze this element and perceive its weakness.

The present Parliament no doubt contains a larger business element than its predecessor. The crusade which THE CANADIAN GROCER carried on during the last general election, and for two or three years prior thereto, materially helped to wake up to a sense of their duty the business men of the country. And the increased number of business men there are in the House of Commons, yes, and even in the Senate, is the result of that awakening.

But the awakening was only partial. It was only one eye that the business interests of the country had open. If it were not so, there would have been to-day more business men in the House of Commons and fewer professional politicians and lawyers therein.

Nearly all the important laws on our statute books are commercial in their character, either directly or indirectly, but the fathering of them and the nursing of them have developed largely upon either lawyers or professional men who thought they knew what they were doing. And the greatest bungler is he who thinks he knows how to do a thing; for the man who knows he is incapable of performing a certain thing refrains from essaying to do it.

What do lawyers and doctors, for instance, know about framing a Customs tariff? Yet they are nearly always the men who do the framing. Like a novice at chess, they make move after move, utterly in the dark as to the merits of their action, only to be time and again checkmated.

In many respects the present tariff is a great improvement over its predecessor. But the hand of the amateur, which is the hand of the professional politician, the lawyer, the doctor, et al, is by no means hidden. Those who had the framing of it no doubt did the best they could. But that is poor solace to the business interests of the country which have suffered thereby.

The mistake was made when the Government refused to delegate the drafting of the tariff to practical business men. Had this been done, not only would the tariff have been disposed of ere this, but less overhauling would have been necessary in order to put it into more perfect shape.

To analyse an intricate point in law people call in a lawyer; to diagnose a disease they secure the services of a doctor. Why, then, should we not employ practical business men to manage the business of the country?

There is no sound reason why we should not. But we do not, chiefly because the most of us are more concerned about the success of our respective party than we are the welfare of the country, or rather the exigencies of party blind us to the interests of the country.

Were the banking institutions of the country to exercise as little discretion in making appointments to their directorate board as the electors of the country do in selecting men for the still more important duty of governing the country, it is a sorry plight they would soon be in. And just as long as these conditions obtain will there be reason for such remarks as those made by Senator Drummond, quoted above.

There may be too many men in business, but there are not enough business men in Parliament. The remedy for this state of affairs is largely with business men themselves.

The Diamond Jubilee seems to have been a sort of loom which has woven the British Empire into a pretty strong harmonious whole.

MOVEMENT TO ATTRACT BUYERS.

THE grocers and manufacturers of New York City recognize that the excursion rates granted at the time of the Grant Memorial celebration brought to their places of business a large number of buyers. This fact caused a number of these merchants to form an association whose object is to attract custom from the interior.

They claim than since New York has the largest value of imports of the ports of the United States it has the greatest assortment of goods, and that retailers will willingly go to the city once or twice a year, provided they can obtain excursion rates. The faith of the promoters of the scheme has been strengthened by the reports of their travelers who have made diligent enquiries as to the feeling of the merchants of the interior, and who report that the merchants are in sympathy with the scheme.

Already the Joint Traffic Association has been induced to grant a special excursion rate of a fare and a third for a period of 30 days in the fall. The railway companies not only wish to assist the merchants, but they are of the opinion that whatever is lost in fares will more than be made up by extra freight.

The company is to be known as the Merchants' Association of New York, and in its articles of incorporation we read that its object is also to reform abuses affecting the business and financial interests in New York and elsewhere, to secure freedom from unjust exactions, to diffuse accurate and reliable information with regard to the same, and to procure a combined friendly co-operation among its members.

It is estimated that $50,000 will be needed immediately to distribute information. An advisory board has been provided for, which will be constituted of one or more members in each trade represented in the association, who are to proceed at once to raise funds.

A SLUMP IN TEA.

THE grocery trade in the United States appears to have lost hope in the imposition of a duty on tea. Naturally, with the loss of hope has come a loss in value, wholesalers across the line having reduced prices to induce buying.

It will be remembered that when the Finance Committee of the Senate submitted the tarifi bill to that body early in May last it contained a clause which fixed a duty of 10c. per lb. on tea entering the United States. As yet the Senate has not reached this particular clause, but it is the general opinion that when it does it will erase it altogether.

When the draft bill of the Senate was made public a speculative demand for teas of all kinds, particularly Japans and greens, was induced. In Japan, where the market had only opened a few days before, prices advanced appreciably, putting values for the early teas altogether beyond the reach of Canada.

But what interested Canada more than anything else was the demand from the United States for teas held in this country. In anticipation of the Dominion Government putting a duty on tea for revenue purposes, nearly every grocer, wholesaler and retailer, bought heavily. And when buyers from the United States began to look around in our markets holders were only too glad to sell, and sell they did.

The result is that where a few weeks ago wholesalers in Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton, London and other places were in uneasy circumstances regarding tea, to-day they are in easy circumstances.

Speculators in the United States appear to be now wearing the uncomfortable boot.

CALIFORNIA PRUNES.

Concerning prunes The California Fruit Grower says in its issue of June 12, just received here: "There are very few prunes left in the state. Dealers are picking up all the small lots offered, as the jobbing trade will require everything in sight between now and arrival of new crop prunes. Reports regarding the growing crop continue favorable and a fair yield is expected. Our advices from Budapest under date of May 19 indicate a large crop of prunes in Bosnia and Servia. The stocks of crop of 1896 are reported light, not sufficient for trade requirements until new fruit crop comes to hand. Reports from France indicate only an average crop. Shipments from San Jose for the two weeks ending June 5 were 74,880 lbs., making the total overland movement for the season 37,637,010 lbs."

SOUTHERN POTATOES DEAR.

What are broadly termed Southern potatoes are on the Toronto market this week. The wholesale price for them is pretty high, being $1.50 per bushel. The opening price last year was $1.15 per bushel, or over 30 per cent. lower than the figures now ruling.

The crop of Southern potatoes is unusually light this season, particularly in the far South.

The receipts of Southern potatoes in New York, according to The Journal of Commerce of that city, have been much smaller this season than usual, and, with demand fairly active, values have been well sustained throughout most of the season, the market being free from serious breaks, which usually occur at this time of year.

Interest in Canada in the market for Southern potatoes is greater than it otherwise might be from the fact that the crop in this country is expected to be much later than usual.

SEVERN'S ADVERTISING POINTS.

The ad. that says little gets the credit of implying more.

If you would run down the character of the wares offered in your ad., extravagantly overpraise them.

Think well while writing the ad. and you will not have occasion to think badly after it is printed.

Truth in the ad. means saying what the writer really thinks about his goods.

Two good advertisers can thrive in a town better than one non-advertiser.

The ad. that would appeal to you most forcibly as a reader is the one to use.

The unsuccessful advertiser is useful as a sign post, telling the road not to follow.

The ad. should be like a watch ; every part of it should be a wheel to make the whole go.

Though the seasons remain stationary, your ad. should be changed often to be seasonable.—Ad. Sense.

A PROFIT-SHARING SCHEME.

MANY employers who desire to create a good feeling and to benefit their servants are experimenting on practical profit-sharing schemes. Although they cost the managers many hundreds of dollars a year, they hope that the money will now be made up by the increased intelligence and determination of the men to turn work out in the best possible manner, to do all they ought to prevent waste, and see that as much and not as little as possible is done for wages received.

A scheme introduced into practice by Richmond & Co., London, England, is interesting to those who study the subject. Briefly, it is as follows : If the dividend is less than 6 per cent. on ordinary shares, no bonus ; if the dividend is 6 per cent. bonus to be 3 per cent.; and for every further 1 per cent. declared to shareholders, half per cent. to be distributed to employes. Suppose a man earned 44s. to 45s. per week, he would receive under this scheme £3 in cash, paid into the local savings bank, but at his absolute disposal, and £3 in three £1 fully paid 6 per cent. preference shares at par, and at present worth 25s.

These cannot be sold without the consent of the directors unless the owner is leaving the service.

A committee of management is to be formed to consist of the manager and five members elected by the board, and also six member selected by the employes. This committee is not only to discuss the payment of profits, but is also to deal with the increase of profits, and make suggestions for the general good.

SAVE GAS AND SPOIL TRADE.

The writer took a walk down Ninth avenue Saturday night to make a few observations, says a member of the staff of The N.Y. Retail Grocers' Advocate. He reached the following conclusion : That a tradesman, especially on an avenue, in whatever line, cannot have his store lighted too much on Saturday night. An illustration of the above I saw in an up-town corner cheap store, owned by the parties when the writer was a greenhorn, looking as dark and dull as a country store in Oshkosh on a rainy night, and not a soul in it ; while a half block further down the avenue, on the same side, another cheap store (the owner has nine or ten) was crowded to the doors. But there was light—lots of it—light to spare—and that drew the crowd. I saw several other instances, ten minutes later—same conditions—same effect. Save the gas and spoil the trade.

WEST INDIAN SUGAR COMMISSION.

A deputation consisting of representatives of the sugar refineries in London, Greenock, Liverpool and Bristol recently waited upon the West Indian Sugar Commission at their offices in Westminster. The deputation urged that whilst the consumption in the United Kingdom from 1881 to 1896 increased 447,440 tons, or 44 per cent., and per head from 63 lbs. to about 78 lbs., the United Kingdom refiners in the ten years, 1884-1894, instead of participating in the increased consumption, turned out 219,226 tons, or 26 per cent. less; and whereas from 1881 to 1896 the imports of foreign refined sugar increased 599,736 tons, or over 430 per cent., the imports of raw beet increased only 111,349 tons, or 33 per cent., and the imports of cane sugar decreased 216,261, or 36 per cent. The average price of refined sugar imported in 1881 was £28 18s. 8d. per ton, whereas in 1896 it was only $13 11s. 8d., a decrease of £15 7s. per ton. The average price of raw beet and cane sugar in 1881 was £21 17s. 9d., and in 1896 it was £10 16s. 11d., a decrease of £11 os. 10d. per ton. In 1884 United Kingdom refiners turned out 84 per cent. of total consumption, and in 1894 only 42 per cent.; in other words, the refiners in 1894 turned out 623,552 tons, whereas the proportion, if maintained, should have been 1,218,370 tons.

SHIPMENTS OF CURRANTS.

From the beginning of the season to June 5 the shipments of currants from Greece to consuming markets amounted to 138,246 tons, against 152,180 tons for the same period last year. This season London received 31,194 tons, against 33,003 tons in 1896, Liverpool, 22,984 tons and 18,722 tons, United States, 11,622 and 12,326 tons, Canada, 1,220 and 1,446 tons, France, 5,657 tons and 24,942 tons, North of Europe, 30,559 tons and 29,969 tons, Trieste, 3,147 tons and 3,315 tons, Australia, 2,672 tons and 1,755 tons, Russia, 21,553 tons and 20,531 tons, and the English outports, 7,638 tons and 6,171 tons, for the two seasons to June 5 respectively.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, June 24, 1897.

GROCERIES.

THIS verily has been a holiday time, for although the holiday proper was but of one day's duration it has practically lasted several days. As one wholesaler remarked: "It is Jubilee and not business that everyone is talking." One thing is certain, the Jubilee celebration has been receiving more attention than business. It is, however, between the seasons in most staple lines, and business would naturally be quiet at this time of the year. As far as the fall trade is concerned nearly everyone appears to expect that it will be fairly good. Several houses have within the past week received shipments of new season's canned lobster, and the demand in this line is fairly good. There have been some transactions in canned salmon for future delivery, but it appears to have only been done on concessions being made. Teas are neglected. The situation in regard to sugar is much about the same as a week ago.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been during the last few days some pretty big buying of canned salmon for future delivery, but the orders were secured only on concessions being made. The brands, it should be noted, were not those known as the standard leading brands. At the same time, however, the quality is held to be good—prime. Outside these particular brands there has been little or nothing doing in new season's canned salmon. Present stocks of "Horseshoe" are not expected to last wholesalers until the new pack comes in. Most of the houses have, during the past week, received supplies of new season's canned lobster. And there is a good demand at firm prices. Tomatoes and peas continue in good demand at firm prices. We quote: Tomatoes, 75 to 85c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 75 to 85c. for ordinary; sifted select, 90 to $1; extra sifted, $1.25 to $1.40; beans, 65 to 95c;. peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.40 to $1.70; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.50; ditto, new season's, to arrive, $1.25 in 5-case lots and $1.30 in less quantities; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.40 to $2.50 for tall tins; 1-lb. flats, $2.70; ½-lb. flats, $1.60 to $1.70; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.40; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The market is quiet. The markets, both on this continent and in Europe are rather easy. Jobbers quote green in bags as follows: Rio, 13½ to 15½c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 30 to 33c.; Mocha, 27½ to 30c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20c.; Jamaica, 19 to 22c.

SYRUPS.

There are a good many syrups to offer, but there is no enquiry. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is quiet and uninteresting. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

There does not appear to be any change in the situation as far as the Canadian market is concerned. Although stocks of sugars in the hands of speculators are getting into smaller compass, there is still enough to supply wholesalers' demands, although the local representatives of the refineries report a better enquiry for yellow sugars. Some yellow sugars from Scotland are being offered on the Toronto market this week. Whether any transactions have taken place we are unable at the moment to say. The Canadian refiners are still holding to their figures. Since our last there has been a further slight advance in New York in a couple of grades of refined sugar, and the refiners there are taking raws freely at the present quotations. In London both cane and beet rule firm. Local

NUTS.

Tarragona almonds are firm in the primary markets, and advices state that the crop of Sicily shelled almonds will be short and prices are higher in the outside markets. Grenoble walnuts are also firmer in the primary markets. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeax walnuts, 8 to 9c.: Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.

TEAS.

The market is probably less interesting than it has been for some time. Business is almost at a standstill. A cable received in Toronto on Monday from Yokohama shows that prices on certain standards of Japan tea are about one cent per pound higher than similar standards could have been bought for a year ago at this time. Buyers here are, however, inclined to delay their purchases in expectation of lower prices. Mail advices from London under date of June 11, state that 8,301 packages were brought forward during the last auction, the sale passing with good spirit without material change in quotations, except for the higher grades of good liquoring tea, prices for which showed a tendency to improve. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 18 to 21c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Nothing new has developed in the currant market during the week. Prices are still firm and the demand good. We quote: Provincials, 4⅞ to 5c. in bbls.; ditto, half-bbls., 5c.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; do, half-bbls., 5 to 5⅛c.; Patras, 5¾ to 6c. in bbls., 5¾ to 6c. in half-bbls., and 5¾ to 6c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8c.

A good many Valencia raisins have been sold during the week, although it appears to have been largely lots offered at special prices. We quote: Off-stalk, 4½c.; fine off-stalk, 5½ to 6c.; selected, 6 to 6½c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

California loose muscatel raisins are only moving slowly. In New York the current report is to the effect that the carry-over will be greater than a year ago. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Figs are dull and unchanged. We quote: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 10c.; 18 lb., 10 to

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Dealers report large receipts in tubs. There is little local demand, and there is still much going into storage with some firms. The large rolls have stopped coming forward. We quote: Dairy—Tub, 11 to 12c. for best, and others, 7 to 8c.; pound prints, 10 to 12c. Creamery continues dull. Tubs, 16c.; prints, 16 to 17c.

CHEESE—The market continues steady. Some factories are now willing to sell a shade lower, but exporters do not seem to be inclined to a lowering of prices. The make continues large and the prices are about the same. Factory price, 8¼c., jobbing price, 8¾ to 9c. Old cheese steady at 11½c.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Demand has continued active in all lines of pork products. Stocks are light, and some lines are completely exhausted. Live hogs are not plentiful, and prices are firm at $5.60 to $5.65 for light weights. Smoked meats have risen slightly.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 7¼c. for carload lots, and 7½ to 7¾c. per lb. for ton lots and cases; backs, 8c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 11 to 11½c.; rolls, 8½c.; hams, large, 10½ to 11c.; medium and small, 11½ to 12c.; shoulder hams, 8c.; backs, 11 to 11½c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½ to 6¾c.; tubs, 6½ to 6¾c.; pails, 6¾ to 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $13 to $13.50; Canadian short-cut, $14 to $14.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS — The market is still dull. We quote mixed at 40 to 50c. and hand-picked at 60 to 65c.

DRIED APPLES — The market remains dull. The idea as to price is 2 to 2¼c. f.o.b. for good to choice fruit.

EVAPORATED APPLES — The market appears to have been pretty well cleaned out. The little export demand experienced a couple of weeks ago has been satisfied. The little fruit that is now wanted must be strictly sound. The ruling price f.o.b. at outside points is about 3 to 3½c. for choice stock.

EGGS—The demand, as a general rule, continues equal to the receipts, but some houses have light and others heavy receipts. In small lots prices are a shade higher. We quote for fairly large quantities: No. 1, 9¾ to 10c., and No. 2, 6½ to 7c.

POTATOES—During the week potatoes rose in price still further, but owing to the presence of new potatoes on the market, the old variety is being marketed freely and so the price has fallen slightly. Cars have been bought by dealers at 30c. lately, but during the week 35c. has been paid. Price out of store is 40c. a bag. New potatoes are $1.50 per bushel.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Comb, 80 to 90c. per dozen for dark and $1.50 to $1.75 for light; strained, 6 to 7c. per lb.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS

GRAIN—Trade is rather brisk. Wheat has dropped a few cents. Oats and peas are in good demand and prices are firm. We quote: Red wheat, 67c.; white, 67c.; oats are in good demand at 20½ to 21½c.; peas, 40c.

FLOUR—Business is still dull. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $4; Ontario patents, $4 to $4.45; straight roller, $2.30 to $2.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Trade continues dull. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3 in bags and $3.10 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.15 to $2.25; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

SALT.

The trade continues brisk. Prices are unchanged. Quoted at Toronto, carload lots go at $1 per bbl. and 60c. per sack; less than carload lots, $1.05 per bbl. and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Cowhides: Dealers pay 8c. for No. 1, 7c. for No. 2 and 6c. for No. 3. Steerhides: 60 lbs. and up, 8½c. for No. 1, 7½c. for No. 2 and 6½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Trade is brisk and prices are firm. No. 1 veal, 8 lbs. and up, 10c. lb.; No. 2, 8c.; Deatons, from 30 to 35c.; culls, 15 to 20c. each.

SHEEPSKINS—We quote: 40c.; pelts, 45c.

WOOL—Dealers are paying 19c. for all wool that comes in this week, but there is every likelihood of the price being 17c. next week when the American tariff goes into effect.

PETROLEUM.

The usual spring trade makes the oil market rather brisk, with machine oil leading in demand. Prices are unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 14½c.; carbon, safety, 16½c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 17½c.; Pratt's astral, 17c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Smoked meats are ½c. higher.

Scotch yellow sugar is being offered on the Toronto market this week.

New Tennessee potatoes have arrived and are being sold at $1.50 per bushel.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, June 24, 1897.

GROCERIES.

WITH everyone thinking of Jubilee down here and nothing else, it is not surprising that the grocery market is dull, especially as there was positively no business transacted here during the two first days of the week. As a result, there is little news to give. Yellow sugar was asked for to some extent, but granulated is still more or less unsettled. Syrups are dull, and offers of Barbadoes molasses have been made at lower figures. Rice, spices and coffee continue much as they were a week ago. In tea the offerings of new crop Japan, being at rather high prices, have not attracted a very active demand. Canned goods remain much the same, also dried fruit and other lines.

SUGAR.

There has been a better demand for sugar during the past week, especially for yellows, and prices generally are steady except in the case of outside lots of granulated, which are not yet entirely cleared out of speculators' hands. For jobbing business, however, values rule steady at 4¼ to 4⅜c. for granulated, and 3½ to 4c. for yellows. In raw sugar the feeling of late has been rather steadier for cane, but beet has ruled easy.

SYRUPS.

There is no change in syrups. Demand is slow and the market dull at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. per pound, as to quality.

MOLASSES.

Barbadoes still exhibits an unsettled tone and holders have offered round lots lately at a decline of 1c., 21 to 22c., ex wharf being asked. Holders of good prime stock, however, are not disposed to concede anything in the way of prices. Demand at present is very slow for all descriptions.

RICE.

A fair business is reported in rice, and prices exhibit no material change. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.50 to $5; standard B, $3.50 to $3.75; Patna, $4.50 to $5; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75; choice Burmah, $4 to $4.25, and Java kinds, $4.25 to $4.50.

SPICES.

There is only a limited demand for spices, and the market rules steady as last quoted. We quote: Black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 12 to 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do., best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEES.

There has been no improvement in the coffee market, and business rules dull at the recent decline. We quote: Maracaibo, 15 to 19c.; Santos, 11 to 15c.; Rio, 11 to 14c.; Mocha, 22 to 24c., and Java, 22 to 25c.

TEAS.

The chief feature in the tea market has been the trading in new crop Japans, the arrival of which we noted last week. The prices asked on these goods are from 2½ to 3c. above buyers' views, so that demand has been backward for them. Holders are firm, however, and look for much higher values in the class of tea offered them than was realized last season. According to primary advices the settlements in Japan to date are 150,000 piculs, some 9,000 odd less than at the corresponding date last year. Business in old crop goods has been exceedingly light. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 16½ to 20c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been little fresh news in the canned goods trade. Tomatoes continu firm in tone, and the same can be said of lobsters. Demand for new pack canned salmon is still backward. We quote: Tomatoes, 80c.; corn, 50 to 80c.; peas, 80c.; peaches, $1.75 to $1.90 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $1.90; strawberries, $1.75 to $2, according to brand and quality; cherries, $2.30; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.30; lobsters, $11 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

DRIED FRUIT.

Valencia raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

California raisins have been asked for in a moderate way. We quote 6¼ to 6¾c. for 2-crown, and 7 to 7½c. for 3-crown.

Currants are firm and unchanged at 3¾ to 4c. in bbls., 4 to 4¼c. in half bbls., and 4½ to 4¾c. in cases.

Dates are quiet at 5 to 6c. and figs at 8 to 12c.

Prunes rule dull, at 5½ to 6c. for Bosnia, 4 to 5c. for French, and 6½ to 7c. for California.

Evaporated peaches are offering at 10 to 11c., and prunes at 8 to 12c.

NUTS.

The business in this line continues quiet. We quote as follows: Grenoble walnuts, 10 to 11c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10 to 10½c.; do shelled, 17 to 18c.; filberts, 8½ to 9c.; peanuts, 7 to 9c.; and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100.

APPLES.

There are practically no apples to be had here now.

DRIED APPLES.

Dried apples are featureless at 2 to 2½c. and evaporated at 3¾ to 4c., with some selected fetching 4¼c.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in the green fruit market. Bananas are somewhat lower and California cherries have eased off rather. Other descriptions are unchanged. We quote prices as follows: Valencia oranges, $4.25 to $6 and blood, do., $2.25 to $2.75 per half-box; Messina, do., $2.75 to $3 per box; choice to fancy lemons, $2 to $2.75 per box, and common to good, $1.25 to $1.75; bananas, $1 to $1.75 per bunch; California cherries, $1.50 to $1.75 per box; pineapples, 4½ to 10c., and strawberries, 10 to 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—A fair jobbing business continues to be done in eggs, and the tone of the market is steady with no change in prices to note. Selected near-by stock sold at 10½ to 11c; ordinary No. 1 at 9 to 9½c., and No. 2 at 8 to 8½c. per dozen.

MAPLE PRODUCT—The offerings of maple product are ample for the season, as sales are slow. We quote: Maple syrup, 4¾ to 5c. per lb., and 45 to 55c. per tin; sugar, 6 to 6½c.

HONEY—Business in honey is exceedingly quiet and prices show no material change. White clover comb is offering at 10c., and dark at 7c.; bright extracted at 6½ to 7c. and dark at 4 to 5c. per lb.

BEANS—The demand is almost nil and prices are nominally unchanged at 55 to 60c. in car lots, and at 65 to 70c. in a small way.

SOME say that grocers don't care what stuff they sell if they get good profits; but we believe that when the actual merits of Cottams Seed are fully known, not a grocer in Canada will choose to sell the other kind for a little more profit.

Six patents secure our formulae, methods, etc., so that no other packet dare be "Like Cottams," or, "As good as Cottams." The Bird Bread in each packet is by itself worth more to any bird keeper than a pound of the rubbish usually sold as bird food.

Then, Cottams is the only packet bird food prepared from the standpoint of the experienced fancier. Others are put up solely to get as great a profit as possible, regardless of the rubbish the birds have to eat. In Cottams, the birds' requirements are supplied first. Profit is a second consideration. Such a statement may not have the orthodox commercial ring. But it's truth. And truth is bound to win.

Cottams Seed is sold by all wholesalers.

TALLOW—Quiet at 1½ to 2c. for rough and 3 to 4c. for rendered.

POTATOES—Owing to increased receipts of late and falling off in the demand, an easier feeling has prevailed and prices have been reduced 5c. per bag, with recent sales of car lots at 40 to 45c. per bag.

ASHES—Prices steady at $3 to $3.10 for first pots, $2.80 to $2.85 for seconds, and $4.40 for pearls per 100 lbs.

PROVISIONS.

There is no change in the provision market. The demand for all lines to-day was limited, and trade is quiet. We quote as follows: Canadian pork, $13.50 per bbl.; pure Canadian lard, in pails, 6¾ to 7¼c., and compound refined at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb.; hams, 11 to 13c., and bacon, 11 to 12c. per lb.

FLOUR AND MEAL.

Business in flour has been slow and the market of a holiday character. We quote: Winter wheat patents at $4.25 to $4.40; straight rollers, $3.75 to $3.90, and in bags, $1.85 to $1.90. Manitoba strong bakers', choice, $4; outside brands, $3.65 to $3.75, and spring wheat patents, $4.25 to $4.40.

There was no change in the feed market, prices being firm at $10.50 for Manitoba bran, and at $11.50 for shorts per ton, including bags.

The demand for rolled oats was slow and prices were unchanged at $2.90 per barrel and at $1.40 per bag.

BALED HAY.

A fair trade was done in baled hay at $12 for No. 1, and $10 for No. 2 per ton, in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market was irregular, with an unsettled feeling, and buyers were not willing to pay on spot what they were bidding in the country. For instance, the best bid here for finest Ontario white was 8½c., whereas a combination of 1,000 boxes realized that figure to-day at the factory. Colored cheese is scarce and at a premium, as evidenced by the higher prices paid for it at Iroquois. We quote: Finest Ontario cheese, 8½ to 8⅝c.; finest Townships cheese, 8⅜c.; finest Quebec cheese, 8¼c.

The butter market rules steady. Great difficulty is experienced at present in procuring finest creamery in 70-pound tubs, which are wanted at Bristol and Glasgow. The factorymen are all running to boxes. Trading in creamery on export account was put through for Glasgow at 16¾c. Dairy stock is not wanted at all. We quote:

WINE Made from Grapes grown in Essex County. Pure and Wholesome, Sweet, Rich, Red.
$2.50 per case; 80c. gallon.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Commission men have offered round lots of Barbadoes molasses ex wharf at 1c. decline since last week.

The arrivals of new crop Japan teas, noted last week, are held here fully 3c. per pound above the generality of buyers' views. So far, about 1,000 packages have been received here. Cables from Japan give the settlements to date at 9,000 odd peculs less than last year.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 24, 1897.

THERE has been a rather better feeling in business, although the holidays have somewhat broken into the week's trade. St. John, the city of the loyalists, did credit to itself in its Jubilee celebration, Sunday and Tuesday being big days. The public buildings, banks and many business places were handsomely decorated, particularly the large store of Manchester, Robertson & Allison. In markets there is little change. The sugar market has been somewhat relieved by the selling of some 3,000 barrels to western points. Merchants are taking more interest in canned goods, but packers are the backward ones this season. Fresh salmon are holding up in price owing to the small catch at the north shore and Nova Scotia. The catch here is fairly good, so that the fishermen are getting something for their hard work.

OIL—While there is but a light demand for burning oil the price is fully maintained. The sale of lubricating oil continues good at firm figures. We quote: Best American burning oil, 18½ to 19c. ; Canadian, 17¼ to 18c. ; prime, 14½ to 16c.

SALT—Another cargo of coarse salt arrived this week. It contained some 6,000 bags. The market is now a full one with but light demand. Prices are easy. Sale of Canadian fine is large. We quote: Coarse, 44 to 46c.; Liverpool factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, 95c. to $1 per bag.; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3 to $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $2.85 to $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c. each ; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each ; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.

CANNED GOODS—This is one of the most interesting lines at present. Merchants are in some cases open to make offers at rather better prices than last season, but packers are backward. They look for higher prices. Tomatoes and corn are both expected to be smaller pack than last year. As the market through Canada is about bare of tomatoes, quite an advance is looked for. As quite a quantity of last season's corn is still held, reduced pack will not so much affect this line. Dealers are open to buy last season's pack of corn, peas and tomatoes, but the latter are hard to get and their offers for corn are low. Gallon apples are offered low ; also baked beans. There is but a limited demand. New California canned fruits are offered, but there is little or no sale here. Prices are low. Higher figures are looked for. Lobsters show no signs of going below the present high figures. New canned haddies are being received and quite a quantity are being shipped west. Prices are easy. Salmon for futures are easy, and buyers not anxious. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; tomatoes, 85 to 90c. ; gallon apples, $1.75 to $1.80; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.40 to $1.50 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.75 to $3 ; 2's, $1.75 to $1.85 ; American, 3's, $2 to $2.25 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.75 ; salmon, $1.25 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.25 to $2.50; haddies, $1.15 to $1.25 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Each week brings more active business. Oranges tend higher. While the quality shows a falling off, it remains better than usual for the season. The sale is chiefly in Valencias. Lemons are firm. The lack of warmer weather affects the demand. Pineapples are rather lower and have increased sale. The Florida tomatoes are preferred to the California and bring better prices. Rhubarb shows large receipts, and is now at about the bottom price. Lettuce and cucumbers are both lower. California small fruits are now coming in. So far only apricots and cherries have been for sale here. The call for them is light. In strawberries those offered are still from the west, though our own should be on the market very soon. The shipment of wild berries in bulk to the United States market is large. Already the empties are arriving to be sent out into the country. In apples a few green ones from the States are seen. A few old are still in the market, and where quality is good fair prices are being obtained. We quote: Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3 ; oranges, Valencia, $6 to $6.50; Messina oranges, $3.50 to $4 ; blood oranges, $2 to $2.25 ; bananas, $1.00 to $2.25 ; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; pineapples, 10 to 12c.; strawberries, 13 to 15c.; rhubarb, ¾ to 1c. per lb. ; cucumbers, 70c. per doz.; green apples, $5 ; Florida tomatoes, $2 to $2.50 ; California tomatoes, $1 to $2.25 ; California apricots, $1.75 ; California cherries, $1.50 ; cabbage, $2.50 to $2.75.

DRIED FRUIT — There is but little doing. Evaporated apples are higher and firm in the west, but show little change here. There are fair stocks. There are quite a few dried apples held here. They cost holders too high, being taken in exchange for goods. There is no sale whatever. They might be moved at about ¼ to 1¾c. Onions are rather higher. The only kind in the market, except a few Bermudas, are Egyptian onions. The stock of raisins is light and values easy. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5¼ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 5½ to 5¾c.; bbls., 5 to 5¼c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7¾ to 8c.; bulk, cleaned, 6½ to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 10c.; dates, 4½ to 5c.; dried apples 3 to 3½c.; evaporated apples, 4¼ to 4½c.; onions, 2¾ to 3c. per lb.; Bermuda onions, $2.50 per crate ; cocoanuts, $3.50 to $3.75 per 100 lbs. ; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7c.; Malaga loose muscatels, 6 to 6½c.; 4-crown L. M. Californias, 7¾ to 8c.; seeded muscatels, 1-lb. cartoons, 12 to 13c.

SUGAR—Granulated sugar still keeps low in this market, though the situation has been somewhat relieved by upward of 4,000 bbls. being sold, almost all of which went west. Refineries are quite firm, and with the berry season approaching, higher prices are expected. Yellows are firm. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4¼c. ; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The market is still in bad shape, except for Porto Rico. Stocks of the latter are not large. Another cargo is, however, on the way. Prices are firm and may go higher, the chief demand being for this grade. Barbadoes is dull and except for the best, the price is low. Other kinds are hard to move. There is little or no syrup selling. We quote: Barbadoes, 22 to 24c.; Porto Rico, 25 to 28c.; New Orleans, bbls., 25 to 27c.; Antigua, 22 to 23c. ; syrup, 36 to 38c. ; St. Croix, 20 to 22c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Eggs continue to stiffen in price, and no over supply. There is good steady demand. It begins to be a question of quality now. Butter is coming in more freely. There is fair sale at quotations. If the quality of the great bulk of the butter could be improved it would very much improve the price. Cheese are lower, our own factories now supplying the trade. Prices are now where they will be more steady. We quote: Dairy butter, 15 to 17c.; creamery, 18½ to 19c.; prints, 20 to 21c.; eggs, 9½ to 10c.; cheese, 10 to 10½c.

FISH—Fresh salmon are still the active feature. Prices are well above last year's figures, and likely to be well maintained for some time. The chief reason is the short catch on the north shore of this province and in Nova Scotia, at present the catch runing between 300 and 400 per day. The catch of shad is over, and the same may be said of gaspereaux. About the usual quantity of the latter have been packed as alewives, namely about 12,000 barrels. Last season the pack was large, being about 15,000. These are chiefly sold to New York houses for shipment south. Packers are now waiting for offers. The market is easy. In dry cod new are coming in more freely and the price is low. In dry pollock there is very little doing. Such demand as there is for these fish is largely in the fall. Pickled fish are dull, as are smoked. Very few of the latter are coming in at present. Lobsters are still scarce and high. The halibut season is about over, and prices are moving up. We quote as follows: Large cod, $2.75 to $3; medium, $2.50 to $2.65; pollock, $1 to $1.10; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl., $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Barrington, $3 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; lobsters, 4 to 10c. each, small; gaspereaux, 50 to 60c. per 100; halibut, 8 to 9c. per lb.; salmon, 11 to 12c.

PROVISIONS—There continues to be a fair demand for barrel pork at low prices, rather more mess selling than clear. In beef there is a better sale than for pork, but nothing large. Lard is low, and market well supplied. There are but light sales in smoked meats or compound lard. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14.50; mess, $12 to $13; plate beef, $12.50 to $13.50; hams, 11½ to 12½c.; rolls, 8½ to 9c.; pure lard, 7¼ to 7¾c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The feeling in flour is still easy, and prices are rather lower this week. There is a fair sale. Oatmeal is firm, but shows no change in price. Oats are rather higher. Cornmeal is being sold by our millers at close figures. There is a large sale. Beans continue to be quoted higher west, but owing to large stocks here and a not very active demand, there is no change in quotation. Hay is in improved demand and prices are better. Quite a little lot of hay is being received from Nova Scotia. Barley and split peas are low. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $5; best Ontario, $4.45 to $4.50; medium, $4.20 to $4.30; oatmeal, $3.35 to $3.40; cornmeal, $1.75 to $1.80; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do, do, $14.50 to $15; handpicked beans, 85 to 90c. prime, 70 to ; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $12 to $12.50 barley, $2.75; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $2.85 to $3; yellow eye beans, $1.50; timothy seed, Canadian, $2 to $2.25; do. do., American, $1.75 to $2; clover, 8¾ to 9c.; alsike, 8½ to 9c.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Commercial travelers will be pleased to learn that the Mansard House at Petitcodiac is again open.

The C.P.R. is now quoting lower rates on flour from the west to meet those by teamer from Montreal.

James Patterson daily ships west some of the finest salmon caught here. He finds it difficult to fill his orders.

Myers Bros., of Montreal, are about to start a retail branch of the jewelry and fancy goods business in St. John.

W. A. Stewart is now receiving market quotations several times a day from J. R. Wilahd & Co., of New York.

The new English dye soap "Maypole" is being introduced into this market by Vivian Tippet, who is sole agent.

The first steamer of the Dobell Line to arrive from Montreal is expected about the 26th. It is said she has quite a full cargo.

Thomas Gorman this week received some particularly fine Grand Manan dulse. There is quite a demand for it from the west, particularly from American cities.

The Lordly Furniture Co., Ltd., have elected the following officers: Joseph Allison, president; J. A. Likely, vice-president; Isaac Burpee, secretary-treasurer, and S. B. Lordly, manager.

A new brand of condensed milk is now on this market, the "Owl." It is put up by the Canada Milk Condensing Co., of Antigonish, Nova Scotia. They last week shipped a carload to British Columbia.

The glass box containing about one hundred dollars offered by the Union Blend Tea people in connection with an advertising scheme was stolen this week from the store of W. Alex. Porter, where it was on exhibition.

Mr. L. A. Wright, representing A. C. Miller & Co., was in the city this week. Mr. Wright looks for higher prices this season than last, particularly in tomatoes. Corn he also expects to range higher than last year. Mr. H. B. White is the local representative.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. Ramsay, of Edinburgh, Scotland, formerly a wholesale grocer in Toronto, is visiting in the latter city, and on Monday marched in the Jubilee procession.

FOUR FISHERS FROM TORONTO.

There have been the most extraordinary fishing exploits performed here during the week. The record of some of the visiting sportsmen have put all former records in the shade—as far back as the oldest resident can remember. The Trent River has been the scene of many a sensational day's fishing, in which it has not been necessary to invoke the aid of romancing tales or Ananiasims, but in which facts as strong as proof of Holy Writ have been adduced. Not for many a year, however, has anything like the same success attended the followers of the good apostle as that which has been in evidence here this week. One instance may be given, which can be vouched for by a score of the residents of our village. A party of four gentlemen from Toronto arrived at the Clarendon House on Wednesday for a few days fishing, and by Thursday afternoon had bagged nearly four hundred pounds of splendid bass. The fish were mostly black bass of more than the regulation dimensions—a large portion weighing four and five pounds each. They were all caught in the Trent, about three miles from the village, and the cargo was brought in wheelbarrows to the Clarendon House, where they were sorted, bagged and taken to Toronto Friday morning. The rod and line, with minnows for bait, was what was used in the slaughter. Messrs. J. G. Gibson, Henry Wright, of Wright & Copp, D. Blea and T. Anderson, all of Toronto, are the nomes of the successful fishermen as registered in the hotel register; and the way they made things "hum" round the Clarendon, after they came ashore and were interviewed, will not soon be forgotten by the crowd of admirers who swarmed to offer their congratulations. "For they are jolly good fellows" was the unanimous verdict of all. Toronto gets the credit of having things pretty much its own way in provincial "cinches" and "scoops," and unless Mr. T. Fitzgerald, of Peterboro' fame, and a few more of our local experts with the rod and line don't take a hand in pretty soon, Toronto will have the "pull" on our fish preserves as well.—Examiner, Peterboro', June 18.

WAREHOUSE AND FACTORY BROOMS.

Chas. Boeckh & Sons have added another new line to their numerous assortment of bamboo handle brooms, viz. factory or warehouse brooms. These brooms to be appreciated must be tested. They are the lightest, fullest and of good strong corn, and the firm says satisfaction is guaranteed or money refunded.

AMONG THE RETAILERS.

NICOLL & STEWART, the College street (Toronto) grocers, have sold out their business to Mr. A. A. Bogart.

An Interesting Relic.

Mr. J. H. Greenshields has quite a curiosity in his shop at King and Berkeley streets, Toronto. When the Toronto Industrial Exposition was first held at the present Exhibition grounds Mr. Greenshields had a large show case made in the shape of a framed picture in which to display the goods he handled in his wholesale and retail grocery. The frame is handsomely gilded, and I should judge it to be about 7 x 4. The picture consists of a large number of small compartments, in each of which there is a sample of his coffee, cocoa, pepper, tea, sugar, etc. Except those that contained oil, all the occupants of the compartments are in a perfect state of preservation. It is a magnificent decoration, as well as a handy means of displaying goods. I notice that it is a feature of grocery stores to have numerous framed pictures, generally advertisements. I should judge that such an arrangement would not be out of place and that grocers could make it a little commoner to advantage. "It's old, but it's good," remarked Mr. Greenshields to me.

Fruit Displays.

I notice that some retail grocers are still displaying their perishable fruits in the front of their establishments; but I see, too, that others, and I think the best class of merchants, are utilizing their window space for such purposes, while outside they hang cards and signs telling the passers-by that they keep their fruits inside, free from dust. Particularly are tomatoes displayed in the open air, and, although they can be washed, yet I think it is better policy to keep them inside.

Profitless Goods.

"Any man can give goods away, but it takes a smart man to sell them," said a grocer to me this week. We were talking about the cutting of prices and were wondering how a grocer could stop selling goods at a loss. This gentleman has been in business for a long time, and his opinion ought to be of value to other grocers, so I give it. His plan is not to keep any goods in stock which he is forced to sell at or less than cost price to compete with other stores. For instance, some dry goods firms in Toronto sell soap. Now they sell soap only to draw custom, and you may depend on it they sell it at a low figure. Well then, a lady customer goes into a grocery store to purchase kind of soap, and of course, on hearing the grocer's fair price she recollects the lower figure of the dry-goods store. This naturally brings on a suspicion that she is being duped in every purchase she makes at that store and she immediately closes her account. For this reason this gentleman says he prefers not to keep such goods. Well, there are other ways of looking at such a policy. If a customer finds you haven't the required article, you run the risk of losing her custom. But his method of solving the vexatious problem merits consideration by the retailers, and may to some extent be followed by others.

The Coupon System.

The coupon system, which has now been running for a year or two, has had time to have its usefulness tested. While in conversation with a Yonge street, Toronto, grocer, he touched upon this subject. The system, by the way, is managed by a business man in the city who sells coupons to the retailer. These coupons the retailer gives out to his customers, and when any customer has bought $100 worth of goods he presents his coupons to this manager and receives $3. The retailer has to pay $5 for them, the middleman thus making $2 on a single transaction. This Yonge street grocer, who once was in the scheme, but has now dropped out, informed me that no grocer can afford to throw away 5 per cent. of his selling price. If he raised his prices to make up the discount the attraction of lower prices at other stores would counterbalance the magnetism of the coupon system. He also informed me that he did not consider the scheme had brought him any new customers, and that it seemed to him that he was only throwing away his coupons to old and reliable patronage.

Fears not the Department Store.

Just think of it! I met a man during the week who wasn't afraid of department stores. He claims that although these large stores have advantages over the smaller ones, that the latter have more valuable advantages over the former. In the large stores the clerk can't ask a man how his wife is, can't enquire of the lady about the sick child, and can't in any way work on the sympathies of customers. The ordinary merchant, on the other hand, is acquainted with most of his customers and has time to enter into a short conversation. He also can offer more recommendations than can or does a clerk in the large store. This gentleman told me, and I see quite plainly that it is a fact, that these advantages are of great service to a grocer, and in this way he accounted for the failure of the department stores to monopolize the grocery trade. His advice to all retail grocers is to become thoroughly acquainted with the goods they sell, and thus be able to recommend them, and to be able to entertain their customers while they are in the store. He says if these rules are followed that grocers need not fear department stores.

Jubilee Window Displays.

The Jubilee is over, and although there seems to be more to say about the holiday now that it is past than there was to talk about before, yet soon we won't hear much of it; for the expectation is gone. And yet I think such occasions merit afterdiscussion, for merchants do not frequently make attempts at such displays as were made on Tuesday last for any other reason than to draw trade. The feeling of loyalty does not overcome them often to such a degree, and, indeed, not often is their enthusiasm aroused to so high a pitch by any public spirit. Yet, in spite of the neglect of trade, business must have received a mighty impetus. All the grocers over the city seemed to excel themselves in lavishing decorations of flags, bunting, etc. Not only were the exteriors of the stores profusely decorated, but the interior and windows received their share of the lavish display, while delivery wagons in many cases attracted attention. Grocers as a class should recognize the advisability of having nicely dressed windows always. Pretty displays will attract attention at all times. The enthusiasm for window displays which was worked up during the Jubilee should not be allowed to die.

GROCERS AND DRUGS.

THE Montreal Grocers' Association met at the Monument Nationale Thursday evening, June 17th, President Valliéres in the chair. In regard to the appeal of S. Carsley and others from a conviction for selling drugs, an action brought by the Druggists' Association, which was taken to the Court of Queen's Bench and eventually thrown out on the ground that the court had no jurisdiction, some discussion took place as to what action the Grocers' Association should take. Some of the members thought an appeal should be taken and the case thoroughly tested, so that they would know how they stood, but the society's solicitor, having advised that, under the present law, chances for success were not good, it was decided to appeal to the Legislature at its next session to have the law amended and made similar to that of Ontario.

In the Quebec law, it seems, the term "drug" is first specified, and all articles which contain these drugs as ingredients are treated as drugs also. If this principle were strictly carried out, the grocery business would be crippled, as a large proportion of the goods they handle would be taken away from them. For instance, rhubarb wine, cocoanut wine, soda, cream tartar, etc., which run up into some 400 different lines, would be prohibited to them.

Members are anxious that some amendment should be made in the law that would place their right to sell such goods beyond question.

GROCERS' SPICE SALES.

Last week we printed an extract from an address upon the subject of the sale of spices in drug stores, and in several earlier issues we printed samples of drug store advertising of spices—all with a view to waking the grocers up on this subject, and we trust we have done so. It is growing quite clear that if the grocers are willing the druggists will generously attend to the supplying of the public's consumption of spices, and save the grocers all the trouble, and then, when in addition to spices the druggists, like the delicatessens, have stocked up with package teas, and the department houses have absorbed a big share of the coffee trade, the hapless grocer will begin to wonder where he "is at."

The drug men have a regular "snap" in this spice crusade. They simply ask public patronage on the ground that their spices are pure while the grocers' are not. The fact that so many pounds of spices sold in grocery stores are either adulterated or inferior in quality gives the drug man an enormous advantage, and if he can sell an ounce of pepper or cinnamon to a newcomer, he is pretty apt to also get his or her patronage for scores of minor articles handled in common by grocers and druggists.

If any grocer doubts our remarks relative to the quality of much of the spices sold in grocers' stores, let him try the experiment of buying a few samples in various stores where he is not known.

It is mere carelessness that is responsible for this state of affairs, but it is a carelessness that will border on the criminal if it does not give place to watchful vigilance now that the warning has been uttered.—Merchants' Review.

THE DUTY ON SPICES.

The United States Senate has agreed to the paragraph in Schedule G, relating to spices in the following form :

"286. Spices : Mustard, ground or prepared, in bottles or otherwise, ten cents per pound ; capsicum or red pepper, or cayenne pepper, two and one-half cents per pound ; sage, one cent per pound ; spices not specially provided for in this Act, three cents per pound."

Unground spices are provided for in Paragraph 640, in the free list, which has not yet been reached by the Senate.

BANANAS IN HONDURAS.

Honduras and its banana history is the subject of a consular report by Mr. J. Eugene Jernigan, the United States' representative at Utilla. He states that two islands in the Bay of Honduras were the first to engage in banana culture for export, which is now the greatest of all the industries of Honduras. The consul adds that there are no wharves, piers, or warehouses where vessels can take fruit in the Gulf of Honduras, and in most cases they are obliged by the treacherous coast to anchor a thousand yards or more off shore, and the plantation owner has to convey his fruit in small dories and skiffs through the surf to the vessel, where it is inspected and received or rejected. The consul remarks that the royal road to fortune through a banana plantation in Honduras is a myth. True, millions of the fruit are produced annually, but the price paid the producer in the great majority of instances is not greater than the cost of production and delivery alongside of ship. It would have been interesting if Mr. Jernigan had enquired into the causes of these low prices. Perhaps his district, like that of Belize, is a prey to the monopoly of a shipping company, to whom the merchant or planter is bound to sell his fruit at whatever price the company likes to give.—British Trade Journal.

MAKING A CHANGE.

"Hov yez got any petroleum ?" she enquired as she entered the grocery store early in the morning.

"Yes," replied the clerk.

"Are yez sure it's petroleum an' nothin' else ?"

"Absolutely certain."

"Well, yez kin give ten cents' worth, an' I want it in a hurry. The missus says oi've got to shtop usin' kerosene to shtart the fire."—Washington Star.

COULD SELL EVEN "CHAOS."

The wholesale grocer was explaining the situation to the new drummer he had just employed.

"Your predecessor," he said, "has gotten his business all tangled up, and if you take his place you will have a difficult task getting order out of Chaos."

"I don't know who Chaos is," cheerfully replied the drummer, "but I bet I'll sell him a bill of goods if I have to hang on to him a week."

DOCTOR LOBSTER.

A perch who had the toothache, once
Thus moaned, like any human dunce :
"Why must great souls exhaust so soon
Life's thin and unsubstantial boon ?
Existence on such sculpin terms,
Their vulgar loves and hard-won worms,
What is it all but dross to me,
Whose nature craves a larger sea ;
Whose inches, six from head to tail,
Enclose the spirit of a whale ;
Who, if great baits were still to win,
By watchful eye and fearless fin,
Might with the Zodiac's awful twain
Room for a third immortal gain ?
Better the crowd's unthinking plan,
The hook, the jerk, the frying pan !
O Death, thou ever-roaming shark,
Engulf me in eternal dark !"
The speech was cut in two by flight ;
A real shark had come in sight ;
No metaphoric monster, one
It sooths despair to call upon,
But stealthy, sidelong, grim, I wis,
A bit of downright Nemesis ;
While it recovered from the shock,
Our fish took shelter 'neath a rock ;
This was an ancient lobster's house,
A lobster of prodigious nous,
So old that barnacles had spread
Their white encampments o'er its head,
And of experience so stupend,
His claws were blunted at the end,
Turning life's iron pages o'er,
That shut and can be ope'd no more.
Stretching a hospitable claw,
"At once," said he, "the point I saw ;
My dear young friend, your case I rue,
Your great-great-grandfather I knew ;
He was a tried and tender friend
I know—I ate him in the end :
In this vile sea a pilgrim long,
Still my sight's good, my memory strong ;
The only sign that age is near
Is a slight deafness in this ear ;
I understand your case as well
As this my old familiar shell ;
This sorrow's a new-fangled notion,
Come in since first I knew the ocean ;
We had no radicals, nor crimes,
Nor lobster-pots in good old times ;
Your traps and nets and hooks we owe
To Messieurs Louis Blanc and Co.;
I say to all my sons and daughters,
Shun Red Republican hot waters ;
No lobster ever cast his lot
Among the reds, but went to pot ;
Your trouble's in the jaw, you said ?
Come, let me just nip off your head,
And, when a new one comes, the pain
Will never trouble you again ;
Nay, nay, fear naught, 'tis nature's law ;
Four times I've lost this starboard claw ;
And still, ere long, another grew,
Good as the old—and better, too ?"
The perch consented, and next day
An osprey marketing that way,
Picked up a fish without a head,
Floating with belly up, stone dead.

Moral.

Sharp are the teeth of ancient saws,
And sauce for goose is gander's sauce ;
But perches' heads aren't lobsters' claws.

A COUNTRY STORE.

A WRITER in The Boston Courier gives this good description of a country store :

All the trade of Glen Hole is carried on by a single store ; that is to say, all the trade, not reckoning the irregular traffic which takes place between the town's people as they meet going to and fro—and that, after all, amounts to something in a year's coming and going. Upon a certain winter's day, the outside walls of the store were snugly packed, window-sill high, with freshly fallen snow, and the few teams so venturesome as to attempt to reach its porch, seemed, by the imprints left behind in the highway, to have creened up to the hitch-rail like so many boats coming in before the gale—riding afloat rather than moving upon their runners. Within the store a large and angular-box-stove glowed with a cherry like ripeness of color, and it seemed to be the sole occupation of the people there to stand toasting themselves before its grateful warmth with no thought of the laden counters. The place was heaped up with all sorts of goods and wares displayed from floor to ceiling in disorder such only as could have been devised by careful attention to that branch of the business, yet, the post office, also kept in the store, was not entirely buried up and hidden. In a corner of the room, behind the glass front of a dozen boxes, the postmaster's stamp beat a slow, and oftentimes interrupted, tattoo. More constant, the wind wailed in the chimney in several monotonous bagpipe tones. Unwearyingly, it plied its strength to the windowpanes and there followed a creaking or yielding resistance, as if a shoulder were pressing the frame. The sifting of the snow upon the glass sounded faintly within. Elder Monk was the most noticeable figure in the little group standing before the cherry glow of the stove. A broad-brimmed hat drooping over his forehead, a cape, great and full, sloping away from the shoulders, vied with nature n making him plump and rotund. The manner of the old-time preacher was his ; yet, the eyes gleamed from under the shaggy brows with great worldly shrewdness. His words, on the contrary, bore boundless benevolence toward all persons ; still, upon his lips, the tone in which the benignant blessing was uttered was expressive of every varying emotion, so that the same formula answered equally well for a blessing or for the essential sentiments of an oath.

THE FAULT OF THE FISH.

"I remember," said a schoolmaster, "when I was a boy going out one morning before sunrise to fish for pickerel. I had just hooked a big one, when along came a countryman. He said nothing, but, with mouth wide open, stopped to see the fun. The contest had lasted more than half an hour, when suddenly, as I was about to land the prize, the pickerel, with one last rush for liberty, made good his escape. With a lump in my throat, I instinctively turned to the countryman for consolation, and got it. 'Well, I declare,' said he, 'you held on to your end, young fellow, but he didn't hold on to his !' "—Golden Days.

DID NOT NEED TO ADVERTISE.

I once called upon a manufacturer and he said : "No, sir—no advertising. Our business does not need advertising." I said : "But, my dear sir—" "But nothing," said he. "Don't take up your own and my time trying to tell me anything. I tell you our business needs no advertising. We shall make friends, lots of friends in another way." I told him that if he didn't advertise I thought "he would soon need all the friends he could get"—and he did, for in the place he occupied there is now an undertaking establishment. I had no idea it would be as bad as that, but I knew he wouldn't last. He passed down and out.—Interstate Grocer.

GRASP OPPORTUNITIES.

"THERE is nobody whom Fortune does not visit once in life," says a Cardinal, "but when she finds he is not ready to receive her, she goes in at the door and out at the window."

"What is its name?" asked a visitor in a studio, when shown, among many gods, one whose face was concealed by hair, and which had wings on its feet. "Opportunity," replied the sculptor. "Why is its face hidden?" "Because men seldom know when he comes to them." "Why has he wings on his feet?" "Because he is soon gone, and once gone, cannot be overtaken."

Life pulsates with chances. They may not be dramatic or great, but they are important to him who would get on in the world.

Cornelius Vanderbilt saw his opportunity in the steamboat, and determined to identify himself with steam navigation. To the surprise of all his friends, he abandoned his prosperous business and took command of one of the first steamboats launched, at $1,000 a year. Livingston and Fulton had acquired the sole right to navigate New York waters by steam, but Vanderbilt thought the law unconstitutional, and defied it until it was repealed. He soon became a steamboat owner. When the Government was paying a large subsidy for carrying European mails he offered to carry them free and give better service. His offer was accepted, and in this way he soon built up an enormous freight and passenger traffic.

Foreseeing the great future of railways in a country like ours, he plunged into railroad enterprises with all his might, laying the foundation for the vast Vanderbilt system of to-day.

Young Philip Armour joined the long caravan of Forty-Niners, and crossed the "Great American Desert" with all his possessions in a prairie schooner drawn by mules. Hard work and steady gains carefully saved in the mines enabled him to start, six years later, in the grain and warehouse business in Milwaukee. In nine years he made $500,000. But he saw his great opportunity in Grant's order, "On to Richmond." One morning in 1864, he knocked at the door of Plankinton, partner in his venture as a pork packer. 'I am going to take the next train to New York," said he, "to sell pork 'short.' Grant and Sherman have the rebellion by the throat, and pork will go down to $12 a barrel." This was his opportunity. He went to New York and offered pork in large quantities at $40 per barrel. It was eagerly taken. The shrewd Wall street speculators laughed at the young westerner, and told him pork would go to $60, for the war was not nearly over. Mr. Armour kept on selling. Grant continued to advance. Richmond fell, and pork fell with it to $12 per barrel. Mr. Armour cleared $2,000,000.

John D. Rockefeller saw his opportunity in petroleum. He could see a large population in this country, with very poor lights. Petroleum was plenty, but the refining process was so crude that the product was inferior and not wholly safe. Here was his chance. Taking into parnership Samuel Andrews, the porter in a machine shop where both had worked, Mr. Rockefeller started a single barrel still in 1870, using an improved process discovered by his partner. They made a superior grade of oil and prospered rapidly. They soon admitted the third partner, Mr. Flagler, but Andrews soon became dissatisfied. "What will you take for your interest?" asked Rockefeller. Andrews wrote carelessly on a piece of paper, "One million dollars." Within twenty-four hours Mr. Rockefeller handed him the amount, saying, "Cheaper at one million than ten." In twenty years the business of the little refinery, not worth one thousand dollars for building and apparatus, had grown into the Standard Oil Trust, capitalized at ninety millions of dollars, with stock quoted at 170, giving a market value of one hundred and fifty millions.

These are illustrations of seizing opportunity for the purpose of making money. But fortunately there is a new generation of electricians, of engineers, of scholars, of artists, of authors, and of poets, who find opportunities, thick as thistles, for doing something nobler than merely becoming rich. Wealth is not an end to strive for, but an opportunity; not the climax of a man's career, but the beginning.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fry, a Quaker lady, saw her opportunity in the prisons of England. From 300 to 400 half-naked women, as late as 1813, would often be huddled in a single ward of Newgate, London, awaiting trial. They had neither beds nor bedding, but women, old and young, and little girls, slept in filth and rags on the floor. No one seemed to care for them, and the Government furnished simply food to keep them alive. She visited Newgate, calmed the howling mob, and told them she wished to establish a school for the young women and the girls, and asked them to select a schoolmistress from their own number. They were amazed, but chose a young woman who had been committed for stealing a watch. In three months these "wild beasts," as they were sometimes called, were tame, and became harmless and kind. The reform spread until the Government legalized the system, and good women throughout Great Britain became interested in the work of educating and clothing these outcasts. Four score years have passed, and her plan has been adopted throughout the civilized world.—Pushing to the Front.

STUDY YOUR HELP.

The progressive merchant learns something every day he lives, says Commercial Enquirer. When a man gets too old to learn it is time for him to quit, no matter what his age may be. Ex-Champion Corbett believed he knew all there was to learn about the manly art of self-defence, yet he never realized that he had a solar plexus until Bob Fitzsimmons pointed it out to him. The knowledge was in the nature of a surprise to Gentleman Jim, who, being unprepared for the sudden delivery of such a shocking bit of information was quite overcome. We may often gain a bit of useful knowledge from a despised source. Even the errand boy is a reasoning creature and may possess an idea that would improve his own condition and expedite matters within his particular orbit.

Nobody knows where a packet of common sense or a nugget of genius may be found. Surface indications are not always reliable, and we may expose to the light some really bright fellow when we tear off the outer husks of his diffidence.

It is worth a merchant's while to study his help, they are the means towards an end, and should not be of uncertain usefulness. Too many mishaps may be traced to this very thing, and many a man has failed because he was ignorant of the kind of metal he had supporting him.

Don't be too self-satisfied to ask questions. Don't be too dignified to mix a little with those in your employ. If you unbend a trifle they will reveal whatever they know or feel.

A HINT TO SALESMEN.

Few people who start in as salesmen, or some line of the wholesale business, have any idea how long it takes to achieve full success. The retailer who opens a new store knows within a few months how much business he is able to do, but the wholesale man has to work a long time to get all his trade. According to the views of old salesmen, it takes more than two years to get as many customers as can be attended to by one man. The salesman who sells on a commission basis, therefore, keeps on increasing his income for two or three years, but at the beginning his remuneration is exceedingly small. He may not be able to earn over $5 weekly for the first month, and it may take him a year to secure above $10 or $12, but as he keeps adding to his trade he may finally earn more than $20 or $30 weekly very easy, although there are many who cannot earn $15. A salesman, whether he works on a salary or commission, always has his income in proportion to his sales, and he cannot expect good pay until he has a proportionate number of customers. Therefore, if a man does not intend to stick to it for two or more years, don't let him begin to be a salesman.—Retail Grocers' Advocate.

THE "IDEAL" TEA PACKER.

The "Ideal" tea packer, invented by Mr. P. C. Larkin, of the Salada Tea Co., appears to be taking well. A second one of these machines was a few days ago shipped to St. John, N.B., and one was last week sent to Vancouver. Nine months ago an order was received from Colombo, Ceylon, for one of these packers, and now another order is to hand from the same place for three more. An enquiry has within the last few days been received from Buenos Ayres. It is only eighten months since the "Ideal" was put upon the market, but already about four hundred of them are in use. In Toronto, with one exception, every wholesale grocer has one or more of the "Ideal" tea packers in use.

ADVANCE IN OLIVE OIL.

Recent advices from Italy state that prices on pure olive oil have advanced 10 lire per quintal owing to the poor prospects for the next crop. Although the stock here is said to be large under a good demand, the supply is gradually cleaning up, and in sympathy with the foreign market prices on spot goods are tending upwards. — N.Y. CATCHING A CLEVER FORGER.

Not long ago there stood before the paying-teller's window of one of New York's big banks an unctuous little Israelite, smiling blandly over a $100 cheque. Signature, endorsement, and every detail were correct. To make assurance doubly sure, the little Jew explained, with some insistance, "You see I had my endorsement certified."

The cheque was paid without hesitation, but the teller said to himself: "Why is that idiot standing there with such a broad grin, trying to fix his face on my memory?" And duly he took note."

A few days later, the man appeared at the window again, his countenance distended in the same smile, with another cheque from the same firm; the endorsement was certified in exactly the same way, and this time the amount was $900. There was absolutely nothing wrong with the cheque on its face and it came from a well-known customer of the bank. "In spite of all," said the paying-teller, "something told me that fellow was a crook. So I said I should have to look up the account before it could be paid, and while he waited I slipped around to the firm's office, which was only a short distance away. The cheque was examined and pronounced perfectly good, and I was about to walk away when the head of the firm said, 'Why, hold up. We've issued no cheques this morning.' And then I went back and bagged my crook. He had first sold the firm a bond and got his original $100 cheque in payment. This he had used to imitate the firm's signature on the second and likewise to impress me with the fact that he was all right, so that when he came around a second time I would not bother him.—From "The Working of a Bank," by C. D. Lanier, in Scribner's.

MINT ... PUFF-STRAPS

RECOGNIZING the great popularity of peppermint with the sweets-loving public, we are the first to introduce to the trade Pliable Licorice containing this flavor.

The delicious quality of our Pliable Licorice is well known; it is matchless in this respect as well as in its flavor and finish.

Our Triple Tunnel Tubes and Navy Plugs are great favorites also, and are made of the same material, although flavored differently. . . . . .

We recommend all these goods as suitable for Summer Trade; they will please the most exacting taste as wholesome, smooth and palatable confections. . . .
